John	Teague	210 Oak St. #143	POTEAU	74953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anna	Sokolski	66 Birch Rd	RINGWOOD	7456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Paris	1200 10th St	Marion	52302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregory	Kenyon	116 Parma Rd.	Chestertown	21620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pam	Sheeler	1868 Muddy Creek Circle	Loveland	80538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	thornton	28611 Rancho grande	Laguna Niguel	92677	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Cox	10 Leland Rd.	Natick	1760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Baker	408 Bailey Rd.	MONTGOMERY	12549	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lupe	Perez	1416 Portchester Castle Path	Pflugerville	78660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wade	McCallum	1255 Springdale Dr	LOUISVILLE	40213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacqueline	bury	1178 kelsey dr	Sunnyvale	94087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Link	945 Harmon	Birmingham	48009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brandan	Fiedler	100 Central Ave NE, Apt 206	Chisholm	55719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Phillips	5380 Brittainywood Road	Kernersville	27284	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Gregory	5715 park heights ave.	BALTIMORE	21215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Yeomans	2522 Yuma	VENTURA	93001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Annie	P	#2302	San Diego	92101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Knudsen	1085 West Dunne Avenue	MORGAN HILL	95037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Wensman	2841 37th ave s	minneapolis	55406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Thomas	Indiana		47332	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Chelmecki	4N696 Council Ct	ELBURN	60119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Inderpal	Singh	6595	Fresno	93723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Miglino	44th Ave NE	Seattle	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marge	Hickman	10717 Wellington St	Fredericksburg	22407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

j	nelson	411 Durant	HARLAN	51537	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kris	Hauser	401 Grant St	Blue River	53518	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bonnie	Wong	2746 Rainfield DR	San Jose	95133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

patricia	hickey	25 Cross Road	West Stockbridge	1266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy F.	Caler	151 Franklin St	Rochester	3867	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Atkielski	Kenner	KENNER	70065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Spies	9271 SE Clay St	PORTLAND	97216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Parr	13 Eaton Place	Hopewell	8525	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francisco	Dacosta	9 Hinsdale Lane	Willingboro	8046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beth	Thompson	6059 Sabal Creek Blvd	Port Orange	32128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
eleanor	goldman	386 garden street	EAST MEADOW	11554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hampus	Englund	FuruvÌÎ_gen 3	Plainville	13137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Tamblyn	26 Branch Street	Medford	8055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Hutchins	500 Redwood Heights Rd.	Aptos	95003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michele	Cole	1930 Stewart St.	Santa Monica	90404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Brewer	1 Spring Creek Rd	Deadwood	57732	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Duda	340 Queen Anne Court	SAN ANTONIO	78209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Schroeder	3656 AIKENSIDE AVE	Cincinnati	45213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Allan	Prival	2921 10th St	Santa Monica	90405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harriett	Abernathy	126 west 83 st	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandie	Davis	5426 panama avenue	Richmond	94804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

pedro	lind	24 moraga way	Orinda	94563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Milbrodt	P O Box 61	Chelsea	48118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francene	Shed	P.O. Box 1193	Stillwater	74076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Schroeder	3656 Aikenside Ave	CINCINNATI	45213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Joseph	356 Coronado rd	Venice	34293	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emilio	Nazario	58 Aintree Ln, Dover, DE	Dover	19904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gordon	Hay	7506 S Williams St	LITTLETON	80122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
carl	warner	winthrop ave	Indianapolis	46220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Newhouse	PO Box 66 New Harbor, Me	New Harbor	4554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick	Kelly	12801 w 100th st	LENEXA	66215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Rosing	5810 South Hill Dr.	Madison	53705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Desiree	Middleton	709 sw 4th street	Dania	33004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judy	Sids	307 main rd	Tyringham	1264	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Brooks	12 Oakland Dr.	MILFORD	3055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. While were at it, how about a la carte channel choosing instead of having to accept pre-made channel packages? Why should I have to be forced to pay for channels that I would never watch?
Kevin	McDaniel	po box 376	HURLEYVILLE	12747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Springer	3165 SW 70th Av	Portland	97225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wil	Blake	1400 NW 9TH AVE # C19	Boca Raton	33486	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gilbert	Goodwin	5389 Rochester Street	Riverside	92504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Busch	15-2694 Opae St. Pahoa, Hi.	Pahoa	96778	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary Lee	Palmer	2768 State Road A1A	Atlantic Beach	32233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Siegfried	13 Gatlin Ct	Durham	27707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rafael	Franco-Cuevas	1000 Central Avenue	Brownwood	76801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Yates	20 Juniper Ln Unit 15	Westbrook	4092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dayle	Severns	RR 2	Concord	24538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Calvin	Jones	306 S Sunset Dr, Winston-Salem NC	Winston Salem	27103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vicki	Sinner	820 East 5th	Hastings	68901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Pacheco	2670 Franklin Canyon Road	Martinez	94553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hanne	Robinson	4264 Cougar Hills Way	Antelope	95843	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M	Fleishman	255 S. Strong Rd	Farmington	4938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Burton	Steck	3522 N Leavitt St.	Chicago	60618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Everett	Weng	93-41 207th Street Queens Village, NY	QUEENS VILLAGE	11428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Barry	POB	Cedar Knolls	7927	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Halloran	Halloran	Kingston	3848	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Greg	Czarnota	152 laurel circle	Newtown	18940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Hebel	1402 Regent St. Apt 719	Madison	53711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maxine	Hayes	15 Fordyce Ct.	NEW MILFORD	6776	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brad	Robertson	15590 Alabama hwy	ROCK SPRING	30739	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellie	K	1610 Morningside Ave	Pittsburgh	15206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
VINCENT	DeShazer	13450 Osage street	Denver	80234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jon	Kapecki	161 Crosman Terrace	ROCHESTER	14620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Iannone Jr	306 Bluemont Drive	West Mifflin	15122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Thompson	Bend, OR		97703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Caroline	Mead	728 Carriage Hill Drive	Glenview	60025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lesley	Patton	Box 1065 Kapaau HI	Kapaau	96755	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
gregory	whynott	falkland lane	Rochester	3867	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Willa	OConnor	227 Cambridge Kensington CA	Berkeley	94708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sara	sturz	Pob 983	BISBEE	85603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rich	Krulik	231 Locust Ln	Irvington	10533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Mills	3356 VT Rte. 66	Randolph Center	5061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Gorman	1512 12th street	Fort Lee	7024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vicki	Coffman	Oklahoma	Enid	73703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Coker	133 Vonachen	East Peoria	61611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Blumenthal	2812 NE 62nd St.	SEATTLE	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Oates	1850 Cherokee Trail	Sanford	27332	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Juan and Maria	Balboa	493 Beta Court	SAN JACINTO	92583	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Hanson	1500 Yosemite Ave. N.	MINNEAPOLIS	55422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edwin	Pettis	125 Vista Grande Dr.	GRAND JUNCTION	81507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ROBERT	BEACH	4 EMPEROR COURT	NAPA	94558	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathi	Woodward	2591 Beech Court	Golden	80401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Ronning	20941 Taylor St. NE	CEDAR	55011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rachel	R	Washington, PA	Washington	15301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
calvin	craig	2380 West Shell Avenue	Martinez	94553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Koerner	2904 Richmond	Chicago	60618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph N.	Simonette	129 Scotia St.	Pittsburgh	15205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Blank	337 Vesta Ct.	Ridgewood	7450	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
j	Richardson	21 Weston st Skowhegan Me.	Skowhegan	4976	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

gregory	whynott	falkland lane	Rochester	3867	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mohammad	Yousofi	14170 Minneville Rd	Woodbridge	22193	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Housum	5901 W Brown Deer Rd #214	Milwaukee	53223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margot	Delprete	715 Marietta St	LEESBURG	34748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Blake	3651 N Goldenrod Rd, Winter Park, FL	Winter Park	32792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marion	Restivo	663 Fearrington Post	Pittsboro	27312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leslie	Hardyman	1741 harpoon drive	HOLIDAY	34690	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Batya	Harlow	8601 244th St SW	Edmonds	98026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	McLean	POB 3888	Chico	95927	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Hanson	1500 Yosemite Ave. N.	MINNEAPOLIS	55422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomasin	Kellermann	500 Mendon Rd.	Cumberland	2864	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nathan	Jett	1216 Alexander St	Charleston	25302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Yvonne	Snyder	117 Camelot Dr	Weatherford	76086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beth	Muetzel	17816 602nd Ave	MANKATO	56001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Rennhack	9998 Baldwin road	Bridgman	49106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennie	Thompson	1903 Beaver Ridge Rd	Crozet	22932	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Mills	3015 Kentwood Dr	Eugene	97401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Colton	4264 Cottage Grove Pky. SE	Cedar Rapids	52403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Thompson	13 Merrimac Court	Clementon	8021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	Flick	470 Balsam Rd	CIMARRON	81220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Shea	3666 E. Armour Ave.	CUDAHY	53110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maria	Asteinza	7337 Austin St.	Forest Hills	11375	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Humienny	161 Brax Carr Way	Angier	27501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Byron	Connell	50 Dove Street, Albany, NY	ALBANY	12210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Thomas	206 east twin falls st, yacolt, wa	Yacolt	98675	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nelle	McKay	345 W. 58th St.	New York	10019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bev	Kelly	la verne ave	Long Beach	90803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Carter	1027 NW Charlemagne Pl	Corvallis	97330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Carroll	522 West 157th Street	New York	10032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lillian	Mayers	Street address	Albany	94706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynne	Posner	PO Box 627	Sheffield	1257	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Dillard	4560 S. Hydraulic	Wichita	67216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gail	Burns	72Crestwood Blvd.	Farmingdale	11735	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stacy	Rouse	24201 Baxter Drive	MALIBU	90265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marie	T	67 st	Forest Hills	11375	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Miville	199 River Rd.	Willington	6279	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Fordham	121 ZACHARY RD	COBURN	16832	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Genevieve	Findley	1047 Via Colinas	Thousand Oaks	91362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Ponsonby	3733 Surrey Lane Coloraod Springs	Colorado Springs	80918	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sexangary	Johnson	1988 Davis Dr Apt 2	Belvidere	61008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Burns	771 Helman Street	ASHLAND	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Trevin	Lovett	Windsor ave, Independence MO	Independence	64052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	Dollar	2009 Atapha Nene	Tallahassee	32301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marianne	Crowley	2112 N. 4th Street	Columbus	43201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Volchok	240 West 98th Street, Apt. 14A	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Adkins	at home	Marietta	30008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Culp	9000 Stonebridge Drive	SAINT LOUIS	63117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Granke	8933 Danzig St	Livonia	48150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	Rachic	2633 Greenfield Ave	Hamburg	14075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lou	Mathews	5903 47th Ave S	Seattle	98118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JERRY	BELTER	BARABOO	Baraboo	53913	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	Sprando	20433 S.E. Stark St. #322	Gresham	97030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Howard	Davudson	16 W 16 St	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Kornberg	3314 Lacewood Rd	Tampa	33618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dean	Enix	4289 Carter Trail	Boulder	80301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	Mason	72irene st	Lindenhurst	11757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Dailey	6 Hart Place	WOBURN	1801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Ragan	Ft. Williams Pkwy	Alexandria	22304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Shreve	P.O.Box11	Weott	95571	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eva	Vargas	3852 Beta St.	San Diego	92113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rachel	Rade	159 N Pershing Dr	Lancaster	43130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Vail	3488 W Alamo Ave	Littleton	80123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Grover	Gregory	2015 Rockledge Drive	Rockledge	32955	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Grelle	925 Bryant Avenue	Chico	95926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Kantner	Glenmoore	Glenmoore	19343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Spitz	106 Seaverns Bridge Road	Merrimack	3054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dale	LaCognata	9851 Beam Ridge Dr.	Indianapolis	46256	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norman	Hoffman	5091 Sunset Trail	Marietta	30068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shawn	Moore	13760 Trammell Ln	McCall	83638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lori	Flynn	3801 Elmerton Ave	Harrisburg	17109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DAVID	RUFFNER	9527 NOTTINGHAM DRIVE	UPPER MARLBORO	20772	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Fering	2914 Green View Dr	Eau Claire	54703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Cowan	750 N TAMIAMI TRL UNIT 603	Sarasota	34236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Kapela	PO Box 315	Harpswell	4079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Chervenak	45547 Hampshire	Macomb	48044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Wild	2302 Damuth Ave	Oakland	94602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Kossman	3250 NE 28 street	FORT LAUDERDALE	33308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Weinstock	2407 w pacific ave apt.c	Spokane	99201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elezar	Kenig	4112 E 7th St	Long Beach	90804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russell	Kelnhofer	Springville Dr	Plover	54467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Smith	11 amberwinds court	Lakewood	8701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Fifer	16077 Willow Creek Rd.	LEWES	19958	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Acheson	Westbrook, ME	Westbrook	4092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keli	Carlson	100 W Seneca St 2k	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hon. Joyce Krutick	Craig, JD, L.L.M (Ret.)	93 Chestnut Hill Rd.	Torrington	6790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Osheroff	1605 Mountain Lane	Reno	89521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Nobles	3132 SW 26TH ST	Oklahoma City	73108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

pamela	pierron	101 sunny hills dr.	San Anselmo	94960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karol	Walker	2986 E. DeGeer Ct.	MIDLAND	48642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Gilbert	N86W17147 Menomonee Ave, Menomonee Falls	Menomonee Falls	53051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Garcia	2050 GOODPASTURE LOOP APT 83	Eugene	97401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Gordon	296 Aspen St.	Arroyo Grande	93420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Les	Denk	12231 N. 19th Street	PHOENIX	85022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

he	su	xyz st		700	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Khaled	Razi	37 Rogers Ave	Lynn	1902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenna Jo	Christen	19 Chestnut Dr	Chelsea	48118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gabrielle	Kayser	2 Pine St	Hicksville	11801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Piltingsrud	219 Martin St Apt 4	Saint Peter	56082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	Duewel	306 6th Ave NW	HAZEN	58545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Camilla	Carter	000 no way st.	Goldsboro	27530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Morgan	39 Issac St	Jackson	38305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Monique	Redman	2514 Mandalay Parkway	Mcdonough	30253	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Ehmann	2853 Harbor Road	Merrick	11566	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eleanor	Anderson-Miles	5423 Highland Avenue	Richmond	94804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Hollenbeck	357 n 1st ave., #36	HILLSBORO	97124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick	Kumpa	Wahner Str. 1	Cologne	50679	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherry	Vatter	3362 Keystone Ave.	Los Angeles	90034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Cohen	5813 Bellona	BALTIMORE	21212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Ward	25 Columbus Ave, Somerville, MA	Somerville	2143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Puglisi	1001 Turtle Run Dr., Sebastian, Florida	Sebastian	32958	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherry	Thornton	4905 Beaver Lane	Henrico	23228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

mike	menzie	40 Waverly St.	Belmont	2478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Grisa	37800 Colorado Ave., Avon, OH	AVON	44011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Aiken	2706 Poplar Street	PHILADELPHIA	19130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	Morgan	39 Issac St	Jackson	38305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Llew	Taylor	P.O. Box 32	DARLINGTON	16115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Armando	Arellano	605 W.11Th.St.	Del Rio	78840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jack	schranz	11024 daniel	Mazon	60444	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peggy	Alcorn	13881 89th Ave.	Seminole	33776	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keba	Jones	1220 SHAKESPEARE AVE #5E-NORTH	Bronx	10452	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Scott	2001 21st Avenue South, Apt 304	Nashville	37212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Clark	17 Birch Meadow Rd	Brunswick	4011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Metcalf	509 N Prospect Manor Ave	Mount Prospect	60056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeremy	Lyons	1009 N Harper Ave	Los Angeles	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	s	1234 5	brooklyn	44144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Les	Denk	12231 N. 19th Street	PHOENIX	85022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bob	Jordan	5370 Pershing, apt 300	Saint Louis	63112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Creighton	501 6th St. S.	VIRGINIA	55792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emily	Willoughby	17000 53rd Ave S, Tukwila, WA	Seattle	98188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jose	Rivera	974 Oropesa Ave	Orlando	32807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Melina	Pleasant Street	Cambridge	2139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Mooney	5396 Wheeler Road	Jordan	13080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Howard	Susser	48 Loockerman Ave, Poughkeepsie, NY	Poughkeepsie	12601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Reeves	5 Centre Avenue	Dorchester Center	2124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Artis	1703 W. Meadowview Rd. Greensboro NC	Greensboro	27403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Theriault	3038 Oak Hill Rd	CLEARWATER	33759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Davis	W8365 County Road C	NEW LISBON	53950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Kirshner	5428 Halls Ferry Drive	Baton Rouge	70817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janice	Carlson	525 Summer Mesa Dr	Las Vegas	89144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Valerie	Sottile	Monroe, VA	Monroe	24574	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Madeline	Shaw	Slate Hill NY	Slate Hill	10973	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Masucci	21 white pine rd	Monroe Township	8831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Martin	4520 Yates Rd	Beltsville	20705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet G.	White	360 Currier Rd.	East Falmouth	2536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

andrew	richardson	90 sw 178th st.	Miami	33157	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Wolcott	1041 Westgate	Charleston	61920	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Loose	72 Croas St	Belmont	2478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Quentin	Rainaear	1212 S. Federal Blvd.#315	Denver	80219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Lehman	51 Avery Avenue	Buffalo	14216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marjorie	Ochs	418Neepier Road	Catonsville	21228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jack	Dula	173 Eastview St	Hudson	28638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynda	Obershaw	330 Cordova St., #167	Pasadena	91101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	Williams	University Bl	Denver	80209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carl	Voorhees	302 Maple Street	Secaucus	7094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	McCormick	1352 11th Ave Apt 1	San Francisco	94122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	ulrey	2402 sickle rd	Indianapolis	46219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carroll	Arkema	221 Ringwood Ave - A3	Pompton Lakes	7442	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ailaine	Piper	38401	Columbia	38401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Robertson	1060 Middle Road	Rush	14543	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Betsy	Wilson	507 Calle Amigo	San Clemente	92673	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Betsy	Wilson	507 Calle Amigo	San Clemente	92673	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Ross	5500 North Main Street	FALL RIVER	2720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Nichols	13107 Zeller Rd SE	YELM	98597	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Turanyi	479 Northern Blvd.	Bayville	8721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Klemm	1505 Clinton Rd., Apt. 303	Macon	31211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

n	pyle		0 Citrus Heights	95610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Owens	120 51st St. Circle East	Palmetto	34221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Moira	McKinnon	5 Gale Road	Hampton	3842	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Douglas	Vernon	63173 Lancaster St	Bend	97701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C	K	N3367 Juniper Rd	LAKE GENEVA	53147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	MacDonald	4 Commodore Dr Apt 232	Emeryville	94608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marcel	Madaras	110 Lucerne Crossing Ct	Ballwin	63011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Fry	250 River Bluff Road	Elgin/60120	60120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brock	Carter	214 west street south Hebron ND	Hebron	58638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alicia	Zody	114 Maple St. Apt. 1A	MARSHALL	62441	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alex	Suzuki	408 Sanibelle Circle	Chula Vista	91910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen	Hays	18553 S Ferguson Rd	OREGON CITY	97045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thorisa	Yap	18880 Pendergast Avenue	Cupertino	95014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Allen	4811 Binney Street	Omaha	68104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Turner	4400 Wingate Dr	Raleigh	27609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Theresa	Ware	P. O. Box 1794	Glendora	91740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Peterson	60 N 3rd St	San Jose	95112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen	Thorington	124 Bourne Street	Roslindale	2131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

benjaminh	page	74 brubaker rd	cheshire	6410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hazem	Nashif	6831 Shepherd Canyon Rd	OAKLAND	94611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Kotarski	49 S 3rd St	Perkasie	18944	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Farro	422A Chatham Court	Lakewood	8701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Belinda	Thomas	22 Saratoga Ct	Piscataway	8854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raychel	Upright	3201 Landover St	ALEXANDRIA	22305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Theodore	King	11000 Glen Wilding Lane	MINNEAPOLIS	55431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Roberts-Moneir	12457 Crestwood Dr.	Gulfport	39503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marin	phelps	1564 Randolph ave	SAINT PAUL	55105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terry	Wilson	43422 west Oaks Dr. #101	Novi	48377	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Duncan	Bovee	6129 Debarr #101	Anchorage	99504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	McFarland	12 NE 19th Ct., A211	Fort Lauderdale	33305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

shelly	gooler	185 West Park Ave	Long Beach	11561	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jesse	Ogle	249 River Ford Rd.	Maryville	37804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Justin	Grover	1488 W 4980 S	Salt Lake City	84123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Kelly	451 via casitas	Greenbrae	94904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janis	Bunting	391 Providence Rd	South Grafton	1560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Gauntt	Leeland dr	Bensalem	19020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jon	Goss	73 Glenridge Avenue	Montclair	7042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Lett	Currier dr	Portage	49002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Courtney	sherod	2208 sugar bottom rd	Solon	52333	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

frances	wriston	1003 county rd. 104	Chesapeake	45619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jeffrey	sanders	1577 winnetka rd	glenview	60025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerrad	Heath	4418 w 29th st	Joplin	64804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

andrea	caine	113 kingswood f	WEST PALM BEACH	33417	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Glickman	3717 R Ave Anacortes, WA	Anacortes	98221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hannah	Mitchell	2633 7th Ave., Sacramento, CA	Sacramento	95818	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cortney	Zaret	646 W. Wellington Ave. #1E	Chicago	60657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bonnie	Spiegel	119 Vernon Street	Tewksbury	1876	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Becky	Mathis	602 E Highland Dr. apt 221	PARIS	61944	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregory	Gibson	244 Park Avenue	Abington	2351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristen	Yount	228 Riverwoods Drive	New Hope	18938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Fox	1948 Twin Oaks Dr.	Milledgeville	31061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicholas	Pazienza	2417 Thickett road	Castleton on Hudson	12033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Solana	Roger Boyd	1304 Via Mil Cumbres	SOLANA BEACH	92075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Robertson	397 Haverlake Cir	Apopka	32712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tim	Felegy	545 3rd ave nw	Saint Paul	55112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeremy	sohn	1374 Volkamer trl	Elk Grove Village	60007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samuel	Morales	803 almond court	Bel air	21014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

carlos	zarur	1063 artemis circle	Lafayette	80026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sean	RN	4083 Jefferson Pkwy	Lake Oswego	97035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victoria	Neumeier	14111 NE 78th Ct	REDMOND	98052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Hicks	2999 E Ocean Blvd. #1740	Long Beach	90803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joerg-Uwe	Sanio	Basler Str. 14 a		79618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Cherry	2845 Idlewild Drive	Reno	89509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

cathy	bilsky	po box 69	Papaaloa	96780	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Herring	3153 Scholarship	Irvine	92612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patty	Daugharty	19732 Big Diomede Circle	Eagle River	99577	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bonnie	Bayardi	336 CDR	Closter	7624	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachel	Greenblatt	3126 Muir court	Yorktown Heights	10598	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Cerullo	2 Montague Terrace	Brooklyn	11201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeremy	Henry	9823 Slee rd APT A3	Adrian	49221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. And start holding businesses that violate business set polices this could help fill deficits hole.....Just an idea to toss out there....
Shirley	Thompson	1700 Riverside Dr B419	Tulsa	74119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
A.T.	Cole	15.15 Separ Rd.	Silver City	88061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron	Fisher	210 Normandy Drive	Wilmington	28412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Zverow	329 S. Harvey	Oak Park	60302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Kreitz	15713 Pennington Rd	Tampa	33624	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

j	Shevell	207 bradbury lane	Redwood City	94061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Danica	Polite	184 Acorn Lane	Libertyville	60048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Francis	2320 Hidden Valley Lane	Silver Spring	20904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ann	Broadhurst	Louisville KY	Louisville	40218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Kripli	598 Empire Ave NE	PALM BAY	32907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sen/Rep-ArkLaTex, USA					American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rickey Dean Loc	Morris Jr	8615 Flossie Mae St	Houston	77029

Anthony	Robson	301 W Scarritt St	Springfield	62704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Schwartz	11525 MetropoltianAve, Kew Gardens NY	Richmond Hill	11418	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Grana	5432 Jamieson Ave.	Saint Louis	63109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron	Van Sciver	2829 Sherman St	Hollywood	33020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James Francis	Bailey	295 Lane 750 Snow Lake	Fremont	46737	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Nelson	6715 NE 63rd St, STE 103-132	Vancouver	98661	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kelly	Smith	116 n 25th st	Nampa	83687	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heidi	King	3489 Minnow Branch Rd	Stover	65078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Wineland	405 Van Scoyoc St.	AVILLA	46710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy	West	507 Sunflower Drive	Liverpool	13088	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rainet	Lewis	1700 n 103rd ave 1111	AVONDALE	85392	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sam	Sheldon	14140 NE Sandy Blvd	PORTLAND	97230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martha	Vennes	1015 2nd St NE. #214	Hopkins	55343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Christenson	262 Hamilton Ave.	Elgin	60123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Enrique	Baloyra	1012 ne 117 st	MIAMI	33161	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Miranda	1440 Jose Ave. #306	Santa Cruz	95062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brenda	Cummings	72 Eckerson Ave.	Closter	7624	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Martin	2001 Range Ave. #210	Santa Rosa	95401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynnette	Lindquist	804 Janesview St. Apt. 6	PAPILLION	68046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	collier	162 oliveberry lane	Draper	84020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allyson	Brown	122 Ray Hill Road	Horse Shoe	28742	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Barnes	9420 e speedway blvd	Tucson	85710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Lee	1515 Esparza Court	POMONA	91766	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Burkhart	Oregon	Salem	97306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lola	Meyer	Holiday fl	Holiday	34690	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brenda	Boutin	Salem Road	CINCINNATI	45230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Also I want to chose the stations I watch. NOT cable choosing for me.
Allan	Morales	2771 Frazier Avenue	Oakland	94605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gilbert	Butler	1440 N 15th Ave	SHELDON	51201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hooker	Hailstone	36033 NE 80 st Carnation, WA.	Carnation	98014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Westlake	822 East Grove	Mishawaka	46545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sen/Rep-ArkLaTex, USA					American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rickey Dean Loc	Morris Jr	8615 Flossie Mae St	Houston	77029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexander	Soule	2 Bald Hill Rd	Spencer	14883	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Miller	4 Arcadia Ave	Albany	12209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ryan	Simpson	eaglerock	Atlanta	30340	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Haggard	1828 Gateway Dr.	SAN DIEGO	92105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Hirsch	915 Lake Ave	Spring Lake	7762	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

john henry 'scooter'	LeBleu	512 Clarence St.	Lake Charles	70601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kristen	smith	7230 clearfield st	Harrisburg	17111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Signorella	491 Wagonwheel Gap Road	Boulder	80302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mihir	Bajaj	18 Stonegate Circle	Wilbraham	1095	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Hildebrand	1445 South Main Road	Mountain Top	18707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Falk	32 Woodoaks Drive	SAN RAFAEL	94903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Enrique	Baloyra	1012 ne 117 st	MIAMI	33161	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Hennessey	138 cummings rd	CHESTER	5143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Enrico	ronquillo	165 stanton hall ln	FRANKLIN	37069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ballard	Boyd	Sunnyside NY	Sunnyside	11104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Whitman	47 Hawke Lane	Danville	3819	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Russell	107 South Clinton Street	Baltimore	21224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregg	Levine	4-21 27 AVE APT10D	Astoria	11102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Fillebrown	72 harts neck rd	Tenants Harbor	4860	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	McCaskill	5047 N. St. Louis Ave.	Chicago	60625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janie	McKay	8911 Montgomery Avenue	CHEVY CHASE	20815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Nelson	231 n euclid ave	Pierre	57501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Jacobs-Salinas	2608 Fairwood Road	La Marque	77568	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Cheves	5107 Dorset Mews, Williamsburg, VA	Williamsburg	23188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Jones	2315 Straford	Ypsilanti	48197	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tina	Mizhir	9 N Pearl St	PORT CHESTER	10573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lemoine	Radford	3603 E. Lk. Samm. Shr. Ln. SE	Sammamish	98075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Weber	504 Norway street	IRON MOUNTAIN	49801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Willman	4 Downtown	Orlando	32803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Freeman	14825 Front Bch Road	Panama City Beach	32413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Schilling	1356 Wicke Ave	Des Plaines	60018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Alt	480 Plainview Rd	Lexington	40517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra	Stoleroff	158 New Hamburger Rd	Plainfield	5667	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyle	Cantwell	301 Turrill Ave	Lapeer	48446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Garrett	Weinstein	23459 Welby Way	West Hills	91307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Justin	Hammar	200 Nathan Ln. N. #249	Minneapolis	55441	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Heinsohn	373 Old Highway 8 SW #205	New Brighton	55112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Harris	3829 Westridge Farm Ln	CLEMMONS	27012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rob	Carter	2855 whitetail	LAFAYETTE	80026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Alexander	1530 Tamarack St. Unit 133	Sweet Home	97386	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Pauley	10543 Central Valley Road	Poulsbo	98370	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susanna H.	Miller	628 Fort Raleigh Drive	Virginia Beach	23451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mark	roberts	184 barton hollow rd	Smithfield	15478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Jun-Morris	11 Kathy St.	Hampton Bays	11946	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Selma	Engel	410 blvd	SCARSDALE	10583	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	Howard	12425 N Derringer Rd	Marana	85653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Oresky	15620 Aitcheson Lane	Laurel	20707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jeff	hopkins	69 amber court	Lake Villa	60046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Good	10800 118th St.	Largo	33778	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Mason	56 West Rd., Westfi9eld,MA	Westfield	1085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Giammatteo	4864 Gardener Road SE	SALEM	97302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Wells	9842 18th Ave SW, Seattle WA	Seattle	98106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Hurwitz	582 42nd Avenue	SAN FRANCISCO	94121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alicia	Topazio	58 Portsmouth Ct	Hamburg	7419	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lois	Hayes	Newtown, PA	Newtown	18940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	Howard	12425 N Derringer Rd	Marana	85653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Katherine	Dolan	416 S. Shore Dr.	NORTHPORT	49670	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacklyn	Burns	4114 E. Fairmount # 3	TUCSON	85712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Spar	spar	Albuquerque	87196	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stewart	Ronk	30 River Road	New York	10044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Akhil	Sharma	6780 NW 163rd Ave	Portland	97229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Fleischer	495 Baldwin Path	DEER PARK	11729	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Ordway	1213 S Crystal Way	AURORA	80012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
nikki	andrews	195 Norton Ave	Taunton	2780	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rylan	Shaeffer	1516 s Lincoln Spokane wa	Spokane	99203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stuart	Bassler	55 LONG AVE, Belmont MA	Belmont	2478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Baltz	24 N Buffalo St	PORTLAND	97217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Simpson	eaglerock	Atlanta	30340	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rosemary	Hilbert	320 E. Bradley Ave.	Milwaukee	53207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Smith	1527 M Gardner St #14	Los Angeles	90047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Pardubsky	11255 Dalby Place	San Diego	92126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

anne	smith	3033 vt rt 15	West Danville	5873	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael no	Giammatteo	4864 Gardner Road SE	Salem	97302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Wingert	7312 NE 143rd St.	Kenmore	98028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Darnall	352 w. 48th st	NEW YORK	10036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Shepherd	307 Riley dr	Bloomington	61701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Keiser	410 E 6th St., Apt. 17B	New York	10009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kent	Minault	13214 Magnolia Blvd.	SHERMAN OAKS	91423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lloyd	Adams	1971 W. McKinney St.	Houston	77019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terri	Komin	3203 IRIS LN	MIDDLE RIVER	21220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

shirley	girard	61sherwood dr	Hooksett	3106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Berardi	239 N. Marshall St.	Lancaster	17602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Abdon	10721 Moorpark St.	North Hollywood	91602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rudy	Avizius	123 front st	Cherry Hill	8003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Taylor	900 N. Pheasant Way	ELKHORN	53121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Thiemann	7532 Hillcrest Dr D	FLORENCE	41042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathie	Takush	785 Grange Rd	Leesport	19533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Whitmore	19W224 Patrick Henry Square	Oak Brook	60523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Chatigny	PO Box 1496	Newburyport	1950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Hurling	51 North Willow Street	Montclair	7042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wanda	Perkins	211 Black Skimmer Dr. W	Beaufort	29907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Greenwalt	3329 S Crissey Rd	Monclova	43542	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frankie	Balliro	301 W. 20th St	NEW YORK	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rodney	Williams	6015 WOODED CREEK DR UNIT 201	LOUISVILLE	40291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Booton	620 Brittany Bay E	Raleigh	27614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn	Warner	5153 Isla Key Blvd S	Saint Petersburg	33715	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Newgent	2208 elk dr ne	Piedmont	73078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brent	Sirois	3013 Ft Hamilton Pkwy Apt 2F	Brooklyn	11218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Sanitate	155 SW Kalmia St #2	JUNCTION CITY	97448	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Hommon	554 Aguajito Rd.	Carmel	93923	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Westover	2407 James Street #112	Conway	29527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marc	Gonzalez	PO Box 91071	San Antonio	78209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MARY	SHUMAY	4312 ROCKLAND DR	Cleveland	44144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Elliott	96 maximus Lane	Wysox	18854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nate	Andrade	3517 Spring Circle	Decatur	30032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Peppers	215 N Division St	BONNE TERRE	63628	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Weir	22 Kingsbury Dr	Belleville	62226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Alvarado	15	Wurtsboro	12790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Flores	917 Shelby Dr	GREENSBORO	27409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samuel	Besalel	4201 Kincaid Ct	Chantilly	20151	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Gundestrup	7613 Pratt Ave	Citrus Heights	95610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Bishop	24 Church St.	DEPOSIT	13754	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Comer	323 Bauserman Road	Mount Jackson	22842	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cody	Smith	735 N 22ND ST APT B	Allentown	18104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald W	Freeman Jr	12 Belmont Circle	Trenton	8618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arthur	Le Suer	1914 Green Lane	Alexandria	56308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanne	Wright	7002 155th Pl NE	Redmond	98052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Graham-Doughty	703 GLEN FOREST DRIVE	Machesney Park	61115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yitzhak	Husbands-Hankin	90 West 31st Ave.	Pleasant Hill	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dana	Meaux	2401 S Lane st	Seattle	98144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Jaskot	New Richmond, WI	New Richmond	54017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Levesque	6704 Los Verdes Drive, Rancho Palos Verdes, CA	Rancho Palos Verdes	90275	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Purtell	PO Box 811	Indian Rocks Beach	33785	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	payne	3172 Waldon ridge	LAKE ORION	48359	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Nohava	1117 Bell Rd.	Chagrin Falls	44022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christian	Miranda	7771 NW 42nd St	Hollywood	33024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Connie	Godin	16 S Main St	Barre	5641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Vericker	23 skyline Terrace	SPRING VALLEY	10977	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phyllis	Gallichet	701 Woodland Forest Ct.	Wilmington	28403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Cubelli	46 Oakmeadow Lane	Methuen	1844	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
michael	keith	1 Linden Circle	Lincoln University	19352	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Houseman	211 East South Street, Grand Ledge, MI	Grand Ledge	48837	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harriet	Skjerly	1195 Englewood Ave.	Saint Paul	55104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Moore	118 S. 21st St., Apt. 1216, Philadelphia, PA	Philadelphia	19103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bill	Morrill	Division Rd.	Sherwood	49089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Burgess	2917 B Linden Lane	CARMICHAEL	95608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Burgess	2917 B Linden Lane	CARMICHAEL	95608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carrol	jeffties	809 hemlock st		45823	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Smolenski	1847 Belmont Dr. E.	Clearwater	33765	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lorri	Goldman	2441 W Orangethorpe Av #208	Fullerton	92833	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Smith	3230 52nd St.	San Diego	92105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Boies	1239 Park St.	Alameda	94501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Hemzacek	6134 Western Ave	WILLOWBROOK	60527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Walter	Kross	32 Imperial Dr	HENDERSONVILLE	28792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Simpson	10908 FLAMING STAR LN	STOCKTON	95209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teyannie	Gill	1600 Pullman Ave.	SAINT PAUL PARK	55071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet	Rakauskas	445 Pkeasant St., Apt, 26	South Weymouth	2190	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Hochheiser	5742 Woodmont St	Pittsburgh	15217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yvonne	Hofer	4001 south 16th Street # 54	Fort Smith	72901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin	Lewis	1613 Derby St.	BERKELEY	94703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Tregidgo	1146 Sunnyside Dr.	Holtwood	17532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shelby	Bevins-Sullivan	212 Sprinters Trail	Lexington	40511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Kivic	P.O. Box 171, Fort Covington, NY	FORT COVINGTON	12937	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gay	Norris	4324 Oregon	Saint Louis	63111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kenneth	anderson	1413 Whilden Pl Apt A	Greensboro	27408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bonnie	Hubbard	Byron street	Worcester	1606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Bruner	Bruner	Beloit	53511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	DiSabatino	1772 Quarry Lane	Phoenixville	19460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Cohen	333 N. Kirby St.	Hemet	92545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Gorn	852 Farmington Avenue	New Britain	6053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Mitchell	22915 Forest Ridge Drive	Estero	33928	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Seth	Klibonoff	17 E. Ivy Lane	Englewood	7631	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	McCarthy	26 Windgate Cir	Fishersville	22939	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Willard	Westre	15704 South East 44th Street	BELLEVUE	98006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Keeley	7300 ne vancouve mall dr. apt 68	Vancouver	98662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Camilo	Villarreal	37-11 34th Ave	Long Island City	11101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen	Lindsay	26 E. Rayburn Road, Millington,NJ	Millington	7946	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ted	Johnson	6050 S. Harvey Ave.	Oklahoma City	73139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Betty J.	Van Wicklen	41 Lake Shore Dr. #2B	Watervliet	12189	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Adkins	10604 231st St SW	Edmonds	98020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jean-Luc	Stoufflet	8801 Oleander St	New Orleans	70118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Becki	Fulmer	Mishawaka	Mishawaka	46544	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Studer	1509 East Echo Lake Rd.	West Charleston	5872	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Waterman	7 Genesee St	Scottsville	14546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Tornicelli	po box 1133	Crestone	81131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kim	Stephenson	909 9th Court	West Palm Beach	33410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andria	Herron	9257 LONE WOLF CIR	Reno	89506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zeke	Brown	4205 Glenside drive	Greensboro	27405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Feeger	3611 Lionheart Way	Salt Lake City	84119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arthur	Rodriguez	32 Huntington St APT 3B	Hartford	6105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Mundy	5725 Newhouse Road	East Amherst	14051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jill	Herbers	241 E. 24th St. NY NY	New York	10010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Gray	1624 N 131ST AVE	OMAHA	68154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clare	Kennedy	106 Hawley	Templeton	93465	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Herb	Zetley	1237 SEMINOLE	Richardson	75080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Polk	1612 W. 12th St.	Cedar Falls	50613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Maher	P O Box 10293	NEWPORT BEACH	92658	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Bjornson	841 N York #208	Elmhurst	60126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dave	Spencer	54670 250th Ave	Chariton	50049	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robyn	Murphy	309n. e. c st.	Grants Pass	97526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elsie	Pickering	1 Saint Johns Ct	Naples	34110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alan	Skow	2509 W. Arrowhead Rd., Duluth, MN	Duluth	55811	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Felix	Romero	9225 Telfair Avenue	Sun Valley	91352	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Hooper	1117 Meadow Lane	Bartlesville	74006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Clifford	Carson	4 Lund Ct	Woodstock	12498	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Herriges	4675 S Harrison Rd UNIT 169	Tucson	85730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Bongiovi	7921 Simons Drive	NORFOLK	23505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aleksander	Laane	Estonia		13013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristi	Jones	1117 E Oak St Apt E	Seymour	47274	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Lowell	11717 North Drive	TAMPA	33617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Douglas	Wiltraut	969 Catasauqua Road	Whitehall	18052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Bauer	702 n 63rd st apt e Kansas City,Ks.	Kansas City	66102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ursula	Leitner	E. Searsville Rd	Montgomery	12549	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roberta S	Riley	PO Box 223786	Princeville	96722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Replogle	159 Westtown Way, A104	West Chester	19382	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyle	Pearson	13315 William Circle	Omaha	68144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Douglas	Luther	4723 WHITMAN CIR NE	Salem	97305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Wills	2031 Queens Branch	Rogue River	97537	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Singer	7880 NW 51 Street	Fort Lauderdale	33351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jon	nyborg	p o box 151	Sullivan	4664	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lana	Bobak	1051 Grandview Dr.	Rochester	48306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Simonson	525 Olive	Modesto	95350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nell	Liquorman	14840 Ninebark Ct.	Land O Lakes	34638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Shaw	868 Shaddon Rd	Tellico Plains	37385	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Swanson	19341 E WYOMING AVE	Aurora	80017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Brown	333 Chinaberry Ln.	Angier	27501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peggy	Loe	13516 Tufts Court	Magalia	95954	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Sessa	600 S Dobson Rd Unit 67	Mesa	85202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melissa	Hastings	515 Tom Mann RD	NEWPORT	28570	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	kraus	32289 Rd. P	Mancos	81328	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maurice	Harp	91 lucille st	Lakeland	33815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maureen	Sheahan	20996 Inkster Road	Southfield	48033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Bannon	3 Lakeville Rd	Sussex	7461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Juhlin	135 Candy Mt. Hts.	Murphy	28906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Roberts	4635 N Damen Ave	Chicago	60625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Rabin	6659 Fairfax Rd	Chevy Chase	20815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Small	702 Severn Ave	Annapolis	21403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Hayward	776 Bronx River Rd	BRONXVILLE	10708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victor	Becerra	922 Vermont Circle	Ames	50014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Gaspa	916 Eric Stocken Ave	NORTH LAS VEGAS	89081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beth	Kalma	949 hwy 313	Bernalillo	87004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
B.	Conelley	No Way	FREDERICK	21701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Bosman	81 Somerset Ave	Mastic	11950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Francisco	Ballesteros	950 Elizabeth ct	Wheeling	60090	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C.t	Bower	1804 N. Spanish Moss	Tucson	85748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Miguel	Liriano	3939 Wake Forest rd Apt 144	Raleigh	27609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Feight	29 8th ave se	Rochester	55904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	Cherry	4020 spring meadow crest	Chesapeake	23321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allison	Argo	157 Owl Pond Rd	Brewster	2631	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deva	Schafer	415 Ford St	West Mifflin	15122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Longo	166 Bolton St.	Portland	4102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samantha	Eppenauer	1214 Manheim Road	Kansas City	64109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bev	Schultz	4334 61st Lane North	Saint Petersburg	33709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jane	Winters	2026 N Harrison	Boise	83702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	Barry	Chicago, IL	Chicago	60644	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lois	Nottingham	19124 e lawndale pl	QUEEN CREEK	85142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicole	Moore	24024 Evergreen Rd. Apt. 119A	Southfield	48075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexa	Ankele	10799 Ogden St.	DENVER	80233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brent	Holman	556 State St. #8	Madison	53703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ari	Robic	703 Washington NE	Albuquerque	87110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Flinn	564 GLENDALE ST	Saint Paul	55104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maria	Raysses-Whipple	13826 Windfall Lane	Odessa	33556	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deanna	Bialczak	8800 S Harlem Ave	Bridgeview	60455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Billy	Breslin	po box 134	Azalea	97410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Williams	1655 State Road WW	FULTON	65251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michele	Rhodes	998 Wilderness Rd	Linden	22642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Waddell	1192 Holly Ln.	ALGONQUIN	60102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arthur	Scholar	5010 Buffalo Ave. Sherman Oaks	Sherman Oaks	91423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Hoeborn	3128 N 37th St	Phoenix	85018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Carpenter	53 Summit Ave.	Albany	12209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bob	Boyle	173 Briggs St.	Syracuse	13208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Ranes	34184 N. Bluestem Road	Round Lake	60073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bev	Schultz	4334 61st Lane North	Saint Petersburg	33709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dan	Aurian-Blajeni	Ezra.three@gmail.com	BELLINGHAM	2019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary Beth	Martin	2309 North 23rd St.	Sheboygan	53083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Wirtjes	6012 University Ave	Des Moines	50311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynne	Robinson	865 Frank Kirk Road	Kennesaw	30152	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amanda	Heppes	23101 37th ave ne	Arlington	98223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Becky	McSpadden	8 Frank Parsons Way	Lexington	24450	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Albert	Adato	494 President Ave	Brooklyn	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evelyn	Quinn	2604 Elmwood Avenue Rochester NY	Rochester	14618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
TODD	WILSON	2103 CASE DR	BLOOMINGTON	61701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donnie	Waltermire	1112 Deshea Drive	Leitchfield	42754	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Springer	819 tisdale ave	Lansing	48910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Eggers	2226 W Leroy Avenue	Milwaukee	53221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Aldrich	6730 Landover Cir	Tallahassee	32317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Tobul	1376 Davista Ave	Madison	44057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	Gibson	2439 Hayes St.	HOLLYWOOD	33020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jerry	Cleveland	3690 s Casimir Pulaski	Waukegan	60085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darin	Moore	5373 penway dr	Orlando	32814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Gaissert	225 Eaton Ave	Mercerville	8619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Buergers	2 Merrick Rd.	Poughkeepsie	12603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Ridgley	13547 Ventura Blvd.	Sherman Oaks	91423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Lucas	6121 144th St SW	Edmonds	98026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Lidestri	217 Parkwood Rd.	Vestal	13850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacki	Pauley	3031 Tam O Shanter	Missouri City	77459	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Danielle	Theye	714 1/2 main st	Britton	57430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Holladay	1926 Spyglass Cir	Vista	92081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Regina	Brooks	P.O.Box 100103	Pittsburgh	15233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Hopkins	12818 Caesar Lane Victorville CA	Victorville	92392	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Eggers	2226 W Leroy Avenue	Milwaukee	53221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Gavin	81 Mt Washington st Everett Mass.	Everett	2149	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Duncan	Brown	2103 6th Ave	CANYON	79015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Evelyn	Sardina	715 Northaire Dr	HOUSTON	77073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Traci	Turner	71 Romsey Street	Dorchester	2125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Maisel	300 Johnson Ferry Rd NE Unit A306	Atlanta	30328	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	DuBois	PO Box 1187, Renton, WA	Renton	98057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jesus	Carpio	3907 Bridgewater Way	BAKERSFIELD	93313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Glebs	3868 BLOW STREET	Saint Louis	63116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

marlene	lahaise	2543 14th ave south	Seattle	98144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jody	Mckenzie	9037 SW Cedarwood Ln	PORTLAND	97225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	Sniffin	103 Twilight Ct. Cary NC	Cary	27513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gladys	Nitz	5382 Casmere Ave	Warren	48092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rich	Zadora	1517 Ritchie Lane	ANNAPOLIS	21401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lorrie	Stillings	3820 Sumner Lane #1	Santa Rosa	95405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	MacMillan	18315 Outer Drive	Dearborn	48128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norman	Kaufman	15 Charles St.	New York,	10014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Mills	514 Americas Way #5970	Box Elder	57719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanna	Kling	112 W. Whitehall Ct.	URBANA	61801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Sprute	18620 52nd Ave. W. #127	LYNNWOOD	98037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Abigail	Gindele	229 Clinton St	South Berwick	3801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Rogers	8633 Datapoint Dr, Apt 233	San Antonio	78229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denys	Cope	4524 CALLE TURQUESA	SANTA FE	87507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juan	Ramirez	15439 sw 110 terrace	Miami	33196	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Frumento	9743 Richeon Ave	DOWNEY	90240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Miller	21614 121st PL SE KENT WA	Kent	98031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Fisher	Denville, NJ	Denville	7834	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Don	Lowery	2550 E. Cache La Poudre St.	COLORADO SPRINGS	80909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karl	Riemann	7 AshfordDrive Drive	Trenton	8610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Naomi	Lipke	401 Kedzie Street	Madison	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Catherine	Beauchamp	5239 Hahns Peak Dr., Apt. 102	Loveland	80538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Billie	Hayner	140 Goose Hill road	Chester	6412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leroy F.	Dunn Jr.	46 Bay Path Way	Branford	6405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Duncan	Baruch	8833 SW 30th Ave #308	Portland	97219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
T	Mikus	2727 Synott	Houston	77082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Armelin	8091 Brighton Rd.; Commerce City, CO	Commerce City	80022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aaron	Severson	11100 National Bl.	Los Angeles	90064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deven	Sharma	8 Donna Drive	NORWALK	6854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Woodward	3726 Lacy Blvd	FALLS CHURCH	22041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynn	Cianflone	65 Northwood Drive	Depew	14043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
sherry	a	haha's peak dr	Loveland	80538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	turner	616 Masselin	Los Angeles	90036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Connie	Colvin	3221 87th St	EAST ELMHURST	11369	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Wilcox	25058 Senft Road	Oldenburg	47036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Cobban	PO Box 1476	Black Canyon City	85324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maureen	Wahl	315 Waterside Rd	Northport	11768	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Mcintosh	616 W. Cliveden St.	Philadelphia	19119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debbie	Hanke	132 Albemarle Dr	Ahoskie	27910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alan	Klein	Citrus Heights	Citrus Heights	95621	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Connie	Ehrlich	Silhouette st	Eugene	97402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristin	Carstarphen	43 lyttleton ave	charleston	29407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rose Marie	Waugh	6827 Fountain Oaks Lane	Waterloo	62298	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norman (NO TPP)	Howe	3212 Abbey Road	Canandaigua	14424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Elliott	615 E Pearl St	WAPAKONETA	45895	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maria	Celentano	412 11th St	Cresskill	7626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edmond	Green	3072 Saint Albans Drive	LOS ALAMITOS	90720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
The	Oxyer	1210 S Brook St	LOUISVILLE	40203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jay	Bryon	188 John St.	Oakland	94611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Reevyn	Aronson	2802 Medford Ave.	Redwood City	94061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Young	3531 Abilene St	Dallas	75212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joey	Davis	3422 Kings Lane	Burton	48529	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Sanford	27007 NE 19th St	Camas	98607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jackie	Willis	125 Talcott St	Owego	13827	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron	Skrzysowski	245 Main Street	DURYEA	18642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Willcutt	6262 berry lane	Eureka	95503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Rogers	147 Williamsville Road	HUBBARDSTON	1452	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Simmons	4215 Palazzo st	Sebring	33872	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen	Schoenbauer	1857 Rolling Meadows Cir. SE	NEW PRAGUE	56071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	Beland	1501 16th St. Sacramento, CA	Sacramento	95814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Boris	Piskun	333 Third St	Laguna Beach	92651	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
O	Lewis	PO Box 881075	Los Angeles	90009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Corey	Wright	10538 Highland Ridge Road	Fort Worth	76108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ta	Smith	6955 Carlisle Ct 210 Naples FL	NAPLES	34109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Norton	4300 Soquel Dr. # 21	Soquel	95073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Siran	Sullivan	5777 Desert Mirage Ct	Sparks	89436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Suzanne	Presley	255 w Broad st	Dallastown	17313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Ingvoldstad	N 8311 Cty Hwy N	NESHKORO	54960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Pflugh	10 Colgate Rd.	Oakland	7436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brenda	MacInnes	1780 Dawes Rd	Frostproof	33843	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Monitta	Lowe	12009 Sellers Ave.	Cleveland	44108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Lodato	908 Mt Vernon Ave	Haddonfield	8033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Anderson	!015 S Darling Ct.	Alexandria	56308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
arthur	rosenzweig	fuck you	Orleans	2653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Dacey	25749 SE 42nd CT	Issaquah	98029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet	Williams	5 Elm Street	Searsport	4974	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Ingvoldstad	N 8311 Cty Hwy N	Neshkoro	54960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Schott	Elkhart Lake, WI	Elkhart Lake	53020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andres	Mejides	25650 sw 197 ave.	Redland	33031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Kornreich	103 Redwood Drive	Syracuse	13212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	heasley	Nw 53rd	Portland	97210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Tegethoff	10 Silvercrest Dr.	Asbury Park	7712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Peterson	7454 Spinnaker Blvd	Englewood	34224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephanie	Feiring	San Francisco	SAN FRANCISCO	94123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dbaker	baker	pleasnat garden nc 27313	Pleasant Garden	27313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bryan	Spratt	n/a		r3t4r4	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Felix	Diaz	4219 Wegg Ave.	East Chicago	46312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	Harvey	37 Gurney Street	CAMBRIDGE	2138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Andresen	14 Cove Rd.	Camden	4843	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
allen	feld	1340 6th	Boulder	80302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Zeman	22519 Fawn Drive	Deadwood	57732	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Wong	2101 W Warm Springs Rd, Henderson	Henderson	89014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Donoghue	260 River Rd	Peru	12972	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Lodato	908 Mt Vernon Ave	Haddonfield	8033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Laird	254 Sunset Circle	Red Lion	17356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Kennedy	1774 Palm Dr	VENICE	34293	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cherise	Millhouse	1713 NE 94th Street	SEATTLE	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
GEORGE	BAIR	1295 WILDCAT DR	Merced	95348	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Murray	1526 Old County Farm Rd, Asheboro, NC	Sophia	27350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Howard	4293 S.E. Brittney Circle	PORT SAINT LUCIE	34952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
K	Rosenthal	1539 Deer Path, Mountainside, NJ	Mountainside	7092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Blake	6675 32nd Way South #D	Saint Petersburg	33712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

pat	douglas	30 spruce lane	Valley Stream	11581	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Millane	100 W. Barre Street	Baltimore	21201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leonard	Peterson	1800 Englewood Rd	ENGLEWOOD	34223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Refa	Watley	68 Caney Br Rd	Morrison	37357	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vito	Malacari	23 Halliday Court	Wilkes Barre	18706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Emerson	8100 W Foster Ln	Niles	60714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julia	Caspar	us 206	Vincentown	8088	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dot	Smith	308 Riverdale Rd	Mocksville	27028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachel	D	prefer not to say		0	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Dobson	304 Kimber Dr, PO Box 203, Kimberton, PA	Kimberton	19442	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
S.	B.	202 Adams St.	ITHACA	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fred	Strugatz	1621 Sayman Rd.	New Albany	18833	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adrienne	McCurn	2873 Theresa Ct.	Castro Valley	94546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffery	Lanham	2986 Park Ln	Atlanta	30341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Mazza	916 Virginia St	BELLINGHAM	98225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregory	Laxer	Taft Street	Danielson	6239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
marie	catrino	23 dale dr	Voorhees	8043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Cruz	434 W 19th street	NEW YORK	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Avram	Bell	2050 E Huntingdon St.	PHILADELPHIA	19125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
cuxan	valladares	1876 E 92nd st	Los Angeles	90002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janie	Anderson	511 CHINOOK LN.	SAN JOSE	95123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Walden	101 Thornbury Avenue	Glen Rock	7452	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Manfred	Holl	22 Spruce St	Poughkeepsie	12601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lonnie	Harmon	365 Chris Lee Lane	Savannah	38372	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Meusel	920 Welkin Ct. Conway, SC	Conway	29526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jan	Bopp	PO Box 4285	Bennington	5201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	Christensen	2655 Atticus Way	EUGENE	97404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Hemm	1040 Mill Creek Rd.	Manahawkin	8050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Camp	204 North Ave.	Burlington	5401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lila/Dave	Zastrow/Hendrickson	N5399 French Rd.	Seymour	54165	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judit	Gebhardt	6607 Shady Lane SE	Lacey	98503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Umberger	2528 Crist St.	Alameda	94501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louise	Capuano	10 Zachary Taylor St	STONY POINT	10980	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Servizio	3913 Hermosa Drive NE	ALBUQUERQUE	87110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carlos	Casas	3812 Kimberly Ln	FORT WORTH	76133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Bailey	P.O.Box 261 John Day, Oregon	John Day	97845	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

g	m	1170 Alicante Way	Pacifica	94044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Gauck	4994 GLEN COVE DRIVE	Southport	28461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Duane	Grindstaff	17628 SE288th Place	KENT	98042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Holliday	5604 Old Willow Ct. Richmond, VA	Richmond	23225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Toni	Hurst	4640 S Vandalia	Tulsa	74135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peggy	Reeves	1931 Sandalwood Lane	Fort Collins	80526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Col	Dupont	124 market st,		94101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jen	H	email only	email only	32405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Fegan	150 Main St.	Nanuet	10954	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Pine	71 Hollybrook Dr.	asheville	28803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Hall	2986 Nottingham Dr.	Waterford	48329	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Connie	Northrop	7205 W McDowell Rd Apt 1057	Phoenix	85035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Barkin	13246 Shadow Canyon Trail	Broomfield	80020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frances	Williams	13627 Colgate Way #822	Silver Spring	20904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sven	Andersson	601 SW 2nd Avenue Portland OR	Portland	97204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J. W.	Nelson	579 Cliff Top Road, Blaine, TN	Blaine	37709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Bongard	20232 Saint Andrews Drive	Olympia Fields	60461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carl	Stonebraker	400 Eagle Dr Elk Grove Village IL	Elk Grove Village	60007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Bennett	152 Old Martinsburge Gr Rd	Augusta	26704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Flowers	1003 Councill Street NW	Huntsville	35816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tammy	Morgan	18301 us hwy 41	Spring Hill	34610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dieter	Held	P.O. Box 928	Mount Holly	8060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Gledhill	.		10245	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Nelson	6715 NE 63rd St, STE 103-132	VANCOUVER	98661	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	White	120 Thibodeaux Dr	Lafayette	70503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Parker	1519 Spyglass	Palm Springs	92264	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andy	Harlow	1345 Radwick Dr	Las Vegas	89110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Rogan	1905 Orleans St.	DETROIT	48207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	O'Brien	104 Wagamons Blvd	MILTON	19968	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cecilia	Varela	5440 W. Greenbriar Dr.	Glendale	85308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Warren	220 Fieldstone Crossing Drive	Bear	19701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Barnes	509 Spring St.	Three Rivers	49093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Veith	2400 Madison Rd	Cincinnati	45208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Grovenstein	Browntown Road	LEICESTER	28748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fermin	Morales	500 W. Lehigh Ave.	PHILADELPHIA	19133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Kaplan	PO Box 577 Port Angeles, WA	Port Angeles	98362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kiyoshi	Williamson	349 San Andreas St	Fairfield	94533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Fergeson	2956 W. 3500 N., Ogden, Ut	Ogden	84404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ted & Stormy	George	Antirap Drive	White Stone	22578	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

PAUL	Wimberly	25954 Princeton	Inkster	48141	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alex	Medina	2525 Pot Spring Road	Lutherville Timonium	21093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jan	Joe	96 Bayside Court	Richmond	94804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Canary	Burton	30 Marsh View	Wellfleet	2667	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hope	Sellers	2 North Ridgeway Avenue	Glenolden	19036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Also, cable companies should not make consumers pay for channels they never ;use such as sports and they have too many promotional full time ads over what consumers want to see. If they want to continue making money for these ads they should make more channels available \with packages.
Sadie	SullivanGreiner	556 Willet St	EL CAJON	92020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brenda	Jordan	4308 W Whitton Ave	Phoenix	85031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Fimian	37 gay rd	Brookfield	1506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Murphy	4201 Mt. Davis Ave.	San Diego	92117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	Nordhof	3135 60th St.	Hamilton	49419	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Everett	Howard	30700 Hunters Drive #1	Farmington	48334	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Art	Costley	6404 holyoke dr	Annandale	22003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Halstead	409 Joseph St., Prescott, AZ	Prescott	86303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Angelli	260, Highland Ave.	Malden	2148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kris	Ratschkowsky	956 confluence court	Steamboat Springs	80487	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Priscilla	Ritchie	1 Fox Run Lane	BRIMFIELD	1010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katonyia	Fernandez	229 Aldwych Way	Antioch	37013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Colin	Frye	2630 8 1/2 Ave	Rock Island	61201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin	Cappello	420 3 Mile Road	Racine	53402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Rosner	3908 Gondar ave	Long Beach	90808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Valerie	Levy	275 Seminary Hill Road	CARMEL	10512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bridget	McCormick	473 vallejo	San Francisco	94133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Zimmerman	P.O. Box 8443	Avon	81620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
S	Jensen	1354 Fuller Ave.	Simi Valley	93065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arthur	Wirsing	3208 jade ct #302	Virginia Beach	23451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
linda	Faste	90 peter coutts cir	Stanford	94305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Butron	787 R and D Platero Ave	Calexico	92231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lenora	Turner	711 Kimberly Ct	Excelsior Springs	64024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Orear	11 Forest Glen Drive	Rockport	4856	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	Bodsberg	32 Pullman Ave E	SAINT PAUL PARK	55071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Ponisciak	30 Nottingham Dr	Willingboro	8046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Hopkins	671 Vernon St 101, Oakland CA	Oakland	94610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. The amount of money I have to pay for access to programming is obscene. It is unacceptable that Comcast, ATT, Direct TV and others have monopolies on what should be FREE.
Brian	Fletcher	918 Chambers Ave.	Gloucester City	8030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Craig	Mackie	36300 Pacific Palisades Pl.	Nehalem	97131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M.L.	Sicoli	404 darlington drive	West Chester	19382	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susaan	Aram	1361 Terrace Way	Laguna Beach	92651	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonnie	Hammon	4140 N Clark	Fresno	93726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nedeltcho	Vladimirov	1228 Strawberry Rd. Apt 1	Saint Albans	25177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Millicent	Foster	1773 Winewood Rd.	BIRMINGHAM	35215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Geralyn	Moss	3 Twin Hill Ct	Howell	7731	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russ	Ripp	9811Elwood DR SW	Lakewood	98498	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pauline	Thomas-Brown	58 Royal lane	Bloomingdale	60108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pat	Magrath	1435 LEDGESTONE LN	Pomona	91767	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorinda	kelley	8829 ne. davis	Portland	97220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I am sick of being denied access to programs that I want to watch because my cable company blocks them.
Helder	prata	PO box 134	New Fairfield	6812	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

cyndi	ortman	2041 MOCKINGBIRD VALLEY CT	Durango	81301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Schultz	10635 Jimenez St.	Sylmar	91342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cliff	Johnson	801 Arnold Way apt.308	Half Moon Bay	94019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy-Alyce	Abbott	21 old lambert's cove rd.	VINEYARD HAVEN	2568	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Zimmerman	P.O. Box 8443	Avon	81620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Corbin	14528 64th Avenue North	Maple Grove	55311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruhee	Baltz	morden		0	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Broughman	2904 Haskell St	Kalamazoo	49006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Stern	266 Palm Valley Blvd., #105	San Jose	95123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jann	Jones	4619 n michigan #204	Portland	97217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Atols	920 Banbury Ct	SCHAUMBURG	60194	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonnie	Hammon	4140 N Clark	Fresno	93726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dan	Laes	1601 Wood Lane	GREEN BAY	54304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ike	Wilder	723 anzac cir	Compton	90220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Sharp	333 Waverley St	Palo Alto	94301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	D		1 MANTUA	8051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosalie	Breslin	208 Sabine Ave. Narberth, PAerth, PA	Narberth	19072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rafael	Martinez	3290 Magnolia Petal Ct	Clermont	34711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Waldemar	Kalinowski	16645 Akron Street	Pacific Plaisades	90272	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilynn	Teel	1948 Fairhaven Drive	Indianapolis	46229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Silver	355 Portola Road	Portola Valley	94028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gail	Elmore	206 S Winburn Dr	Florence	29501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Demby	1117 North Church Street	Moorestown	8057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Lindsley	1086 Military Drive	Salt Lake City	84105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melvin	Schmaderer	St. Paul, NE	Saint Paul	68873	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peggy	Szymeczek	2350 W Obispo Ave	Gilbert	85233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ingrid	Sawyer	12595 Orchard Ave	Omaha	68137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Gillespie	15272 Valeda Dr.	La Mirada	90638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Valerie	Richter	6214 N 34th St	Paradise Valley	85253	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Paiva	1324 locust st	Fall River	2723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jerry	Vint	9125 hector ave	San Diego	92123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Wright	18034 Ventura Blvd	Encino	91316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eli	Viertel	13604 Haverford Court	CHANTILLY	20151	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Arrigo	26606 S Sageberry Rd	Chandler	85248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
michael	forcade	5121 congressional cir.	LAWRENCE	66049	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Bigler	2630 Plantation Dr	Salina	67401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leonard	Herman	859 Miami St Apt 38	TIFFIN	44883	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Justin	Findlay	908 W 200 N	Salt Lake City	84116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Malloy	16224A 49th W	Edmonds	98026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jose	Latas	Javier Puig, 6, Pontevedra, Spain		36001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carole	Ness-Lira	P.O. Box 417	BIG BEAR LAKE	92315	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leroy F.	Dunn Jr.	46 Bay Path Way	Branford	6405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Weiner	PO Box 1193	Upton	1568	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Colin	Thornsberry	13545 Coliseum DR APT A	Chesterfield	63017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Reslink	110 Blue Trail	Hamden	6518	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Fry	8926 Eustis Ave.	Dallas	75218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Blaker	7425 Camino colegio	Rohnert Park	94928	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	Garza	11338 S St Lawrence Avenue	Chicago	60628	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Tucker	200 norwood ave	LOGAN	43138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shelbe	Dorman	5609 cannon ct apt d	Indianapolis	46224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Burlison	422 Ross Rd.	Red Bluff	96080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Catherine	McConnell	2929 S 10th St	Philadelphia	19148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Ciasco	725 Joralemon St.	Belleville	7109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debbie	King	340 Bunting Dr	Savannah	31404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eugene	Swartz	13520 state highway 104	Silverhill	36576	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Goodale	8 South Fulton Street	Homer	13077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cecilia	Trost	364 Channing Way	Alameda	94502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Morton	PO Box 30544	HONOLULU	96820	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Hensley	19 Kyle's CT	Asheville	28806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
gary	Sasso	prospect road	Cheshire	6410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roger	Jennings	3960 W. Point Loma Blvd #H54	San Diego	92110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Will	S	Pawling, NY	Pawling	12564	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Hatfield	106 Rich Dr	West Palm Beach	33406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Lang	2715 Greenwood Road	NORTHBROOK	60062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beth	Bennion	1594 Railroad Drive	McKinleyville	95519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Silver	349 Miller Ave.	Freeport	11520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jaime	Marshall	2520-1 Arizona Avenue	SANTA MONICA	90404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheryl	Schmatjen	501 Euclid Street	Fort Morgan	80701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Brown	99 JohnSt	New York	10038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Moore	6225 Mineral Point Rd	MADISON	53705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Beasley	32408 Grandview Rd.	VISALIA	93291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerrie	Kahn	22205 Wildwood Place	Chatsworth	91311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Arrigo	26606 S Sageberry Rd	Chandler	85248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Perez	790 N. Euclid Street	Anaheim	92801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald J	Riley	1323 West Cook Rd.	Grand Blanc	48439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. In my case, Comcast jacked my monthly bill up from about $60 to over $140, and I had less utility. I finally dropped their cable TV service. Those increases were all related to increasing box rental fees.

Sarah	Morgan	8695 W. Highway 12	Escalante	84726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
PAUL	CONLEY	44964 new london eastern rd.	Sullivan	44880	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debbie	King	340 Bunting Dr	Savannah	31404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stayton	Jones	854 Pearl St.	Denver	80203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emma	Jones	25 Ashford St	Allston	2134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
gary	Sasso	prospect road	Cheshire	6410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dana	Banks	4627 O'Connor Court	Irving	75062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Benders	430 QUINCY BKLYN NY	Brooklyn	11221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kari	jackson	1107 W Green Street	Urbana	61801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alexander	Filichev	1990 Pheasant Drive	Hercules	94547	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Thompson	2207 Rocky Branch Dr., Arlington, TX	Arlington	76013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Eustathios	1211 41st st nw, canton oh	Canton	44709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lauren	Range	5533 S 37th Street	Saint Louis	63116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	Dollar	2357 Banderola Ct.	San Luis Obispo	93401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Baylin	prefer not to give	DURHAM	27707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Dotson	Robinhood Drive	Lawton	73505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
KATHARINE	CLARK	20103 108TH AVENUE NE	Bothell	98011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Madurski	2155 east Gore road	Erie	16510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aaron	Aycock	732 N 775 W	Clearfield	84015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Dingeldein	W312S6330 Crestview Ct	Mukwonago	53149	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Lickteig	Countryside, IL	La Grange	60525	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Miller	19 Montebello Dr.	Daly City	94015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Uncle	Warren	2945 S. Van Buren Place	Los Angeles	90007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Perez	790 N. Euclid Street	Anaheim	92801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

brian	fullerton	1224 w41	Erie	16509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlie	Phillips	1329 N 15TH ST	Lafayette	47904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clifford	Akins	1314 BELLEVUE DR	Gadsden	35904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cate	Renner	250 henry	DAYTON	45403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maria	Smith	Deildarvegur 1		513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Schweizer	46 East Ave	NORWALK	6851	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Rettker	3592 Kingsway Dr	Crown Point	46307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Griffin	1126 S. Pugh St	State College	16801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Russell	6052Chabot apt 1O Oakland ca	Oakland	94618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Florance	20827 Howland Ave W	Lakeville	55044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Backman	Andover	Andover	1810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Anazagasti	PO BOX 691	New York	10028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin	sparr	29 Porter rd	Natick	1760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dawn	Kosec	1895 Innwood	Youngstown	44515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	Timmermans	23 Franklin Street	HORNELL	14843	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

RHONDA	MOORE	4415 N. PERSHING AVENUE #11	Stockton	95207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marie	Phillips	1329 N 15th St	Lafayette	47904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Carter	803 14th St #102	VIRGINIA BEACH	23451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Raymond	Stawicki	11 Westbrooke Ct	VOORHEES	8043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sasha	Fairow	912 N 2ND	Pekin	61554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Burgardt	undisclosed	OAKLAND	94611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Mills	4131 NE 27th. Place	Renton	98059	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Fox	906 Crestwood Rd	Scotch Plains	7076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Griffin	Hughes	1801 Gervais Avenue Apt 327	Saint Paul	55109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	Hardesty	5541 St Rt 54	Philpot	42366	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Khalil	Khan	San Diego, CA	San Diego	92116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Benjamin	egner	1130 powers rd	Paducah	42003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jack	Ostrofsky	317 Oak Park Drive	San Francisco	94131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Schruender	135 N. Pepper Ave. Space 17	RIALTO	92376	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matt	Phillips	1329 N 15th St	Lafayette	47904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wayne	Hornak	535 Brooksidea Drive	Toms River	8753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lillian	Kaye	630 Main St N	Stillwater	55082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Meyerhofer	8 Deerborne Lane	Spencerport	14559	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joyce	Lane	P O Box 56504	Virginia Beach	23456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Florance	20827 Howland Ave W	Lakeville	55044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Wilson	4026 east state road 258	seymour	47274	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randall	Perry	841 George St	Sebastian	32958	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vita	Lawson	135 N Ivy St	Medford	97501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
PA	Paye	234 S. Main St.	Bradford	5033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Gray	451 W Oakdale Ave	CHICAGO	60657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	McCann	5440 linger lane	Lapeer	48446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Lanagan	3212 N. Pecan St.	NACOGDOCHES	75965	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bryce	McDowell	19902 Fountain View Lane	TRENTON	48183	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	Kuhn	Raymond	Raymond	4071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Limbach	Spaight	MADISON	53703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heather	Roman	26 Beaver Brook Drive	Strafford	3884	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
O	Collver	68 Aspen Lane	Stony Brook	11790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Mackey	706 sw SantaBarbara Pl	Cape Coral	33991	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cassandra	Schafer	3240 9th Street West #208, West Fargo, ND 58078-7746	West Fargo	58078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Francis	1503 7th St	LAKE CHARLES	70601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norman	Daoust	157 Raymond St	Cambridge	2140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janelle	Murphy	3102 Cove View	Galveston	77554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Hill	127 Spring Valley	Westerville	43081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ben	Teaford	74 South Farms Drive	MANCHESTER	6040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Victoria	Etcheto	Po Box 5677	South San Francisco	94083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
gretel	graf	8 benoit ave	Old Orchard Beach	4064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Corey	9654 Seaway Dr. Algonac Mi.	Algonac	48001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cindy	Poston	251 Mullins Rd.	Ten Mile	37880	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
gretel	graf	8 benoit ave	Old Orchard Beach	4064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dr. Beverly	Griffin	2220 Ave. of the Stars	Los Angeles	90067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Watson	9516+LUCERNE +AVE+UNIT+1		90232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Delia	Gerhard	117 NW 80th St	Seattle	98117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Russell	6052Chabot apt 1O Oakland ca	Oakland	94618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

pat	eckerd	1666 s extension 11-103	Mesa	85210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Torres	275G Farenholt Ave #46	Barrigada	96913	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Lambert	bx 862	Kennebunk	4043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Miller	5822 corley St	Columbia	29212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Keane	522 Bigelow Street	Marlborough	1752	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Farrell	76 Park Street	Arlington	2474	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melody	Cartwright	713 Jefferson Street	Martinsville	24112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
SARITA	EISENSTARK	103 Farragut Ave	Hastings on Hudson	10706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Slatterry	911 Waynewood Boulevard	Alexandria	22308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Koopman	Timber Ct SE	Olympia	98513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Tolbert	107 Puesta Del Sol, Los Gatos CA	LOS GATOS	95032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
james	maloney	25 CHITTENDEN AVE APT 6B	New York	10033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julio	Rosaly	135 W 225th St	BRONX	10463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Klein	7455 Vista del Monte Ave., Van Nuys, CA	Van Nuys	91405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Harralson	3629 Lakershim Blvd	Los Angeles	90068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jill	Nicholas	45 Oak Hill Terrace, Penfield, NY	Penfield	14526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shelley	Williams	3666 Watson Blvd.	Endicott	13760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Dawson	1747 Scenicview Ct.	SAN LEANDRO	94577	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

m	theolass	176 n. grand st., eugene, or.	Eugene	97402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Baxtere	3804 Lookout Road	North Little Rock	72116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Beaird	85 Brookside Ln.	Woodstock	6281	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Taibi	15516 E 2ND ST S	Independence	64050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Posada	4887 Boxwood	Boynton Beach	33436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Niki	H	Conyers, Ga	Conyers	30013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Deveney	206 Terrace	ASHLAND	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharleen	Mehemed	16241 54th Ave S	Seattle	98188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
RSM	Claudette Schiratti	3726 Locust St	Kansas City	64109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Vedvik	40 Reitz Parkway	Pittsford	14534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Zanetta	128 Lake Kitchawan Drive	South Salem	10590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deane	Bristow	128 S.E. Coos St.	Newport	97365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Irene	Alexakos	Box 727	Haines	99827	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Hall	5252 Balboa Arms Dr Unit 291	SAN DIEGO	92117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Miller	13522 Yellow Pine Drive	Huntley	60142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Lewis	1220 NW Heather Dr	Corvallis	97330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Guier	255 W 108th St	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louise	Fjeld	1273 Washington Ave	Loveland	80537	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randall	Stuckey	714 E North St	West Unity	43570	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Hubbard	49 Ten Rod Rd	Rochester	3867	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Lang	Westlake Village	Westlake Village	91361	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Bryant	7299 Main Street	WADESVILLE	47638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Piotter	904 Moore St. #453	Baraboo	53913	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wanda	Graff	0 S Ivy St	Canby	97013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ILUNGA	ADELL	6602 split oak drive, memphis, tn	MEMPHIS	38115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Arnold	PO Box 883	Central City	42330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Collleen	Hughes	269 Linnaeus	Cookeville	38501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dakota	newbry	48 Josephine street	Wilmington	45177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marta	Novotny	504 4th. St. E.	Erskine	56535	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Miriam	Harlan	1929 Spruce Street	PHILADELPHIA	19103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

melody	brown	309 gilmore ave	Grove City	16127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sergi	Goldman-Hull	3923 Nevil Street	Oakland	94601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mauricio	Rodriguez	11296 NW 15th CT	Hollywood	33026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

barbara singer	meis	magnolia blvd	Sherman Oaks	91403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Rogan	4210 Rochester Rd. #101	Royal Oak	48073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Madzik	46 Beacon Hill Ter	Bethel	6801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregory	Hess	20 Novice Run Trl	Fairfield	17320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Davis	400 Covey Ln.	Mesquite	75150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Phair	4522 Shady Side Ln	Durham	27713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Prescott	McCurdy	Maine	Harpswell	4079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Bucsek	333 E. Church Lane	Philadelphia	19144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
frances	walsh	922 kenilworth ave	Newark	19711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sean	Donovan	9588 Castile CT	Columbia	21045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kim	Alexander	38 two penny run	Woodstown	8098	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rowland	hepard	2633 Georgetown Drive	BARTLESVILLE	74006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	Todd	607 E. South Ave.	EMPORIA	66801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ramon	Barajas	2573 Pemberton Ct.	Stockton	95210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	White	1403 Ransco Rd	Richmond	23235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Luke	Solis	N3819 County Road J	Rockland	54653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Barringer	26 S Main St	Stockton	8559	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dian	Samuelson	California	Rancho Cordova	95670	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jay	Strand	532 14th Ave. E. #105 Seattle WA 98112	Seattle	98112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachele	Laroche	7149 Mill Run Drive	Rockville	20855	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lou	Clark	1408 s Henderson st.	Bloomington	47401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

M	Dier	Strongsville,Oh	Strongsville	44136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Schmaier	901 Hillsborough Blvd	Burlingame	94010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deb	Hebert	6072 Mason Ct.	Magalia	95954	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Zserai	P.O.Box 987	JONESTOWN	17038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Ratliff	337 Galway Road	Bristol	37620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kevin	moore	234 vetavia st	Birmingham	35210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. If nothing is done this industry will collapse

Rena	Lewis	1202 Loma	Ojai	93023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vinnedge	Lawrence	299 Saddleback Rd	West Baldwin	4091	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlie	Holland	killington, vt	Killington	5751	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Claire	Toaspern	1568 Stanley Dollar Dr., #1A	Walnut Creek	94595	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Herb	Shelton	2115 Longview Dr	tallahassee	32303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lydia	LaFleur	Chicopee	Chicopee	1013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marcia	Brewster	14771 Hartman Plaza	Omaha	68116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deloris	Furda	2095. Cumberland Rd	Breezewood	15533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Jackson	Bret Harte road	Berkeley	94708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Dierig	610 Carrington Place #207	Loveland	45140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen	Lemay	217 East 96th Street Apt. 30A	New York	10128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
patricia	Cuenot	105 Hill street	Oak View	93022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Hartley	1319 woodlawn ave	Pittsburgh	15221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sean	Twaits	415 E. Wayne St. Apt. 03	FORT WAYNE	46802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jim	gremel	3700 deer meadow ln., occidental, CA	Occidental	95465	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Fenneman	11871 Covey Ln	HUNTLEY	60142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Belcher	2703 Jelinek Ave	Schofield	54476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ramon	Moreno	6165 E ILiff Ave denver co	Denver	80222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jimmy	Recard	5099 Atrium Way	Mount Laurel	8054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Darnell	401 Dolphin Street	Panama City Beach	32413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lorraine	Filipek	12485 Whalen Lake Dr	HARTLAND	48353	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

anita	simons	2217 caminito preciosa sur	La Jolla	92037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Durham	5625 Cooley Lk Rd	WATERFORD	48327	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eva	Curatolo	420 Glen Ave.	Schenectady	12302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Fomenko	7523 Deveron Court	San Jose	95135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Onsgard	PO Box 287	Northfield	55057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Burton	936 Shive Lane lot 159 Bowling Green KY	Bowling Green	42103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Clarence	Sutton	4016 Murdock St	Temple Hills	20748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Shelton	4802 Gloria	WAYNE	48184	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jan	Hansen	6380 Omo Ranch Rd.	SOMERSET	95684	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carole	Kaye	P O Box 143	MALDEN ON HUDSON	12453	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Sharrar	1005 Watts St	Jackson	49203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Kelly	59 croydon rd	Hingham	2043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dan	Mahony	8470 wwashburnrd	Las Vegas	89149	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patti	Kimble	279 McKinley St	Emmons	56029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jaime	Herazo	Av. Madrid 113	Terrassa	8227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shelagh	Mayhew	779 Horn St.	WASHINGTON	63090	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Sofranko	PA	KING OF PRUSSIA	19406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
justin	Solomon	5 fink ct wellsboro. pa	Wellsboro	16901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Montoya	2601 S Minnesota Ave	Sioux Falls	57105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Pages	17920 Gulf Blvd. #208	Saint Petersburg	33708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Bernard	10410 se harold st	Portland	97266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Carlton	10408 Alabama Circle	Minneapolis	55438	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lorenzo	Martini	875 Vermont st	San Francisco	94107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Wade	1840 123rd Ave. S.E.	Bellevue	98005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	Schnaidt	Traverse City, MI	Traverse City	49686	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Reise	155 Escambia Lane	Cocoa Beach	32931	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edda	Carrero	Villa Interamericana-26	San German	683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edgar	Cabral	P.O.Box 191721 Miami Beach,FL	Miami Beach	33119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Pickens	505 N. O St.	Indianola	50125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amanda	Graham	1129 Florida St SE	Albuquerque	87108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Molly	McEnerney	3246 Judy Lane	LAFAYETTE	94549	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	kosiak	1014 devonshire cur	Minneapolis	55431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Irena	Paspalakis	1646 Farmington Ave	Unionville	6085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bryan	George	45 E 9th Pl	Mesa	85201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eva-Genevieve	Scarborough	128 Cedarbrook Rd.	NAPERVILLE	60565	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LOLA	CUADRADO	CUADRADO	New Orleans	70122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Goodman	548 Cuesta Dr.	Aptos	95003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Macek	1707 N. Hume Avenue	MARSHFIELD	54449	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Suzanne	Menne	265 Geneive Circle	CAMARILLO	93010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gene	Margaritondo	9301 E Fowler Ave	Thonotosassa	33592	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Oburn	31 Barrows Dr.	Topsham	4086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Riswadkar	margaret	137 tolers road	williamsburg	23185	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jesse	Gore	2411 Chapel Ave	Nashville	37206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Oliver	Box 1505		841	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Prokop	177 Lancaster St, Albany NY	Albany	12210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elisheba	Vera	206 Saratoga Avenue	Brooklyn	11233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doris	Parrott	1003 marymont ln.	Charleston	29414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Layden	17341 Military Rd S	Seattle	98188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Becky	monger	4861packard	Ann Arbor	48108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Wong	161 Jackson	MADISON	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I'll never subscribe to cable even if it's really cheap, because I don't like television. But for people who do, stop the monopoly.
Geraldin	Fogarty	216 Fairfield Pike	YELLOW SPRINGS	45387	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	Ray	5118 Chowan Avenue	Alexandria	22312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Clark	3365 Hoffman Rd.	East Helena	59635	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lorenzo	Martini	875 Vermont st	San Francisco	94107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sylvia	Short	194 Chilhowee Ln	Bean Station	37708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Faga	96 Lakeshore Drive	Oakland	7436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Johnson	1519 Forest Hills Dr	RAPID CITY	57701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandi	Cole	4200 Marple st	Philadelphia	19136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Meadows	900 N Cleveland St SPC 89	Oceanside	92054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Ferrari	1175 West Baseline Road	Claremont	91711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ljubica	Sefer-Stefancic	435 Fort Washington Ave	New York	10033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
pamela	joseph	24 bermuda road	Westport	6880	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Baker	64 Clubhouse Drive	Carmel	10512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	O'Connor	7312 98th Avenue	Kenosha	53142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Johnson	1519 Forest Hills Dr	RAPID CITY	57701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Kelly	W. Lake Rd	Ashville	14710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruby	Cole	450 1/2 W Ohio St	FRANKFORT	46041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Prokop	177 Lancaster St, Albany NY	Albany	12210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Jarvis	8115 Waldron Rd	Jerome	49249	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

paul	ginnetti	1954 abbott rd	Buffalo	14218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jenelle	Joseph	1440 SCHENECTADY AVE	BROOKLYN	11203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Liz	Redwing	4712 Admiralty Way	Marina del Rey	90292	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

nora	bayne	91 brompton road arden, nc	ARDEN	28704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacob	Wolbert	4068 Byway East	NAPA	94558	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Horton	4161 Surfwood Lane #105	PUEBLO	81005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Parkinson	1542 sw 18th terr	Fort Lauderdale	33312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margarito	Aranda	506 Jan Ct	Austin	78753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Holt	1028 Don Diego Ave	Santa Fe	87505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Jarrett	727 Merlin Dr	Lafayette	80026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
H	Auslander	PO Box 939	Kresgeville	18333	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Petersen	7427 Boulevard East	North Bergen	7047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janie	Horowitz	12 Coles Court	RIVER EDGE	7661	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Litz	1171 N Red Oak Circle, #2	Round Lake	60073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Marion	3335 63rd Sq	Vero Beach	32966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Parkinson	1542 sw 18th terr	Fort Lauderdale	33312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Holder	12121 New Hampshire Ave	Silver Spring	20904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristen	de Caccia	161 Aberdeen Ct	VALLEJO	94591	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bonnie	Smith	1690 Cottonwood Avenue	SPRINGFIELD	97477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Hoven	122 Peggy Lane	Nazareth	18064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Dantonio	711 Forest Club Dr apt 602	Wellington	33414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Alexander	20235 County Road 431	Lindale	75771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Conrad	1520 Cherry	Kansas City	64106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samuel	Fisher	6528A Clayton Avenue	SAINT LOUIS	63139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Holford	2580 SE Courtney	PORTLAND	97222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Posthumus	5106 Clarence st.	Richmond	23225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
cathy	twiss	60 Haskins Road	Savoy	1256	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Norm	Levy	600 Luther Rd.	Harrisburg	17111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Poole	201 Gerritt Street	Philadelphia	19147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Taylor	573 CHELE DR	Saint Charles	63304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet	Moser	596 Campus Pl	BALDWIN	11510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Moore	530 Alden Bridge Drive	Cary	27519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Chille	PO Box 555	Willingboro	8046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Valerie	Marks	73 Jasper Ln.	Dayton	89403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Horch	1206 orchid circle	Bellport	11713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Pierce	5511 University Way NE	Seattle	98105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maria	Rodriguez	16262 SW 82 St	Miami	33193	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	lunde	501 Bayou Dr		77569	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Herther	1585 Cohansey St Apt 201	Saint Paul	55117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Pierce	5511 University Way NE	Seattle	98105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Casey	Lynch	912 Paterson Ave	East Rutherford	7073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vanessa	Stine	P.O. Box 8009	Van Nuys	91409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

LeeRoy	DeJohn	1241 1/2 East First Street	Butte	59701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Constance	Palmer	1633 N. 123rd St.	Milwaukee	53226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	York-Cail	3 Corduroy Rd.	Amherst	3031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Irene and Gregory	Lalonde	7159 Enterprise rd.	Ferndale	98248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Fidelman	72730A Mesquite Ct.	Palm Desert	92260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bo	Alexander	81 E Friendship Church Rd	Coatesville	19320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Helmbock	4021 Paxton Ave.	Cincinnati	45209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Mills	2435 steinway st	Astoria	11103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Clifton	1309 Patriot Dr	Slidell	70458	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Myers	1 Sheridan Square	New York	10014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Claiborn	106 Calle del Paradiso, Venice	Venice	34285	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francine	Bailard	4015 Portsmouth	Houston	77027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Lee	1900 Elm St #519	Dallas	75201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nora	Ziegler	817 Brettingham Ct.	West Chester	19382	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Carlo	306 South Robinson Ave	Pen Argyl	18072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Helen	Templeton	208 S Taft Ave	EVANSVILLE	47714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Rutberg	30 5th Street	Frenchtown	8825	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shelley	Toye	7 Sleepy Hollow Pt	Gales Ferry	6335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	Austin	1619 S. Eola Dr.	Orlando	32806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Levy	109 North Rd	Chelmsford	1824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Shipman	4 N Rue Charles	San Antonio	78217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Graper	6114 Barton Rd	MADISON	53711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brandon	st Don	236 eugenia st	New Bedford	2745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Hallmark	32416 hupp dr	TEMECULA	92592	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

aaron	fellhoelter	2012 w 2nd st	Long Beach	39560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Will	Rogers	213 North Fletcher Avenue	Fayetteville	72701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maggie	Seymour	7 Sedgwick Place	Beaufort	29907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jerry	Klemm	4905 217th St N	Forest Lake	55025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Haguewood	1309 W 49th St	North Little Rock	72118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Lamkin	26 Autumn Lane	Lincoln	1773	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Stankiewicz	95-125 Kaalolo Place	Mililani	96789	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	Marshall	20635 Spring Garden Road	Foresthill	95631	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Polly	Dallas	1622 Center St.	Oakland	94607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Inness	Philadelphia TN	Philadelphia	37846	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lee	Alban	237 Beechwood Blvd.	Steubenville	43953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Omiya	12200 montecito Rd. #H-207	Seal Beach	90740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Rohlfing	2550 Goshawk Ln Lincoln, CA	Lincoln	95648	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Ballard	1124 Ortman Rd	MARQUETTE	49855	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amanda	Matles	130 Fenimore Street	Brooklyn	11225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Croitiene	ganMoryn	6211 SE 24th Ave	Ocala	34480	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Douglas	9669 Devedente Drive	Owings Mills	21117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Echols	Rolling Green Ct	Reston	20191	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heidi	Wacker	1210 Calle de Lago	Socorro	87801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eldyth	Christopher	1630 Williams Hwy	Grants Pass	97527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Irish	Phipps Road	Portland	4102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maureen	Gibson	3335 S. Hamilton Ave	Chicago	60608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Ankelman	456 Oak St. St. Louis, MO	Saint Louis	63119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Schlemmer	1121 Summer St.	Hudson	54016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kirk	Butler	2705 Armenia Court	Tampa	33614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Grencho	206 Merrimac Ave.	Springfield	1104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Marquart	72 Leo Avenue	STANHOPE	7874	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leslie	Kaplan	456 W47th St.,NY,NY	New York	10036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shari	Wilkinson	1520 Conner Dr	Dallas	75217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Erwin	4208 East Mallory Ave	Memphis	38111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Joos	4259 SW Patrick Pl	Portland	97239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Green	3765 Canfield Rd.	Pasadena	91107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Betty	Phillips	3120 Humboldt	Topeka	66605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Allison	Grant	1485 Flinton Ct.	Westlake Village	91361	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Rossman	4 Alpine Dr	WAPPINGERS FALLS	12590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pam	Sullivan	13112 Magnolia St	GARDEN GROVE	92844	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerry	Humphrey	1500 W. El Camino Avenue #516	Sacramento	95833	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
william	neher	2540 dell ridge drive	Holt	48842	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Vichiola	6 Chappelle street,#5	Danbury	6810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	McCloskey	24300 El Toro Rd., Laguna Woods, CA	Laguna Woods	92637	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russell	Reece	Manhattan Beach	Manhattan Beach	90266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Hughes	1933 Avenida del Diablo	Escondido	92029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Baker	16675 Fountain Ave	Morgan Hill	95037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	McLaughlin	1699 N Terry St #190, Eugene, OR	Eugene	97402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peggy	Link	458 S Union Grove Rd	Lexington	27295	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Bird	131 Aragon Avenue	ROCHESTER	14622	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Sansone	9922 NW Gales Cr. Rd.	Gales Creek	97117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Lieb	204 Center St	SANTA CRUZ	95060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Green	2222 River Rd	JOHNS ISLAND	29455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Croteau	1321 Upland Dr	HOUSTON	77043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandee	Mayville	28 Kathleen St	MASSENA	13662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jerry and Susan	Faunce	6 Wild Ridge Rd	Berry Creek	95916	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Huber	540 Peck Rd.	Spencerport	14559	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Goldberg	Rolling Lane	FRAMINGHAM	1701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jewelldean	Gatewood	4470 Moler St.	Dallas	75211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Hollander	POB 20	BIBLE SCHOOL PARK	13737	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gabe	Uhr	447 N. Genesee Ave.	Los Angeles	90036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

A	Stewart	3730	Decatur	30032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shameeka	Dease	Dease	Brooklyn	11224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LUIS	BRIONES	2805 Poinciana circle.cooper city, fl	Hollywood	33026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robyn	Peterson	1406 Lydia Drive	Lafayette	80026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MÌÎÌ rio	Santos	Rua Estevam Remì_gio 1145		20000	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Sullivan	293 Burch Ave.	Buffalo	14210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sally	Thompson	warminster	Warminster	18974	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Cooke	1000 Escalon Dr	Sunnyvale	94085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Wachowiak	1605 Colton Drive Orlando Fl	ORLANDO	32822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

NiiAyi	Quaye	7074 N Ashland Blvd	Chicago	60626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Albers	2177 Ealing Circle #2	Germantown	38138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rita	Fahrner	271 Gates Street	SAN FRANCISCO	94110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jameson	McDonnell	809 mc clellan st	PHILADELPHIA	19148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Underwood	3	Lafayette	47909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Peters	107 Cypress Pond Rd	Palm Harbor	34683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julia	DuBois	4105 Indian Summer Dr SE, Olympia WA	Olympia	98513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Weldgen Jr	14 Grace Marie Drive	Webster	14580	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Walz	4613 N River Park Blvd	Milwaukee	53209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Chandler	3008 N 25th St, Fort Pierce FL	FORT PIERCE	34946	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Todd	Shearer	1407 E. 10TH AVE. 17	Denver	80218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Reise	155 Escambia Lane	Cocoa Beach	32931	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Essa	Jallad	58 Livingston st	Tappan	10983	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bryant	Donoghue	13 Hillcrest drive	Middletown	10940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marsha	Smith	15 Bridle Lane	Dryden	13053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ROGER	CARLSON	550 rOLLINGSTONE dRIVE #31	Steamboat Springs	80487	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Morales	1086 Pippin Circle	Santa Rosa	95407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Rivest		Wallops Island	23337	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roland	Balthazor	2655 leyland trail	Saint Paul	55125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	Warren	8343-26th ave	Kenosha	53143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gretchen	Robinson	1 Wood Street	ATTLEBORO	2703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marianne	Hart	10008 SW Conestoga Dr 116	Beaverton	97008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Duane	Little	1832 Taylor Street NW	Washington	20011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Wengler	2807 Spokane	San Antonio	78222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary E	Lizie	277 Harrison St	Manchester	3104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeremy	Kenyon	23836 Killion St	Woodland Hills	91367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vickie	williams	33620 SW Firdale Rd.	Cornelius	97113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Juli Lynne	Charlot	1202 Greenacre Ave	Los Angeles	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bryan	Reyes	217 kemper rd.	Danville	24541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Crimmins	18 Clavendon Court	Middletown	7748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Cheserow	1230 South Alhambra Circle, Coral Gables, Florida	Miami	33146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Wert	13 Beacon Drive	REHOBOTH BEACH	19971	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vance	Cowan	2323 E.10th St. Apt 345	TUCSON	85719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Freise	83 Eastlake Ave	Massapequa Park	11762	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Adcock	2520 Fox Hill Court	Fort Mill	29708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Merrell	Long	486 New Dam Road	NORTH WATERBORO	4061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

dolores	boland	25336 Timber Ridge	Flat Rock	48134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jackie	Douglas	4543 Sandlewood Dr.	Jackson	39212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C Gerald	Chetkowski	227 Skycrest Dr	Landenberg	19350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Colby	Glass	3211 Quakertown Dr	San Antonio	78230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kcarolina	Christensen	713 A Main Street	QUINCY	95971	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Crimmins	18 Clavendon Court	Middletown	7748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martin	Baker	225 Raintree Drive Zionsville, Indiana	Zionsville	46077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Canote	202 E Mulberry St	Huntsville	65259	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allison	Petroccia	19541 N Mitkof Loop	Eagle River	99577	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Diaz	5274 KUNKEL DR	San Jose	95124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Barragree	330 Field Ave Unit B	Canon City	81212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Strom	10480 National Blvd., #223	Los Angeles	90034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Schuster	8673SE Wakkila Ter	Beaverton	97007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rhonda	Franklin	2032 Harrison St.	Wilmington	28401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Mercer	701 PR 1709	Mico	78056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janice	Day	1631 Hidden Valley	Shaftsbury	5262	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Mouw	4315 N. BAIN AVE, FRESNO CA	Fresno	93722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shawnee	Mclemore	8494 Pallux Way	San Diego	92126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Freeman	51 Main St.	Danbury	6810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Upp	3231 Telegraph Ave.	Oakland	94609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Perron	wa	Seattle	98117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	LaPlante	2760 Humbolt Rd.	Green Bay	54311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tyler	Perkins	4 meadow road	Enfield	6082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Simon	Furneaux	1	Schenectady	12345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra	Krogbin	10021 Arbuckle Dr	Las Vegas	89134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ioana	Sfrengeu	2291 central ave	Roseville	95747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patsy	Martinson	Po box 434	Decorah	52101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lu	Conklin	4064 S. Kendll S. St.		86005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	Byrne	311 Piedmont	Austin	78757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	C	1 n	CHAMPAIGN	61821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank and Bonnie	Mc Cune	5631 SW 78th St. #3	Miami	33143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	McKee	2349 E. 1st St, Tucson AZ	Tucson	85719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Dibble Jr.	4933 Hersholt Ave.	LAKEWOOD	90712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joshua	Pechulis	92 West Walnut St.	Kingston	18704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Durnell	3087 Daisy Mine Rd	RICE	99167	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Johnson	130 W Victoria St	SANTA BARBARA	93101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Johnson	2009 Saint Thomas Dr Apt 405	Waldorf	20602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Barrett	1711 N 122nd St	SEATTLE	98133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	McDowell	5631 S 95TH PLZ	Omaha	68127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hannah	Blakeman	306 N. Myrtle St.	MYRTLE BEACH	29577	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
nick	jenkins	75 Old Stage Rd	Bristol	3222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Travis	3028 Cascade Drive	Clearwater	33761	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julia	Knight	511 Wellesley SE	ALBUQUERQUE	87106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Scharber	1727 4th St NE	MINNEAPOLIS	55413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darise	Weller	9259 NW Germantown Rd	PORTLAND	97231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patty	Haley	1919 Doe Run Dr	Mount Sterling	40353	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Urla	262 Mott St	New York	10012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Baughan	1004 1/2 Electric Ave., Venice , California	Venice	90291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Acosta	11623 DEHN AVE	INGLEWOOD	90303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	K	10134 Baywood Court	Los Angeles	90077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Steuck	3005 Sunset Dr.	Golden	80401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Damian	Cano	970 Leneve Place	El Cerrito	94530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ma	garr	740 s. beaumont	Prairie du Chien	53821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I was paying $80 per month for tv and had 2 choices; pay $70 and get fewer channels or pay$30 and get 3 religious channels, 2 sales channels, 2 local channels, 2 public tv channels and the others infomercials. Their charges are out of control and then they charge for equipment too. I also get my internet through the cable company and I pay for high speed and don't get it; often the tv freezes or the internet takes forever to download; they say you get a range that 'is acceptable' not what you think you are paying for. I live in a rural area so it is all

Jeanne	Thatcher	300 Legion Avenue	Chico	95926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Nehmad	935 Kauku Place	Honolulu	96825	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilynn	Harper	216 N. Monroe St. #203	MEDIA	19063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arleen	Barber	26123 Fordson Hwy	REDFORD	48239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Novak	Madison	Madison	53711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Galligan	30 Parry Rd.	Stamford	6907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ellen	Lauber	7642 Katy Drive	DAYTON	45459	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hannah	doberne	5555morella ave	Valley Village	91607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gordette	Leutz	P. O. Box 197	Chassell	49916	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Mitchell	11111 NW 3rd Ave	Vancouver	98685	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Red	Clark	PO Box 237	Windsor	95492	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Kelsey	Paris dr,	Villa Rica	30180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

G	Allen	4119 N 110th St	Wauwatosa	53222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurel	Covington	207 Orange Dr	Lutz	33548	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Goodwin	923 Shangri-La Ave.N.E.	Salem	97303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Grant	10 White Birch Lane	Dalton	18414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mitchell	Miles	6631 wakefield drive	Alexandria	22307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanne Sansbury	Bell	2034 Riverdale St.	West Springfield	1089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Neil	Fisher	307 S 71st West Ave	Tulsa	74127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christian	Blanco	31 Spruce Street, Carteret	Carteret	7008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Todd	Mayer	Gary Drive	SOQUEL	95073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ann	Peters	Honolulu	Honolulu	96817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sylvia	Selverston	6862 Thornwood St.	SAN DIEGO	92111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Ledenbach	5513 W 122nd St	Hawthorne	90250	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Sargent	10908 Tray Way	Glen Allen	23060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Thompson	1532 The Arnold Trail	Eustis	4936	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gabriella	Brown	7715 S. South Shore Dr., Apt. 405	Chicago	60649	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rebecca	Augustin	803 N. Avenida Serenidad	Somerton	85350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Kirkpatrick	61 Aries Dr.	Rexburg	83440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	BLACKMAN	4489 SW Fairview Circus	Portland	97221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

R Roy	Johnson	3755 S. Hunters Run	TUCSON	85730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brenda	Loveless	2314 Parker Rd #230, Carrollton, TX	Carrollton	75010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Luis	Elizalde	6812 Valley Lake Dr	Raleigh	27612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Katherine	Hutchins	19426 N 36th Place	Phoenix	85050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eva	Willis	4408 E. Desert Trumpet Rd.	Phoenix	85044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. When my cable company Cox removed an old cable box and installed a new one, the technician just told me to keep it. I found out many months later that I was then being charged for both boxes. This is clearly not fair. The cable companies are ripping off the consumers.
Tanya	Leikam	5006 NW Daniels St	Vancouver	98663	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrea	Smith	1517 Village Lane	JACKSONVILLE	62650	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Massey	8510 Main St Edmonds	Edmonds	98026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Bush	4941 Dupont Ave. N.	Minneapolis	55430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Schneider	2029 Tulip St	San Diego	92105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Ford	1304 Westview Dr	Normal	61761	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LW	ALLSTADT	18 Main Street	Cooperstown	13326	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Barlow	116 West Ave	Great Barrington	1230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Ingram	63575 Deschutes Mkt. Rd Bend, OR 97701	BEND	97701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Schafer	1300 Southampton Rd. #75 Benicia CA	Benicia	94510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Hernandez	19200 Rising Sun RD	Corona	92881	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chuck	Chitwood	P.O. Box 17128 Boulder, Co.	Boulder	80308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Limpert	1610 Thornberry Ave.	Louisville	40215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Allen	Williamson	203 Channelview Dr	Moneta	24121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Trela	414 Taylor Lane	Canyon	79015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sara	bourne	62 market st	Morristown	7960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Murphy	4106 Quintana St.	Hyattsville	20782	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Ross	1101 City Avenue	WYNNEWOOD	19096	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Frankel	1421 156th Ave.	SAN LEANDRO	94578	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roslyn	Feigenbaum	6901 N.W.78 Court	Fort Lauderdale	33321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Britt	Jones	3661 Alexia Pl	San Diego	92116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Cavanaugh	47906 Willis Rd	Belleville	48111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Valerie	Shubert	1420 Western, #409	Seattle	98101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. What we have ALWAYS wanted is an ala carte system; so that we can get what we want and not have to take a bunch of other things we don't ever use. I personally only use about 10 channels. So do many other people I know. Many of them have given up on television entirely because they can't afford to pay for more than 100 channels to get the 10 or so they use.
phyllis	milliken	east 85 street	New York	10028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

teresa	gingras	1619 James st	Lansing	48906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Bellows	9527 East Surprise Canyon Court	Tucson	85748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlene	Hershbain	2106 Gatherings Dr	Haledon	7508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Scully	5651 Byrneland Street	Madison	53711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Miriam	Moss	5 Aspen Lane, Northampton, MA	Northampton	1060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dianna	Arens	PO Box 132	BELMONT	26134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rebecca	Foster	4156 Cranberry Ln	Williamsburg	49690	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Annetta	Winkle	4414-68th St.	Kenosha	53142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paloma	navarrete	2260 Calle Pulido	Santa Fe	87505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gina	Garofalo	102 Tenney Street	Methuen	1844	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Rogers	136 Valley Rd.	Waterloo	50701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patriick	Horton	2733 Espanola ne	Albuquerque	87110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lucy	logan	553 dry yard drive	San Jose	95117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Lyman	3 Atherwood Pl	Redwood City	94061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dina	R	3660 N LSD	CHICAGO	60613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Barrett	771 AMBROSE DR	SALINAS	93901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Pexa	1491 Huntington	Cleveland	44118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Zielke	1030 Girard Rd. #312A	San Francisco	94129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dee	Winters	22136 Westheimer Pkwy #504	Katy	77450	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Fusco	50 Del Mar Avenue	Berkeley	94708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
SSJE	Br. Jonathan Maury	980 Memorial Dr.	Cambridge	2138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Stoneking	3262 NE Olympic ST.	Hillsboro	97124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Pearson	1703 NW Rude Rd.	Poulsbo	98370	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leonora	Pezzuti	11861 Midvale Avenue	LOS ANGELES	90025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	biv	123 west	Warren	44484	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Kerman	P.O. Box 733	Hazel Park	48030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Coburn	2718 King George Ave	Lakeland	33805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jessica	Sarles	4527 49th St NW	Washington	20016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nan	Warshaw	4515 N. St. Louis Ave.	Chicago	60625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clarice	Rankins	2837 Buena Vista Pike	NASHVILLE	37218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mel	Moore	222 W. Crawford St.	Elkhart	46514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Seidita	29 Cockonoe Ave	Babylon	11702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Gardner	345 West 145th St	New York	10031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	DePreta	211 Gary Rd	Stamford	6903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Merrie	Thornburg	6311 N Wayne	CHICAGO	60660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kate	Hermann-Wu	1306 Trapelo Rd.	WALTHAM	2451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Nickel	1421 Itawamba Trail	London	43140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Rose	434 Campbells Hollow Rd	Middlebrook	24459	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Sanford	14761 Portage RD	VICKSBURG	49097	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

So	Allen	90 Grey Hawk Dr.	Mashpee	2649	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Miller	19 S. Carrollton Ave., Rear Apt., Baltimore, MD	Baltimore	21223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lyn	Dremalas	2030 N. Pacific	Santa Cruz	95060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Slatt	7089 Victory Sr	Bath	14810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurence	Yorgason	973 E. 5675 S.	Ogden	84405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Hovey	19 Elm St. Piermont NY	Piermont	10968	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Luke	Steichen	13455 SE 181st St	Renton	98058	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Naveed	Anwar	2684 Center court drive	Fort Lauderdale	33332	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Applebaum	401 Sequoyah Road	OAKLAND	94605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Penny	Wixson	18617 N Palo Verde Dr	SUN CITY	85373	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Meg	Huckins	13 Canterbury Hill Rd.	Topsfield	1983	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Schaffhausen	3438 Ridgecrest Drive	Birmingham	35216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patsy	Shafchuk	11855 Cassandra St., Apt. 102	New Port Richey	34654	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tiffany	Snyder	175 South 35th Street Boulder CO	BOULDER	80305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Weeks	181 Taylor rd	Colchester	6415	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

B J	Schmidt	204 E. Railroad St., loraine, Il.	Loraine	62349	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Campbell	4415 14th Ave SE #101	Lacey	98503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. It's the same with cable that we were told would have competition in EVERY area by now and yet not one single cable company has any competition at all. You are failing us.
Byron	Hathaway	11353 Venice Bl.	Los Angeles	90066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

j	barton	3708 newberry rd	Gainesville	32607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Warren	Maloney	P.O. Box 376	Norton	2766	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
nancy	simon	321 D Anacapa St.	SANTA BARBARA	93101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Garnet	2440 Segwick Ave	Bronx	10468	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gemma	Geluz	2929 Juniper Street	Fairfield	94533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Liddle	2601 New Orleans Street, #2224	Huntsville	35805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kay	Randall	520 32nd Ave. S. #109	MOORHEAD	56560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bertha	Means	9140 Anderton Springs Cove	Memphis	38133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Wennemark	7003 S Estacada Way	Cordova	38018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

diane	sheheen	1207 longtown rd	Lugoff	29078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Hamerlind	162 Windsor Court, New Brighton, MN	SAINT PAUL	55112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Abigail	Carl	2420 N. Union Blvd	Colorado Springs	80909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

EDWARD	MRKVICKA	6322 URBAN COURT	Arvada	80004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen	Leahy	11 Marshall Ave	Natick	1760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Ehlert	950 Seamist Place Apt 102	Ventura	93003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fred	Toledo	3701 Eddy Place	Shreveport	71107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Epstein	8062 Palomino Dr	Naples	34113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Smith	226 W. Maiden Lane	Kansas City	64114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eliza	Stewart	P.O. Box 3048	Corrales	87048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jay	Caplan	155 Chestnut Plain Rd	Whately	1093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chester	Payne	616 Polk Ave.	LEBANON	65536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christine	Zon	288 E 6th St	Clifton	7011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Loc	Do	6205 Cielo Terrace	Oklahoma City	73149	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
tina	s.	1234 Private St.	New Albany	47150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Robinson	255 Cabrini Blvd., Apt. 5A	NEW YORK	10040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Howard	Johnson	3929 XERXES AVE S	Minneapolis	55410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Gardiner	35 Woodland Rd.	Lexington	2420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Hodges	2801 Abercorn Street	Savannah	31405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
bruce	clark	38499 richardson gap rd. scio, or.	Scio	97374	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Armando	Camacho	4557 32nd Street, Unit 1	San Diego	92116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roslyn	Jones	6528 Dante Circle	Riverside	92506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gilbert	Christman	680 Duck Farm Rd	Fairfield	6824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Clarke	1330 Lower Lincoln Hills Dr.	Missoula	59802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Rutherford	1413 Dogwood Road	STAUNTON	24401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Garofalo	55 old stage rd	Saugerties	12477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Drake	5520 Gloucester Street	Churchton	20733	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jerome	Sullivan	660 Wildwood Blvd SW	Issaquah	98027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karl	Sidman	2050 SW 52nd Way	FORT LAUDERDALE	33317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Egerton	3 Warren Lodge Court	Cockeysville	21030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vigny	Fong	4 east mill drive	Great Neck	11021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Rose	356 5th Ave So	Park Falls	54552	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Suckstorff	12800 Se 7th St apt e6 Vancouver, WA	Vancouver	98683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Smith	21706 Asturis rd	Key West	33040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Dare	108 N. Auburndale #721	MEMPHIS	38104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sonia	Nordenson	212 S. Montgomery Street	Ojai	93023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Johni	Prinz	311 N. Broadway St. #403	Aberdeen	98520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Wilkins	3649 Taliluna Avenue G-3	Knoxville	37919	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jai	Sethee	2171 Glasgow Ave	Cardiff by the Sea	92007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tracey	Riley	San Diego	San Diego	92109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Gilstrap	1007 S. Euclid Avenue	Princeton	61356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Cowles	Wall St	Salt Lake City	84103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kelly	Edens	17226 cloudcroft dr	Poway	92064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gay	Griffin	1102 Hillcrest Drive SW	VIENNA	22180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Hassig	102 N. Russel st.	MOUNT PROSPECT	60056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J. R.	LeVesque	651 Jefferson	Minneapolis	55413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	Brodell	163 South St.	Jamaica Plain	2130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Zych	Kruger ave	Cameron	54822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judy	Wyeth	121 Locust street	LODI	53555	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	Lou	705 S WELLER ST APT 605	Seattle	98104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Moessner	4537 sandy lane road	Columbus	43224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Gertz	1200 fulton st.	San Francisco	94117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Hayes	1300 Oakmont Dr #7	Walnut Creek	94595	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stuart	Dunn	976 Jennifer	Incline Village	89451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Merrill	Dellas	634 Wisteria Ln	SANTA ROSA	95407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Wolske	po box 6282	Chico	95927	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Plummer	PO Box 3458	Manassas	20108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacquelyn	Bransen	128 first st	Fort Collins	80524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
w	smith	125 bowery	New York	10002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
relora	joyce	1251 Aspen St.	LONGMONT	80501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Wolske	po box 6282	Chico	95927	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Astalos	401B Picardy Ct	LAKEWOOD	8701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dmichael	Cervenak	10820 Bonjon Lane	San Diego	92131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	McFadden	26766 Butternut Ridge Road	NORTH OLMSTED	44070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barb	Barrish	9159 N 70th St	Milwaukee	53223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Heermance	89 Thomson rd	Greenwich	12834	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Foley Jr	33 Water Street	ATTLEBORO	2703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlie	Allen	53 Main Street Freeport PA	Freeport	16229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Bradley	5814 Lake Erie Dr.	Louisville	40291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet	Bradley	5814 Lake Erie Dr.	Louisville	40291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothea	Courtwright	224 Forest Ave	Ambler	19002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	McKaye	5726 Wandering Creek Dr.	Richmond	77469	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jo Anne	Kemp	2350 W. Good Hope Rd.	Milwaukee	53209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ted	Toscano	8 Plummer Rd	Bedford	3110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Wolf	320 bowen st	East Jordan	49727	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Utt	1645 Austin Drive	Dixon	95620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ethyl	Bigby	2676 Baker Ridge Drive NW	Atlanta	30318	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marie Elizabeth	Roman	69875 Stage Road	North Bend	97459	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roger	Willis	1745 E 69th St	Chicago	60649	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jesse	Brown	1582 Banning Rd	DAWSON	15428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
karen	Peterson	virginia	Chicago	60625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dave	Post	1333 Meadowlands Drive	FAIRBORN	45324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacob	Riedel	742 Meadow Springs Ct	Maumee	43537	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
gerald	antich	226 charlestown drive	Bolingbrook	60440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Brunkhorst	25187 k18 N Westfield IA	Westfield	51062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Simms	31637 E Nine Dr	LAGUNA NIGUEL	92677	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Kirchdoerfer	1834 Hemming Way	Orefield	18069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

LYNN	HOLLAND	730 N Whitnall Hwy	Burbank	91505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Tachibana	2102 Linnington Ave	LOS ANGELES	90025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Milicent	Cranor	242 East Orange St, #1	Lancaster	17602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tristan	Brumagin	33 North State Street	Warren	16365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Hays	1 declined	La Canada Flintridge	91011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Leach	6912 Toluca Lane	CITRUS HEIGHTS	95621	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erin	Marshall	45 Greenway N.	ALBANY	12208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Deegan	28 Van Liew Ave	Milltown	8850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leonard	Becker	2017 Marin Ave	Berkeley	94707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick	Mullaney	274 40th Street Way #15	Oakland	94611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Stevens	2217 ABBOTSFORD DRIVE	Vienna	22181	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kerby	Miller	408 W. Broadway, Columbia, MO	Columbia	65203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Benjamin	Avant	2314 Washington Rd	FL	33594	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adrian	chatman	2430 e colorado blvd.	Pasadena	91107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Welker	407 Campbell Ave.	Ypsilanti	48198	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John & Sandy	Zinn	14250 N Saguaro	Fountain Hills	85268	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Mejia	11314 Gladewater Drive	Pearland	77584	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Viveiros	51 Dawn Marie Court	North Kingstown	2852	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jill	Miotke	1925 Anaheim Ave	Costa Mesa	92627	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heather	Brown	8718 Manchester Rd	Silver Spring	20901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Steele	7636 Holmes Run Dr	Falls Church	22042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jean	Michaels	420 Stone Church Rd., Ballston Spa	Ballston Spa	12020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Oelrich	1 West Street	Simsbury	6070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leonard	Schoch	27 Pine Street	SALAMANCA	14779	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Raquel	Mena	2708 RIDGELINE Drive	Corona	92882	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fred	Tholke	845 Mal rd	Reno	89503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deb	Heffernan	29 lange Ave.	Savoy	61874	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sally	Haberlin	28411 Rancho de Linda	Laguna Niguel	92677	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nikole	Bruns	2623 Fairfax St	Denver	80207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
k p	corrigan	328 upham st	Melrose	2176	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erma	Lowe	2545 Wilson Rd.	Clarksville	37043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jose	Sesman	105-24 64th Road	FOREST HILLS	11375	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ted	Bolander	8349 Hidden Creek Drive	Flushing	48433	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Brann	4314 Riverhill Dr.	PASCO	99301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Williams	42 Carters Bridge Rd	Plymouth	2360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Morton	522 E. Hardin St.	VIRGINIA	62691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marleen	Alter	87 Beech Street	BELMONT	2478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jo	Linker	3704 Corona Drive	Garland	75044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. This is so overdue!
Carrie	Avritt	1464 La Playa #102	San Francisco	94122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terry	McAnally	205 E St. West	Poplar	59255	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristine	Moore	4105 Soundview Dr. W.	Tacoma	98466	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fern	Schlesinger	9060 Union Tpke Apt 2A	Ridgewood	11385	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Winslow	220 Park Drive	Marysville	17053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aric	Peterson	205 South First Avenue Woonsocket, SD	Woonsocket	57385	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julia	Radwany	4409 Idlebrook Dr	Akron	44333	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Kramer	913 E Chain of Rocks	Granite City	62040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Egolf	244 W. King St.	POTTSTOWN	19464	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bonnie	Devine	1920 LAWRENCE RD	HAVERTOWN	19083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Miller	815 Sara Lane	NAPERVILLE	60565	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Thompson	1670 Wildwood Rd NE	ATLANTA	30306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chuck	Taylor	4104 Vanetta Pl.	Studio City	91604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Clairemarie	Levine	5413 Valley View Road	EL SOBRANTE	94803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Kalman	419 Cottonwood Pl	BOCA RATON	33431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hugo	Pereyra	205 RIVULET LANE	Austin	78738	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Reyes	312 E. St Apt. C, Brawley, CA	Brawley	92227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Lewis	5980 Horton St., #200	EMERYVILLE	94608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jarod	Prosise	5332 W Fairview St	Chandler	85226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Meyers	9 Old Rudetown Rd	Vernon	7462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phil	Wagner	464 Bouchelle Dr. #101	New Smyrna Beach	32169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Roche	165 Broderick St	San Francisco	94117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

B	M		1 Saginaw	48602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Ryan	11 presidio dr	Novato	94949	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Emmert	5200 Summer Drive	AUSTIN	78741	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jerry	Gahan	P.O. Box 533	TWENTYNINE PALMS	92277	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paula	Woodard	47 B Sherman Ave.	Glens Falls	12801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Washington	345 West 58th Street, #11u	New York	10019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Berlin	13014 110th Ave NE, Kirkland, WA	Kirkland	98034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Todd	1115 Blackberry Ter	Sunnyvale	94087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karey	Haj	6900 E Princess Dr	PHOENIX	85054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

aida	Alape	100 Lakeview Ave	Piscataway	8854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessica	Lederman	236 Newark Ave	JERSEY CITY	7302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Gusby	24& Van Brunt St	Brooklyn	11231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	azrak	10067 SE 92nd Ave.	Happy Valley	97086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Holger	Mathews	3100 Airport Way South #48	Seattle	98134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Klein	84 Minuteman Dr.	Concord	1742	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marianne	Upp	6326 N Hermitage, Chicago IL	Chicago	60660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Resa	Blatman	42 Bartlett St	SOMERVILLE	2145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Shore	31 Harlem St	Rochester	14607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

serge	vrabec	5075 Allendale Way NE	Salem	97303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amit	Shoham	2106 7th Ave	Oakland	94606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J. Ayana	Baltrip	333 Gonzalez Drive	San Francisco	94132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Bader	1402 Lorain Ave	BETHLEHEM	18018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Albert	Detres	11508 Summer Oak Dr	Germantown	20874	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Parker	2685 S. Marion St.	Denver	80210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Phillips	11 Hayward St.	Patchogue	11772	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
james	lowe	3714 N. Hwy 28, no. 26	las cruces	88005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
susan	messerschmitt	13r Crescent St	Biddeford	4005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paula	Sheridan	18803 SE 22ND CIR	Vancouver	98683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elsie	Pope	3256 13 Colony Mall	Memphis	38115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Hathaway	814 Wild Horse Valley Rd Katy TX	Katy	77450	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

sidney	warner	407 cougarway apt c	Beaumont	92223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gordon	Gerbitz	512 Bath St #225	SANTA BARBARA	93101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
bill	scieszinski	4249 Southwyck Dr	Janesville	53546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Hanisee	6092 Wimbledon Dr	RIVERSIDE	92506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	McCrone	5036 n. Kenmore 1e	Chicago	60640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louis	Aguilera	8700 Hamlin pl .	Crown Point	46307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pat	Bereczki	17003 SE 5th St.	Vancouver	98684	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Andril	53 w. Aspen way	Matawan	7747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Lawrence	731 California Ave.	PITTSBURGH	15202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jean	Wiant	117 E Oak Ln	Glenolden	19036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Athena	Onken	1515 W. 9th St #7	Lawrence	66044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
joseph	ray	6904 shareith dr	Louisville	40228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jon	Drossos	DELAND, FL	Deland	32720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Naughton	4 Everett Lane	Foxboro	2035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Schmelzer	5114 Milward Drive	MADISON	53711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ted	Wray	Chestnut St	Coatesville	19320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rolf	Radicke	1717 Bath Rd, Apt G17	Bristol	19007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Barry	2710 Avalon St.	New Orleans	70121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Taylor	Moore	10285 Caballo Ct	Sacramento	95829	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Ameika	50 Park Av	Old Orchard Beach	4064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Jarrett	1940 W. Southbrooke Circle	Tucson	85705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jerry	Lewis	1816 Terryton Drive	NORMAN	73071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Piercy	1616 McGee Rd	Lavonia	30553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Emerich	440 BICENTENNIAL CT APT 6	Kaukauna	54130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Bruns	956 Lange Ave	Beecher	60401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Bierwirth	409 Park Ave	Bolivar	44612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanna	Ward	20 Spoonbill Cove Rd	Port Isabel	78578	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Milian	Correa	624 Deerfield way	RIO VISTA	94571	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Corlett	775 Pontiac St Denver,CO	Denver	80220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
WALTER	EMERICH	440 BICENTENNIAL CT APT 6	Kaukauna	54130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harold	VanderLaan	1810 Versailles Avenue	Alameda	94501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Yahnke Sr	5231 Jamieson Ave	Saint Louis	63109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rian	Murnen	7010 SE Tolman St	Portland	97206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Babine	463 Pattee Hill Road	Goffstown	3045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patti	Schultze	17811 D Lake Carlton Dr.	Lutz	33558	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Williams	110 King Rd., Chichester,NH	Chichester	3258	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	MacLafferty	1445 Harrison St #268	Oakland	94612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stefan	Waldman	27 OLD MILL RD	West Nyack	10994	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
marsha	slosburg	13681 simshaw ave	Sylmar	91342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joyce	Larsen	Novato	Novato	94949	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Kaufman	77 East 12th Street	New York	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Palla	45 N Carlisle St	Greencastle	17225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. TIME FOR A TRULY FREE MARKET!!

Claire	Coupez	4123 188th Pl SW	Lynnwood	98036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	McCarthy	1951 47th Street Spc 152	San Diego	92102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michele	Dawn	3417 Tice Creek Drive	Walnut Creek	94595	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J.I.	Castellino	3271 Long Grove	Lake Zurich	60047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol Ann	Minor	10372 Singletree Lane	DAVIDSON	28036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Cristini	11341 Savage Drive	Sterling Heights	48312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Bourbon	101 Shoreline Court	Saint Charles	60174	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Gertig	310 Kouba DR	Bellevue	68005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beth	Barlow	35 PENSTOCK	lake katrine	12449	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Levtzow	5425 n Samson Ave	Boise	83704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DAVID	BEHR	2646 E Aster Drive	Phoenix	85032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clayton	Mutert	4414 N. Hazel St.	Chicago	60640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	Sinchak	43 Whitney Rd S	Saratoga Springs	12866	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Lang	2715 Greenwood Road	NORTHBROOK	60062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Takatsch	67 Schoolhouse Rd	PORT JERVIS	12771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Don	Carter	51174 Northview	Plymouth	48170	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Stobie	13603 SE 3rd Pl	Bellevue	98005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Wood	3238 NW Quay Dr.	Lincoln City	97367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Brohn	4810 E Circle Dr NE	Kalkaska	49646	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LISA	GOLDEN	1945 PINER RD	Santa Rosa	95403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marta	Alcala	3240 Shue Rd.	Salisbury	28147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Sayer	801 Moore Dr	Chelsea	48118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	Paulus	566 Cliff Road	Sewaren	7077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Batoon	517 Marla Drive	American Canyon	94503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Georgia	Libbares	505 N. McClurg Court, #1403	CHICAGO	60611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Roth	1455 Wilson Pl	Louisville	80027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Beatty	P.O. Box 44	ESOPUS	12429	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lance	Edwards	1616 Redwood Drive	Louisville	40213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	MacLean	34192 camino el molino	Capistrano Beach	92624	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Johnson	PO Box 3138	BELLINGHAM	98227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jerold	Arvisais	1106 29th St SE	Auburn	98002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Now Comcast wants me to buy the X-1 box, a piece of tech that tells me what I should watch, "TELLS ME WHAT TO WATCH"? I fail to appreciate the view.
Mary	Franklin	1307 Marin Ave	Albany	94706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ginny	Marshall	48 Edgewater Drive	Youngstown	44515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Gillick	7 Sunnie Terrace	Caldwell	7006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Engel	10 Walnut St.	Pittsburgh	15205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Kester	4327 Foxknoll Cove	Fort Wayne	46835	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Star	Star	21 Linden St. Apt. A	Somersworth	3878	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosalie	Caliendo	2400 EAST 3RD STREET	Brooklyn	11223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Smith	47 PHEASANT RUN	WATERFORD	12188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Blake	Viola	282 Granada Ave Long Beach CA	Long Beach	90803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruth	Wellin	1 Lilac Lane	DANBURY	6810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
judy	wisboro	38 tower st	WORCESTER	1606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gayla	Reiter	240 Baker St	Benicia	94510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Serina	King	2720 State Street, Unit 23	Hamden	6517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Berkeley	29 Douglass	San Francisco	94114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Bethmann	1738 Middle Rd.	Rush	14543	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vernon	Huffer	13021 SE River Road, Apt 102P	Portland	97222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Wood	Bellevue	Bellevue	98004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Bentivegna	702 Hemlock Rd.	Media	19063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gabriella	Madriles	7302 s San Pedro st Apt 206	Los Angeles	90003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carla	Florsheim	701 Roselawn Ave	Monroe	71201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeanne	Carlson	3236 E. Chandler Blvd., Phoenix, AZ	Phoenix	85048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
b	heath	5695 hampton Ct	Westland	48185	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Orloff	630 NW River Rd	MARTINDALE	78655	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bill	Antalek	1508 Arezzo Circle	Boynton Beach	33436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Utt	1645 Austin Drive	Dixon	95620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Kraemer	6436 Willow Wood Ln.	TAMPA	33634	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Howard	Weeks	11428 leisure lane	Port Richey	34668	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
judy	wisboro	38 tower st	WORCESTER	1606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Wright	2708 Sagebrush Circle	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alexandra	Williams	4s780 Innisbrook Dr	Naperville	60563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessica	Goodwin	614 Paulison Ave	Clifton	7011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Meyer	POB 147 Pleasant Valley NY	Pleasant Valley	12569	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pam	Bartholomew	2819 Shirley Rd	north platte	69101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Liliana	Alvarado	po box 1022	RANCHO CUCAMONGA	91729	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	McManus	6583 Derby LN NW	Concord	28027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Fullerton	2315 Frederick Drive	WINSTON SALEM	27103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Boyle	501 SW DIAMOND DR APT 13	Bentonville	72712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rishi	Rastogi	2 Cambridge Way	West Windsor	8550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

bonnie	jefferson	2376 Fairview Ave	Cincinnati	45219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Spurr	139 Broadway	Wakefield	1880	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	McDonald	2348 Summerfield Road	WINTER PARK	32792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alex	Crist	4811 Sweetbriar Rd.	Greensboro	27455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vincent	stona	119 woodcreek dr s	Safety Harbor	34695	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Feltch	2510 K St.	San Diego	92102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Geller	1012 Carpinteria Drive	ANTIOCH	94509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Peterson	1724 Rubin St	Baton Rouge	70808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Constance	Arnold	1921 Parkhill Drive	Billings	59102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	Wainio	San Diego	San Diego	92115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Fox	2670 Turbot Ave	Watsontown	17777	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Warrington	20390 Pezzana Drive	Venice	34292	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erin	Burroughs	PO Box 411791	Kansas City	64141	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adrienne	Moumin	2807 Byron St.	Silver Spring	20902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dealice	Fuller	67 manhattan ave	Brooklyn	11206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kate	Connolly	15415 35th Ave W	Lynnwood	98087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Neda	Koopman	St Paul	Saint Paul	55104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bonita	Bivins	1412 Eason St Nw	ATLANTA	30314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Nace	919 Shelden	El Dorado	67042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Staples	9142 Tracy Way	Panama City	32404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Acker	34206 Fonville Ct	Livonia	48152	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Please end the anti capitalistic oligarchy cable companies operate in this country. It's clearly not in the best interest of consumers

Beth	Gray-Nix	226 Pond St	Natick	1760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Dulas	5311 Greenwood Rd	DULUTH	55804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darryl	Warner	318Beach85th Street	Far Rockaway	11693	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Yuji	Saeki	000 Main Street 00	Bainbridge	13733	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Kowalski	440 Middle Country	Middle Island	11953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Rogers	170 Tanglewood Lane	DELANCEY	13752	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heidi	Baruch	2119 Spruce #4	Boulder	80302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristy	Watkins	3085 Whisperwood Dr #458	ANN ARBOR	48105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Todd	Board	1357 Dawn Hill Road	Glen Ellen	95442	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pat	Cole	Cole	Asheville	28806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Jachimiak	835 S. Old US 31 Lot 46	FRANKLIN	46131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Ryerson	5540 Oles Dr N	INDIANAPOLIS	46228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

forrest	denlinden	8532 freyman dr #221	Chevy Chase	20815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
john	fusco	29 Portland st	Edison	8820	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
P	Wolfe	255 Baypoint	San Rafael	94901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phil	Hanson	7941 S.E. Monroe St.	Portland	97222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Wigfield	965 18th Ave SE	MINNEAPOLIS	55414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Ruhl	16 Joe Ent Road	Flemington	8822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Stone	374 Bohemian Highway	Sebastopol	95472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Marchessault	633 Easton Ave.	San Bruno	94066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Dowling	po box 26	Pope Valley	94567	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

mike	washil	598 mifflin street	Irwin	15642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Nicodemus	2710 Danube Dr.	SACRAMENTO	95821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wolf	Theurer	110-2990 South Main Street	Penticton	98136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Dimitriadis	2 Rymon rd.	Washington	7882	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cindy	Ditrick	6659 2050 RD	Delta	81416	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Andreykovic	742 E Branch Rd	Patterson	12563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Hammersley	1311 Welser Ave NE	PALM BAY	32907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Kutalek	27999 Creekside Ln	EVERGREEN	80439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ballinger	Kemp	114 Waterview Dr.	Richmond	94804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

loren	Jones	2231Shattuck Ave.	Berkeley	94704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hugo	Mira	5046 Loleta Ave., L.A., CA	Los Angeles	90041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ross	Judd	15555 Sorbonne St., Sylmar, Ca.	Sylmar	91342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William F.	Edwards	2059 Woodlawn Avenue	Glenside	19038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Randall	2818 Old Fairhaven Parkway #237	Bellingham	98225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Phelps	142 Echo Hill Trail Jacksonville	Jacksonville	36265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Katz	62 Grange Road	Bernville	19506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Tsaturian	13307 Ratner St	North hollywood	91605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nathan	Barto	3911 woodland ave	West Des Moines	50266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Pulvino	5743 Snowden Ave.	Lakewood	90713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Watterson	34664 Rhonswood St.	FARMINGTON	48335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Cox	11682 Holmes Pt Dr NE	Kirkland	98034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	McKeag	827 N. Euclid Ave.	Pittsburgh	15206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vesta	Thompson	18473 S River Road	Three Rivers	49093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Smith	101 Enterprise Dr.#40	Rohnert Park	94928	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Glaser	12173 McKelvey Place	BRIDGETON	63044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Ternes	261 Roosevelt Ave.	Elyria	44035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Knopp	2213 NE 68th St	Vancouver	98665	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Evelyn	Davis	910 S.Dawson Way #4	Aurora	80012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aleksander	Mrugala	3834 W CORNELIA AVE FL 1	Chicago	60618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bette	Lamont	15805 28th Avenue NE, Shoreline, WA	SEATTLE	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Briscoe	33 Maplewood Drive	Athens	45701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Polterzisky	139-15 83 Avenue B32	Jamaica	11435	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patti	Fink	555 Elmira Road #10	Vacaville	95687	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Catherine	Scott	1005 Chandler St.	PHILADELPHIA	19111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Masters	507 Clemons Rd	Brandon	33510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Edwin	14530 Buffalo Speedway	Houston	77045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Kapetsky	Wilmington NC	Wilmington	28411	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	Uribe	223 Peace Lane	Glassboro	8028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Clary	1934 Sage Dr	GARLAND	75040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	cevasco	596 millers falls rd.,p.o.box 78	Northfield	1360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Raymond	2735 Jasmine St.	New Orleans	70122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Velazquez	345 W 68 ST	Hialeah	33014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jason	Kanter	314 west 56th street #3C	New York	10019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bobby	Ray	2917 Brigadoon Pkwy	Lexington	40517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carole	Ebner	142 Lafayette Circle	Cincinnati	45220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Davie	1131 Burgoyne Avenue	FORT EDWARD	12828	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Johnson	4156 Bluff Ave SE	Salem	97302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alice	Steijn	PO Box 753	Roslyn	98941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tim	Bradley	2801 FARMERS CREEK RD	Metamora	48455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Sienknecht	653 Grassy Hill Rd.	Summerville	29483	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mervyn	Silverman	9 Crolona Hts	Crockett	94525	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	Walton	P.O. Box 12982	Olympia	98508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Neil	Jesiolowski	P.O. Box 122	Upper Black Eddy	18972	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Wilding	7626 Red Fox DR	Youngstown	44512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Constance	Pass	120 Scenic Dr	North Kingstown	2852	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Whitsell	40 Garden Avenue	Little Falls	7424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Quinn	7625 Primrose Drive NW	Albuquerque	87120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gerald	Wright	10929 E Crescent Ave	Mesa	85208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rene	Picazo	228 MERIDIAN AVE	San Jose	95126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Reva	Misch	32428 Exeter Dr	Warren	48092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Gole	1777 Ruthven Ave NW	Grand Rapids	49534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Carmichael	1639 sycamore st	CINCINNATI	45202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Ernst	1717 Richfield Ave.	Highland Park	60035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Moeller-Ludwig	1253 Lorraine Dr	Salt Lake City	84106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Weinstock	Shawnee Dr	Milford	18337	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Genevieve	Miller	2772 Knollside Lane	Vienna	22180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet Dwyer	Stutzman	226 Euclid Avenue	Albany	12208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I was unaware of this community effort. I have been asking my cable company for years, why we have to use such an expensive, outdated system for access to television stations. their representatives would try to brush my queries aside assuming that I was too old to perceive the ridiculous technology gap between the cable system and wifi. We are being held hostage by cable greed.
Charles	Auer	10042 W Bolivar Dr	Sun City	85351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shea	Hales	9442 Waxwing St	Corpus Christi	78418	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
sarah-marie	belcastro	231 W Franklin St	Holyoke	1040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	King	5712 Yank St, Arvada, CO	Arvada	80002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Ernst	1717 Richfield Ave.	Highland Park	60035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stacey	Smith-Clark	3008 Shipway Ave	Long Beach	90808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Deering	204 Mountain Creek Ct	HONESDALE	18431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Jones	817 E 300 S	Lafayette	47909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Monitto	1569 Neptune Rd	KISSIMMEE	34744	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	Tudhope	Main Street	Isle La Motte	5463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	James	905 Jode Rd	Norristown	19403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Ernst	1717 Richfield Ave.	Highland Park	60035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Gilbert	75 Gilbert Ln	Pleasant Plains	72568	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Thomas	552 Cedar Creek Rd	PALATKA	32177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Rust	1205 Hancock St	QUINCY	2169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Lake	PO Box 871	Mercer Island	98040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glen	DeGarmo	1709 Indian Plaza Dr NE	Albuquerque	87106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Catherine	132 East 35TH ST	NEW YORK	10016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. IT'S JUST A MATTER OF TIME THAT CABLE BOX CONSUMERS WILL HAVE A CHOICE of WHICH BOX THEY USE.
greg	fazzini	po box 11812	Bainbridge Island	98110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Janusiewicz	931 N Mill Iron Rd	Muskegon	49442	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kierstin	Masse	White Bay Lane	Jacksonville	32225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	McKee	PO Box 53	Port Angeles	98362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jon	Powell	2000 Baity Hill Dr., #326	Chapel Hill	27514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria & Marvin	Levitt	35-15 High St	Fair Lawn	7410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Monroe	21 Vail St, Apt #2-R	Newark	7106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Klein	370 N State St Apt 1	Saint Ignace	49781	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Turicchi	PO box	Port Aransas	78373	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori Anne	Shields	108 N Helberta Av #12	Redondo Beach	90277	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dwight	Adams	2206 MAPLE CT,LAKE ORION ,MI.	Lake Orion	48359	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tanya	Leighton	250 W. Broadway	Eugene	97401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Avis	Santos	10797 E Virginia Ave - G	Aurora	80012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martin	Washington	2231 Byron	Berkeley	94702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicolette	Norris		Magnolia	71753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roxanne	Joseph	98-30 50th Avenue	Corona	11368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

B Michael	King	1934 W. Franklin Drive	Canton	48187	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Campanini	1030 Crest Way, York, PA	York	17403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Gardner	18688 Yauger Rd	Mount Vernon	43050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alvin	Lau	598 Redwood Ave	Willits	95490	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. If they truly love the free market as they claim, they will welcome the competition. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mariann	Eppolito	857 Sylvia Drive	DELTONA	32725	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Johnny	Helt	4627 2nd way se Salem Oregon	Salem	97302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Russell	8192 S Wilson St	Midvale	84047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Sampson	1024 Adams Circle, Apt F 122	Boulder	80303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	De La Garza Und Senkel	2036 South 5th Street, #11	McAllen	78503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Luke	Belviso	15805 riverside dr	Whitestone	11357	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Whitley	2322C Stryker Ave	TACOMA	98433	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Tomcsanyi	1745 Beloit Avenue, #320	Los Angeles	90025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shelley	Bresler	7844 E. Chauncey St	TUCSON	85715	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Basil	Matychak	31 Briarcliff Place	HUNTINGTON	11743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Mastroni	837 Enclair St	Orlando	32828	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jean	McBride	7544 anthony Hwy	Waynesboro	17268	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Josh	Thomas	3100 Irby Dr	CONWAY	72034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gretchen	Hammond	8600 E.Alameda Ave. Denver, CO	Denver	80247	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marti	Glenn	2764 Painted Cave Rd	Santa Barbara	93105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elzbieta	Kraszewski	304 trappers run drive	cary	27513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alex	Smith	4022 Lindleyt way	Powder Springs	30127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Weinberger	311 Prospect Street	SOUTH ORANGE	7079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jordan	Moniuszko	324B Kalama st	Kailua	96734	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dianna	Davifson	129296 aetna st.	Van Nuys	91401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Raymond	Moody	2440 Date St. Apt 402	HONOLULU	96826	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Nordby	135 Twin Lakes Dr.	Winthrop	98862	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Borg	15805 Meadow Wood Drive	Wellington	33414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joy	Chase	6521 Westin	Madison	53719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Pelzer	18382 Meadow Ln	STRONGSVILLE	44136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Smith	12 standish rd	Ellington	6029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Witherspoon	41839 w Avella dr	MARICOPA	85138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Sheridan-Brinkman	245 Chippewa Street	MIAMI	33166	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Hansen	1058 S Dahlia St, A20	Denver	80246	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Krysta	White	2700 N Rainbow Blvd #1065 Las Vegas Nevada	Las Vegas	89108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julian	Betoney	HC 63 Box 458	WINSLOW	86047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Bailey	26 Worcester Street # 405	BOSTON	2118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dale	Williams	2608 SE 4th St	Blue Springs	64014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Kelly	5601 N. Linder Ave. Apt2A	Chicago	60646	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beatrice	Sims	2125 S Westboro Ave	Alhambra	91803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Billy	Trice	1611 74th Ave.	Oakland	94621	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrie	Nova	14125 Nancy Lee Dr	Westminster	92683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori Beth	Kidd	14061 Bently Cir.	Fort Myers	33912	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Sullivan	1701 N International Blvd #168	Weslaco	78599	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Baug	210 Vicksburg Ave	Tonawanda	14150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lois	Sotelo	6 godin ave	EAST CARONDELET	62240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peggy	Scherer	2754 Minot Avenue	Cincinnati	45209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Lamont	16781 Rawhide Ave	Palmdale	93591	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gabrielle	Leider	7022 W. Belhaven Dr.	GARDEN CITY	83714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Toni	Miller	326 Talbot Cir	Saint Pauls	28384	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dehl	Lindstrom	3145+sIvy+st	Cambridge	55008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	HERBERT	83558 Kiechle Arm Road	FLORENCE	97439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Black	3324 S.W. Burlingame Rd.	Topeka	66611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Derek	Gendvil	9030 W. Sahara Ave. #360 Las Vegas, NV	Las Vegas	89117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Thanks! Sincerely, Derek Gendvil, Las Vegas
Amy	Scher	1137 2nd Street	Santa Monica	90403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Jansen	16 Ward Way	Millsboro	19966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	MacGinitie	98 mallory road	ROXBURY	6783	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Langmeyer	5811 Fernwood Ave.	Fort Wayne	46809	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Hurley	6325 Willow Crest Ave	North Hollywood	91606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Boyne	Kakela Dr.	Honolulu	96822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Hairfield	10939 Morrison St.	North Hollywood	91601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Jansen	16 Ward Way	Millsboro	19966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Billie	Langley	1916 Arlington Ave., Torrance, CA	Torrance	90501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Bradley	1485 E Center St	Greenwood	72936	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

San	carridine	P0 Box 577	Matteson	60443	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	Frullo	55 Beech Street	Westwood	7675	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	McGarry	302 N Mildred St	Charles Town	25414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

carmen	blakestad	943 ranae lane	Saint Cloud	56301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Spencer	Hunter	1303 E. University Blvd. #20770, Tucson, AZ.	Tucson	85719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sara	Thornburg	144 Phillips Ln	Bunker Hill	25413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Ganeles	Utica NY	Utica	13501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Betty	Hedgecock	8 Maureen Drive	Hauppauge	11788	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Everette	Beatley	16 Woodsm Rd	Hampton	23666	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Demme	526 San Gabriel Dr	SONOMA	95476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marjorie	Kelly	74 eliot st	Natick	1760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Jacobs	5430 WEST Maple Grove Road	ELLETTSVILLE	47429	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paula	Spence	456 W Marigold Street	Altadena	91001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
james	witherspoon	41839 w avella dr	Maricopa	85138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy	Mikos	Burnham Rd	WENHAM	1984	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aaron	Williamson	13 E 4th St	Blades	19973	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Barney	8462 Crystal Street	Anchorage	99502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Myrna	Fisher	PO Box 9847 Salt Lake CIty Utah	Salt Lake City	84109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Angelo	Romanelli	1440 Paterson Ave. Whitung, NJ	Manchester Township	8759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	Larson	3765 Denmark Trail W	Saint Paul	55123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theora	Gilliam	134 south st	Northampton	1060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leandra	Peterson	1113 Tarbert Ct.	Cary	27511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Bardfield	3755 via poinciana lake worth florida	Lake Worth	33467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Glinski	859 Mammot Road	Alden	14004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jean	Wiant	117 E Oak Ln	Glenolden	19036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chancey	Martin	4608 Radio Rd.	Gillette	82718	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jay	Olmeda	111 e mosholu pkwy n.	Bronx	10467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ginger	Schedler	1262 N. Safford Ave.	Fresno	93728	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyle	Bracken	12960 Greene ave	Los Angeles	90066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Toobert	212 MALLARD DR	GRASS VALLEY	95945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

KEvin	Grant	Portland, OR	Portland	97233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Lenhard	7190 ranger rd	Whittemore	48770	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Wells	PO Box 547	Placitas	87043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ray	Davis	120-26 230th St Cambria Hts, NY	Cambria Heights	11411	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Richard-Amato	4004 London Rd. Apt. 1111	Duluth	55804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Corinne	Lipman	10326 Bonny Drive	Cupertino	95014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Gray	6912 SE Center Street	Portland	97206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Duda	p o Box 1371	HAIKU	96708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
joseph	davis	236 park forest way	Kennesaw	30144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Eberle	2009 Alberta Avenue	VENICE	90291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathie	Graham	2469 Ridgecrest Avenue	Orange Park	32065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leroy	Austin	3827 WEDGEFIELD AVE	Norfolk	23502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Crane	526 Clover Ct	HANNIBAL	63401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Episcopo	10350 Mesa Madera Drive	San Diego	92131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Hand	7169 NE Hidden Cove Road	BAINBRIDGE ISLAND	98110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Claudia	Bracey	400 N. Major Avenue	HENDERSON	89015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynne	Payton	Rochester NY	Rochester	14609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurie	Fraker	314 N. Wilson St.	El Centro	92243	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janice	Bennett	14 Gilbert street	San Rafael	94901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Speidel	8145 Binney Place	La Mesa	91942	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matt	McCroskey	226 16th st	Brooklyn	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Joy	201 Garnet Dr	Nicholasville	40356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Reens	8 Flo Drive	Syosset	11791	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Kaufman	936 N. Keystone St.	BURBANK	91506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Burian	6171 Caminito Baeza	San Diego	92122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Mobley	6722 52nd Ter, Live Oak, FL	Live Oak	32060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Miller	400 E. Hoffman	Three Rivers	49093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laureen	Mitchell	951 Keniston Ave.	LOS ANGELES	90019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Coots	7108 E. Stearns St.	LONG BEACH	90815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Stokes	301 2nd St N	Saint Petersburg	33701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Virginia	Griffith	4407 Aqua Verde Dr	AUSTIN	78746	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Maurer	3029 Lowrey Ave	HONOLULU	96822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gail	Meese	15 E Lakeview	COLUMBUS	43202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lee	Lundal	143 Woodstock	Clarendon Hills	60514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nondas	Moreno	5756 N.Meadows Blvd.	COLUMBUS	43229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yuriko	Hazlett	465 West Gonzales Road	OXNARD	93036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacqueline	Poncin	98 Grover Ave.	Princeton	8540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Earl	Grove	128 W. 3rd St.	East Canton	44730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eli	Byrne	121 Willow Circle, State College, PA	State College	16801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marcia+Ferstenfeld	Ferstenfeld	25615+Concourse	SOUTHFIELD	48075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mr.g.	west	hoyt everett wa	Everett	98201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Birdsong	504 SW 34 ST	Gainesville	32607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carl	Ochs	524 Cherry St	Roebling	8554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lois	Cordle	1462 W Timber Trail	Whitehall	49461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erica	McDonald	1507 Miller Farms Rd.	Germantown	38138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nelson	Suarez	404 FARMVIEW DRIVE	Leola	17540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Milburn	Murgittroyd	10037 SE 7th ST	Bellevue	98004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Loewy	106 Park Trail Rd	MACKINAW	61755	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Garrett	Murphy	2341 Valley Street #4	Oakland	94612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	Doane	3635 NW 12th Ave	Camas	98607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Burk	611 Woodruff Ave.	Los Angeles	90024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kim	Dickey	16328 River Rd	LEAVENWORTH	98826	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amelia	Williams	128 Wildwood Trail Afton, VA	Afton	22920	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Maletsky	20015 Chipmunk rd	Sonora	95370	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Denver	Krugler	948 Holmes RD APT#1	Ypsilanti	48198	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Veldey	80696 jasmine lane	Indio	92201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
warren	desonia	P.O. Box 6791	Portland	97228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tracy	Carter	62	Monroe Ave	Roosevelt	11575	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carla	Holder	131	Gilley Drive	Harvest	35749	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Zimmerman	Westhampton		Easthampton	1027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beverlyann	Brunswick	1107 Queen City	Norfolk	68701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eleanor	Tunny	15 Cedar Lane	Schenectady	12302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susanne	Rash	36 Plaza Drive	Buffalo	14221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leah	Hallow	Muirfield Lane	CLIFTON PARK	12065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Shannon	503 N. Main St.	Rochelle	61068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracy	Carter	62 Monroe Ave	Roosevelt	11575	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pam	Overton	3147 Monroe St	Dearborn	48124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
james	cogswell	907 gda	Davison	48423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffery	Prevatte	2271 Cornelius Blvd	Port Charlotte	33953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Belinda	Caraballo	1120 Sunnyview Oval	Keasbey	8832	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Canterbury	260 Pleasant Street	Barre	1005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brenda	Chisum	1727 Greenview Circle	Memphis	38108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Curia	2048 N. 68th Place	Scottsdale	85257	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
carole	leib	373 ackert hook rd	Rhinebeck	12572	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roberta	Schober	12506 Enchanted Oaks	San Antonio	78233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dillard	Whitener	5220 RED BIRD LN	Hamilton	45011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cecelia	McCarty	11956 Bernardo Plaza Dr, 209	San Diego	92128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Beesley	941 Michigan Ave.	Fond du Lac	54937	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Basser	4618 Singletary	Alvin	77511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Both	776 Park Ave	Binghamton	13903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I also urge the FCC to force Time - Warner to halt requiring consumers to rent a Digital Converter to see Basic and Standard cable channels. They are phasing this in and have completed this in some states. This is a pure money grab and should be illegal. You let them go all digital. No you fix this mess.
Brenda	Talley	301 O'Hara Drive	Oxford	38655	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Vanlandingham	6012 Larsen Ln	Shawnee	66203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joey	Benghiat	22286 Ybarra Road	Woodland Hills	91364	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Mulanax	119 Richland East Circle	Richland	39218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Timothy	Shanahan	10470 Falcon Avenue	Fountain Valley	92708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marietta	Bala	23056 Shady Knoll Dr	Bonita Springs	34135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Niessen	207 Brown Ave.	Attalla	35954	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Long	7640 Hollister Ave Unit 369, Goleta CA	Goleta	93117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. More about our cable company; Cox Cable: ‰Û¢ No competition from another cable company; prices are exorbitant! ‰Û¢ They nickel & dime you for everything possible ‰Û¢ You can easily pay about $70/month with 98% of the channels being commercial pact programming ‰ÛÒ even during the show (lower third moving promo keys, etc.). ‰Û¢ Instead of developing their infrastructure, they use set top boxes that turn off the other channel's signal when you're not using them. However, now there's a considerable delay when you change channels ‰ÛÒ awful for channel su
Mary	Howard	1099 Van Dyke St, Detroit	Detroit	48214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donovan	McClelland	1588 Havenwood Dr	Baton Rouge	70815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Manna	5462 Tonawanda Creek Road	North Tonawanda	14120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
June	Didier	2820 club court #113	Mount Vernon	98273	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lori	Shemanski	1795 Wyoming Avenue	Kingston	18704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pete	Vorac	3012 Girvan Dr.	Land O Lakes	34638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Smith	708 14th Ave. Bethlehem,Pa	Bethlehem	18018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Swallow	1120 W. 76th Terrace	Kansas City	64114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dewey	Morgan	1420 SW 52nd st	Oklahoma city	73119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marie	Broudy	2 Quarterboard Lane	Eastham	2642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Phelan	10996 SW Springwood Dr	Portland	97223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Verizon/Frontier charge me every month for the converter boxes. When we were with Comcast, there was no charge. Linda
Mazen	Jishi	6642 Ardsley CT	Canton	48187	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Wagner	62 Harriman Rd Ext, Averill Park NY	Averill Park	12018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Matczuk	Glencoe Rd	Sparks Glencoe	21152	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gov	Landrum	3145 south dover ct	Denver	80227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Saundra	Crowell	44 Nowick Lane	Smithtown	11787	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Etheridge	1428 Princess Anne Rd	Raleigh	27607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bret	Hemming	541 Sea Gull Drive	Satellite Beach	32937	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Bacewcz	10 North Wind Circe	Ledyard	6339	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Connelly	12215 E. Telegraph Rd #210	SANTA FE SPRINGS	90670	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Peardot	4500 Southmore Dr	MINNEAPOLIS	55437	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nathan	Ensign	68245 Modalo Rd.	Cathedral City	92234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

del	Ericson	so rt 62	North Collins	14111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Andon	2411 NW Stimpson Ln	Portland	97229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
wayne	kostamo	17116 maki rd. pelkie mi	Pelkie	49958	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Catherine	Bowerman	110 Villeneuve Rd. S.		P9N 0B9	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Spiker	10933s 300w	Kentland	47951	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
richard	duley	moore st	Anson	4911	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Lapatchka	1002 Chalet Ct	Leland	28451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emily	Haggerty	313 Brookfield Cir	East Lansing	48823	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Immler	17324 Piney Pt Rd		2064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alexander	Brown	1075 Space Park Way Spc 232	Mountain View	94043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brenda	Armitage	6043 Kozy Lane	Dixon	95620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Daley	Milldale ave	Plantsville	6479	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Avis	Ogilvy	7933 Willow St	New Orleans	70118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cher	Johnson	11445 Westwind Drive	EDEN PRAIRIE	55344	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Dixey	Goose pond	Acton	4001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Tibbets	p.o.box 1223	Dolores	81323	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kerrie	Green	3037 community circle	Murfreesboro	37128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Haine	14A4 Jefferson Terr	Saratoga Springs	12866	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Hill	24 Aspen DR .	Manheim	17545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Svoboda	20 Guth St	Dundee	60118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Danny	Cackler	749 Cedar Creek Ave. Unit M101	Montrose	81401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Szymanski	2839 n bremen st	MILWAUKEE	53212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Hose	1335 Beacon St.	Waban	2468	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Mee	1124 West Beverly Drive	OXNARD	93030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Wolfe	13376 Dronfield Ave	Sylmar	91342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Wishingrad	810 Spring St.	Santa Barbara	93103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Marlatt	3863 Frdonia Dr.	Los Angeles	90068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Dillon	P Drive	Roanoke	24018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Hirsh	6 Avalon Road	Pennington	8534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Bontempo	5594 Aspen Ridge Circle	Delray Beach	33484	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Coahran	220 West K St. Apt. 1	Los Banos	93635	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	McKinney	16 Rolling Hills Drive	FAYETTEVILLE	37334	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Candace	Gabriel	4854 N. Tripp Ave.	Chicago	60630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dawn	Kerner	1166 Madison Avenue	Loveland	80537	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Dahl	36 Diane Dr		2281	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angel	Abascal	6753 NW 192 LN	Hialeah	33015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leanne	Bynum	300 Stony Point Rd.	Santa Rosa	95401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Thank you
Froydis	Beckerman	5480 hound hill court	Columbia	21045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Rivera	95 W 95th St. Apt. 24 A	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Eberling	555 Vallombrosa Ave #63	Chico	95926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Salomone	331 Bartlett Avenue	Staten Island	10312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Keene	Bay Street	Neptune Beach	32266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	McCarthy	103 Farrwood Avenue #3, North Andover, MA	North Andover	1845	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lonnie	Misner	236 W Church Lane	Bloomington	47403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexander	Fedorov	350 Cabot Street	Newtonville	2460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rajan	Karunakaran	93 Richards Ave	Norwalk	6854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Heuman	1091 Pattee Ave	ELBURN	60119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	Leibovitz	3043 W. Birchwood Avenue	Chicago	60645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vincent	Valente	STREET ADDRESS	Port Jefferson Station	11776	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
s.	meridian	1970 Broadway	Oakland	94612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Miriam	Dunbar	Box 1595	CORDOVA	99574	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Megan	M	9070 Lincoln Street	Merrillville	46410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Hancock	2548 Imperial Valley Trail, Aurora, IL	Aurora	60503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lucille	Swank	PO Box 97	Keosauqua	52565	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dru	Isanda	7335 Little Oaks Way	Citrus Heights	95621	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Stevens	10593 Ayres Ave	LOS ANGELES	90064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Shaw	15615 Meadow Wood Dr.	Wellington	33414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Cole	1503 31 Road	Franklin	68939	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Graham	Hall	Lompoc	Lompoc	93436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Heath	46 Lantern Lane	Epsom	3234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Holden	1211 E. Marconi Ave	Phoenix	85022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carlos	Johnson	64 Cypress Drive	Colonia	7067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Rivera	95 W 95th St. Apt. 24 A	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

matthew	walker	2119 Royal Castle Lane	Charleston	29414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ivan	Zenker	5698 King Arthur Road NW, Rochester, MN	Rochester	55901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Suzanne	Coniglio	2015 Empress Dr v3	Murfreesboro	37130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pierre	GOSSET	2021 11th Street	CUYAHOGA FALLS	44221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juan	de Marchena	227 West 149th street	New York	10039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Oster	1450 de tracey	San Jose	95128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	nowicki	104west d street	Springfield	97477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Hogan	4425 Shorewood Drive N	Hoffman Estates	60192	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Wollner	323 E Magnolia St	Stockton	95202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Workinger	palomar ave	Yucca Valley	92284	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Xatzis	PO Box 151 -- 15 Railroad St.	West Cornwall	6796	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Laskasky	120 N Grant Dr	ADDISON	60101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brandi	McCauley	6215 Woodland Road	DES MOINES	50312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samantha	Meeks	121 Hill St	BARRE	5641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Iris	Newman	washington state	Olympia	98512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emily	Dickinson-Adams	335 N Grand St	West Suffield	6093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
alfred	myers	51 N Prince St	Lancaster	17603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	B	sarasota	Sarasota	34243	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vicki	Weger	3505 Ohio Blvd., Terre Haute IN 47803	Terre Haute	47803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheridan	Smith	New Bedford, MA	New Bedford	2742	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Lorch	1522 Lynway Dr.	Charlotte	28203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	Dafni	5130 DEPEW CT	Denver	80212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Winston	1186 W Circulo Del Sur	Green Valley	85614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Oscar	Gutierrez	1665 Pentecost Way	San Diego	92105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	LeBleu	26349 Timbercreek Lane	Millsboro	19966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Lynch	3412 Maize Rd. Columbus, Ohio	Columbus	43224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Dommasch	14349 NW Lilium Dr, Portland OR	Portland	97229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

M	Garrett	11333 Green Grass Ct	SOUTH JORDAN	84095	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Elias	5026 49 St Ct	MOLINE	61265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Todd	Reichart	24Hawthorne Ave	Princeton	8540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tena	gussman	PO Box 306	Dallas	97338	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debi	Neat	11113 S San Esteban Dr	Goodyear	85338	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Dymesich	16760 Hillside Dr.	SONORA	95370	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Granberg	9342 Lemona Ave	NORTH HILLS	91343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John M.	Bish	814 Penn St	New Bethlehem	16242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aaron	H	Augusta	Augusta	30901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Adam	4021 Forest Drive	Aliquippa	15001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
B.A.	McClintock	Honolulu	Honolulu	96815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Marquette	33 liberty st	Monticello	12701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Coursey	16416 3rd Ave. SE	Bothell	98012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Stephens-Cole	12403 Central Ave. # 352	Chino	91710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Leahy	2036 1/2 Oak Ave,	Santa Barbara	93101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Adam	4021 Forest Drive	Aliquippa	15001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Moss	1849 Whitaker St.	Saint Paul	55110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tony	Teffeteller	2025 Cochran Place	MARYVILLE	37803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bonnie	Knight	1001 Collinwood W. Dr. #518	Austin	78753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Larkin	640 Charleston St NE	ALBUQUERQUE	87108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	scotese	136 Dodge	Evanston	60202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Suzanne	Holczer	1956 S 15th St	Omaha	68108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Trivich	12515 Shafer place	SYLMAR	91342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori	Safferman	PO Box 8	Cornwall	12518	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia	Coppola	1128 S. Menard Ave	Chicago	60644	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marianne	Corona	245 Cherry Hill Road	MIDDLEFIELD	6455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	McArthur	1317 Morning Mist Oak Harbor	Oak Harbor	98277	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Blake	Boetto	12138 Chad Lane	Waterford	95386	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
doug	Pritulsky	4005 platte dr	Fort Collins	80526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
j	Schieffer	2521 Cedar	BURLINGTON	53105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Edelen	6304 Hanses dr	Louisville	40219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Powers	5625 N Winthrop Ave	Chicago	60660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Prum	Mt Vernon St	Gloucester	1930	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jake	Fritzler	1719 N 100th St	Seattle	98133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Harris	po box 362	Amboy	98601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stella	Thistlethwaite	8320 Alexander Cavet Drive	Knoxville	37909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Geoffrey	Pruitt	6818 Virginia	Saint Louis	63111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Willie	Carr	252 Yaremich Dr.	Bridgeport	6606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C	Janis	550 Davis Street	San Francisco	94111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Lancaster	643 Willow Ave	INDIANA	15701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Landrum	718 West Cedar St	Franklin	42134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Johnson	42-10 82ND Street	Elmhurst	11373	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Franì__ois	de La Bruì_ìâre	3 Berkeley St	Nashua	3064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mildred	Nuytkens	74 Guaymas Drive	Sonoma	95476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Hayenga	421 2nd St NW	STEWARTVILLE	55976	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Bergen	4076 N Hidden Cove Pl	Tucson	85749	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Reiner	191 morningside	san francisco	94132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Beltz	810 E Street	La Porte	46350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank A.	Brincka	82 Lower Unionville Road	Sussex	7461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marie	Hoel	6761 Bricker	Croswell	48422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sean	Robillard	1 Madison St.	Methuen	1844	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Hafling	Jim Hafling	Bradenton	34205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
pam	mclamb	229 tamworth drive	Willow Spring	27592	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
steven	Berkowitz	2250 Hamlet Circle	Round Rock	78664	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tina	Fuda	1387 Emmet. St., Niles, Ohio	Niles	44446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Wimsatt	8103 Turnberry Drive	Louisville	40291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Powell	W5356 Schiferl Lane	Johnson Creek	53038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Boomhower	10 Richards Drive	Albany	12205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
linda	nafziger-meiser	3050 maes rd	WEST BRANCH	48661	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Zeder	9019 Isla Bella Circle	Bonita Springs	34135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terry	Kack	2110 Sunset Cliffs Blvd	San Diego	92107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francine	Krempa	24 Dobson Rd	Edison	8817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dean	Carlson	5214 Sand Point Way N.E.	SEATTLE	98105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Reginald	Richard	34 Shelley Street, Freeport, NY	Freeport	11520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Langdon	5605 Avenida Tampico	Las Vegas	89108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Nittolo	Kensington cr Brewster ny	Brewster	10509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Angert		Franklin	53132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy	Wilkinson	5118 De Longpre Avenue, #314	Los Angeles	90027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Skelton	40900 Bemis Rd	Belleville	48111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Rouse	21710 S Green Mountain Rd	COLTON	97017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
steven	Berkowitz	2250 Hamlet Circle	Round Rock	78664	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Finnigan	15 Circle Drive Hyde Park, NY	Hyde Park	12538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick	Hearn	116 Stow St	Acton	1720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Lundgren	711 W. Diversey Pkwy.	CHICAGO	60614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Smith	814 Demerius St., Apt.R2	DURHAM	27701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonathan	Weinberg	16231 Cranberry Ct	FORT LAUDERDALE	33331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emil	Aanestad	1314 Portal Dr. Bellingham WA	Bellingham	98229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Phipps	902 Hamilton Rd	Collegeville	19426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Zimmer	1147 Greensview Circle	LELAND	28451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bernadette	Belcastro	68 Crocus Ave.	Floral Park	11001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gabriel	Kennedy-Gibbens	117 West Graves Road, Spokane, Washington, U.S.A.	Spokane	99218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lincoln	Blake	2030 Chester Blvd	Richmond	47374	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shari	Hamilton	1122 Caroline Street	Port Angeles	98362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Cooper	Portland, Oregon	Portland	97212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

RoRobert	Dructor	690 Cardinal Dr., Harrisburg, PA	Harrisburg	17111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Schader	1601 Sunnyvale Ave #19	Walnut Creek	94597	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Glatter	535 West St.	Amherst	1002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	O'Donoghue	2704 W. 100th Dr.	Denver	80260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Franklin	knight	1325 york st	San Francisco	94110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
harry	wurster	248 fox ridge	Pittsboro	27312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanne	Dirk	13611 Oakbrook Dr.	North Royalton	44133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MICHAEL	PAHL	PO BOX 24514	Dayton	45424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Albino	East Village	New York	10009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Johnson	5109 CLAIREMONT MESA Blvd	SAN DIEGO	92117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MICHAEL	PAHL	PO BOX 24514	Dayton	45424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lin	Provost	3707 42nd Ave S	SEATTLE	98144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Hejtmancik	1108 54th st. Fennville, Mi.	Fennville	49408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Wilkinson	2877 S. Highland Mesa Rd.	Flagstaff	86001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stan	Samuelson	1 Chippers Lane	MASHPEE	2649	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rina	Banuelos	1244 Steidlmayer Way	YUBA CITY	95993	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	schmehl	5364 W Augusta Ave	Glendale	85301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Hansen	Hansen	Renton	98056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beverly	Magid	14159 Riverside Drive	SHERMAN OAKS	91423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Forrester	27 Kathdene Gardens	Beverly Hills	90210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Hollinger	6559 Shadow Lane	Chanhassen	55317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Gordon	32 1/2 Florentia Street	Seattle	98109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juliet	Menditto	1708 Gates Avenue Apt 2R	Ridgewood	11385	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
BL	Bennett	805 Vine	West Lafayette	47906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Annette	Coke-Ellis	505 Central Ave	White Plains	10606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	McMahon	24809 Magic Mountain Parkway	Valencia	91355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Hallett	938 Mt. Meadows Circle	ASHLAND	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Faith	Mishina	200 W. Kawili St. Hilo, HI	Hilo	96720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randy	e	15 TRES VIDAS RDG	Placitas	87043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dallas	Windham	10928 Audelia Rd #1716	Dallas	75243	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Hallett	938 Mt. Meadows Circle	ASHLAND	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Hofheins	123 Zimmerman Boulevard	Buffalo	14223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
julie	lawyer	405 Mills dr	Benicia	94510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	Ziegler	PO Box 164	Plainfield	5667	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Giblin	130 Ahern Rd	BINGHAMTON	13903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brenda	Silva	PO Box 50339	Fort Myers	33994	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Douglas	Engle	268 Sand Shore Rd	Budd Lake	7828	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Gherardi	435 Alberto Way	LOS GATOS	95032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	REID	1677 W Olive	Chicago	60660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Florence	Strand	3919 W.84th Place	Chicago	60652	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
thad	JD	2567 elden ave # A	Costa Mesa	92627	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yelka	Mikolji	2412 GULFSTREAM LANE	Fort Lauderdale	33312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eileen	Brown	49 margin road	Levittown	19056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherry	Price	1602 Ivar Ave	LOS ANGELES	90028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Natale	430 euclid ave apt 4	Canonsburg	15317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Symone	Ma	University	CEDAR FALLS	50613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Stukes-Maurice	8702 Stephanie RD	Randallstown	21133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C R	Moses	2820 Harrison St	Kansas City	64109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Stukes-Maurice	8702 Stephanie RD	Randallstown	21133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lorraine	Roeser	5185 Abuela Drive	San Diego	92124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ian	Meyer	2114 W. Birchwood Ave.	Chicago	60645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

SK	Ritz	Columbus, OH	Columbus	43235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brenda	evans	Po box 6433	Ventura	93006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandy	Kienzle	1601 Northview Lane	Bismarck	58501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Fosburgh	1415 E Republican St #203	Seattle	98112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Greene	3090 S. Oakland Forest Dr	Fort Lauderdale	33309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Morgan	13903 CarverDrive	Magalia	95954	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ross	Hippely	1806 Inn Lane	Wilmington	19810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Stamos	13361 Argonne Drive, Saratoga, CA	Saratoga	95070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Callaway	4921 Sea Wolf Dr Santa Rosa Ca	Santa Rosa	95409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Frumusa	4156 W. Lake Rd.	Geneseo	14454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amanda	Freitas	67 Furnace Street, Providence	Providence	2903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nellie	Crowston	41 Northridge Ave		679	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Denise	Walters	149 N. McKinley Ave.	FORT COLLINS	80521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	Stuart	1318 Karmen Ct.	Santa Clara	95051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jesse	Kirkham	370 Kaymar Dr.	Danville	46122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Briscoe	364 Putnam Ave Hamden, CT	Hamden	6517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Steve	310 Florine Ln	New Castle	16101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Seymour	Gross	1941 Drew Ave S	Minneapolis	55416	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Duch	1422 Lake Pine Dr	Cary	27511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kay	Garcia	22397 Yarrow Trl	Strongsville	44149	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anna	Rull	16344 Labrador Street	North Hills	91343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ed	Green	1801 Valdez Way	FREMONT	94539	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Kane	11 Squires Terrace	Hampton Bays	11946	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Romano	33-16 149th Place	Flushing	11354	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rick	Ross	40934 Hwy 228	Sweet Home	97386	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mj	Perona	930 Hibiscus Ln	San Jose	95117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Freedland	PO Box 2175	BIG BEAR CITY	92314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Geoffrey	Eargle	5656 Verner Oak Ct Unit 33	Sacramento	95841	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shelah	Parsons	910 Golden West Way	Lusby	20657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matt	K	875 E Pine Knoll Dr Flagstaff Az Apt. 116	Flagstaff	86001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bri	Ericksen	190 stagecoach lane	Waterbury Center	5677	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	Thomas	P.O. Box 42079	Rochester	14604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Sepulveda	458 W Summerfield Circle	Anaheim	92802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Perona	box 426, Tempe	Tempe	85282	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robin	Krenke	3744 W. Huron River Drive	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Rome	3840 Yesteroaks Dr.	PENSACOLA	32504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Seth	Klibonoff	17 E. Ivy Lane	Englewood	7631	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tami	Patterson	1443 1/2 Essex St	San Diego	92103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
michael	goulding	2886 s. bannock st.	Englewood	80110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Rudolph	10173 Raven St. NW	MINNEAPOLIS	55433	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurie	Pittman	4056 Olive Knoll Place	Claremont	91711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Trisha	Ham-Ying	1506 White Cedar Blvd.	Portsmouth	3801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Pluta	408 18th St.	BAKERSFIELD	93301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Orlowski	2000 Treadway Ave	Cleveland	44109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debora	Edmunds	2576 Cordelia Rd	Los Angeles	90049	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Myers	2313 Alexander Place	OCEANSIDE	11572	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John and Martha	Stoltenberg	N8362 State Highway 67, P.O.Box 596,	Elkhart Lake	53020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Streber	Deforest	De Forest	53532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doug	Vigil	6372 Downing St	Denver	80216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Fosnaugh	15390 BROOM ST.	Bainbridge Island	98110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	Edler	1501 Ocean Ave. Unit 2818		7813	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Drawdy	1105 WRubyKing rd.	Stonyford	95979	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
P. Melanie	Vliet	13115 Marlette Drive	LA MIRADA	90638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Uram	404 Church Street Ext	Mars	16046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robbie	Sherrill	951 21st Ave NE	Hickory	28601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LLucille	Serody	3406 Mazur Drive	Melbourne	32901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Kastorff	4647 15TH AVE S	Minneapolis	55407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lyn	Burns	9861 E Caron St	Scottsdale	85258	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patty	Linder	839 Bend Av	SAN JOSE	95136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jane	diamond	24 clayton blvd apt 104	Baldwin Place	10505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randy	Southers	8300 Renton Dr	Austin	78757	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gabbie	Book	35 Piedmont Drive	Old Bridge	8857	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Picucci	4025 West lake ellwood road	Florence	54121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

erik	szpilka	6725 lower brook way	New Albany	43054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Bridgett	1305 W Hill Street	Champaign	61821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Scott	206 Lake Ave.	ITHACA	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

dara	carlton	209 MacDougal St	Brooklyn	11233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gail	Linnerson	719 9th Ave SE	MINNEAPOLIS	55414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gabriele	Holland	400 drake hill rd	STRAFFORD	3884	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erica	hawley	39 elm	BOLINAS	94924	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Hobart	po box 43	HIGHMORE	57345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shayna	appel	31 jennison road	Milford	3055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alan	Dorfman	7848 Mansfield Hollow Road	Delray Beach	33446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victor	K	7437 Camelback Dr	Shreveport	71105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janae	Bailie	3541e shaeffer avenue	Kingman	86409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jackson	Clark	629 martin way	Vancouver	98661	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeevake	Attapattu	910 NE Providence Ct	Pullman	99163	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jenifer	Alexander	310 Rainbow Row Ct.	Alpharetta	30022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet	Feiring	7806 Birch Bay Dr	Blaine	98230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Lowe	2886 Norwood St	CUYAHOGA FALLS	44221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Mennit	1904 Snyder Avenue	Dundalk	21222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Davis	803 S. Palmetto St.	Cornelius	97113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Olszanicky	1215 Sutter Lane	San Marcos	92069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Naython	Williams	5904 general haig st	NEW ORLEANS	70124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet	Moran	22491 De Berry St. C23	Grand Terrace	92313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Hnatowich	65 Naples rd Brookline	Brookline Village	2447	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Driver	3331 L St	Sacramento	95816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Mackay	84 Laurel Pl	Ringwood	7456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mal	Martin	9119 S. Wabash	Chicago	60619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Josie	Avalos	839 Logandale Lane	Houston	77032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Vandenberg	Why	Grove City	43123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Hansen	2644 Donovan	Bellingham	98225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Megann	Thomas	1783 Asbury Road	Augusta	41002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jordan	Hoiby	466 83rd ave ne	Minneapolis	55432	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
bob	petermann	11173 East Meadow Glen Way	Escondido	92026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
elaine	terrell	2737 Camino Artesano	Santa Fe	87505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Walker	Woodland Dr.	Contoocook	3229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Morris	320 Lahew Drive	Waynesburg	15370	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Verity	102 Liberty Avenue	BELLMORE	11710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kris	Phelps	2016 Dunlavy	Houston	77006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Lanktree	3807 Se. 25th St.	Des Moines	50320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
douglas	Wahl	11 Sunset Dr	Medway	2053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher	Galton	106 Black River Road	Myrtle Beach	29588	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Hardy	Milpitas	Milpitas	95035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanne	Holsey	6330 Golden Star Pl	Columbia	21044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Angel	Jimenez	1409 72 St	NORTH BERGEN	7047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darlene	Grossman	3827 W Sherwin Avenue	Lincolnwood	60712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melody	Day	301 E Robinson Ave	Crestview	32539	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Davies-Sigmund	1214 Folger Avenue	Saint Louis	63122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Conway	37 Vintage Road	Trumbull	6611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Janssen	17101 Parker Rd.	HOMER GLEN	60491	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Minthorn	105 West Pine St.	Smithville	64089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	van Rossen	59 Mountainview Avenue	Mount Arlington	7856	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Harmon	3890 Inverness	Beaumont	77707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Thomas	441 Walnut St.	San Francisco	94118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Al	Pompper	2210 the Sweep	Wilmington	19810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Priestley	1025 Wilcox Ave, Apt. 10	Los Angeles	90038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Don	Chasteen	2011 Ayers Rd.	Millbury	43447	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Perez	2246 Cynthia st	Pomona	91766	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Busch	450 west cool drive, apt 317	oro valley	85704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carl	Sufit	25680 Jones Rd	Escalon	95320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Oberlander	8713 238th St SW	EDMONDS	98026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Giusti	120 Hatchfield Drive	Brockton	2301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Liebowitz	49 John Weik Rd	Lakeside	6758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	mcdilda	4716 Moore br	Ashland	41102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicole	Schildcrout	115 Market St	Amesbury	1913	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Sherman	2212 SW 4th. Street, Gresham	Gresham	97080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Mitchell	34093 Jonathan Circle	Augusta	30906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy	Parshall	723 Decker	Langley	98260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gordon	Foster	Seattle	Seattle	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Cromwell	2000 S ash	AURORA	80014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
charles	tabler	870 Crystal Lane	COAL CITY	60416	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gordon	Foster	Seattle	Seattle	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Aunkst	36 Dans Lane	WATSONTOWN	17777	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Boos	35 Consella Way	Franklinton	27525	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Barker	178 rogers rd.	Yarmouth	4096	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rocco	Rotondo	7813 Shepherd Ave	Parkville	21234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Boyles	7068 Carr Ct.	Arvada	80004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carlos	Fiol	PMB 461 P. O. Box 5075	San German	683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Garruba	28 winchester dr	Hollis	3049	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
A	Brehm	10207 Foxhaven	Blackwell	63626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	Ross	1371 Goose Lake Rd,	Saint Paul	55110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Dates	7261 Potter Rd	Auburn	13021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Linn	p.o. box 955	Silverton	97381	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anne P	Carter	221 Mt. Auburn St. #607 Cambridge, MA	CAMBRIDGE	2138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Kwiecinski	7 Merritt Ave.	South Amboy	8879	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan & Judy	Dickinson	15063Classic Drive	Bath	48808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Angela	Hayes	508 Gladhill Road	Odenton	21113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Avery	Trecek	510 NE Grattan St.	Topeka	66616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shari	Petrie	5407 Cold Springs Dr	FORESTHILL	95631	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Moszyk	4278 Bordeaux	SAINT LOUIS	63129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Connie	Archuleta	1638 s. Aurora st	Stockton	95206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Merrill	123 whippoorwill road	UNION	3887	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rene	Ontivero	196 East 13 St	Hialeah	33010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Bloedel	1810 E. Sunset Dr	Waukesha	53189	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	McDonald	525 13th Avenue	SALT LAKE CITY	84103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Meghan	Valentich	219 Great Smokey Dr	Pittsburgh	15239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
claudette	vaughn	419 Railhead loop	Ardmore	73401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chad	Hairston	PO Box 80922	ALBUQUERQUE	87198	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Fetchenhier	387 SE 171 Rd, Warrensburg, MO	Warrensburg	64093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Thomas	2001 Weaver Rd	MYRTLE CREEK	97457	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Will	Golding	515 Foote ST SW	OLYMPIA	98502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Johnston	283 E 38th Ave.	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Justina	Gruling	9408 Townline Rd.	Wausau	54403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Connie	Archuleta	1638 s. Aurora st	Stockton	95206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary Louise	Morrison	525 Moraga Ave., Piedmont	Oakland	94611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lek	Sinnott	6012 Sanford dr	San Jose	95123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosalynd F	Storer	820 Tsisqua Cr.	Brevard	28712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

michaela	cooney-polstra	7311 meadowdale drive	Longmont	80503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Peterson	208 McIntyre Road	Caribou	4736	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
T.	Welch	po box 823	Beverly Hills	90213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Monte	Kitchens	1960 W. Keating Ave. APT. 294	Mesa	85202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
SCARLET	BALUCAN	28-1960 KUMULA ST.	Pepeekeo	96783	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
e	benaey	129 George Sickle road	Saugerties	12477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glenn	Smith	PO BOX 4242 Portsmouth NH	Portsmouth	3802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Frade	1036 Washington	OAK PARK	60302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
KIMO	COCHRAN	1000 Somewhere	Guerneville	95446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	JOHNSTONE	429 YORK ST	Canton	2021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Cote	Rodricks Terrace	Bridgewater	2324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Liz	Goss	5553 Waterman Blvd #3W	Saint Louis	63112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron	Lucero	9957 Grove Way	WESTMINSTER	80031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynne	Zeigler	128 Hidden Hill Circle	Odenton	21113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Cencula	9145 Cordoba. Blvd	Sparks	89441	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daryl	Weis	96 Clarken Drive	West Orange	7052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Monroe	Pederson	515 W. Ave. J-12	Lancaster	93534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evan	Bridwell	1618 S. Despelder Apt. 7	Grand Haven	49417	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tanya	Desloover	8132 Forelle Dr. #3	Huntington Beach	92646	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Schumacher	Colo Spgs	Colorado Springs	80917	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Grant	12800 Helm Place	Bowie	20716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Crandall	4824 Olive Oak Way	CARMICHAEL	95608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Crane	1372 NW 172nd Ter	Miami	33169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angela	Rednour		Bessemer City	28016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah	Luth	1045 Meade Ave	SAN DIEGO	92116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gordon	Kircher	1370 Quant Ave S	Lakeland	55043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Oman	15455 Glenoaks Blvd.,, Space # 235	Sylmar	91342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Johnson	316 W. Harris St.	PINE MOUNTAIN	31822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	A.	11N061 Rohrssen Rd.	ELGIN	60120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Caso	2964 Main St	Rocky Hill	6067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Irv	Becker	2155 82 street	Brooklyn	11214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Lane	345 Shields St	San Francisco	94132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Newby	36823 Clifford Dr.	STERLING HEIGHTS	48312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paula	Denissen	0117 Wolcott Springs Rd.	WOLCOTT	81655	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Lillich	1671 Grandview Blvd	Kissimmee	34744	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Fournier	1666 Glengarry Drive	Palm Harbor	34684	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rosalind	Freeman	1990 Lake St	Huntington Beach	92648	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shannon	Healey	425 Walnut St	San Carlos	94070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Hodes	1655 Chestnut Street	San Francisco	94123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Bopp	6505 Lily Dhu La	Falls Church	22044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Keating	PO Box 8451	Jersey City	7308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Mace	2933 Rich Acres Dr. Nashville, Tn.	Nashville	37207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

duff	waldron	1031 Nuuanu Ave	Honolulu	96817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Conrad	124 Cook Rd	Duncannon	17020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jamie	Louis	PO Box 269	Pearl City	96782	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Curtis	1916 17th St NW	Washington	20009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Carvish	821 S. Citrus Ave	ESCONDIDO	92027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Yetley	8 Van Lee Drive	Little Rock	72205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aaron	Smucker	31 Nagle Ave	New York	10040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Sivertson	20 Albion St	Edgerton	53534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gail	Hartman	8817 Oakmont Drive	Santa Rosa	95409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rev Claudia	Barber	26123 Fordson	Redford	48239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruth	Mutchler	7839 Lang Street	ROSCOMMON	48653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harold	Myhre	16273-+36th Ave. NE	Seattle	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Patton	1909 W 4th Street	Roswell	88201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Stringer	62 Wynngate Lane	Buffalo	14221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Gaugler	3793 Chestnut St	Emmaus	18049	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Allen	Broadman	12 Lewis Rd	Montvale	7645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Cadden	107 Erie Street	Jersey City	7302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Lucas	RR 1 Box 25	Kaunakakai	96748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alyssa	Freeman	1241 Apt. B7 Gaskins Rd	Henrico	23238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mercedes	Lackey	16525 E 470 Rd Claremore OK	Claremore	74017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
L	Bres	665 turfwood	Ballwn	63021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Meyers	220 congress st apt 2a	Brooklyn	11201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Singer	9 Murray Street, 6SE	New York	10007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
deb	cameron	152 ely ave	South Amboy	8879	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

rawn	homer		3 Blaine	98230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Constance	Becher	9910 timbers dr.	Cincinnati	45242	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
madolyn	jenkins	400 Falkirk ct	FREDERICKSBURG	22406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. SICK OF THE BASTARDS RIPPING OFF THE PUBLIC, WHILE PROVIDING SUB PAR SERVICE!!! OUTRAGEOUS!!

Susan	Helmstadter	107 brookhill drive	Hockessin	19707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Schaible	30133 aleta cir	Warren	48093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlene	Hoagland	10720	Germantown	20876	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Matzeder	309 SW 16th St	Blue Springs	64015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Wolf	6537A 34th Ave SW	Seattle	98126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angela	Larson	1702 E. 7th St.	Sioux Falls	57103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Young	10035 Tanglewood Ct	Palos Park	60464	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Betty	Quigley	750 Old Lancaster RD	Berwyn	19312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lara	Lorenz	8312 21st Avenue NW	SEATTLE	98117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hilary	Emberton	191 Lucas Lane	Grass Valley	95945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Carroll	1007 Alder Dr.	Salem	97303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tyson	Peterson	1074 NE Village Squire CT	GRESHAM	97030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin	Noland	5490 myakka valley trl.	SARASOTA	34241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlotte	Sines	3014 Arcadia St #202	Colorado Springs	80907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Johnson	3215 38 St Apt 2	Astoria	11103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tim	Brellow	PO box 855	GUERNEVILLE	95446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle Lee	Hall	3001 S Providence Rd Apt 17A	COLUMBIA	65203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephanie	Trudeau	111 Lake Ave	Lake Worth	33460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Knapp	12 Main st.	Belchertown	1007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	Sicotte	4-D Chimney Crest Dr	ASHEVILLE	28806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Lesnansky	2415 Karen Ct, Yo Oh 44511	YOUNGSTOWN	44511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Meg	Cheli	1714 maple st	BETHLEHEM	18017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Barr	10924 Reeder St	Overland Park	66210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bonnie	Hearthstone	8 Country Commons	Vergennes	5491	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Madeline	Althoff	5662 Bluegrass Ln	San Jose	95118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Cragnolin	private	Unadilla	13849	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vicki	Fitch	7615 67th St NE	MARYSVILLE	98270	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eugene	Kiver	4210 Tyler Way	Anacortes	98221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Bickel	1201 Michael Drive	Pittsburgh	15227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Cortes	2108 Paramount	Austin	78704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheri	wyles	2118 river canyon lane	Garland	75041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Allison	PO Box 1673	BERLIN	21811	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Derek	Chavez	4172 Mississippi St. Apt. 21	San Diego	92104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

frank	giliberti	23 Mansfield Dr	MASSAPEQUA PARK	11762	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenton	Macy	2014 McKinley Ave., Charleston, IL	Charleston	61920	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barb	Wignall	7910 SW 184th Avenue	Beaverton	97007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Manuel	Ortiz	637 Montgomery Cir., Apt B	Claremont	91711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Bendit	20025 Broad Run Drive	Sterling	20165	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Frank	305 Mason terrace	Brookline	2446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christine	Crimi	1123 Chinaberry Lane	Crownsville	21032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frederick	Gaines	528 Williams Street	Brattleboro	5301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Panariti	3 Gurney Terrace	Fair Lawn	7410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Weinstein	3137 North Nashville Avenue	Chicago	60634	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Tobin	7777 truesdale lane	TRAVERSE CITY	49686	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Forest	Shomer	PO Box 639	PORT TOWNSEND	98368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Morrison	Pob 712	MCMINNVILLE	97128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lorri	Redmon	7116 NW 119th St, Oklahoma City, Ok.	Oklahoma City	73162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Chill	34480 County Line Rd., #61, Yucaipa CA	Yucaipa	92399	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Betty	Hines	816 north O space 120	Lompoc	93436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Cadwallader	1354 4th Ave.	Corning	96021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Thomas	68 Cooper dr. #1A	New Rochelle	10801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Johnson	Tsui	74 Seaview Avenue	STATEN ISLAND	10304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Larkin	1515 Sutter Street Apt. # 210	SAN FRANCISCO	94109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Smith	426 E. Barcellus, Suite 202	Santa Maria	93454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Let's talk about sheer, naked capitalism in which market forces determine who buys what from whom. By granting cable companies the right to force consumers to use the cable company's own set-top box, you have effectively unduly interfered with market forces. Both conservatives and liberals want free markets (although of course their are differences in approach). Let free market economics control the set-top box market. End cable company monopolistic practices.
John W	Martin	8611 Chelsea Bridge Way	Lutherville Timonium	21093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Wojtczak	5533 West Commonwealth	Chandler	85226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lauren	Richie	524 9th Ter	Pl Grv	35127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
larry	McLean	1726 charlotte hwy	Mooresville	28115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicholas	LaCroix	5611 240th St SE	Woodinville	98072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Dickens	1864 Park Circle	Marysville	95901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosemary	Rambow	3206 Cripple Creek 6H	San Antonio	78209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Moser	3253 Fox Run Dr	RICHFIELD	44286	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Bushnell	3354 Helsey Fusselman Rd	SOUTHINGTON	44470	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Thomas	68 Cooper dr. #1A	New Rochelle	10801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nadia	Haddad	1500 Monterey Pass Road	Monterey Park	91754	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Tippens	68 Van Nuys Rd	Colrain	1340	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katie	Jones	1452 Oak Avenue	Evanston	60201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JoAnn	Loomis	8310 Mathews RD	INDIANAPOLIS	46259	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susang-Talamo	Family	4959 Simmons Circle	Export	15632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Neel	3844 E. regents Circle	BLOOMINGTON	47401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Waldbart	7447 Conrad St	Wesley Chapel	33544	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
n	vitale	8819 193rd street	Hollis	11423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rio	Valencia	5106 morning dove mews	midlothian	23112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Nielson	8125 ne wygant st	Portland	97218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Penelope	DiMartino	1130 Cadiz St.	New Orleans	70115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Olness	31 WmPenn Dr	Stony Brook	11790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Krupp	2262 Whipple Ct.	SAINT GEORGE	84790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joy	Butts	5428 Irving Street	Philadelphia	19139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanne	Mackay	2500 River Rd. #50	Marysville	48040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Rader	punta gorda ,FL	Punta Gorda	33955	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Bernhardt	8 Amberwood Ln	Hendersonville	28791	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Winsand	S103 UPPER GLADE AVE	Spring Valley	54767	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jan	combs	5607 hiatus rd #600	FORT LAUDERDALE	33321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Corsover	363 Inverness Pkwy, Apt 3-203	Englewood	80112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Blakley	1190 TaylorRd W	Deland	32720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Angela	Rabon	P.O. Box 382	Conway	29528	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Fuchsman	1215 Avenue M #5E	Brooklyn	11230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
craol	lyon	1213 belle vista drive	Alexandria	22307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	McCauley	33 Fleming Street	Rochester	14612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Birmingham	5104 Lacosta	Fort Collins	80528	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcus	Lanskey	3867 Potter Street	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Angela	Rabon	P.O. Box 382	Conway	29528	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurie	Eaton	542 Lincoln Ave	Saint Paul	55102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kris	Konefal	4200 62nd ave n apt 323	Pinellas Park	33781	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tammy	Weatherly	975 Wilson Sharpsville Rd	CORTLAND	44410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jaime	Pabon	8280 sw 44 ct	Fort Lauderdale	33328	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Davis	1929 Shelby Ct	NORMAN	73071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marlene	Clausen	2012 Anderson Ave	CHATTANOOGA	37404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexandre	Koehn	30 Division St	Somerville	8876	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adelaide D.	Schaaf	10803 Lake Avenue	Cleveland	44102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Evelyn	Malone	41 Rosedale Blvd	BUFFALO	14226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Inge	159 S. Leyden Street	Brockton	2302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lee	Bartell	700 1st St., 15J	Hoboken	7030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Morris	108 N.Fairfield Rd.	Devon	19333	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nick	Chrisos	1830 N. Windsor	ARLINGTON HEIGHTS	60004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maryann	Smith	229 Lake Hills Road	Michigan City	46360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wendy	Allen	2521 Golden rd.	Plover	54467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
W	M	1709 sw morrison	Portland	97205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Adkins	7104 Tulip Street	PHILADELPHIA	19135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Raymond	Intemann	698 Grove Ave, Cliffside Park, NJ	Cliffside Park	7010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mrs	Wilkie	1981 Old Salisbury Road	WINSTON SALEM	27127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Kemper	1388 California Street	SAN FRANCISCO	94109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Zeuch	881 tollis pkwy broadview hts oh	Broadview Heights	44147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
michael	Parisi Jr	235 patton dr	Aliquippa	15001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Hagopian	1013 Tyler Street	Glendale	91205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chloe	Conradi	4269 Steed Terrace	Winter Park	32792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Donohue	68 Kent Street	Scituate	2066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Stopfel	9 Congress St.	Beverly	1915	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ericka	Kohn	806 N 8th Ave	Wausau	54401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Athens	Springer	1875 Slippery Rock Rd	Naperville	60565	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
April	Schmitt	17 Laetitia Lane	Landenberg	19350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margery	Simms	21 Nightingale Lane	Bluffton	29909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brooke	Kane	6102 Franklin Park Road	MC LEAN	22101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Barco	1861 NW 37th Ave	Miami	33125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lila	Greaves	1720 E. Jamison Place	Littleton	80122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Conway	222 Aberdeen Terrace	Syracuse	13206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Frohsin	2421 2nd Ave. North	Birmingham	35203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

RoibeÌÁrd	Billson	21 Bates Way	Westfield	7090	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hugh	Field	124 Fay Rd	New Salem	1355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Gragel	970 Canyon View Rd.	Northfield	44067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doug	Jones	562 East First St Unit B	Salida	81201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jill	Levy	2001 W Wabansia		60648	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JoAnne	Walls	4847 Sunningdale Drive	Belden	38826	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julia	Bazar	2951 Derby St Apt 219	Berkeley	94705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debby	Parisi	Po box 135	West Lafayette	47906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debby	Parisi	Po box 135	West Lafayette	47906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

david	prystal	191 bone hollo rd	Accord	12404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hugh	Field	124 Fay Rd	New Salem	1355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Medina		Verona	53593	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eleanor	Navarro	4158 e. boulder sprgs.	Tucson	85712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Morley	1766 Kaas	Ferndale	98248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Lowry	7500 Riverside Drive	Punta Gorda	33982	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jane	Laberee	49 New Rochester Road	Dover	3820	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Carpenter	8675 Ferry	Grosse Ile	48138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynne	Sloan	425 Lawton St	San Francisco	94122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frances	Patch	2213 Tanglevine Drive	AUSTIN	78748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Kline	425 Penn Ct. #5	north liberty	52317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
STU	fishelman	823 E. Belvedere Ave	Baltimore	21212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Poling	4312 E Allison Rd	Tucson	85712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Wilson	9757 Jellison St	Broomfield	80021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Frederick	14 Friendship Ln	Colorado Springs	80904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wilfredo	Rodriguez-Robles	1610 Robert E. Lee Blvd, New Orleans, LA	New Orleans	70122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Bluhm	Somerset pike	Hollsopple	15935	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Callie	Slater	1144 Peach Street	Lincoln	68502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Colleen	McGlone	3540 Hartland Dr	New Port Richey	34655	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Forster W.	Freeman	17320 Holy Names Drive, Apt. 202, Lake Oswego OR	Lake Oswego	97034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Weigel	485 Utley Rd, Elmhurst, IL	Elmhurst	60126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	Ogden	26108 Marina Road	Veneta	97487	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norm	Stanley	39796 Pine Bench Rd.	YUCAIPA	92399	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theresa	Gatley	12907 SE Bush St.	Portland	97236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregory	Dorais	2418 Willow Tree Ln	MARTINEZ	94553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Smith	7765 Forest St	Dexter	48130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark and Judy	Harvey	209 Emerson Road	Great Bend	18821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lin	Carmody	176Fort Lee Rd.	Leonia	7605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	B	921 N. Wendover Road	Charlotte	28211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paige	Bowles	138 Carmel bay dr	SANFORD	32771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Brockunier	14 Trolley St	Manor	15665	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherrian	Afrashteh	13351 riverside 501/ d	Sherman Oaks	91423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Morgan	255 19th ave S	MYRTLE BEACH	29577	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jesse	Bernhardt	871 S Grandview Ave	Dubuque	52003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	caputo	7100 Lockwood rd	Lake Worth	33467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Chitouras	32 Mitchell ave	MEDFORD	2155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marsha	Adams	2201 SE Maple Valley Hwy #82	RENTON	98057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerrit	Crouse	38 4th Avenue	Nyack	10960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Jordan	114 Clark Road	Wells	4090	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia	Hudley	2018 S Victoria Ave Los Angeles	Los Angeles	90016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Seth	Morrison	1600 S Eads St #814S	Arlington	22202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Candace	Hartzog	111 saint awdry st	Summerville	29485	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nelson	Price	6305 Hamlet Crest	Jamesville	13078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Malaroche	12 Overhill Dr	Madison	7940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mario	melo	30 lincoln ave	RIVERSIDE	2915	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charlene	Lauzon	5715 202nd St SW #3	Lynnwood	98036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fran	Tulski	7458 Edenmore St Lakewood Ranch	BRADENTON	34202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Beimel	167 Freeport Rd	Creighton	15030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terry	Martin	228 Kempton Drive	Berea	44017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Manuel Jr	4629 Chrysler Drive	Detroit	48201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Boroslawski	41 3rd. Street	New Hyde Park	11040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Caryl	McAllister	P O Box 180317	DELAFIELD	53018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heath	Beaver	135 Stone Canyon Dr.	LYONS	80540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mirtha	Roman	6304SE Grant ST.	Portland	97215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vinton	Gates	goldsboro dr.	Newport News	23605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe'll	Murphy	8301 16 1/2 Mile Road Apt 213	Sterling Heights	48312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Black	3324 SW Burlingame Rd	Topeka	66611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ryan	W.	5655 lone pine dr.	Fontana	92336	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gunnar	Samson	4684 Sandstone Drive	Williamston	48895	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Constance	Huff	49460 MCKENZIE HWY	Vida	97488	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Yazmin	Gonzalez	9627 Maple St.	BELLFLOWER	90706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kriss	Crowdis-Mann	1435 Elmore	IDAHO FALLS	83402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Carroll	511 Pinecrest Lane	Wilmette	60091	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pat	Williamson	6213 RICHMOND DR HUNTINGTON WV	Huntington	25705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
charles	lakin	2820 sw 37th dr	Ocala	34474	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Piotrowski	19294 RamonaTrails Dr, Ramona, CA	Ramona	92065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tammy	Causey	841 s 5th st	Jefferson	97352	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judyth O.	weaver	13017 10 ave NW	Seattle	98177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edmund	Nespoli	5574 Colt Dr.	LONGMONT	80503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laurel	Hieb	3721 Canyon Loop		86005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Giles	127 Fernwood Dr	Portage	15946	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amed	Ibrahim	130 SW 51st Avenue	Miami	33134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

andres	Perez	9813 violet dr	Orlando	32824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	Karrmann	2870 Sand Castle Lane	Atlantic Beach	32233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anil	Thakar	378 Mendon Road	Pittsford	14534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glen	Weber	1429 Hillcrest Dr	Greenville	62246	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emma	Myles	250 E. Harbortown Dr., Apt 303 Detroit Mi 48207	Detroit	48207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherry and Bob	Apgar	9 Honeywood Lane	Trenton	8638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Scholvin	50 MacDougal Street	New York	10012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Chasmar	Via Pato	Trabuco Canyon	92679	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Leeds	242 Lily Road	Egg Harbor Township	8234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Alexander	896 Marsh Road	Carson City	89701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M.	Moore	Grouse Ct	Evergreen	80439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Kirkpatrick	POB1549	SILVERTHORNE	80498	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Bean	7019 Humboldt Ave N	Brooklyn Center	55430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Bean	7019 Humboldt Ave N	Brooklyn Center	55430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Brouwer	820 S Ottillia St SE	GRAND RAPIDS	49507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Celentano	9162 Finnegan Street	Lorton	22079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Boyle	1601 State Route 23 Apt 8	Butler	7405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Choice	1350 Sutter St #37	San Francisco	94109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.! However we have traveled this road before and to date there appears no relief from Comcast among others! For the last week and 17@ I've gone to comcast to exchange our remote control units three times for the same problem but the last visit they gave me 2 different units that still haven't solved the problem despite being forced to use both units together and they still don't work including not being able to completely turn the original television miff at any given tome! Each time you visit they ask only for your first name so if you have a fairly c
Kristin	Sunada	4709 Chippendale Dr., Ft. Collins, CO	Fort Collins	80526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

borland	martin	736 13th street, apt 212	Miami Beach	33139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Geri	Collecchia	1461 E Lacosta Dr	HOLLYWOOD	33027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alejandro	Sanchez	901 W Argyle St.	Chicago	60640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tim	Oswald	425 NE 27th Dr	FORT LAUDERDALE	33334	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bryant	Wisheropp	1421 7th place	Delano	93215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Motz	1608 Southeast Blvd	Evansville	47714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Koci	4870 Kendall Court	Martinez	94553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Edgar	441 Clairemont Ave	Decatur	30030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	van Wyk	71 Burnett Terrace, West Orange, NJ	West Orange	7052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vianna	Heath	32 June Lane	East Sandwich	2537	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. AND they always have some "new" program that we have to pay EXTRA for. Our monthly bill isn't enough....Bull----Congress!! stop supporting this rip-off of the American public (who pays YOUR salary, by the way)
Jackie	Nichols	20360 spring garden rd	Foresthill	95631	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrra	Estrella	4817 E 18th St.	Tucson	85711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paula	Breid	P.O. Box 534	Eureka Springs	72632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claire	Rothman	Los Angeles, CA	Los Angeles	90025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Strouss	5860 GOLD DUST	Kelseyville	95451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Irish	Rodriguez	947 Heber Avenue	Calexico	92231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Skelton	40900 Bemis Rd	BELLEVILLE	48111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harold	Wolcott	2338 Cowan Rd.	Piffard	14533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Clark	8239 Highline Blvd	Erie	16509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Celeste	Hong	4758 Cromwell	LOS ANGELES	90027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Calla	Bush	59 W. Mount Airy Ave.	Philadelphia	19119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynn	Edgar	441 Clairemont Ave	Decatur	30030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	Lakoff	1505 Woodland Rd.	WEST CHESTER	19382	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	St. James	11 Georgetown Drive	AMHERST	3031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Neuendorff	2228 Scottwood Avenue	Toledo	43620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wanda	Robinson	870 E RT 130	Burlington	8016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rm	Lewis	burncrest ct	PEORIA	61615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kimberly	Doyle	110 Azalea Ave	SWANNANOA	28778	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bryon	Leingang	201 3rd St S #5	New Salem	58563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	SP	4245 East Ave	Rochester	14618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tony	Songini	1927 BRADY DR	Dalton	30720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Fleenor	10119 Rich Valley Road	Bristol	24202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shelly	Humphrey	2102 Martin Ave	Dayton	45414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Allen	Tigert	Anchorage, AK	Anchorage	99516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Wardlaw	401 S Walnut St	Seneca	29678	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Kavanaugh	56 Shipherd Circle	OBERLIN	44074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron	Peterson	3640 Wintun Drive	CARMICHAEL	95608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arnold	Shileny	2535 Chesterfield Drive	Riverdale	52722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katharine	Harris	96 Homestead Avenue	Albany	12203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra	Konstantakis	167 Radcliffe Rd	Island Park	11558	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Nettles	11216 SE 228th Pl	KENT	98031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I have Direct TV and own my boxes and all I pay for is the service.
Stephanie	Shine	104 Music Road	PONDEROSA	87044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Earl	Labuga	2806 Harvest Hill Dr.	Friendswood	77546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Seiler	145 Glendale	Rochester	48307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Corey	20 Leslie St.	Cranston	2910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jeree	waller	17247 Patricia Way	Grass Valley	95949	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tony	Rutherford	581 Blue Ridge Trails	MORGANTON	30560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yolanda	Jack	200 Riverfront Drive Apt 7-I	Detroit	48226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Webb	1805 Yellow Pine Amelia Ohio	Amelia	45102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Jasper	110 Hampton Way	Merrick	11566	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicole	Fenlon	2463 Van Lake Ct	Green Bay	54311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Recor	9 Hemlock Hill	Clinton	6413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Carney	25 Bowers Ave.	RUNNEMEDE	8078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maria	Esparza	4725 W Quincy Ave	Denver	80236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Haufrecht	431 West 48th Street, #4W	New York	10036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	McKee	2069 Mullins Ave, Apt. 30	ALAMOSA	81101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Motteler	244 Nickelbush Lane	Quilcene	98376	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sam	Star	3020 NW 64th St. Seattle, WA	Seattle	98107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Jordan	11070 Campbell Cemetary	LOAMI	62661	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Schell	209 N. Thompson Dr. #3 MADISON,Wisconsin	Madison	53714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Mohr	5455 8th Street	CARPINTERIA	93013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victoria	Scott	General Delivery, Nashville, TN	Nashville	37202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Solomon	833 Parsons Road	Traverse City	49686	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erik	Stanger	10306 NW 5th ST	Fort Lauderdale	33324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Benjamin	Irwin	827 La Para Ave.	Palo Alto	94306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jody	Fritzke	5385 Stacy Trail lot 324	STACY	55079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Merrill	123 whippoorwill road	UNION	3887	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fred	Amador	6602 W. Whispering Wind drive	GLENDALE	85310	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Lombardi	1465 E 64 St	Brooklyn	11234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Antonio	Fernandez	35-31 85th st.	JACKSON HEIGHTS	11372	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Outcalt	4887 stargazer lane	Spencer	47460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Dozier	6806 jefferson ave	Falls Church	22042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Jones	123 Black Birch Trail	Florence	1062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
z	w	x	Portland	97202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Browning	1216 Fountain St	Alameda	94501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kate	Bohn	7000-149th LN NW	Anoka	55303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Lever	0000 none	KANSAS CITY	64118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Geenbaur	14B Cypress Circle	Ormond Beach	32176	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Couch	175 Mack Rd	Lebanon	6249	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Selene	Russo	5405 Pelham Rd Durham NC	Durham	27713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
BARRETT	RAVENHURST	212 South 3rd Street	Lehighton	18235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

kathleen	spencer	315 N Lake Ave #229	Duluth	55806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alice	Travers	706 N Allyn Street	Carbondale	62901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
S.	Smith	PO Box 253	SOUND BEACH	11789	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	/Anderson	956 178th AVE NE	Bellevue	98008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barney	Bryson	2102 Barnes St	URBANA	61802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Bracey	400 N. Major Avenue	Henderson	89015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Bracey	400 N. Major Avenue	Henderson	89015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mr & mrs	warren	po box 463	Gladwyne	19035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
nona	watt	1305 kirkwood dr #101	Fort Collins	80525	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Formals	Butler	331 Diana Street	New Orleans	70114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Michail	13 Holly Acres Dr.	Brick	8723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Fung	382 Central Park West, Apt 14P	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Holly	Holman	1160 Pine St	San Francisco	94109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Panus	60 Summit Ave.	Buffalo	14214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Whalen	26 Rickard Street	Cortland	13045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kerry	Moore	P O Box 781	TOLEDO	98591	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Campbell	1808 Breth Ct.	SUN CITY CENTER	33573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Roettinger	590 highway 105	Monument	80132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Gilman	2522 Sheffield	Kalamazoo	49008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Pastorkovich	348 N. Craig St. Pittsburgh PA	Pittsburgh	15213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacob	Fox	7714 schwab hollow rd. wayland N.Y.	Wayland	14572	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Grant	Hicks	19 Jet Dr.	Glasgow	59230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracy	C	1243 Wagstaff Road	Paradise	95969	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mel	Pommeranz	916 Francis	Toledo	43609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gayla	Sainas	2175 S Malul Dr At 115 Anaheim, CA	Anaheim	92802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Martin	16900 125th St. SE, Sawyer, ND	Sawyer	58781	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Mercadante	42 Gilbert Rd	Southampton	1073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ellen	Johnson	1087 Antler Court	South Lake Tahoe	96150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christina	Maris	1208 Candelaria Road NW #C-1	ALBUQUERQUE	87107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	Johnson	1087 Antler Court	South Lake Tahoe	96150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emily	McAlpine	3 Sterling Hill Lane	Exeter	3833	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Richards	13 easton ave	BERLIN	21811	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Quando	Gerst	2317 Shepherd Valley St	Raleigh	27610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Epperson	10008 n Brooks st	Tampa	33612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Epperson	10008 n Brooks st	Tampa	33612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leonard	Harris	5515 Trent St	CHEVY CHASE	20815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Angela	Hoyes	6608 Amethyst Street	Rancho Cucamonga	91737	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Bullock	6112 Sabine Dr	Fayetteville	28303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Stroker	20 Hoyt ST.	Madison	7940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

patrick	scarry	9 treeline dr.	O Fallon	63366	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sammy	Williamson	39047	Brandon	39047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Achter	2132 Cape Cod Place	HOPKINS	55305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Darren	Young	9717 Noble Av.	North Hills	91343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcus	Allred	1304 Mccormick St	Greensboro	27403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cindy	Grady	2348Richmond Drive	Wheaton	60189	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jackie	Pomies	1271 - 38th Avenue	San Francisco	94122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Epperson	10008 n Brooks st	Tampa	33612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip	Larkowski	1221 Terrill St.	Chippewa Falls	54729	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marie	Burkhart	11560 Madera Rosa Way	San Diego	92124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alex	Waters	105 peqeot ave.	New London	6320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eileen	Massey	5924 Herzog St	EMERYVILLE	94608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Neal	Mareschal	135 Chatwood Terrace	Saint Louis	63126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joy	Avalos	4014 Forest Rd	Davenport	52807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susie	Keistler	2122 Hayes Drive	Rock Hill	29732	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rick	Dixon	26 Draper St.	GREENVILLE	29611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debbie	Broadhurst	32 Lynn st	Lawrence	1843	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Yakutis	644 Town House Road	EFFINGHAM	3882	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Goings	44101 Bear Creek Dr	Springville	93265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Dibble	P.O. BOX 137094	Clermont	34713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Ellington	3525 Club Drive	Lawrenceville	30044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nick	Pulizzi	280 Summer Street	Boston	2210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bessma	Richardson	16938 /analan NE	Sand Lake	49343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maggie	Davidson	750 Pine Drive, Apt 11	Pompano Beach	33060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sal	Conigliaro	7804 Kingsbrook Ct	Wake Forest	27587	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Klausing	624 Cross Lanes Dr Apt 11	NITRO	25143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tony	young	1921 Elmore	Downers Grove	60515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jenna	Harris	3039 Royale Elk Way	EVERGREEN	80439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Nichols	421 West 56th Street	NEW YORK	10019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Dixon	4045 Bowser Avenue	DALLAS	75219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Greg	Leimeister	7715 Hills and Dales Rd NW	Massillon	44646	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
HD	Sagman	Pittsford NY	Pittsford	14534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Rahn	16348 Birkland St. SE	Yelm	98597	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dwight	johnson	84 brian road	South Windsor	6074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Pettit	82 So. Freeport Rd.	Freeport	4032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tina	Beedle	6324 Blueberry St	Milton	32570	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brennan	Amato	744 McHenry Street	Baltimore	21230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Casimir	Drahan	711 Sackett Street	Maumee	43537	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Sather	2905 NW 106th St.	Vancouver	98685	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin	Tatman	6267 Pebble Beach Drive, Vallejo, CA	Vallejo	94591	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joann	Koch	134 Olenick Rd, Lebanon, CT	Lebanon	6249	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria & Marvin	Levitt	35-15 High St	FAIR LAWN	7410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sage	Weidenbenner	237 South Bayshore Drive	Valparaiso	32580	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
chris	granata	202 south hill drive	MOUNT HOLLY	8060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tonya	Green	605 SW 34th	OKLAHOMA CITY	73109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

MIchael	Bruning	1310 Cardinal Ln	Winter Garden	34787	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Potamites	5739 n francisco	CHICAGO	60659	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Waltzer	1509 Squire Lane	Cherry Hill	8003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jo	Hewitt	1212 North Oakland Avenue	Indianapolis	46201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dick	Russo		Madison	53717	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
SRonne	Kaufman	5020 Golfview Ct	Delray Beach	33484	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

wm.	cackette	517 10 st,		96341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Johnson	8440 57th Avenue, Berwyn Heights, MD 20740	College Park	20740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Lanski	3190 Natasha Way #1, Reno NV	Reno	89512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Donnelly	2940 Kletha Trail		86005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terrel	Brown	211 herrick rd, port angeles, wa	Port Angeles	98363	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
pat	ritchie	1392 everest rd	Venice	34293	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Daloni	9 Harding St.	Johnstown	15905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Brazzel	125 Skinner	Simsboro	71275	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Robbins	P.O. Box 1093	YACHATS	97498	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

RONALD	BUCHANAN	95 Martensen St Apt 314	QUINCY	2169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Steinbach	Overland Park	Mission	66202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Churchill	3509 PORTOLA DR	SANTA CRUZ	95062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Kirchner	1002 Cottage Ave.	Fort Wayne	46807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Czerniak	3751 Baybrook	Toledo	43623	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Kelley	17756 Redfern	Detroit	48219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Perrin	7 Densmore Ct	HALLOWELL	4347	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allan	Beres	146 dune rd.	Kitty Hawk	27949	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Stratton	57 Mason Ave, Binghamton, NY	Binghamton	13904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sara	Lazarus	87 Chestnut Street	MILLBURN	7041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Caroline	Battersby	80 Applecroft Lane	CENTER CONWAY	3813	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Mitchell	12651 Seminole Blvd 6M	Largo	33778	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	Boss	905 SW 96th PL	Seattle	98106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kelly	curts	4502SW Wildwood Pl. #203	Seattle WA	98136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Talamas	7231 Leighton Way	Orlando	32822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kristopher	Heidorn	5735 Arboles	HOUSTON	77035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janine	Tiffe	216 Dale Dr. #203	KENT	44240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Malinowski	2018 Pine St.	Paso Robles	93446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

C Juliette	Brown	171 Halladay St	Jersey City	7304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
steve	babin	1106 maplewood	Normal	61761	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanbe	Guilbault	114 Pine St	Fuquay Varina	27526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kimberly	Leeper	4742 42nd Ave. SW, PMB 379	Seattle	98116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Marshall	23 Hamal Court Turnersville NJ	Blackwood	8012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Paul	617 Felix Court	Saint Augustine	32086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Spencer	4517 W Wagoner Rd	GLENDALE	85308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cassandra	Williams	1125 K St.	Brawley	92227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Tilli	75 Four Leaf Road	LEVITTOWN	19056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dorothy	Holtzman	1199A shetland Dr.	Lakewood	8701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leonard	Yang	1537 Dalton Place	Winchester	22601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Irene	Nowell	225 Century Pl, #2302	Alexandria	22304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wes	Klein	4601 sycamore rd	CINCINNATI	45236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Georgette	Saydak	9433 Roxborough Park Court	Colorado Springs	80924	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dr	Copas	P.O. Box 1008	MAPLE VALLEY	98038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rebecca	Lystig	1741 Sartell Avenue	Saint Paul	55122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	gliva	313 emery st	JOLIET	60436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Smith	3316 40th Street	MOLINE	61265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Clobes	5573 Schneider Road	Newburgh	47630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenny	Hawsey	10 deerfield drive	Sherwood	72120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Gordon	937 E Abriendo	Pueblo	81004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lois	Grant	2901 S Leisure World Blvd #522	Silver Spring	20906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Rodeghero	1308 Catherine St	Joliet	60435	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Assenmacher	43815 Leeann Lane, Canton, MI	Canton	48187	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dean	Cornett	Whig St	Newark Valley	13811	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emmaline	Reyes	218 Jennings Ave	San Antonio	78225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Shaud	130 Buck Rd	Elmer	8318	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Theresa	Buck	#3 Fremont ct.	Florissant	63033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Goldberg	2806 Federal Ave.	Los Angeles	90064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stanley	Thomas-Rose	16118 Greenhorn Road	Grass Valley	95945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Varga	Main Street	Janesville	53545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenya	Pena	2269 Hampden Place	Bronx	10468	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Bondavalli	6N840 Roosevelt Ave	Saint Charles	60174	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Claudine	Armand	4057 Rosabell st	Los Angeles	90066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eileen	McCorry	35 W. 81 Street	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Weber	5 Cogswell Road	New Preston Marble Dale	6777	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Gallagher	16-20 160th St	WHITESTONE	11357	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marvin	Johnson	2223 N.W. Lincoln Ave.	Lawton	73505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chad	Fletcher	11 Culbert Street	Mattapan	2126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bryan	Bennett	4482 Twin Creek Drive	Kennesaw	30144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chuck	snook	19516 112th ave e	Port Hadlock	98339	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlie	Wambeke	175 Naples St	San Francisco	94112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J	Belcastro	CROCUS AVE	FLORAL PARK	11001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyle	Wills	2307 s. burberry lane	Bloomington	47401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cindy	Schultz	3624 Tuscala Street	Seaford	11783	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Winkler	305 Ward Cove	Oxford	38655	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Kramer	955 Hassett	Brookings	97415	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gordon	Grant	2650 N Lakeview Ave	Chicago	60614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Destefano	8415 G Chasco Woods Blvd, Port Richey, FL	Port Richey	34668	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorian	May	2260 Oriole Ln. Willits	Willits	95490	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
TUPEFAAVAE	AUELUA	12549 HERON ST	Victorville	92392	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacqueline	Birnbaum	311 Bronxville Road	BRONXVILLE	10708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jared	Sacco	1074 Dylan Ct.	McKinleyville	95519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
cecil	sallee	15403 puritas ave apt1	Cleveland	44135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ron	Goodwin	51 N. Catherwood Ave	INDIANAPOLIS	46219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacalyn	Booth	1975 Maricopa Hwy.	Ojai	93023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Harmon	425 S 156TH ST APT 101A	Seattle	98148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arthur	Weiss	242 East 83rd St.	New York	10028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeannie	Dalton	484 W 43rd St	New York	10036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlie	K	17th St	SAN FRANCISCO	94114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dan	Christian	4324 Spoonbill Way	Oceanside	92057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
E	Nedeau	2278 Harding Ave, Muskegon MI	Muskegon	49441	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marion and Ellen	Steiner	1091 Oakmont Drive, Temperance, MI	Temperance	48182	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Brownlow	5225 Woodland Ave	Western Springs	60558	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vanna	Smith	17522 151st ave se	Renton	98058	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Slack	2311 Selma Ave	NASHVILLE	37214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Guy	Blair	17626 NW Rolling Hill Lane Beaverton OR	Beaverton	97006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Moore	3030 168th Ave SE	Tenino	98589	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Bielawski	49 Wapping Road	Kingston	2364	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Roe	6090 S. LAND PARK DR. APT. 29	SACRAMENTO	95822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Hersh	24 Tamarack Road	Natick	1760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Davey	31901 9th	Laguna Beach	92651	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mohammad	Hossain	753 Spyglass Way	Rock Hill	29730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Daly	1979 Crosspoint Ct	Santa Rosa	95403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randall	Richter	3105 E Wilmont, Muncie, IN	Muncie	47303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alfredo	Limia	11250 sw 197st apt 117	Miami	33157	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori	Visioli	4301 Archstone Ave	TEWKSBURY	1876	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Connie	Allison	147 Sheridan Park	Geneva	14456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacqueline	Akines	2148 W 72nd Pl	Chicago	60636	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mika	Godzich	po box 625	TONASKET	98855	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	McNicol	portland rd ne	Salem	97305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Gibson	Verde Lakes Drive	Camp Verde	86322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
michael	restivo	890 ginger ave	CARLSBAD	92011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Kisor	653 Founders Ridge Dr.	Columbus	43230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erin	Weinstock	PO Box 88338	Houston	77288	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fay	Bracken	770 109th Ave N	NAPLES	34108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
douglas	gray	6847 e.thomas rd	Scottsdale	85251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elaine	ososki	6367 St. John's dr	Eden Prairie	55346	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	H	9 street	Brooklyn	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
SANDRA	COHEN	10718 BRANDENBERG DR	Frisco	75035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joyce	louis	2718 Camelot Drive	Bryan	77802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Anderson	350 Hooper St	Atlanta	30317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Cohen	24 MacLennan Place	Fanwood	7023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bryan	Hopper	7051J ALOMA AVE	Winter Park	32792	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Swihart	248 Sequoia Ave.	Walnut Creek	94595	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Giantomasi	9951 Hilltop Dr	Parkville	21234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Greene	21300 Via Del Parque	Yorba Linda	92887	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dakota	Green	501 Vairo BLVD State College, PA	State College	16803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Constance	Bryden	3230 E. Blackidge Dr., #2	Tucson	85716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carmen	Vito	128 Buck Ridge Dr.	Drums	18222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacob	Helton	208 North St W	Amboy	56010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Jones	512 Glen Echo Road	Philadelphia	19119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marjorie	Freeman	14 Twisted Oak Circle	TRUMBULL	6611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. By the way, having for profit cable companies was supposed to create competition. But there isn't any choice for consumers. We're stuck with the cable company our town allowed to wire its streets, so they are all monopolies as far as consumers are concerned. And they charge like the monopolies they are.
Kyle	Mentus	11 Maiden Ln	WEST HARTFORD	6117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Sayre	3510 Pence Ct.	Annandale	22003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynne	Treat	674 NE Franklin Avenue	CHEHALIS	98532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Isabel	Sena	34-38 85th Street	Jackson Heights	11372	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Neil	Orris	2326 Merrimack Dr	Kissimmee	34743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Caroline	Bauman	115 Davis Ave	White Plains	10605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JB	Smith	2620 NW 52ND ST	Oklahoma City	73112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allie	Smith	4108 The Knolls Close	Pittsboro	27312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lance	Williams	650 Harbor Creek Place	Charleston	29412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heather	Frank	1643 Ithan Circle	Downingtown	19335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Meute	3909 W 25th Ct	Panama City	32405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

L.M.	Holmes	215 N. King St.	Honolulu	96817	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Jones	14664 SE Raintree Ct, Oak Grove, OR	Portland	97267	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lily	Rocco	48 Reservoir Ave	Northport	11768	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Keith	Thompson	87 Milton St N	Saint Paul	55104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Dwyer	1330 W. Fargo Avenue 3A	Chicago	60626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roy	Duke	Home	Tacoma	98466	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gaylord	King	Canada		V0H1T1	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Richards	51 E Zimmerman Dr	Fairfield	52556	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
S	Norris	W39th St	NEW YORK	10018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathie	Snavely	446 Riverview Dr	Wrightsville	17368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephanie	Clark	1884 Premier Pl	Concord	94520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Faye	Mayo	818 N. Doheny Dr.	West Hollywood	90069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roy	Duke	Home	Tacoma	98466	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Johnson	7217 Fairfax Ave. Lincoln, NE	Lincoln	68505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Allard	3568 Dexter Ct	Denver	80207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Fusco	66 Board Road	BRUNSWICK	4011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Davis	1314 Welch Ave. Wenatchee, WA	Wenatchee	98801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Kedderis	42 Northwoods Road	Farmington	6032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Miranda	Leiva	4950 Coldwater Canyon	Sherman Oaks	91423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mhorenstein	Horenstein	S Sacramento Avenue	Ventnor City	8406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Lukang	223 Townline Rd	Pearl River	10965	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anne	Donovan	35 Alden Ave	Platteville	53818	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Wenning	11 Riverside Drive	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rita	Wise	36471CR 33	Eaton	80615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Pfeifer	5 johnson's Grant	Woburn	1801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dr. Todd	Walker	517 Rawson Ct.	SOUTH MILWAUKEE	53172	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Hildebrandt	248 Crombie St	HUNTINGTON STATION	11746	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shirley	Reischman	6138 Woodmont Ave.	CINCINNATI	45213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Delphine	Brooks	18 Bryan Cir Bear DE	Bear	19701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Sanger	4346 JUNIATA St	SAINT LOUIS	63116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glenda	Lilling	395 Westchester Ave	Port Chester	10573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Kaminski	21 Cottage Pl	BUFFALO	14218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cindy	Haskin	343 Poole Circle	Newfield	14867	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gail	Nacey	1301 Harrison St	Superior	54880	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	Palacio	2842 Seqouia Dr	Macungie	18062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Cook	4316 Murrayhill Rd.	Charlotte	28209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kaz	Bernacki	1849 211tH PL NE	SAMMAMISH	98074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tensie	Campbell	422 Wallace Dr.	Charleston	29412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Give us a break from high costs of cable and cell phone fees. We should not have to pay excess fees for use of for our airwaves.
Bonnie	Budd	119 Catherine St	N Syracuse	13212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janice	Rickert	3182 Emory sSt	Green Bay	54311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Anderson	1109 NE 112th St. Vancouver,WA	Vancouver	98685	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Krasin	18 Massa Lane Edgewater NJ	EDGEWATER	7020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daphne	Hemmings	118 East Foster Street	Palmyra	14522	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	OByrne	99 schoolhouse rd	Port Jervis	12771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pauline	Archambault	57 Patten Rd	Tewksbury	1876	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Evan	Beattie	5301 Lexington ave Los Angeles	Los Angeles	90029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael R.	Tyre	1425 Brandon Pl. J6	Gainesville	30501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	Berkowitz	1945 Jefferson St #104	SAN FRANCISCO	94123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Seeley	19032 se el camino terrace	Damascus	97089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Porpiglia	202 Dickinson Rd	Webster	14580	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	Renn	516 G St	Eureka	95501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michele	Droga	10850 Venice Cir.	Tampa	33635	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rita	Seclow	44 Redding Road, Easton CT 06612	Easton	6612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Benita	Cohen	18075 Langlois Rd Spc 76	Desert Hot Springs	92241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Louise	Snider	5883 Portobelo Ct.	San Diego	92124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theresa	ulrich	698 ruxton ridge Dr	SUN PRAIRIE	53590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
nancy	charlier	3081 SARATOGA LANE	Glenview	60026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maureen	Banks	14320 Diplomat Drive	Tampa	33613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lance	Sullivan	5049 N Brookmeadow Way	BOISE	83713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ginny	Biondo	745 L	West Babylon	11704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carla	Gilbert	20 Sunnyvale	Irvine	92602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tony	Karasinski	57 Patten Rd	Tewksbury	1876	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Pfeiffer	2210 florian	Hamtramck	48212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joel	Hembree	2269 NE 68th St	Kansas City	64118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vic	Wu	170 pershing road	Clifton	7013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Webb	1909 S. Claremont Ave.	Independence	64052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Acadia	Cutschall	1131 President St	Brooklyn	11225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elle	Cook	425 Ena Rd	Honolulu	96815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pam	Krimsky	419 N Riverside Rd, Highland, NY	Highland	12528	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Art	Wagner	200 Oak Dr	PASADENA	21122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Florence	Morris	955 Culver Road	Rochester	14609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Belinda	Bothwick	310 Lovejoy Shores Drive	Kents Hill	4349	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ann and David	Cordero	2814 Lilac Street, Longview	Longview	98632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clifford	Matthews	11 Emmons Lane, Palm Coast, FL	Palm Coast	32164	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vaughn	Barnett	301 E Hillcrest St	Altamonte Springs	32701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Abraham	Frank	29304 32nd PL S	Auburn	98001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Fitzgibbons	63 E BROADWAY UNIT A	Milford	6460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yola	Hesser	90916 Southview Lane	Florence	97439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Conway	909 W Harvard Dr, Tempe, AZ	Tempe	85283	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Therese	Moncelle	5123 Wild Strawberry Path	Loves Park	61111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	McGathey	129 Waverley St	Belmont	2478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JoAnne	Kelly	7051 35th Avenue	Seattle	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Danielle	J	1820 Fox Run Rd	Coalville	84017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patti	Good	10913 121st	Gig Harbor	98329	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Stutsman	17 Morley Drive	Norwalk	44857	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
TJ	Davies	909 Kapiolani Blvd # 601	HONOLULU	96814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Wildfang	10100 Johnson Ave So, Bloomington MN 55437	Minneapolis	55437	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Zachary	Skully	134 N 4TH ST	Albemarle	28001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Steve	6342 Mulberry Ave	PORTAGE	46368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Consumers should be able to PURCHASE cable boxes (like land-line telephones) Consumers are required to rent a $200 device for up to $231 per year. Can we say price gouging???
Wendy	Hoffman	309 Tamarack Ln	Ontonagon	49953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Connor	17 Dubois Street	Wallkill	12589	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roberta	Schear	5460 Carlton St	Oakland	94618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Isabella	Reniakiewicz	22 Charnwood Road	New Providence	7974	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Krasky	5324 Manila Ave	Oakland	94618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victoria	Portillo	6913	Omaha	68104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Heintz	9947 E Sunridge Dr	Chandler	85248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Herbert	Shroyer	6857 Stoney Ridge Rd.	North Ridgeville	44039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jaime	munoz	4008amberleigh trace	GAINESVILLE	30507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Candice	Keith	39 Tiffany Circle	West Bridgewater	2379	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Don	Newby	17N Tanglewood Dr	Gibbsboro	8026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott A	Weir, Ph.D. (Economics)	3509 Duke Homestead Rd.	Durham, NC	27704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Kale	623 N. Harper Ave.	Los Angeles	90048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Angelique	St.Pierre	1456 Arnold Drive	Melbourne	32935	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anneliese	Lipinski	15 Concord Drive	Somerset	8873	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Koubek	Weymouth MA	Weymouth	2188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gertrude	Kelso	2331 Ashurst Rd.	Cleveland	44118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Bender	86 Cherry Tree Farm Road	Middletown	7748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Clark	561 WINDSOR DR SE	Conyers	30094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	West	306 McKinney Ave	McKinney	75069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alice	Hogan	1505 N. Powhatan St.	Arlington	22205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Kruel	139 Hillsdale Rd.	Union Grove	28689	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Starck	4517 Meridale Avenue	Louisville	40214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Bailey	9144 N Territorial Rd	Plymouth	48170	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Stearns	414 W Willox LN	Fort Collins	80524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kemmeth	Walker	3513 carpenter ave	Hurricane	25526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beth	Stoker	2617 belle haven dr	Lawrence	66046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Connie	Gullen	123 Summer Hill Lane	Buffalo	14221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Williams	2451 N Rainbow	Las Vegas	89108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessica	Martinson	1330 School Road	San Juan Bautista	95045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Gentz	5419 Castleview Lane	Garland	75044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Cameron	303 Wakefield Lane N	Martinez	30907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angelo	Diliberto	61A Grove Ave. Lockport, NY	Lockport	14094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allie	Stokes	17135 Heart of Palms Drive	TAMPA	33647	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	McLaren	8200 Climbing Fern Court	Bowie	20715	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darliene	Howell	1628 Commanche Dr	Las Vegas	89169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Poscharscky	16005 east burside street	Portland	97233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheryll	Punneo	1401 Telford Drive	LIBERTY	64068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kay	Lowe	3820 E 117th Avenue	Denver	80233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
E.	Mothershead	1617 W 6th Dr	MESA	85202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Heid	4040 St. James Dr.	El Sobrante	94803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Lyman	1250 N HWY	COLVILLE	99114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
djlm	djlm	p.o.b. 654	Bonners Ferry	83805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

earl	carson	14 haven circle	Denison	75020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Smusz	1863	Fall River	2723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gordon	Barber	Park St	Barton	5822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Hill	1227 Princeton Ct.	Longmont	80503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
djlm	djlm	p.o.b. 654	Bonners Ferry	83805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clifton	Bain	PO Box 297 Arroyo Hondo, NM	Arroyo Hondo	87513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laurie	Hacklander	64 Brackett St	Portland	4102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	McGraw	910 W Linden St., 2nd fl	Scranton	18504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tanvir	Khan	45 Curve Street	Needham	2492	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	MacKenzie	Hobbs NM	HOBBS	88241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Koubek	Weymouth MA	Weymouth	2188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tonda	Benge	4521 N Central Park	Chicago	60625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tracy	EllisWeit	8000 Santa Cruz	Atascadero	93422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
stephen	tews	904 w. chestnut	Bloomfield	52537	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adrian	Seijo	5956 azalea	West Palm Beach	33415	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Osborne	Lamoree	280 Summer Street	Boston	2210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MARTIN	MARREN	SHADY OAKS-943 AVILA BEACH DR	San Luis Obispo	93405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Benjamin	Cropp	1703 Maple Ln	Lawrence	66044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carroll	Lunde	1412 36 st fort madison iowa	Fort Madison	52627	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Scholl	727 East Fifth	Lancaster	43130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Harband	PO Box M, San Rafael, CA	San Rafael	94913	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Morgan	MacConaugha-Snyder	2450 Colony Loop	ANCHORAGE	99507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Schulman	233 Chandler Dr	MUNDELEIN	60060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Mahoney	3213 W Main St #116	RAPID CITY	57702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Byrne	2153 Arbor Circle West # 204	Ypsilanti	48197	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Misty	Boyd	1211 Autumn Way	Dickson	37055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Deep	203 Hood Avenue	LEBANON	40033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Orr	8713 Glen Canyon Dr	ROUND ROCK	78681	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mia	l	150 ludlow street	New York	10002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Broden	144 Maynard Rd. Apt. 403D	Framingham	1701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dan	Fullerton	70 Spring Pond Drive	OSSINING	10562	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	Dumetz	3152 Del Paso Blvd	Sacramento	95815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ana	Sharma	19 West Cedar Street	Boston	2108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Herb	King	2987 Blue Top Dr.	Columbus	43232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eve	Bauschek	1823 North Linwood Ave	Appleton	54914	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kevin	Gelpern	118 rosebud ave	Merrick	11566	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julie	Sutter	PO Box 19276	Seattle	98109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy	Johnson	5849 Rockdale Ct	CENTREVILLE	20121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Simmons	9945 riley st.	Overland Park	66212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dana	Weikel	2346 Teakwood Way	Hanford	93230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katie	Siggins	22372 143rd Ave	Rapid City	57701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louise	Espinoza	492 El Portal Dr.	Santa Rosa	95407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Casey	Fernandez	536 Laidley Street	San Francisco	94131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Shepherd	330 Haven Ave GH	New York	10033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eli	Solesby	PO Box 553	CHESNEE	29323	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Seren	Bradshaw	118 GREENWOOD ST	Westwood	96137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
john	vitale	14 carolyn lane	Swanzey	3446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Herb	King	2987 Blue Top Dr.	Columbus	43232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

M. Michele	Phillips	510 S. 38th St., Apt 1	Omaha	68105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alberto	Franco	9 Carolina Ave Pt. monmouth NJ	Port Monmouth	7758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ana	Sharma	19 West Cedar Street	Boston	2108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elisabeth	Wadleigh	866 Rorke Way	Palo Alto	94303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Alexander	39th AVE Street	Hyattsville	20781	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Devin	Henry	90 W University St	ALFRED	14802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bev	Doman	5075 Milstead Ln.	Salt Lake City	84118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Leihy	5763 Owl Light Terrace	Santa Rosa	95409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Uebelman	240 24th St. NE	Salem	97301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Dillard	83 Talmage Farm Lane	East Hampton	11937	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tiffany	Lau	363 E South St	Bishop	93514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Madonna	LaVerge	18359 Dennis	Macomb	48044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erickia	Sherwood	3647 Keystone Ave.	Baltimore	21211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Philip and Betty	Pearle	15 Woodberry Road	NEW HARTFORD	13413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	Jahos	PO Box 891	Alstead	3602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Leuthardt	710 Willow Oak Dr	Lewisville	75067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Jacobson	7637 Hyatts Ln	Maineville	45039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward & Lynn	Skibinski	49 Elmwood Park West	TONAWANDA	14150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Morley	1766 Kaas	Ferndale	98248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Kilmartin	4548 HEATH CIRCLE	Rohnert Park	94928	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicole	Scott-Harris	590 Bloomfield Ave., Apt. 299	BLOOMFIELD	7003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	White	3090 shiloh rd	Mantachie	38855	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Lerner	1311 N. Ode St.	Arlington	22209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michele	Temple	42-26 69th street	WOODSIDE	11377	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Fricke	PO Box 7	Hancock	4640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Goldberg	6 Macleish Drive	Morganville	7751	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donn	Simpson	P.O. Box 262 Warren, VT.	Warren	5674	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ryan	Jessup	4417 221st PL NE	Redmond	98053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Goldberg	6 Macleish Drive	Morganville	7751	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Gilbert	1037 N. Rice Rd.	OJAI	93023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erin	Garcia	14924 dickens	SHERMAN OAKS	91403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Jaranowski	4008 Hermes Ln	Waxhaw	28173	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
thomas	steele	4 cochise ct	O Fallon	63366	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Wittman	68 Stuart Ave, Amityville, NY	AMITYVILLE	11701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcie	Brushaber	PO Box 227	REYNO	72462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sara	Katz	6166 Buena Vista Avenue, Oakland, CA , 94618	Oakland	94618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Natalie	Kelly	5546 22nd Ave S	Seattle	98108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stan	Smith	1190 High Chaparral Dr	Reno	89521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Staaf	6 Reliez	Lafayette	94549	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Perry	Belcher	11686 Plaza Drive	Clio	48420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Kiesling	819 greeley ave	Saint Louis	63119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Rowell	3716 Robin Lane	Valdosta	31605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Samuel	Carter	PO Box51027	Oxnard	93031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Starr	541 41st Street	Sacramento	95819	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Banks	152 Runner Rd. Savannah, GA	Savannah	31410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marianne	Carlin	p o box 942	Snohomish	98291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Davis	11410 Grovedale	WHITTIER	90604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JAmes	Goodman	7756 ravenna ave ne	Seattle	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bern	Cole	P O Box 630217	Rockville	84763	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cameron	Amedei	610 South Almond St.	Dixon	95620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephanie	Zappa	7211 Wild Currant Way	OAKLAND	94611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Zirbel	5325 dana drive, raleigh nc	Raleigh	27606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kermit	Voie	725welty ave	Beloit	53511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Carlisle RN	203 Aliso Dr. NE	ALBUQUERQUE	87108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Arnold	PO Box 1672	MANCHESTER	3105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leo	Ashton	3965 YOLO DR	San Jose	95136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raquel	Quintana	101 Belmont Lane	North Lauderdale	33068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Claire	Loe	2306 Brengare Dr	Decatur	30033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	E	85251	Scottsdale	85251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Aicone	2404 92nd CT SE	Olympia	98501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christine	Danner	2873 Oakwood Dr.	PORT HURON	48060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	May	502 S Oak Ridge Dr, Enterprise, AL	Enterprise	36330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Gates	33 E Graves apt 11	SPOKANE	99218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vanessa	Garcia	9859 PASEO MONTRIL	San Diego	92129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Krouse	14306 Detroit Ave	Lakewood	44107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dr. David L.	Smith	5625 Sandpiper Dr., Apt. 216	Stevens Point	54482	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Keller	5206 32nd ave.so.	Seattle	98118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Green	15565 se Fairpaks	Portland	97267	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	James	107 Robinwood Lane	TERRE HAUTE	47803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Heckler	800 Helendale Rd	Rochester	14609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nasim	Dari	1762 79st	Brooklyn	11214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Suzanne	Burkhart	512 Smokerise Blvd.	Longwood	32779	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Tansy	400 Hillsdalle Ave	Syracuse	13206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J LESLIE	CRAWFORD	2035 Tulip Street	San Diego	92105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stanley	Fenster	1215 Georgetowne Pl.	Sarasota	34232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Breece	7145 Mt. Juliet Drive	Davison	48423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	Kaplan	282 Parkway Dr	ATHENS	30606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Miss Crystal J	Boles	2608 N 41st Ave.	Phoenix	85009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kaylyn	Grimes	3505 west auburn rd	Rochester	48309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brad	Raughley	20 Sunset Rd	Winchester	1890	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M	OConnor	3551 Parsleys Mill Rd.	MECHANICSVILLE	23111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mariana	Salerno	1805 columbia st apt 305	San Diego	92101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sydney	Davis	1220 Senda Del Valle Unit A	Santa Fe	87507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tami	Phelps	1735 Barbara Rd.	Redding	96003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicole	Adair	18268 Cattail Court	Eden Prairie	55346	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tanya	Dedyo	2520 Westmont blvd	Columbus	43221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marianne	Lappin	4580 Nogal Canyon	Las Cruces	88011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Fisher	769 Fetters Mill Road	HUNTINGDON VALLEY	19006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
barbara	henninger	2211 channing way #4	Berkeley	94704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Holly	Quick	1117 Woodvale Dr.	NASHVILLE	37204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Mayfield	5178 Via Valarta	San Diego	92124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Neff	215 N Marion #5 Washington IA	Washington	52353	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vida	Hull	1315 Plantation Drive	Johnson City	37604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrea	Higgins	24212 4th PL W	Bothell	98021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Pono	57 Woodlawn Dr., FL	Palm Coast	32164	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Mcmullen	512 Williwms Road	SEVIERVILLE	37876	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joyce	Diggs	P.O. BOX 66	Bronx	10456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverley	Markowitz	POB 530753, Miami, FL	Miami	33153	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Sharmer	3467 E. Ashcroft Ave	Fresno	93726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joyce	Diggs	P.O. BOX 66	Bronx	10456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Summers	63 Ferndale Dr	HASTINGS ON HUDSON	10706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Derek	Sinutko	2750 Riverside Blvd	Sacramento	95818	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nathaniel	Ford	5160 Aaron Sosebee rd	Cumming	30040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sama	Blackwell	1035 Roxwood Ln	Boulder	80303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Phillips	70 S Winooski Ave, #197	Burlington	5401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	Hallett	67020NW 7th St	Miami	33126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Wilson	15106jenell	POWAY	92064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennie	Bunnell	15425 8th Ave SW #5	Seattle	98166	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathryn	Rose	6521 Chinaberry Trail	PLANO	75023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Logan	paul	4449 Murphy school road	DURHAM	27705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Moore	2332 South 20th Street 2nd floor	Philadelphia	19145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Appell	15 Wellington Court	BROOKLYN	11230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynda	Beigel	1230 Haight St	San Francisco	94117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Cole	42206 Villanova Drive Sterlng Hts, MI	Sterling Heights	48313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennie	Bunnell	15425 8th Ave SW #5	Seattle	98166	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Ryan	425 ENSIGN RD NE	Olympia	98506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aileen	Taylor	620 W. 7th. Ave. #208	Spokane	99204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nannette	Taylor	SE Borges Rd.	Damascus	97089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ingrid	Nishimoto	Ninole, HI	Ninole	96773	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Bivens	4850 Wyandott Trl	Indianapolis	46250	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tracey	Claybon	204 111th Ave NE #507	Bellevue	98004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Camilla	Bowman	1010 S State Road 39	Lebanon	46052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
asia	Philbin	612 s 6th ave	TUCSON	85701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia	Gilliard	7309 Sherwood Rd	Philadelphia	19151	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Skog	626 Orchard Dr		53712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C	Cook	2025 Russet Woods Trail	BIRMINGHAM	35244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jane	Webber	4041 grange hall #42	Holly	48442	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Powell	23701 Eli Lane	Gaithersburg	20882	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Cosmo	375 E 7th Ave	COLLEGEVILLE	19426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erin	Gibbemeyer	1896 Brookhaven Dr	Lima	45805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Higgins	3058 143rd Ave.	Dorr	49323	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Species	1922 9th Ave. # 401	SEATTLE	98101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Trela	414 Taylor Lane	Canyon	79015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ruth	Orlansky	13 Mountain St	Florence	1062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Taylor	Shipman	1606 Darrell Drive	MIDLOTHIAN	23114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alan	Arnold	580 Yardville Hamilton Square Road	Trenton	8691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Novak	2324 S Judy Ave	Fresno	93727	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Pieper	1405 El Tejon Way	Sacramento	95864	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nathaniel	Ford	5160 Aaron Sosebee rd	Cumming	30040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robin	Resin	44 Starkel Road, Apt. E	West Hartford	6117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Mansour	204 NW 54th Drive	OKLAHOMA CITY	73118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Toney	Blanks	4867 W. Mtn View Dr	San Diego	92116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Davis	PO Box 1145	Maple Valley	98038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Kirkman	24506 33rd Ave E	Spanaway	98387	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Waldbauer	1551 1/2 Northampton Street	Easton	18042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box, and REQUIRE Cable companies to comply.
Susan	Benton	9890 E Cactus Trl	Scottsdale	85255	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Keiser	131 W Seneca St	Manlius	13104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Rodabaugh	1158 Phoenix ave	SCHENECTADY	12308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shelley	Cox	16803 6th Ave W	Lynnwood	98037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ROBERT	ALTOM	112 NORTH MAPLE STREET HARTFORD,MICHIGAN	Hartford	49057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Walter	Georgescu	2317 Carquinez Ave	El Cerrito	94530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Zittnan	1225 Wesley Ave Apt 2	Berwyn	60402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Coen	218 Debby Dr.	Lafayette	70503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fredrica	Kanter	Isabella st	Riverside	92501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynne	Crandall	5632 Le Blanc Ave	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Cherry	863 Lion	Rochester	48307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gretchen	Bratvold	3444 Edmund Blvd.	Minneapolis	55406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Bigelow	18028 Belmont Circle Athens, AL	Athens	35613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Viebrock	st. croix falls wisconsin	Saint Croix Falls	54024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Moss	1823 223rd St.	Chicago Heights	60411	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michaela	Niermann	1990 S Delaware St	San Mateo	94403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eleanor	Karp	51 Morton St., NY, NY	New York	10014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

albert	fusco	267 Ridgeway Terrace	Philadelphia	19116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ogden	Mitchell	4815 Locust Street	Philadelphia	19139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Conley	CHARLOTTE	Charlotte	28209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Suzanne	Smith	122 Marion Ln	Douglasville	30134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Mcc	128 r s	Williamsburg	23185	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leona	Cox	625e.park Dr	Tonawanda	14150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Davis	POBox 134	Hot Sulphur Springs	80451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Wilhelm	123 Freeman Street # 3A	BROOKLINE	2446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glen	Ericksen	1516+HUNTINGTON+RD		60115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mario	Betanco	4845 Jetry Ave, Baldwin Park, CA 91706	Baldwin Park	91706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Newell	960 Happy Valley Circle	Newnan	30263	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Harper	3410 S. Halifax Way	Aurora	80013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Beth	Carr	8759 Morganville Rd.	STAFFORD	14143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
L	Welk	205 Skelton St	Lake Dallas	75065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
E Suzan	Matero	6588 Summerdalw Cr E	Ypsilanti	48197	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heather	Cooper	4512 b east deer lake rd.	Loon Lake	99148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edie	Bruce	1116 KING DR	EL CERRITO	94530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Graciela	Huth	8732 EL MANOR AVE	Los Angeles	90045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. FCC the cable comany is an intermediary that is not needed. It costs a fortune to buy cable and the few companies that monopolize the service give the worst service a customer can expect. We need more competition, lower prices and better service. How come that our government has helped these companies to create this mess? Our government is supported by the tax payer (read average American) and the actual tax payer is the worst represented by our government. FCC OPEN THE DOOR TO COMPETITION IN THE CABLE SERVICE! YOU MADE THE MESS BY ALLOWING OUR DEPENDEN
Martin	Stevenson	845 Norma Way	Santa Barbara	93111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dorothy	Bruce	9849 N Long Creek Dr	Tucson	85743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rio	Shayne	1230 NW 12th AVE	PORTLAND	97209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
k	de Vos	169-13 22 ave	WHITESTONE	11357	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Schermer	500 Mtn Lilac Dr	Sedona	86336	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Kardiak	244 E. 13th Street #4	New York	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Davis	Huntington Woods, MI	Huntington Woods	48070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	West	3943 S. Peninsula Dr., Port Orange, FL`=	Port Orange	32127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Thomas	7601 Hamilton Ave	Willowbrook	60527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christina	Valente	Hi Vu Dr	Standish	4084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Antonio	Rodriguez	3704 Timson Ct	Austin	78731	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Wells	15221 Hemlock Point Rd	Chagrin Falls	44022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
frank	morris	7894 N Fed Hwy	Boca Raton	33487	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Sullivan	6321 Reubens Dr.	Huntington Beach	92647	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marlene	Marseille	275 Sea Cliff Avenue	San Francisco	94121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Geoffrey	Greer	400 N Cuyler Ave	OAK PARK	60302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Talbot	129 NW 145th Street	Seattle	98177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Isaac	Reese	6620 Verde Ridge Rd	Rancho Palos Verdes	90275	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Gelfand	515 13 Street	Modesto	95354	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Claudia	Morgan	605 N E 165 apt. 302	Seattle	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Dominguez	2504 1/2 Eastlake Ave	Los Angeles	90031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Kietzke	3057 50th Ave, SW	Seattle	98116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Darlene	Byrd	13800 Hunt Road	ALLENTON	48002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rubenson	Michel		Miami	33162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ramon	Negrete	531 Parker Ave	Monrovia	91016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	philips	Norwich	Norwich	5055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ro	C	USA	Waco	76707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Yee	332 Beechwood Place, Leonia, New Jersey	Leonia	7605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karl	Baker	94-01 106 Street	Ozone Park	11416	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
H	Davis	6680 Ridgefield Circle #103	West Bloomfield	48322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Talbot	129 NW 145th Street	Seattle	98177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eileen	Thomas	1399 Pacicfic St, Redlands Ca	Redlands	92373	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tony	Samuel	211 Morning View Way	Leland	28451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Ingram	825 DORCAS ST APT 303	Omaha	68108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Lewis	116 Memorial Ln, Mt Laurel NJ	Mount Laurel	8054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Bobb	3734 mexico ave	WESTERVILLE	43081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beth	Mathewson	1896 Fruitvale Rd.	Newport	97365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Isaac	Reese	6620 Verde Ridge Rd	Rancho Palos Verdes	90275	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rudy	Arredondo	717 D Street, NW, Suite 400	Washington	20004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Tomlinson	501 4th Ave	Freedom	15042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffrey	Davis	1624 Cleveland SW	Wyoming	49509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Clement	11 Oregon Avenue	Palmyra	8065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Caroline	Savage	836 Foxcrest Court	Terre Haute	47803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Villandry	179 Fox Hill Rd	Burlington	1803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Mensching	159 Calle Querido San Marcos CA	San Marcos	92069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bonnie	Lomax	704 w.state st.	El Centro	92243	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Neil	Lewis	22 Bluestone Dr.	NASHUA	3060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Tanguay	10085 W Niagara St	EMPIRE	49630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norma	Martinez	830 's 8th ave	Tucson	85701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lenore	Swaim	Colorado Springs	Colorado Springs	80920	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adreana	Blakemore	5843 E 35 St	Tulsa	74135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Lach	2904 Markley Ave	Baltimore	21214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Siva	Dawn	6387 Mother Lode Drive	Placerville	95667	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stacy	Theriault	1765 N. SYCAMORE AVE	Los Angeles	90028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Murphy	808 se Salem St. Oak Grove, mo. 64075	Oak Grove	64075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Curtis	Jonaitis	2543 N Dunbar St.	Orange	92865	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Vonasch	12221 7th Ave NW, Seattle, WA	Seattle	98177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brent	McCoy	1521 S Adams Street	GLENDALE	91205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Billie	Roeder	85. Woodhaven	Odessa	79762	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adreana	Blakemore	5843 E 35 St	Tulsa	74135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Loar	211 Lewis Avenue	Monongahela	15063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Craig	Kowalski	1905 Red Robin Ct	LAS VEGAS	89134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robin	Karp	3225 Newell St	San Diego	92106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Loar	211 Lewis Avenue	Monongahela	15063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Farmer-Lanz	15515 Fiorenza Circle	Delray Beach	33446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brandon	High	1555 Coburg Rd	Eugene	97401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hersha	Evans	55 Griggs St	Christiansburg	24073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Billie	Roeder	85. Woodhaven	Odessa	79762	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Turrentine	7456 E 25TH ST	Tucson	85710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erin	Cormany	5355 E Iowa Ave	DENVER	80222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doug & Mary	Wylie	9692 W. 71st Ave., Arvada, CO	Arvada	80004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Renfro	5789 East 9th Ave, Denver CO	Denver	80220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sergio	Scardillo	Via Capolago 16		20133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Danielczyk	1075 Olive Dr. #61	DAVIS	95616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Fourney	519 Iowa Ave	Council Bluffs	51503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Spires	37 West 72nd St., New York, NY	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Heinz	1114 Harvest			American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I am soooo sick of the cable company games and fee. More over site is needed. Sincerely, Mary Heinz arlene	heitner	450 welleseley ave.	Mill Valley	94941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phillip	Zimelman	2730 W 33rd St	BROOKLYN	11224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Pierce	123 Tan Oak Drive	Portola Valley	94028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	S	Long beach	Long Beach	90802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynnie	Golon	3211 Floyd Hwy North	Floyd	24091	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Bermudez	106 Cedar Point Dr	West Islip	11795	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leiza	Duckworth/ Wafer Sr.	P.O.Box 975	Poway	92074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
maurice	patrick	903 jonathan st	Dothan	36301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dee	borseti	37 Herbert Ave	Merchantville	8109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Eden	7254 New Brooklyn Rd	Bainbridge Island	98110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary ann	Landers	2437 st rt 209	Kingston	12401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martin	Wiedmeyer	5420 Aegean Way	Las Vegas	89149	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chavorris	orr	5205 2nd St.	Orlando	32810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Eden	7254 New Brooklyn Rd	Bainbridge Island	98110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Martin	8059 Chester Arthur Rd	Enosburg Falls	5450	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Faust	2 Raymond Court, #21	Hudson	1749	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Nicholas	Hutton Pl	Charleston	29407	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn	Whiting	17 Chestnut Rd, Reading MA	READING	1867	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Tift	4080 Caney Creek Lane	Chapel Hill	37034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Erigero	1739 Louvaine Drive	DALY CITY	94015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffrey	Blevins	10054 Candlestick Lane	Concord TWP	44077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Blevins	10054 Candlestick Lane	Concord TWP	44077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Suzanne	pilzer	321 w 42 st 2-a	New York	10036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin	Kory	15340 SW Village Ln.	Beaverton	97007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Elson	840 B St Apt 2	ASHLAND	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Pittas	PO Box 1124	SOQUEL	95073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emory	Stevens	300 Promenade Blvd	Las Vegas	89107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pippa	Pearthree	510 Clinton Street	Brooklyn	11231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Caro	Anderson	306 Leatherwood Cir	MOUNTAIN HOME	72653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Keith	Schild	16240 SE 137th Pl. Renton, WA	Renton	98059	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Hostak	Boiling Springs Ave.	East Rutherford	7073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terri	Shannon	2706 vista dr.s.e.	HUNTSVILLE	35803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Niki	Learn	54 Seaman St.	NEW BRUNSWICK	8901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vidal	Salas	28367 Merridy Ave	Highland	92346	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Kirkpatrick	1980 nelson rd	SCOTTS VALLEY	95066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andre	Smith	1215 Dexter Ave N	Seattle	98109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Thomas	3701 W.Wyoming Ave.Apt.106	Tampa	33611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karma	Mccain	11473 moorpark st unit 4	North Hollywood	91602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Nugent	1103 ne Irene ct	Hillsboro	97124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Lopez	121 So. Hope St. #332, 332	Los Angeles	90012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theresa	Duperon-France	3011 S. Genesee Ave.	Los Angeles	90016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Audrey	Fairchild-Ehm	1837 Fernwood St	SAINT PAUL	55113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Robinson	957 67th Street, Apt A6	Brooklyn	11219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Reba	Benschoter	2528 So. 40th St. Omaha,Ne	Omaha	68105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Virginia	Richardson	1331 ALEXANDER CIRCLE	Summerville	29486	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dimitri	Kostopoulos	P O Box 46211	Kansas City	64134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Martin	371 Catskill Rd	Bybee	37713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carlotta	Tiniakoff	PO Box 1799	La Mirada	90637	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
elizabeth	path	25 elm ave	homer	13077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Wolniewicz	5225 N Riversedge Ter	Chicago	60630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Townsend	492 W Muskegon Ave	Muskegon	49440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Cook	16 Harrietstown RD	Saranac Lake	12983	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	O'Brien	13974 Sparren Ave	SAN DIEGO	92129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathryn	Richardson	PO Box 638	Eagar	85925	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Richardson	PO Box 638	Eagar	85925	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tricia	Straub	4604 Bonne Femme Church Rd.	Columbia	65201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Binney	1083 Seville Dr	Clarkston	30021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Salz	6 Welbourn Lane	Coram	11727	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Racine	1738 Estate Drive	EUGENE	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Binney	1083 Seville Dr	Clarkston	30021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ciri	Johnson	PO Box 87455	Tucson	85754	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sumit	Shah	9618 Abigail Dr.	SUGAR LAND	77498	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J. Chris	Kidney	3i77 Jordan Rd.	Oakland	94602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy	Chambless	4	Seattle	98116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
L	Kiselich	221 Country Dr.	Belle Vernon	15012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonathan	Davis	2174 Buse Street	Tupelo	38804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris Ellen	Montgomery	176 Park St	San Francisco	94110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lee	Wisdom	109 Madison Way	Downingtown	19335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Benjamin	Betz	732 Farnum Rd	Lititz	17543	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	McCall	16410 SE 5th St Apt F50	Vancouver	98684	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Mc Guire	50 Phelan Ave.	San Francisco	94112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Irma	Torkzadeh	1173 forum	Henderson	89052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dolores	Varga	31151 N Trail Dust Drive	San Tan Valley	85143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	Cox	2036 I Ave	Anacortes	98221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Dishman	914 Briarwood Crest, Nashville, Tn.	Nashville	37221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Tallman	5909 Canyon Pointe Ct	Albuquerque	87111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
derek	reiling	nope	Saint Paul	55125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

R	Carmichael	553 Preble St	SOUTH PORTLAND	4106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Zucker	11694 Pipit Ct	Wellington	33414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Shannon	400 N. Dewey St., Apt. 312	Saint Paul	55104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lorraine	G.	19 Dingee Road	SOUTH SALEM	10590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Zucker	11694 Pipit Ct	Wellington	33414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymund	Carey	8453 Herbison Ave	North Port	34287	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Petrie	6541 State Highway 56	Potsdam	13676	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Taj	Gillum	3160 n columbine ave	Boise	83713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Stauffer	270 Fawnwood Dr	TALLMADGE	44278	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alex	Mattson	2348 Sandy Prairie Road	Fortuna	95540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Zeller	273 McMillan	GROSSE POINTE	48236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	schoepe	Airport rf.	Punta Gorda	33950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frances	Onesti	4564 W 171st St	Lawndale	90260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ada	Khoury	p.o. box 646	Weaverville	28787	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Lirones	PO Box 1105	Corcoran	93212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeffrey	Imber	22441 Califa Street	Woodland Hills	91367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judi	Travis	14805 Quay Lane	DELRAY BEACH	33446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Malmros	134 Thimbleberry Rd	BALLSTON SPA	12020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laurel	Kornfeld	106 North Sixth Avenue	Highland Park	8904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Velda	Smith	25630 S Flametree Dr	Sun Lakes	85248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Myrna	Docherty	13961 Falcon Ave	Saint Paul	55124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	hAND	P O Box 45	Gerber	96035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tony	Raiber	442 North Van Buren Place	Hopkins	55343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Everett	Faircloth	138 Widgeon Way	Bridgeville	19933	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	Meyer	14645 Avalon Ave	Baton Rouge	70816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	McCall	10000 Pinecrest Road	PAINESVILLE	44077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Holbrook	403 mccarty rd	CLINTWOOD	24228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Max	Phillips	830 Satellite Drive	Lake Havasu City	86404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Stein	89 Vernon St	OAKLAND	94610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
keith	evans	183 west macarthur blvd	Oakland	94611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Okoro	1001 3rd St SW	Washington	20024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evelyn	Grimes	721 Nova Avenue	Capitol Heights	20743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christina	Cowan	9619 Pierrpont St.	Burke	22015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sallie	Robbins-Druian	25665 Mount Bache Road	Los Gatos	95033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Palmer	5209 Peabody St.	LONG BEACH	90808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Smith	Kingston	Kingston	12401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JP	Jarczyk	4258 N. Rillito Creek Pl	Tucson	85719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Decker	740 South Park Drive	SALISBURY	21804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Swartzell	19203 Benfield Ave.	Cerritos	90703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marian	Forschler	18115 116th Ave SE	Renton	98058	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
B	Shapiro	5807 Bellamah Ave NE	Albuquerque	87110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vic	DeAngelo	1731 Balboa Street	San Francisco	94121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melina	Vargas	22 Kilby St	Woburn	1801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	DeProspo	14718 Knoll Park Ct E	Bonney Lake	98391	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Walton	100 MASSANUTTEN MANOR CIR., APT. T41	STRASBURG	22657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Theresa	Avritt	4688 Belford Cir	Broomfield	80023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurey	Jaros	7781 S Vivaldi Ct	TUCSON	85747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Loucks	5754 Cullen Rd. Fenton Mi.	Fenton	48430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janine	Freedlund	1110 Crabtree	Mount Prospect	60056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cecily	Bornemann	7640 S. Power Rd Apt 2114	Gilbert	85297	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vince	Galbo	336 Countryside lane	Buffalo	14221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gabriel	Mihailescu	190 Arroyo Terrace Apt. 111	Pasadena	91103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	O'Brien	972 Allamanda Dr.	Delray Beach	33483	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ky	Parker	1730 NW RUDE ROAD	Poulsbo	98370	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cheryl	Snyder	54 Plain Street	ABINGTON	2351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jll	Haverland-Wilder	395 54th ST.	Astoria	97103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roberta	Lutsky	18747 Hatteras St. #8	Tarzana	91356	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Blanca	Jimenez	6120 S. Hooper Ave., #4	Los Angeles	90001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victor	Nepomnyashchy	North Hills, CA	North Hills	91343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Sieck	5877 river ridge	ROCHESTER	55906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jamie	Jamerson	5921 Marshall St	Oakland	94608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Loftus	3750 Tansel Rd	INDIANAPOLIS	46234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
shyama	orum	305 West 28 St. Apt 16E	New York	10001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rev. Sher-Lee	PullenWeinstein	822 Leona Ave	Columbus	43201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lora	Looman	61517 Maid Marian Ct.			American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Schrader	2397 Pleasant Valley Rd. NE	New Philadelphia	44663	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dee	Purti	P O Box 923	Tucson	85702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Cooper	190 Antone St	ATLANTA	30325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Foreman	1040 Spring Hill Dr.	Albany	31721	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Gonzalez	10446 Grail Ave.	Englewood	34224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Scaief	2204 Lopez Street	Bellingham	98229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Chandler	419 Bull Finch Bend	Fort Mill	29708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Nasuti	2200 Ben Franklin Pkwy. aptW1405a	Philadelphia	19130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gayle	Bidne	1755 Thury Court	SAINT PAUL	55110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Ploechl	P.O. box274	Linwood	48634	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andre	Holmes	2072 Paseo Primero	SANTA FE	87501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Pilholski	1 Nixon Road	Framingham	1701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mitch	Miller	3720 Pine Creek Lane SE	Lacey	98503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Maklos	26 Woodland St	Lake Ronkonkoma	11779	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Gardner Sr	9417 S May St	Chicago	60620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arianna	Workman	1125 Brioso ct.	Vista	92081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shirley	Echols	730 Franklin Rd SE	Marietta	30067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Caroline	Krewson	2844 Chelsea Drive	OAKLAND	94611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terrence	McNulty	17066 Brittany Pl.	STRONGSVILLE	44136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Leiter	1702 N 82nd Street	Seattle	98103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Schafer	PO Box 432	Beaverton	97075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Mullin	3410 N.Belt Line Rd Apt 1004 Irving,TX	Irving	75062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Reineke	810 Leonard Dr.	EAU CLAIRE	54703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Strauch	12380 York Street	Thornton	80241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gabriel	Morner	166 highland cross	RUTHERFORD	7070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jenette	D'Alessandro	15153	Whitestone	11357	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Spiros	Wallace	133 w.Groveland	Somers Point	8244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shawn	Bunn	P.O. Box 2283	Avila Beach	93424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Sparks	4555 South Jellison St., #C	Littleton	80123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Thompson	W13761 Blue Heron Lane	TIGERTON	54486	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Varga	304 Pinto Ln	Utica	13502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gabriel	Lì_pez	San Miguel		51	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcy	Cain	11409 Perch St	Hudson	34669	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Toro	7025 Marion Ln	Philadelphia	19119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Kurzweil	P.O. Box 290601	BROOKLYN	11229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Clifton	309 E 3rd Ave	LUCK	54853	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leon	Scott	5300 thornbury lane	Virginia Beach	23462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rich	Yurman	ross street, oakland	Oakland	94618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carla	Behrens	904 LITTLE LEAF CT	LONGMONT	80503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Noyes	5820 Ayala Ave	Oakland	94609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

A.	Zamudio	PO Box 544	Saint John	46373	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Raus	466 Bernice Ln.	Sonoma	95476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Guevara	P.O. Box 752	Arizona City	85123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Renetta	Hirrel	719 G St.	Ramona	92065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Brooks	PO Box 2830	Lompoc	93438	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Hutcheson	1080 Manor Lake Dr	Naples	34110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Lubell	229 Malden Ave	Palenville	12463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ferdinand	Meyer	6516 Arvington Way	ANTIOCH	37013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marsha	Malone	13228 Roswell Ave	Chino	91710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. At the moment I have three (3) Standard Definition Boxes from Verizon even though I do have one High definition TV. You see, the SDB's are free with Verizon. The High Definition Boxes are $10.00 each per month. That would be $360 a year if I upgraded my two other TV's and upgraded the cable boxes. I won't pay it! I planned to switch providers in October. But, when I talked to Time Warner Cable, they told me that all their cable boxes were High Definition and all those boxes were $10.00 each per month. To repeat, I won't pay it! There is no reason consum
Emma	Hyde	1128 wedge hill Rd	McKinney	75070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leslie	Dee	14725 Natchez Ave	SAVAGE	55378	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shawn	Borton	5105 Promised Land Dr., McKinney, TX	McKinney	75071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	Damiri	337 Hardwicke Dr	Knoxville	37923	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Otis	Culpepper	3124 Mill Creek Rd	Newport	28570	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M	McCarthy	1 Dontgiveitout	Fort Collins	80525	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Grant	Rich	697 30th Street	Oakland	94609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ferdinand	Meyer	6516 Arvington Way	ANTIOCH	37013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Ream	1026 11th Street N.	SAINT PETERSBURG	33705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Warren	Land	3600 De Loach St	Pensacola	32514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randi	Eckstein	San Jose, CA	San Jose	95125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Zanello	919 2nd Ave W	Seattle	98119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Forfang	10725 Cavell Road	Minneapolis	55438	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Peterson	2239 N Lema Dr.	Mesa	85215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bunk	Orion	1418 Sawyerwood Ave	Orlando	32809	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Soule	7324 West Shore Drive, Edina, MN	Minneapolis	55435	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nubia	Deleon	2936 Mossdale Drive	Antioch	37013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Ward	140 Bleecker st	Gloversville	12078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jordan	Shapiro	42 S Elm St, Haverhill MA	Haverhill	1835	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Diyorio	11516 Wimbley Ct Cerritos , CA	Cerritos	90703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
F	Riedel	HC 60 Box 335-R	Copper Center	99573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Croix	6510 Pebble Beach Dr.	Houston	77069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra	Harpole	6222 Gibison Rd.	Troy	63379	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lanny	Rudner	615 Hampton Dr A307	Venice	90291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Massey	607 Degraw St.	Brooklyn	11217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chum	B	Upper Canduman	Tulsa	74132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clayton	Jones	Tukwila, WA	Seattle	98168	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Abuzzahab	2601 E Lake of Isles Pkwy	Minneapolis	55408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Walker	1254 Martinique Lane	San Mateo	94404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Szymoniak	930 High Ridge Dr.	Schererville	46375	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Monica	Gilman	25525 S Laura Ln	Estacada	97023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

peter	kaminski	24 cooper dr	Glastonbury	6033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pedro	santos	Horsham road	Hatboro	19040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Earl	Smith	2883 Meadow Lake Court/Buford, GA	Buford	30519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terry	Brasher	233 Owen Avenue	Bessemer	35020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	Bildersee	P.O. Box 2391	Jenkintown	19046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Sajdak	1624 Clarence	Berwyn	60402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Valorie	Maes	463 Larrys Meadow Dr	Grand Junction	81504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Monica	Gilman	25525 S Laura Ln	Estacada	97023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russell	Schachterle	9999 E Yale Ave, D214	Denver	80231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martin	Diedrich	281 Magnolia St.	COSTA MESA	92627	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
O.	Ruiz	Normandy Road	CLIFTON	7013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julia	McLellan	1422 Short St.	New Orleans	70118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

peter	kaminski	24 cooper dr	Glastonbury	6033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patty	Teubner	8706 NE 144th Ct, Kirkland,WA	Kirkland	98034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lori	Unick	3660W. Calla Rd.	Canfield	44406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tony	Morales	3700 Kingwood Drive	Kingwood	77339	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dolores	Sloan	1813 9th Street #1	SANTA MONICA	90404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paris	Asta	P.O. Box 871 Ojai, CA	Ojai	93024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Don	Reinhold	17 Duffy St.	MANISTEE	49660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evan	McDermit	608 Golden Ave.	FULLERTON	92832	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Holmes	Private	Ann Arbor	48104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy	Tappen	517 166th ave ne	BELLEVUE	98008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Harney	939 Harrogate Ct	Cincinnati	45240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Yeakley	1042 Hymettus Ave	Encinitas	92024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher	Johnson	84 Manner Ave	Garfield	7026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Higgins	718 Beaumont Ave	Erie	16505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Burkhart	601 Aztec Court	Fremont	94539	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Korinne	Livelsberger	196 princess st	Hanover	17331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frances	Rosera	3660 North 39th Street	Boise	83703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Ratner	3916 N Potsdam Ave #3769	Sioux Falls	57104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laurie	Davis	1941 Mentor Rd. #3	Louisville	37777	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eipporah	Stowe	N/A	New Rochelle	10801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erin	Stuart-Jennings	26 Edinburgh Street San Francisco CA	San Francisco	94112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anna	Steele	Tucson, AZ	Tucson	85730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Greider	100 Mathews Drive. #40	Hilton Head Island	29926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Borter	121 FCR	Fairfield	75840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Thelen	230 E 88 St, 1E	New York	10128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Boyce	4787 80th St N	Saint Petersburg	33709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Story	4619 SE 44th Ave	Portland	97206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Brewer	6710 Dawson rd	Greenwood	72936	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Marciniak	1153 Deforesr ave	Schenectady	12303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Fermanich	9081 Clayton street	DENVER	80229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Proper	11777 N. La Tanya Dr.	Tucson	85737	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Eisnaugle	2714 Orchard Circle	North Port	34288	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Skalsky	21 Pleasantview	Athens	45701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marci	Levine	2120 Ridgemont drive	Los Angeles	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
allen & juanita	ward	4114 W Everett	Spokane	99205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Ainsworth	8998 Dalby Cove	San Diego	92126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Myers	P.O. Box 346	Rosendale	12472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Ginett	13133 lime ave Grand island Florida	Grand Island	32735	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	von Zangenberg	1203 Viking Drive	Holiday	34691	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	Ige	493 Doral Court	Brentwood	94513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Eisnaugle	2714 Orchard Circle	North Port	34288	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maria	Fontello	433 Flournoy Lucas Rd Lot 2	Shreveport	71106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ian	Campbell	5626 Kathleen Crt Santa Rosa	Santa Rosa	95409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Prillaman	3229 Cleveland Street	Hollywood	33021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teri	Endrich	2105 L St Unit A	ANTIOCH	94509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pat	Duncan	1080 Carnival AVe. NW	LOS LUNAS	87031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Strack	2927 Sun Cove Drive	KISSIMMEE	34746	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
es	warwick	182 wakti	Saluda	28773	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	English	1335 Cricket Drive	Wedgefield	29168	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christina	Michaud	15859 E Jamison Dr	Englewood	80112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Berry	3617 Plummer Rd SE	Olympia	98501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Schymanski	2800 E. Shaffer Rd.	MIDLAND	48642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Burgert	516 Walters Dr	WAKE FOREST	27587	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Donin	PO Box 80653	Portland	97280	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Christian	10767 Woodbine St	LOS ANGELES	90034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kurt	M	197 Arlington St	Acton	1720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
elizabeth	path	25 elm ave	homer	13077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maxine	Wilverding	1523 Abbottsford	Naperville	60563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Ortega	419 s 8th ave	Brighton	80601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Schneider	701 SW 29th Street	Blue Springs	64015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Holt-Carden	1167 NW Wallula Gresham or	Gresham	97030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Ruben	158-18 Riverside Dr. W. 7C	NEW YORK	10032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Buckingham	1918 Champlain	Ottawa	61350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Christian	10767 Woodbine St	LOS ANGELES	90034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	Garcia	1622 E Yesler Way	Seattle	98122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joann	Fechner	4323 SW Twombly Avenue	Portland	97239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Semanske	8930 Alkona Rd	Clinton	49236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Pipich	212 Rush Valley Rd.	Monroeville	15146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marie	Diaz	103 Sequoia Lane	Milford	18337	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

N	Burrows	608 N Klevin	Anchorage	99508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cary	Altschuler	27507 Label Ave	Canyon Country	91351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lauree	Laurance	721 N Main St. Apt. 8	Ashland	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

R	H	1527 S Citrus Ave	Escondido	92027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linnea	Danna	3536 Medlock dr	Phoenix	85018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Redsecker	1746 Ashburn Drive	NORTH LAS VEGAS	89032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	McLain	4655 Pennsylvania St.	Longview	98632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Hierholzer	1320 Lake Ave.	Grand Haven	49417	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tiffany	Howard	102 Vieux Orleans CL Apt A	Lafayette	70508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Bloom	100 Heidi Drive Selinsgrove , Pa.	Selinsgrove	17870	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lauren	kennedy	kennedy	Hamilton	45013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynne	Teplin	846 Palmer Road #1A	Bronxville	10708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Annonomous	Chenoweth	154 Huges Rd (Eastridge Senior Apartments)	Grass Valley	95945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Maslana	7748 Creekside Drive	PLEASANTON	94588	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jasmine	Marie	6182 Oneida Dr.	SAN JOSE	95123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jenise	Turner	713 South Douglas	Lyons	67554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Ganley	Gorman Avenue	Laurel	20707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edmund	Weston	901 Prescott Lane	Springfield	97477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Brophy	918 Emery Street	Longmont	80501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Gerlach	1515 Sycamore Drive	Murfreesboro	37128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Ranger	967 Huron St E London Ont.		N5Y-4K5	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Samuel	Waits	1356 Douglas St. Apt. 14	Los Angeles	90026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J.L.T.	Williams	P O Box 89	Huntington Beach	92648	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurie	Sandretto	119 Bywater Drive	Getzville	14068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lewis	Okun	321 S. Main St., #204 Ann Arbor, MI	Ann Arbor	48104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Indeed, there needs to be more competition in cable communications and in terms of internet service platforms as well. This is a place where the free market should be given more power to make the service more competitive and economical.
John	Buggy	1070 grandview dr	Clementon	8021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Crotwell	3556 S Mission Rd	Tucson	85713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Clark	19510 Tomlee Avenue	TORRANCE	90503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Morgan	Shelhorse	800 w. beltline rd	Cedar Hill	75104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	Veraldi	21 lapidge	SAN FRANCISCO	94110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Kline	5 Mountain Drive	Selinsgrove	17870	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aimee	Morein	1014 Magnolia Ave.	Long Beach	90813	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Oliver	35 santa barbara dr	Hampton	23666	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Geti	Domenick	4240 Creek Bed Court	Las Vegas	89129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Dadgari	PO Box 492205	Los Angeles	90049	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Prater	518 W. Church St.	Mason	45040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ellice	Pinn	68 EAST HARTSDALE AVE APT	Hartsdale	10530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brandon	Snow	2841 Butterfly Drive	HAILEY	83333	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henry	Jackson	9581 Stonington Circle	Huntington Beach	92646	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Connie	Haynes	751 W 4th St.#11	NEDERLAND	80466	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nathan	Klein	614 Chestnut	Anaconda	59711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Donch	45 May Street #6A	New Rochelle	10801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Justin	Malick	3609 Sequoia Drive	EAST STROUDSBURG	18302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosemary	delPino	1001 Collins Ave	Baden	15005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	Tavernier	552 E. Fellows Dr.	Orange	92865	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

P J	September	45Lyons Pl	Westwood	7675	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jens	Burkhart	9515 Abbeywood Rd.	Santee	92071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellice	Pinn	68 EAST HARTSDALE AVE APT	Hartsdale	10530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. CABLE SERVICES WERE AT 35.OO AND ONCE MY INTRODUCTORY OFFERS IIS OVER IT WILL BE CLOSE TO 120 FOR INTERNET ACESS AND PHONE ACCESS AND OF COURSE THE EXPENSIVE CABLE BOX..WHAT A RIP OFF OF THE PUBLIC ..NOTHING ELSE HAS QUDDROPOLED SO MUCH IN TEN YEARS SINCE I STARTED WITH CABLE AND NO TV AS A WASTELAND FED UP

David	McKinney	6 cottage st	Fairhaven	2719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Healy	P.O. Box 8454	Green Valley Lake	92341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Camp	1745 e. 103rd apt 2	Los Angeles	90002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Libbey	PMB 1027 1122 E Pike St	Seattle	98122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Bruer	2764 Painted Cave Road	Santa Barbara	93105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Stibolt	3816 NE Glisan St.	Portland	97232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	Bruer	2764 Painted Cave Road	Santa Barbara	93105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Eeisenstein	752 Javelin Way Bear De	BEAR	19701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tobin	McCracken	2860 Shadowpoint Cove	ROUND ROCK	78665	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Quinn	5322 41st Street nW	Washington	20015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jo & Ogden	Hamilton	738 Point San Pedro Rd	San Rafael	94901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Guadalupe	Yanez	12484 Robert Dahl Dr.	EL PASO	79938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sara	Loeppert	1317 Rand Drive	Raleigh	27608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Ashley	778 Colorado Ave	PALO ALTO	94303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ramona	McNally	8534WGroversAve	Peoria	85382	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Fry	807 San Ramon Ave., Sunnyvale, CA	SUNNYVALE	94085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Capshaw	353 NW 5th St	Newport	97365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Kline	2525 Radcliffe Ave	Abington	19001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary Jo	Parys	4537 B St	Omaha	68106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evan	Oakley	545 17 ST	Brooklyn	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
david	delgado	13039 12th St.	Chino	91710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harold	Lyons	3210 Daytona Dr.	Punta Gorda	33983	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angela	Maeda	7616 116th Ave NE	KIRKLAND	98033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Martin	Siever Drive	Canton	48188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bradley	Elsken	2706 WEST EASY STREET	ROGERS	72756	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peggy	Salas	14299 49th Street	Grand Junction	49056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Temke	3318 McNair Dr N	Minneapolis	55422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Carrillo	907C Adams St.	ALBANY	94706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Ekpenyong	9783 Goodluck Road	Lanham	20706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Govero	31Cece Circle	Tecumseh	65760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Hotaling	526 Mercer St	ALBANY	12208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cecilia	McLaren	2 Canfield Ave. White plains, ny	White Plains	10601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	Bartlett	6907 Buffalo Rd.	HARBORCREEK	16421	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Atkinson	12728 Greenwood Ave N. Seattle WA	Seattle	98133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Puertas	12900 Samuel Prescott St	San Antonio	78233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maradel	Gale	239 Parfitt Way SW, #2A	Bainbridge Island	98110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kerry	Klutka	2505 Alamosa Drive	Santa Fe	87505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	McCauley	917 Teegan St	Normal	61761	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacqueline	Davis	Davis	ELLENSBURG	98926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bob	Pianka	312 Brandywine Dr	Valrico	33594	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Hansen	54770 Pumpkin Dr.	Ferryville	54628	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theodore	Gorney	5572 Brookdale Dr.N. Brooklyn Park ,MN.	Minneapolis	55443	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marsha	McCroden	5051 W. 220th Street, Cleveland, OH	Cleveland	44126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Hansen	54770 Pumpkin Dr.	Ferryville	54628	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Schilke	14 W 76th St	NEW YORK	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alexandra	Milhous	3840 Colorado ave#b	Boulder	80303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Levine	1819 E. Republican St., #311, Seattle, WA	SEATTLE	98112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Whitney	15 eastridge circle pacifica	Pacifica	94044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

L	bowman	1632 e. everett	Spokane	99207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terrilynn	Johannessen	2180 W. Aspen Wood Loop	Lehi	84043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kris	Head	10411 Garden Grove Blvd.	Garden Grove	92843	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Holly	Potthoff	306 N. Country Club Dr.	Oxford	27565	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Downey	5120 se Boardman Ave	Milwaukie	97267	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rizwana	Ashraf	5734 White Clover Dr.	Richmond	77469	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Buch	6221 35 ave	Seattle	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Schmautz	16190 Highland drive	FLORENCE	59833	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
a	lai	2227 yorba	San Francisco	94116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robyn	Beugger	999 Millicant Cir	PORT ORANGE	32127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Orchard	286 Lenox Ave.	Oakland	94610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Downey	5120 se Boardman Ave	Milwaukie	97267	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carey	Durgin	8116 14th Ave. SW	Seattle	98106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Lay	473 E. 3rd. St.	GALESBURG	61401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
winifred	hopkins	1137 west fern dr, fullerton,ca	Fullerton	92833	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Todd	Campbell	304 Smith Hill Road	Binghamton	13905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	LaPlace	3425 Westervelt Avenue	BATON ROUGE	70820	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Reid	993 Brenna Hills Pl	Escondido	92025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jason	Husby	3531	Minneapolis	55412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank A.	Morgan	6319 Mallard Street	San Diego	92114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Justin	McCullough	Utah St.	SAN DIEGO	92104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Chamberlin	1011 Newcastle Ave	Klamath Falls	97601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Thielen	3800 West Wilson, #125	Banning	92220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jaylen	Schmitt	2407 NE Mason	PORTLAND	97211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Boyd	201 Wright St 3-208	Denver	80228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Quick	315 N. 5th. Street	Bloomfield	87413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don	Holden	17113 E MissionAve	Greenacres	99016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Ghormley	12501 NE 12th St	Vancouver	98684	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Berger	18209 Gertrude Street	OMAHA	68136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Cook	282 La Casa Ave.	SAN MATEO	94403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dave	Fronske	923 N. San Francisco Street	Flagstaff	86001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Comeau	calderon Rd.	Woodland Hills	91364	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maria	Nye	629 S Anthony St	Anaheim	92804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sally	Cloud	2241 Stacy Dr	Denver	80221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Ring	802 N 23rd Ave	Kelso	98626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
s	endrom	415 mcclean ave	Staten Island	10305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Paltin	PO Box 18	LAYTONVILLE	95454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Justin	Pauls	3230 Park Avenue	South Plainfield	7080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Terry	240 Natoma Station Drive	Folsom	95630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roy	Nelson	4264 Dunn dr	Warren	48092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherry	Hill	1131 Bergmann Dr	Stillwater	55082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ali	Kelly	240 Frenchys Cove Apt 45	Camarillo	93012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Diyorio	11516 Wimbley Ct Cerritos , CA	Cerritos	90703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
charles	latham	2 grasshopper road	Cerrillos	87010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Mauller	406 n market	Liberty	47353	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dirk	Beving	3334 Meier St.	Los Angeles	90066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C	S	saratoga	San Diego	92107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ross	Sorenson	5401 Morella Ave. Unit #5	Valley Village	91607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynn	Hailey	Hayes Ave	Helena	59601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Hathaway	1488 NE Olvera Ct.	GRESHAM	97030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lorene	Johnson	5040 S Michigan Avenue	Chicago	60615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jenny	Boettiger	12660 NE 10th PL #C4	BELLEVUE	98005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phyllis	Baldessari	8 Saunders Lane	Pinehurst	28374	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Kralicky	28 Oakside St	Warwick	2889	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martin	Marcus	5015 Greenbrier	San Diego	92120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Schwager	1149 Edgemound Dr.	Santa Barbara	93105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bernard	Berger	73-4574 Mamalahoa Highway	Kailua Kona	96740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alice	Rybak	537 oakland ct	Aurora	80010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allan	Worthing	1058 Montview Rd	FORT COLLINS	80521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deb	Bear	6443 Nootka Lane	Anacortes	98221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Kay	14930 SE Center St	PORTLAND	97236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Wassilak	6440 Vermont Avenue	SAINT LOUIS	63111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Dunlop	422 S Los Robles	Pasadena	91101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lorie	Long	7 Denver Pl	SAINT LOUIS	63119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Tei	1408 A Street KPN	Lakebay	98349	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brandon	Head	6810 Brookridge trails	Lakeland	33810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. This would create a bigger and better market for cable and not make cable providers look so greedy. This is a good reason why I don't get cable Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Rippetoe	71443 San Gorgonio	RANCHO MIRAGE	92270	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melinda	Seeley	21245 SW Lenore Court		97003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bryan	Baird	P.O. BOX 1287, Sugarloaf, CA	Sugarloaf	92386	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Johnny	Bao	1660 BERKELEY ST.	SANTA MONICA	90404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kent	Wright	Wright	Waterloo	50702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Bryan	43 Hayley Hill Drive	CARMEL	10512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Serxner	2611 E 13 St, 5E	Brooklyn	11235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Byron	Kilbourne	125 marina view rockford mn	Rockford	55373	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	McClellan	812 Lindsley Court	Burlington	8016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cristina	Amarillas	1066 King Street	Santa Rosa	95404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leigh	Steele	3409 N Co Rd 475 E	Centerpoint	47840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Perkins	PO Box 129	GARDNER	81040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanne	Bergstedt	Minneapolis, MN	Minneapolis	55416	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Kieta	29944 Mayflower Drive	Sun City	92587	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Lynn	112 Salt Creek Rd	Savannah	31405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leonor	Solis	976 Leggett Avenue	Bronx	10455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Koester	Seattle, WA	Seattle	98168	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Beckman	w road	Greenwood Lake	10925	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erik	Wohlgemuth	1817 NW Aspen Avenue	Portland	97210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gretchen	Bracher	2011 West Hills Rd	Philomath	97370	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanie	Ciardelli	29 Narrangasett Cove	SAN RAFAEL	94901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sande	Stoneman	191 Frederick st	San Francisco	94117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tiffany	Ramos-Aved	7048 W Harcuvar Dr	Tucson	85743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debbie	Sparks	657 Fairlawn Drive	Gretna	70056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Petty	11 Woodpark Circle	Lexington	2421	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Kudzin	2229 N Parkside	Chicago	60639	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Casey	Barton	323 W 1250 N	CENTERVILLE	84014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Warren	Miller	216 Arrow Drive	Signal Mountain	37377	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
patricia	mason	80B Scotland Rd;P O Box 32	Winchester	3470	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Surbrook	3809 Saint Philip Dr	Memphis	38133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Forsythe	2080 Benton St	Santa Clara	95050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Ottina	3900 Woodcliff Roadd	Sherman Oaks	91403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Maxwell	378 Iden Glen	Escondido	92025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Stewart	115 Magnolia	Jersey City	7306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Avaneesh SHYAM	Shetty	Whitehouse	Washington	20500	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randall	Carey	Po Box 694	Walden	12586	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brett	Dennison	12622 Haster St	Garden Grove	92840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anu	Garg	17315 146th PL NE	Woodinville	98072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Sanders	16909 Jamaica Ave.	Jamaica	11432	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Natasha	Mendoza	7259 174th Street	Tinley Park	60477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doreen	McCammon	13440 Quaker Hill Crossroad	NEVADA CITY	95959	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Salkin	68433 San Jacinto Road	CATHEDRAL CITY	92234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Delbert	Russell	5082 Rutherford Rd	Powell	43065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Howerton	9855 N. Heavenly Sky Dr.	Oro Valley	85737	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	Jones	4145 N. Durango Drive	Las Vegas	89129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steven	Kranowski	816 Montgomery St.	BLACKSBURG	24060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yolanda	Alexander	1749 36th St SW	Wyoming	49519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Giles	P.O. Box 640	QUILCENE	98376	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

E Carole	Barrett	583 NE 628 St	Old Town	32680	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Cole	14 Mountain Shadows Ct	Castle Rock	80104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Kreft	1906 Ashland Ave	St. Paul	55104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Wolf	413 Halifax Bay Ct	Apollo Beach	33572	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Steel	4046 Constantine Loop	Wesley Chapel	33543	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Lee	5533 37th Ave SE	LACEY	98503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jordan	McEldowney	1561 E Prince Road	Tucson	85719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Minthorn	105 West Pine St.	Smithville	64089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Head	3257 KingsDale Dr Sw	Atlanta	30311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patti	Herring	7048 Blue Creek Road	EVERGREEN	80439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stuart	Ambler	P.O. Box 1314	Longmont	80502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	David	215 West 92nd Street Apt. 15E	NEW YORK	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chad	Smith	3801 Granger Dr	Salt Lake City	84119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Redd	100 Audubon Drive	Maumelle	72113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vicki	Sullivan	2860 Sunnyview Ln	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	McDougall	400 E. 77th Street - Apt - 7G, New York, NY	New York	10075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aniko	Kun	P.O.BOX 88734	Los Angeles	90009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
larry	mahlis	9611 12	Seattle	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Douglas	Clough	1687 hamilton	Urbana	61802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gay	Kramer-Dodd	372 Lodenquai Ln., Eugene OR	Eugene	97404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Tait	119 summer st	Shorewood	60404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Noah	Smith-Rowe	5135 N Newark St	Portland	97203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Stauter	1154 Lincoln Dr	MOUNTAIN VIEW	94040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brendan	Schultz	18 Stone Cliff Dr	Niantic	6357	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pontus	Johnsen	HåÕ_genvåÕ_gen		42830	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Megan	Scott	717 Pecan Dr	Mesquite	75149	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Lucier	665 W Vekol Ct	CASA GRANDE	85122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ellen M	Kincaid	2018 Holman Street	St. Joseph	64501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Hampton	Glasgow KY	Glasgow	42141	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Barr	364 Jefferson Ave.	Sharon	16146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Jackson	266 Aurora Ave	Atlanta	30314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Murray	5610 South Troy Street	Chicago	60629	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lars	Jefferson	3320 Jackson Street SE	ALBANY	97322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jan	MacWilliams	2007 NE 65th Ave	PORTLAND	97213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Vita	450 Osgood Ave Apt 1 New Britain, CT	New Britain	6053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tony	Romero	400 W. 43rd St.	NEW YORK	10036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hank	Bromley	1107 E Duffy St	Savannah	31404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Al	Knickerbocker	2421 Michele Jean Way, Santa Clara, Ca	Santa Clara	95050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Cook	1286 40th St	Sarasota	34234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lala	Khanian	7638 W. Hampton Ave., #10	West Hollywood	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Nelson Colton	1758 S Crescent Heights Blvd	Los Angeles	90035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Chase	1779 31st Avenue San Francisco, ca. 94122	San Francisco	94122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Cope	211 Bridge St.	Collegeville	19426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Peterson	667 thorn st	Imperial Beach	91932	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kirk	Taylor	12525 morris rd	Yelm	98597	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Do we still have anti-trust laws, or were these also fed the lethe of forgetfulness of the phone giants?

Jay	Cox	620 Nello Dr	Campbell	95008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Weingart	1888 Jewett Rd.	Powell	43065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies should not be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Glover	7292 Maxwelton Rd, Clinton, WA	CLINTON	98236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elsa	c	123	Redding	96003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juan	Hernandez	325 Andrea Pl	El Paso	79915	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Antoun	1800 WAVERLEY ST, PALO ALTO, CA	Palo Alto	94301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Tae	1328 Havenwood Dr	San Jose	95132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Holly Windsong	Greenwood	3703 F Street	Sacramento	95816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jimmy	Brown	309 Tacoma ave. apt.2	TACOMA	98403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Saint	724 Whispering Oaks Circle	Longwood	32750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Bush	208 Central Street	Concord	1742	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
joseph	patsch	9930 bridle road	Philadelphia	19115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lois	Jennings	87 Atlantic Avenue	Groton	6340	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Roberts	2143 Berryhill st. Hbg., Pa	Harrisburg	17104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kendra	Hunter	635 Awalau Road	HAIKU	96708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Starr	3708 Sky Ridge Lane	Fort Collins	80526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glen	Weissman	5711 Flint Street	Fort Mohave	86426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Schmonsees	21164 W Sunrise Ln, Buckeye, AZ 85396	Buckeye	85396	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Ortiz	25 H Lane	NOVATO	94945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jodi	Beers	11 Sunset Pl	Tijeras	87059	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Palladine	471 E Tahquitz Canyon Way	PALM SPRINGS	92262	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Orne	Montgomery	6220 Spanish Moss Ave.	Las Vegas	89108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Perkins	525 west 58th street	LOS ANGELES	90037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	DiMatteo	236 Kalmia St., #107	San Diego	92101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laurie	Brooks	1415 Lazy Ln	SAN MARCOS	78666	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	gomes	51 Grosvenor Ave	EAST PROVIDENCE	2914	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Kiplinger	18004 SE 20th Circle	Vancouver	98683	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paolo	Zambon	Corridoni 13	Cordele	31010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Al	Whitney	3212 danforth		m1L 1C1	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherrill	Gary	138 spear rd.	Fayetteville	30215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marie	Christina	632 Warburton Avenue, 3E	Yonkers	10701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Hoffman	Ninth	Fresno	93710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Belvin	3563 frawood drive	Uniontown	44685	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ellen	Osborne	6 branding iron ln	Palos Verdes Peninsula	90274	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert & Isabella	Trebes	436 Soothing Meadows Drive, NE	Rio Rancho	87144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessica	Wardlaw	8263 grange blvd	Saint Paul	55130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tina	Fogg	PO Box 19481	Portland	97280	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Dodson	2205 Auburn St	ROCKFORD	61103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
arcedo	agcongay	6520 BROADRICK PLACE-	San Diego	92139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Timothy	Gentle	58 Rue De Chatenois,	Selestat	67600	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Layfield	2722 Connecticut Ave. NW, Apt. 40	Washington	20008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Rosas	4353 Edwards Ln	CASTRO VALLEY	94546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Wilczynski	4 academy st concord nh	Concord	3301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ana	Matei	Pancota Street No 3		22771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Gibberman	9209 Kester Ave., Panorama City, CA	Panorama City	91402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ilya	Balabin	1333 Autumn Day Drive	Morrisville	27560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Yoshida	570 Amsterdam Ave	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Solomon	P.O. Box 2195	Palm Desert	92261	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Congress is full of evil, selfish, money grubbing, examples of human beings but, I do agree that cable companies like Congress should not have the upper hand.

Jill	Friedman	PO Box 427	Hanapepe	96716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nerin	Gonzalez	2575 Market Street	San Diego	92102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	N	111 aaa	Agawam	1001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Greg	Steinke	445 SW Spindrift	Depoe Bay	97341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christian	Chever	7174 Lookout Ct	Hamilton	45011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sonia	Alvarez-Oppus	1281 San Juan Ave	SAN JOSE	95110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

C	Eng	54-29 253 St Little Neck NY	Little Neck	11362	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcel	Truwiar	Haiku, HI	Haiku	96708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Skalski	501 E Floribraska Ave	Tampa	33603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicholas	Brown	Boston		20000	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jan	Thomas	3105 Pleasant St., W. Des Moines	West Des Moines	50266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristin	Gallanosa	504 River oak drive	Danville	24541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Biehl	3871 Chippewa Court	SAN DIEGO	92117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I am tired of governmental agencies like the FCC supporting big corporations greed rather than supporting the American people. Enough already!
Ophelia	Dixon	7912 Newmeyer Street	Pittsburgh	15218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Hines	5825 74th Ave. N. #711	Minneapolis	55443	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Evette	Andersen	10230 Ridgeview Dr.	Grass Valley	95945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erik	LaRue	17567 Maiben Rd.	BURLINGTON	98233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carla	deHaas	1614 Oregon St	Berkeley	94703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Derick	Dong	13700 Avon Allen Rd	Mount Vernon	98273	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jennifer	maurizzio	6016 St Rt 97	Narrowsburg	12764	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shannon	Romer	2557 9th Ave W	Seattle	98119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Boguske	11808 93 Ln NE	Kirkland	98034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
earl	murdock	40352 Relish Ave	Santa Monica	90405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Markham	111 N Highland Ave	Princeton	42445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Fowler	500 West First St Alturas, CA	Alturas	96101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jenni	burke	43 W 69	New York	10023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allison	Blythe	1431 NE Shaver #6	Portland	97212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Martin	11200 Camino Aurelia, Vail, AZ	Vail	85641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Delaney	3021 Fish Ave	Bronx	10469	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Toni	O	38907	Canyon Country	91387	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Ibarra	1320 22nd St NW	Roanoke	24017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Trindle	656 Wild Ridge Circle	Lafayette	80026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
a	h	po box 26	WOODACRE	94973	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emily	Langley	12924 Ironstone Way #104	Parker	80134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ahmed	Sandhu	77 Hudson Street, Apt 2312, Jersey City, NJ	Jersey City	7302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Poland	1411 Onyx Drive	Palmdale	93550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Lambaren	1472 Monterey Pass Road #129	Monterey Park	91754	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Wilson	4215 Holland Ln	PASCO	99301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Burrell	37 Cherokee Dr	Hamilton	45013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kimberly	Owens	134 4th Street	HAMDEN	6514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Wong	56 Dalby St	Newton	2458	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Wagoner	4989 E Saint Anthony Lane	POST FALLS	83854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

anita	Bardalai	Clapboard Ridge Rd	Danbury	6811	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Greenwald	1930 Stewart St.	SANTA MONICA	90404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Hansen	7219 NE 158th Street	KENMORE	98028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Victor	Vera	320 E 25th st apt 2	Los Angeles	90011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beth	Straccia	172 elm	Burlingame	94010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angela	Palczynski	402 Niagara Street	North Tonawanda	14120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sean	Caufield		1 Avondale	85392	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lonnie	Davenport	606 w3rd st	Nooksack	98276	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Bartoletti	26 Gladstone Circle	Mechanicville	12118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

alan	blackman	4119 24th street	San Francisco	94114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	Langley	1001 Capetown Dr.	GRAND PRAIRIE	75050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allan	Campbell	3162 Isadora Dr	San Jose	95132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dawn	Picard	6411 N. 125 W.	LA PORTE	46350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Sloat	5109 Keli Court	Los Angeles	90066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristin	Ruhle	2360 Samaritan Pl	San Jose	95124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tim	Green	13205 McCarter Way	Grass Valley	95949	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cindy	Jensen	27997 NW Dorland Rd	NORTH PLAINS	97133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Fish	1609 Duckart Way	MODESTO	95355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacqueline	Graham	103 lark spur Lane	Columbia	29229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Murray	PO BOX 483	Newport	99156	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Wendt	6 New Dawn Cir	Chico	95928	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Virginia	ARADIO	1301 Pinetta Circle	Wellington	33414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rose Marie	Wilson	32 Willowood Drive	WANTAGH	11793	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Williams	1822 Sandy Trail Dr	Hampton	30228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jane	Lagas	261 Wayne Ave	OAKLAND	94606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Cortes	6940 NW 186TH ST APT 426	Hialeah	33015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
adnan	sharabi	1388 S. Lake Dr. Watertown SD.	WATERTOWN	57201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J	BVD	Nashville Hwy	EDDYVILLE	97343	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Barnes	16110 Ventura Blvd.	ENCINO	91436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christian	Blum	1628 James St.	Bellingham	98225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heather	Regenye	4 Elliot rd	Millington	7946	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Luther	Thompson	3586 Buford Hwy NE	Atlanta	30329	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	DeSantis	1328 Abelia Way	Virginia Beach	23454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Craig	Wilson	318 Wyoming St	Fairfield	94533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Gallagher	28 Full Turn Rd	LEVITTOWN	19056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Pennisi	P.O. Box 20414	New York	10009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Ogilvie	735 E. North Lane, #3	Phoenix	85020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carlos	Cardona	11617 Brougham Drive	Sterling Heights	48312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Addison	5700 11th St N	ARLINGTON	22205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Soretta	Rodack	310 East 6 St.	New York	10003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicole	Mouser	576 N Bellflower Blvd #129	Long Beach	90814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	St. John	2120 Renee Place	Port Townsend	98368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Damon	Burke	118 Hudson st.	Marlboro	1752	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francesca	Rago	111 Cleaveland Road	PLEASANT HILL	94523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	Moreno	1829 So. Valencia Street	Alhambra	91801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Samuel	Vance	2000 Shades Crest Road, SE	HUNTSVILLE	35801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Dailey	498 Baja Lane S.	Fargo	58103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Wells	131 Morris Street Huntington, WV	Huntington	25705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Losie	3470c Moore Rd.	Kettle Falls	99141	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracy	Fleming	203 NW 95th Circle	Vancouver	98665	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Graf	30 S Hillside Tr	Madison	53705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

aaugustus	redmond	7924 s. essex	Chicago	60617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Renee	Woodman	4289 Mira Linda Point #1231	Colorado Springs	80920	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
andres	bazan	4412 1/4 clara street	Bell Gardens	90201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

sue	drais	393 101 ave. se	Bellevue	98004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
andres	bazan	4412 1/4 clara street	Bell Gardens	90201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	LaCroix	5611 240th St SE	Woodinville	98072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Perrin	123 Main Street	Claremont	3743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurel	Tumarkin	236 Livingston street	Brooklyn	11201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Mazza	612 apple creek ln	Santa Rosa	95401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anna	Medrano	121 West 104 St.	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Weber	7859 Quimby Av	West Hills	91304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Peterson	3609 RANCHO VISTA WAY	Sacramento	95834	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eugene	Howard	300 Revere Lane	FRANKLIN	37064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
frank	forsyth	4 whitman drive	denville	7834	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Ross	19508 88th Ave W	EDMONDS	98026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Sellers	3901 Clayton Rd.#66	Concord	94521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
lucia	de mastro	via a. calefati n.169	New Orleans	70122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Kast	9158 Van Nuys Blvd. #4	Panorama City	91402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra	Calkins	P O Box 1203 Freeland, WA	Freeland	98249	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Robertson	55 Jasper St. E. #31	LARGO	33770	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
B	S	670 w. pine st.	Louisville	80027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marlon	Velazquez	289 W. Cub St.	Meridian	83642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lucas	Robison	287 N Ivan Ave	Galesburg	61401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Campbell	3241 E137th Street	Cleveland	44120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marlon	Velazquez	289 west Cub St.	Meridian	83642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Hainkel	1930 NE Parvin Rd	Kansas City	64116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Veach	1160 Elm Street	Ukiah	95482	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Harrigan	aa	Marina	93933	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Udo	Frentzen	Benfleetstr. 13 KåÕ_ln Germany	Orient	50858	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
P	c	Fitchburg	Madison	53711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nate	Marino	2878 lazer lane	Bellingham	98226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Fan	15660 W Magnolia St	GOODYEAR	85338	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tombs	Curtis	Les Rues Journees Coganne		35380	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Berman	11 Edgecroft rd	BERKELEY	94707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Klein	824 so 16th st	lincoln, ne	68508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharyn	St Clair	311 Cambridge Street	Bridgeport	6606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ramon	Ojeda	1441 Santa Lucia Rd. Chula Vista, Ca	Chula Vista	91913	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
RJ	Thomas	343 Dawn Ave	Oakdale	95361	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Tyler	8202 E Bellevue st	TUCSON	85715	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jon	Morgan	5028 Renton Ave S #112	Seattle	98118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jimenez	Rosa	St Pierre de Trivisy	Mesa Verde National Park	81330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dianna & Richard	Fine	12951 Ambois Dr.	Saint Louis	63141	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Oarantes	Powdrill	16455 E 14th st. apt 5	San Leandro	94578	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cody	Wieben	22089 R Road	CEDAREDGE	81413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Etheridge	301 Lyde Avenue	Louisa	23093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Desiree	Barreto	101 SW 94th Terrace	Fort Lauderdale	33324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Desiree	Barreto	101 SW 94th Terrace	Fort Lauderdale	33324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Hawk	1701 N. Kent Street	Arlington	22209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rodney	Johnson	6430 Metrowest Blvd #519	Orlando	32835	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. It's not just cable but all other services acting in the same vien, such as Prism and Uverse. there are a lot of arbitrary restrictions on what boxes you can use and where you can use them. I had Uverse for a while and I can give you examples from there. First off even though their tv product is completely IP biased, meaning that unlike cable where there is a direct feed so there has to be a direct connection, Uverse receivers are basically just another internet media player. that Connects to their servers. But You can't get Uverse unless you can al
William	Shannon	24 24 Starwood Drive	Rochester	14625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	McKinney	5118 198th RD	Soldier	66540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Grace	Rutledge	1924 11th Ave.	Oakland	94606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	D'Annunzio	11 broadway	Ronkonkoma	11779	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Johanna	Ellison	999 Breezy Bluff Dr	GALESBURG	61401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Sweeny	92 Stephen Dr.	Pleasantville	10570	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Lange	1609 Hamlet Lane	EUGENE	97402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Vorhies	2525 Howard	St Louis	63106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kay	gallin	10364 almayo ave	LOS ANGELES	90064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karola	Bushman-Austin	5 Beattie Street	Greenville	29611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jason	Neal	1526 Sandy Springs Rd.	Pendleton	29670	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Gavigan	PALM ST	West Palm Beach	33401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Fait	7614 North 46th Drive	GLENDALE	85301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stefanie	Sellars	140 Sycamore	Simi Valley	93065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Hunt	1205 E Desert Rose Trl	San Tan Valley	85143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Hunt	1205 E Desert Rose Trl	San Tan Valley	85143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frederic	Young	623 Antler Ct	ELLETTSVILLE	47429	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	McConkey	2610 E 42nd ave	Anchorage	99508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Benvineto	Watson	8001 Red Reef LN	Boynton Beach	33436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

carrie	smith	1728 Churchill Downs Rd Apt A	Newark	43055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Bowman	1525 Cold Springs Rd SPC 52	Placerville	95667	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Fait	7614 North 46th Drive	GLENDALE	85301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Womack	410 Louvera lane	Jonesboro	71251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amanda	Frost	2687 Puesta del Sol	Santa Barbara	93105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Monica	Joyce	1124-14th Ave.	Sidney	69162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Campbell	1033 Walnut St Newton, MA	Newton Highlands	2461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Lindsay	601 Sunrise Avenue #A2, Madera, CA	Madera	93638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teri	Hansen	1690 Bassett Street	Denver	80202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Art	Sweeny	82 Clipper Way	Chestertown	21620	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mia	Jane	LA	LOS ANGELES	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Jackson	59 boulevard ne	ATLANTA	30312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	DuPuis	1152 SE 233rd St Kent, WA	Kent	98031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frances	Harriman	105 West Wrentham Rd	Cumberland	2864	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Berger	4412 Ocean View Blvd Apt NUMBER	MONTROSE	91020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Dugan	hazy lane	Greenwood	46142	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Labrecque	49 Tremko Ln #111	Ashford	6278	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Lujan	7327 Loch Alene Ave	Pico Rivera	90660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Papa	25704 N Arrowhead Dr.	MUNDELEIN	60060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Crews	6241 Kellow Dr	Jacksonville	32216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	Cohler	6215 Manoa Street	OAKLAND	94618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lora	Watters	San diego	San Diego	92101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
June	Carroll	4282 Sequoyah Rd.	Oakland	94605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Keating	517 SE 99th Ave.	Vancouver	98664	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Skrip	1654 Peter Ln	ROMEOVILLE	60446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Sessions	29 Queens Road, Clevedon, UK	Clevedon	BS21 7T	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marti	Beeson	805 W. State St.	Olean	14760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nina	Utigaard	30 Schooner Ct	RICHMOND	94804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Birgit	Hofbaur	1445 spring valley road	delhi, ny	13753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Jenkins	P.O. Box 1163	Rockville	20849	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Claudio	Friederich	5333 Likini Street, #605	Honolulu	96818	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tan	Guan	Blk 846 Tampines St 82		520846	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Pavcovich	11351 20th Ave NE	SEATTLE	98125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Helen	Bare	26123 Turnbridge Drive	Perrysburg	43551	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arturo	Ibarra	402 Monroe St.	PURDY	65734	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
robert	steiner	411 walnut street	Green Cove Springs	32043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Hadden	50 rue Fernand Izer		33400	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darin	Henderson	813 7th ave w Williston ND	Williston	58801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Gilbert	4400 Elm Ave.	Lyons	60534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Bauer	5124 Moody Dr	Kingsport	37664	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
AQUANETTA C.	HARTLEY	209-16. 86th DRIVE #1A	Queens Village	11427	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Lawton	18 Aberdeen Gardens Rd	ABERDEEN	98520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kate	Anderson	11155 N. Falkirk St	Hayden	83835	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Lechner	74 Baldwin Street #2	BINGHAMTON	13903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
wALter	cRAft	622-a congress st	NEW ORLEANS	70117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Leppala	595 West Townsend Road	LUNENBURG	1462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Wiseheart	701 W Superior St #902 Duluth MN	Duluth	55802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Moore	46 Any Street	Memphis	38112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donato	Perreca	Via Cavour 46		62	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	McGrath	694 Eastbrooke Ln	Rochester	14618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fai	Coffin	3933 S Ferdinand St	Seattle	98118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tamara	Dreier	830 cardiff ct	O Fallon	62269	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebekah	Daniels	1886 31st Ave	SAN FRANCISCO	94122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lionel	Cartright	12 Garfield Dr	WESTBOROUGH	1581	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Oppenhuizen	8135 Olive Trail	West Olive	49460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tiziana	Pirola	Via Villa Paradiso, 44	Damascus	20872	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Penelope	Garcia	11137 w.76th terr.#20	Overland Park	66214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bonnie	Allen	8437 Trixtpm	Los Angeles	90045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Wirz	5333 Valparaiso Cir	Sacramento	95841	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Quinet	648 Storrs Rd., Mansfield CT	Storrs Mansfield	6268	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leland	Griffin	2386 State Rt 79	Trumansburg	14886	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Damiano	13326 N Lincoln AVE	TAMPA	33618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raymond	Farrington	2103 South Ave.	SYRACUSE	13207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rod	Repp	4625	Baldwin Park	91706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Stearley	1106 N Pell Street	Brazil	47834	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M. Lou	Orr	1610 NE 192nd St.	Seattle	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vanessa	Bersani	20 Maxwell Ave	Geneva	14456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randall	Bergerud	2820 Bassler Street	North Las Vegas	89030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jean	Goetinck	W Milton Rd	Tucson	85746	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maggie	Maxwell	3422 w. Leland	Chicago	60625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melba	Fractious	PO Box 1584	CLAREMONT	91711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	DeCoster	1501 17th Ave., Seattle, Wa.	Seattle	98122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scotty	Simmons	73 Carver Lake Way	Ambrose	31512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Deluccia	300 e 41st street	Paterson	7504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Berger	18018 Strathmoor St.	DETROIT	48235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick	Karluk	45 Norcross Circle	Trenton	8619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Karluk	45 Norcross Circle	Trenton	8619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Stewart	1958 San Juan Road, #32	Sacramento	95833	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harriet Edith	Roberts	2510 Woodland Dr.	Eugene	97403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claude	Jones	930 E. Lafayette	Detroit	48207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandy	Amador	6 Canyon Run Road	Holmdel	7733	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Crystal	Conklin	8410 SE Flavel St	PORTLAND	97266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Horvath	6 Crestview	WHITESBORO	13492	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Taft	1504 Wheeler Dr.	SALINAS	93906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charlie	Day	4608 W. Paul Ave. Tampa FL	Tampa	33611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David & Christine	Brunot	508 North Main Street Extension	Meadville	16335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kirby	Miller	32619 Meadowlark Ct	Farmington	48336	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Collins	35 Pony Express Dr	Edgewood	87015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Blaine	Burgstrom	1711 Hogar Dr.	San Jose	95124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Winfree	9 Kenilworth	Asheville	28805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

kimberly	greene	2721 ranchview dr	RICHARDSON	75082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Jet	600 Van Buren ave	Las Vegas	89106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Brown	808 Hausten St.	HONOLULU	96826	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

kevin	klenner	broome st	New York	10013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonas	Dahlin	Raggatan		59232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Smitty	Werbenjagermanjensen	1313 disneyland drive	Anaheim	92802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Teresa	Vanzeller	2772 Calle Bienvenido	Thousand Oaks	91360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carrie	Bartley	891 NW 85th Terrace	FORT LAUDERDALE	33324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	Gillespie	239 Virginia Ave.	Audubon	8106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Richardson	pleasent valley road	Bradford	3221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Sherrel	4736 Minnesota Avenue	FAIR OAKS	95628	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Faseno	1112 Martha Lee Ave	Rockledge	32955	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah	Magidson	409 Norfolk St.	Cambridge	2139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
s	Pavao	somerset,MA	Somerset	2726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Infinger	4843 Churchill Road	North Charleston	29405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	McKinnon	8537 ZIRCON DR SW UNIT 71	Lakewood	98498	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Yeoh	81, Lebuh Sungai Senam		31400	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Ashley	17802 North 69th Ave. Glendale AZ	Glendale	85308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

KENNETH	CHESTER	5732 Prescott Ct	Charlotte	28269	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Voorhies	6212 Olohena	KAPAA	96746	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Jones	2275 HUNTINGTON DRIVE	SAN MARINO	91108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Timothy	Hagerman	1740 Wellington Rd.	Lansing	48910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Latana	4617 58th Ln NW	Rochester	55901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Rosenbaum	411 Waupelani Dr	State College	16801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Rosenbaum	411 Waupelani Dr	State College	16801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachel	Cancel	6095 60th Drive	MASPETH	11378	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Coston	1055 Manhattan Court	SUNNYVALE	94087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Stop the insanity .

Michael	Cook	3330 Texas Ave Apt 105	Joplin	64804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janel	Asche	12176 S 219 Avenue Circle	Gretna	68028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gina	Raggette	5 EPPIRT STREET	East Orange	7018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I myself once bought a box that was compatible with Comcast's systems but because it wasn't theirs, it began experiencing some strange symptoms AFTER they realized that they couldn't fleece me there anymore. I returned the box because they claimed the box was the issue and got another. The second experience wa even worse; the box never had a chance out of the packaging! I finally returned the box and has been slowly bled near to dry since. That was about 5 years ago. Please, make it stop!
Steven	Kostis	261 W. 28th St. Apt. 2C	NEW YORK	10001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leslie	Kiwacz	223 Raritan Avenue	STATEN ISLAND	10305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Kiwacz	223 Raritan Avenue	STATEN ISLAND	10305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bryan	Sheffler	4643 West 41st Street	Cleveland	44109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Luca	Manetta	Trieste	San Jose	95127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Salvatoriello	60 Windward Drive	Barnegat	8005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Bookheimer	600 C Lake Drive	Douglassville	19518	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Hood	29000 Ridge Road	Mount Airy	21771	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juanita	Billings	10819 Ann Davis Drive	FREDERICKSBURG	22408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
P	Lehmberg	407 E Arch St	Marquette	49855	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rich	Zawadski	55 Red Bush Ln	Milford	6461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eve	Stahlberger	283 5th Ave	Brooklyn	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
terry	brown	5006 new falls road	Levittown	19056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Hallas	Asbury Park	Asbury Park	7712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Putnam	45 Kurts Kourt	Whitesboro	13492	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Camp	12 Seward ave	Toms River	8753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Varady	509 hawthorn ave	Royal Oak	48067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hugh	Hemphill	20 West Bridge Street	New Hope	18938	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristen	Howard	326 E. Division St., #24	Boyne City	49712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ray	Ortiz	224-28 92nd avenue	Queens Village	11428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Gajewski	7034 Rockrose Terrace	Carlsbad	92011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Crabb	2443 CR 245 D	Oxford	34484	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Katharine	Gullotta	4641 Monongahela St	SAN DIEGO	92117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	McTeague	2200 Kings Hwy	Punta Gorda	33980	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gwendolyn	Morgan	620 Malcolm X Blvd	New York	10037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Geraldine	Card	237 North D st	Exeter	93221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Whitehair	29 Westwind Drive, Methuen, MA	METHUEN	1844	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Wentworth	33 Scenic Vista Way	Merrimack	3054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joel	Tarantowicz	35 Stuyvesant St	Brentwood	11717	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Bickle	33470 CR 402 Warsaw, Ohio	Warsaw	43844	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ashley	pereira	3827 Tree Top Dr	Fort Lauderdale	33332	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Sallee	2118 S Ast.	Elwood	46036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. It is something you can and I do live without it because of overprice I did have it greed cost a high price
Sarah	Hamilton	9087 Tioughanack Rd.	Canastota	13032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harold	Honeywell	502 Canyon Maple Ct	WESTFIELD	46074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Miller	12 Ben Franklin Dr.	Franklin	7416	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I have paid for this box several times over, and have to continue to pay. I need to be able to just buy one and be done with it. My cable bill has gone from $47 to $147 in 20 years - guess what? My salary has not had a 300% increase. It is time to stop this.
Tom	Vafias	649 S West End Ave	Lancaster	17603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Flood	29 marc st	RONKONKOMA	11779	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Deiotte	501 Franklin St.	CHESTERTON	46304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Wolslegel	321 Prospect Street	EAST LONGMEADOW	1028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Lay	3925 Lemay Manor Lane	SAINT LOUIS	63125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J K	Van Nort	189-38 113th Avenue	SAINT ALBANS	11412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Campbell	15294 smarty jones drive	Noblesville	46060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Mayberry	1600 w Bradley Ave Apt D91	Champaign	61821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Weinhold	2006 hwy 101N PMB 709	Florence	97439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Audrey	Mannolini	8782 Baywood Drive	Huntington Beach	92646	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sonia	Rutstein	P o box 10435	Baltimore	21209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J.	Atwell	2401 W. Clark Ave.	BURBANK	91506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Beutelspschet	11 Arthur Ave	Catonsville	21228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anna Belle	Illien	1250 Piedmont ave, NE	ATLANTA	30309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jordan	Hooley	411 S Main St	MIDDLEBURY	46540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Brandon	922 Main St. Eliot, ME	Eliot	3903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mikel	Sola	Jaktstigen 5		19258	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Renee	Koenitzer	7263 Ritchie Rd	STITTVILLE	13469	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Fitterer	PO Box 506	Bladensburg	20710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Hoover	12664 Chargers Ct	Fishers	46037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher	Green	1828 Kenilworth st.	Sarasota	34231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Michael	314 N Pleasant St	Montpelier	43543	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Sollee	9517 Sun Dial Dr.	Tampa	33635	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alexander	Dalton	16059 Saint Peters Church Road	Montpelier	23192	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jose	Velez	6249 Royal Lakes Estates Ave	Gonzales	70737	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eman	t	80 brayton rd	Brighton	2135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Andrews	5 grove st	South Hadley	1075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LAURA	LECIS	RPB		0	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Chiarilli	P.O. Box 2153	Buffalo	14219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christina	Burton	12624 Remington Rd.	APPLE VALLEY	92308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Olivia	Euvrard	32 Tulip Street	Huntington	11743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jerry	Brees	4221 81st Place NE, marysville wa	Marysville	98270	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Timur	Mukminov	231 easy St #4	Mountain View	94043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victor	Wittmann	17 Breton Court	MARLBORO	7746	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elbert	Bailey	360 Glorietta Blvd	Coronado	92118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Philip	Thomas	4428 Sugartree Dr. E	LAKELAND	33813	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Jonovic	285 Lucerne Ct.	PLOVER	54467	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carlton	Salvagin	1104 County Route 7	Hannibal	13074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Rogers	5512 Atlee Place, Springfield, VA	Springfield	22151	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Kilgore	6 Technology Drive Unit 217	North Chelmsford	1863	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Churray	P.O. Box 505	Port Haywood	23138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin	Scott	3 Cross Ave.	Salem	1970	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	Smith	Address	North Sutton	3260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bert	Zimmer	po box 229	Meadow Lands	15347	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bengt	Wikander	Engelbrekstagatan 35B, Stockholm, Sweden	Jamaica	11432	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jill	Franzese	37 Route 116	PURDYS	10578	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Xatzis	PO Box 151 -- 15 Railroad St.	West Cornwall	6796	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carlos Felipe	Alvarez			33204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessica	Foster	3156 S. Quincy Ave.	Milwaukee	53207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Nace	pleasant vly dr.	Pleasant Hill	94523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

andreea	maddox	103 Cowper Street	Glebe	2037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Christoffers	3136 Bispham Rd.	Sarasota	34231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	Coleman	8329 Blackjack Rd	TALLAHASSEE	32305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Liz	Gaspar	E Heron Cv	Shelton	98584	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. We gave up on cable in 1999, because of its monopoly - every time you turn around there's a new charge or hike. We now get all our news straight off the internet, and our phone company provides the DSL without any hassle. And it doesn't fade so markedly when the demand is high. We'd only go back to cable if what it offered were better than what we've and the price were competitive.
Timothy	Gonzalez	11967 SW 38TH TER	Miami	33175	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Allan	Tetreault	14 Melrose St	ADAMS	1220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Lopez	9112 Harold Dr	Saint Louis	63134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charity	Guido	PO Box1515	HAVERHILL	1831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sara	McKinley	2651 Andover Rd.	Columbus	43221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eli	Edgecomb	PO Box 1023, 44 Ocean Ave	Scarborough	4070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phill	Bradshaw	8895	San Diego	92122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Brown	175 S.E. St. Lucie Blvd. G-164	Stuart	34996	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Brodscholl	2 kennedy dr	Waldwick	7463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bernice	Rieck	54 4th Ave N #402 St Cloud, MN	Saint Cloud	56303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Norma	Stewart	343 w preuss rd	manistee	49660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Noel	Orr	1610 NE 192nd St.	Seattle	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Williams	31411 Artesian Dr.	Warren	48092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Lerner	15150 SW Millikan Way		97003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lloyd	Dumas	1091 Barnes Road	Canton	39046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Casstevens	22 Winding Way	BINGHAMTON	13905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melissa	Wales	PO Box 172, Saxtons River	Saxtons River	5154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carleen	Robidoux	PO Box 375	Wenham	1984	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Lessins	5980 whethersfield ln. apt 26B	Bloomfield Hills	48301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Rothstein	55 Main St	Quentin	17083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Baker	Calle Galerna 20		11300	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Smithwick	1759 Dyson Dr., Atlanta, GA 30307	Atlanta	30307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sindia	Cabrales	514 Stone Pl	LINDEN	7036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
joel	jones	113 luarel ridge road charleston sc	North Charleston	29418	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Enrique	Gonzalez	352 East 85th Street	New York	10028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dominique	Meyers	719 Bugbee Crossing Rd	WEST BURKE	5871	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nathan	Bass	PO BOX 2192	Advance	27006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessica	Ferren	220 NH Rt 4A	Wilmot	3287	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Jouskey	344 Franck Ave.	Louisville	40206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tamara	Lucas	710 S HUNTER ST	Wichita	67207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Pfister	3578 Ironwood Ln SW	Rochester	55902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Dancer	260 Middle Road, Hudsonm, NY	Hudson	12534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandy	Maranesi	4850 nw 29th ct	Fort Lauderdale	33313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dawn	Hearns	5106 Birch St	Schofield	54476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Douglas	McDougall	142 5th ave #3R	Brooklyn	11217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Bumgardner	1630 Stanwood Ave SE	ATLANTA	30317	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Branson	2400 Quarry Stone Dr.	Hilliard	43026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Marengo	1540 York Ave	New York	10028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Brown	365d chesterfield court	Lakewood	8701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Williams	44 Grove St Fairhaven Mass	Fairhaven	2719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aileen	McEvoy	191 WPine St, Waverly, NY	Waverly	14892	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Hufford	106 Virginia Ave	LATROBE	15650	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Spaulding	2211 SW 49th Street	Oklahoma City	73119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ed	Zehel	Eastlawn	Lorain	44052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Greeley	264 Central Street,Acton,Ma	Acton	1720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jusef	White	1333 Peralta	Fremont	94536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emily	Fano	PO Box 932	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellen	Osborne	6731	Pleasant Garden	27313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Back	7 Harder Road	BARRYVILLE	12719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

AntÌÎÌÊÌÎ_nio	Pereira	Lisbon		1900-09	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Sendlenski	29 Wooley Street	Southampton	11968	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Brown	599 Port Malabar Blvd	Palm Bay	32905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Helga	Blackthorne	Im Flerren		22880	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tonette	Dire	3901 W Barnes Ln	Phoenix	85051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Antoine	Mesnard	Internet		0	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Crozier	2471 Ox Bow Road	PORT ROYAL	17082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Dennis	308 Orchard Drive	Pearisburg	24134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brynn	Adams	579 Feightner Rd	Greensburg	15601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ann	Millerick	19 Grace Avenue	LYNBROOK	11563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Anderhegge n	640 Litchfield Turnpike	New Hartford	6057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Grosjean	54 Central St., Acton	Acton	1720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Darelyn	Haynes	85 Grove ave. apt.1	GROTON	6340	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Steele	3 Tempo Rd	New City	10956	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	McKenna	1235 E Camino Diestro	Tucson	85704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erika	Kolecki	305 n. 4th st.	Perkasie	18944	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Crowther	20607 Poplar Way unit B	Lynnwood	98036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carl	Griffith	618n. 3rd.ave	Chenoa	61726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dimitris	Dallis	Thessaloniki, Greece		0	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ernest	Fortun	251 SW 132 nd Way Apt H112	Hollywood	33027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chet	savage	1621 park ln	Post Falls	83854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Louise	Janda	242 Linden Street	Berlin	1503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fernanda	haberman	6565 McCallum blvd 354	Dallas	75252	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
constance	Fischer	418 Grandview Dr	Verona	15147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

A.	Hollis	Paradise Bottom	Battletown	40104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Snyder	8575 State Route 256	Dansville	14437	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norman +Marion	Stinchfield	483 Massasoit Rd	Worcester	1604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christine	Alcaraz	5605 ivywood court	Chester	23831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Wilson	19765 US Highway 6	Weston	43569	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lily	Maisky	Rue de Suisse	Northampton	1060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dan	Mash	16 St Marks Place	Brooklyn	11217	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
April	Ford	301 Old Dunham Bridge Rd.	Greenville	29611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Helms	4420 Secrest Shortcut Rd.	Monroe	28110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Howard	Carson	1025 E. Southampton Ave.	Glenside	19038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Leder	8 andrews ave	Round Lake	12151	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Church	18242 Hemlock Rd.	Fort Myers	33967	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Brown	365d chesterfield court	Lakewood	8701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Church	18242 Hemlock Rd.	Fort Myers	33967	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DAVID	PISTNER	71 Lucinda Lane	ROCHESTER	14626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Heinlein	PO Box 152	TREVOR	53179	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Hamilton	606 S Mine La Motte	FREDERICKTOWN	63645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Lyons	25 Baker Way	Pennington	8534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Josh	cannon	1565 Clark	Charleston	25314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Powell	901 Bluestone Rd	Durham	27713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arturo Sr.	Galano	1266 ortiz ct	Sunnyvale	94089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	Stember	134 Milbert Ln	Pittsburgh	15237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francis	Sullivan	11 Dyson Drive	Salem	3079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Napoleon	Salvail	6610 South Fork	Titusville	32780	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Walter	Marin	444 E139th St Bronx, NY	Bronx	10454	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sam	Todd	8801 Brigadier Lane	CHARLOTTE	28227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eugene	Flannery	4223 Leeper Street	CINCINNATI	45223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Sikorski	107 Milta Lane	Kissimmee	34743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daryl	Wood	1804 Cameron Ave.	La Crosse	54601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Haverkamp	155 Baker Rd	Freeport	4032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daryl	Wood	1804 Cameron Ave.	La Crosse	54601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeremy	Roberts	4014 Foreston RD	BELTSVILLE	20705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Pfost	7225 Baltusrol Drive	NEW PORT RICHEY	34654	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

john	mago	3972 marshall place	Gary	46408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Trevolyn	Haines	PO Box 1438	Chino Hills	91709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	McGowan	4639 Morgan Pkwy.	Hamburg	14075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Brown	85 Cady St.	North Adams	1247	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Choi	12 North Oak	Madison	7940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Dahn	158 N. Congress	ATHENS	45701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Hart	284 Abbott Road	Acton	4001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ursula	Neal	2721 California Ave SW	Seattle	98116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Annie	#NAME?	400 East 17th Street Brooklyn New York	Brooklyn	11226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Monforte	744 Riding Crop Court	Indian Trail	28079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Roth	12498 cherry lane	Grand Ledge	48837	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Tioran	4001 Green Lake	W. Bloomfield	48324	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Brunner-Miller	182 Wading River Hollow Road	Middle Island	11953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Malmquist	8 Kettle Cove Rd	Cape Elizabeth	4107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Heckart	39 Noble Terrace	Springfield	45504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Stotts	202012 Plaza Drive	Bedford	47421	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Cibien	Marsh Hill Rd	Brimfield	1010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Georges	2840 E Echo Hill Way	Orange	92867	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

richard	vabulas	87 rockland st	Natick	1760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Brasfield	1089 Meeks Cemetery Rd.	Burns	37029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Rooney	17-19th st Burlington NJ	BURLINGTON	8016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

kevin	smith	117 Jackson Ridge Rd	Canton	39046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Hull	1340 Tullo Road	Martinsville	8836	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gordon	Scruton	40 Carriage Hill Dr	Wethersfield	6109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eugene	TeHennepe	17 MaIN FRANKLIN, ME	Franklin	4634	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Sharpe	167 West Hill Rd	Plainfield	1070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Schrempf	20 Maple Ave, Cambridge, MA	Cambridge	2139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David &Judith	Wilmot	322 N. Highland Ave	Plymouth	53073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Esther	Brodie	37burrfarmsRd westport	Westport	6880	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C	Zurmuhlen	1502 Cobblestone Lane	Bellevue	68005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Laswell	1414 31st St. S.	La Crosse	54601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evelyn	Fraser	2724 28th St NE	Washington	20018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Stagg	8910 Old Redwood Highway, Cotati, CA	COTATI	94931	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sam	McKinney	2525 NE Cezar E. Chavez Blvd	Portland	97212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Watkins	90 Fawcett St Unit 511	Cambridge	2138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heidi	Baird	542 Dillard Rd.,	Roanoke	24014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

RENATTO	VARDA	1518 CORBET DRIV3E NW	Bremerton	98312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa E	Davis	12 Charles St. #5-C	New York	10014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Turner	443 Terrace Drive	Marysville	43040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fred	Suhr	1952 Zenaida Ave	McAllen	78504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Zulinski	1221 Hecla St	Hancock	49930	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	West	3547 Linden Ave	Las Cruces	88005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bennett	Daviss	222 Valley Rd	Walpole	3608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lee	Coady	75 Myrtle Street	Somerville	2145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Ledden	4545 Grinding Rock Rd	Fiddletown	95629	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deanka	Grisham	3017 SUMMERCOURT DR	Jonesboro	30236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Jeffries	9017 Clarissa Dr	Orangevale	95662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zubeen	Mistry	3927 ash leaf pecan	San Antonio	78261	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Louise	Mason	171 Perkins Street	Melrose	2176	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Pelletier	46 MAIN ST.	North Reading	1864	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Taylor	143 North Street	Geneva	14456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	McCool	48 Dorothy Rd, Millbury MA	Millbury	1527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
H Kenneth	Fisher	12345 Baglees Rd	Los Angeles	90049	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wray	Stanley	7 Brett Ln	Malvern	19355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Back	7 Harder Road	BARRYVILLE	12719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Ward		San Juan	927	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	House	5117 550th Ave	Sabula	52070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Brown	214 4th Ave	LONGMONT	80501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Chambers	1724 E. Cathedral Rock Drive	Phoenix	85048	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Pletta	233 Maple St	Friendsville	21531	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Darlyne	O'Callaghan	3440 Edgefield Rd	Greensboro	27409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Zimmerman	535 35th Ave SW, Vero Beach, FL	Vero Beach	32968	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mort	thomas	10 gomez way	Mill Valley	94941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Cignoli	1 Sun Valley Dr	CORAM	11727	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elio	Rocha	2115 w. cass st.	Tampa	33606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alex	Graas	Flowery Branch	FLOWERY BRANCH	30542	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Kasabian	12591 Audrey ln	Hammond	70401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Kalfa	842-65th street	Kenosha	53143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Hoover	2709 Fairway Drive Apt B Altoona PA	Altoona	16602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Forrester	27 Kathdene Gardens	Beverly Hills	90210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lois	Robinson	1100 Cherry st	Phoenixville	19460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Bliss	37 Central St.	Brattleboro	5301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	Lacey	145 E. Home Street	Rialto	92376	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elfriede	Patelo	17 Esquire Dr.	Peabody, MA	1960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dana	Albanese	2603 Brookdale Ave	Cleveland	44134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heidi	Hubbell	1812 Fall Hill Ave	Fredericksburg	22401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Sickles	7 Holly Drive	Eatontown	7724	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yvonne	Irvin	31 Mattingly Ave	INDIAN HEAD	20640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Menaker	31-41 68th Street	Woodside	11377	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Talarico	112 Cambridge Ave	COLLINGSWOOD	8108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
CJ	Pierce	214 Clark Rd	Cincinnati	45215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan Lindsay	Lindsay	7877 Centerville Rd	Capron	61012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Epstein	521 West Lyon Farm Drive	Greenwich	6831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shari	Gilbertsen	23871 Willows Drive, Laguna Hills	Laguna Hills	92653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Hunter	1026 Pueblo Solano NW	Albuquerque	87107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MAXWELL	mahanes	73 Winwood Dr	Center Barnstead	3225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Burhl	1763 n Gayoso	New Orleans	70119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Quariadi	19 Fox Hill Drive	Vincentown	8088	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harvey	Harlem	24 Oakbrook Rd	Ossining	10562	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Morgan	21 15 Mile RD NW	Sparta	49345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	Glassheim	19427 Birchridge	Southfield	48075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Trammel	117 orchard pl.	Belen	87002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Levine	23-19 31st Avenue	Astoria	11106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

D	Smith	1 Times Square	New York	10036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Kelce	1959 Purchase St Apt E204 New Bedford, MA	New Bedford	2740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Reed	Markee	3220 NW Arrowwood Ln	Jensen Beach	34957	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bilal	El-Amin	723 West Clay Street	Richmond	23220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Toni	Nordan	2907 Virginia road	Birmingham	35223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
O	Ia	1150 middle Rd	portsmouth	2871	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lyvonne	McAdoo	105 Louise Ter.	ATLANTA	30331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Allen	97 Briscoe Ave.	Buffalo	14211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cedo	Banjanin	2727 canterbury	Trenton	48183	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick	Kennedy	1915 Parmenter Boulevard	ROYAL OAK	48073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pia	Vartabedian	161 Holland St.	Cranston	2920	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
michael	casella	62 wood st	Mahopac	10541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Becky	Montag	147 Twin Lakes Dr	Fairfield	45014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frankie	DeMarco	241 Sixth Ave., #11C	New York	10014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Bryson	10951 NW 29th Ct.	Fort Lauderdale	33322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bradley	Ather	1653 Riverside Drive 5	Rochester	48309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Dietrick	Apt G	Cambridge	2139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Mann	2262 Ellie Rd.	Auburndale	33823	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cathy	Marullo	Monroe avenue	Bellmore	11710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maggie	Constan	30 Curtis Rd. #99, Milton, MA	MILTON	2186	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marie	Crow	119 Balmoral Way	Greenwood	46143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pat	Wilkins	437 blossom street	FITCHBURG	1420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Irene	Londraville	1020 NW 9th ave	Portland	97209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Graham	52 S. Main Street	Rochester	5767	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shawn	Isom	7 Winthrop Terrace	East Orange	7018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Miller	2900 4th ST. APT 5	Santa Monica	90405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Stershic	Danville CA	Danville	94526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Baresich	139 Gathering Island Rd.	Summerville	29485	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jim	Cunningham	406 S Liberty Ave	Endicott	13760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	marinelli	3 Wren Rd	AUDUBON	8106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Klingler	901 2nd St. SW	New Philadelphia	44663	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jova	Coleman	1280 lakeview Rd. #233	Clearwater	33756	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
s	kaehn	2132 high 'c'	Oakland	94601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cris	Shreve	1501 S 91st St	Omaha	68124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	RN	5 east shore drive	Asheville	28805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Mayes	1139 Hamilton Avenue	Farrell	16121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicole	Ancheta	1869 Embassy Dr	Jacksonville	32207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terrell	Stephens	2541 Hazelcrest Ln Cin Oh	Cincinnati	45231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Baker	2951 Kimmeridge Drive	Atlanta	30344	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Judy	1415 N. Highway A1A	Indialantic	32903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Yackley	POB 163	Lunenburg	5906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Carter	19 pinehurst manor, apt C	Pinehurst	28374	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	Lokken	1931 5th Street South	WISCONSIN RAPIDS	54494	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heidi	Parvela	osoite		530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Andrews	54 Long Society Rd Preston, CT	Preston	6365	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	O'Sullivan	5 east shore drive	Asheville	28805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
S	Vaughn	120 Beechwood	Victoria	77901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sean	Hughes	446 Oak Hill Drive	Lake Saint Louis	63367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sean	Hughes	446 Oak Hill Drive	Lake Saint Louis	63367	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonas	Gunnarsson	prastbolgatan 3a	Des Lacs	58733	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
salvatore	cento	2043 east 41 street	Brooklyn	11234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Gutierrez	45825 Abronia trail	Palm Desert	92260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Clary	240 Canfield Ter	Frederick	21702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
B	Hoats	N. Pine	Alpharetta	30022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elijah	Wade	121 B2 East Rodney Drive	CAPE GIRARDEAU	63701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Pape	57 Nute Rd	Madbury	3823	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Corinne	Wasser	1608 Jennifer Road	Lexington	40505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Hargrave	780 Pelham Parkway S	Bronx	10462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Ballou	po box 1922	Hailey	83333	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Gutierrez	45825 Abronia trail	Palm Desert	92260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert E	Bevan	#2404	Chicago	60601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sondra	Miller	4223 Elizabeth Ln. Commerce Twp. MI	WALLED LAKE	48390	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Gorringe	Portland, OR	Portland	97212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Al	Buenafuente	7546 Placid st Las Vegas NV	Las Vegas	89123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Davies	720 W. Celeste Ave., Fresno, CA	Fresno	93704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Berndt	3029 Dutch Hollow Rd	Bemus Point	14712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Saunders	3839 Home Ave	Berwyn	60402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Olds	East Moline	East Moline	61244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Intyre	2125 Riviera Pkwy	Point Pleasant Beach	8742	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Voytas	1223 N Lowry Ave	SPRINGFIELD	45504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chelsea	Lynes	po box 263	Bradford	5033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Desiree	Whitney	1605 Beaver Ridge Dr	Dayton	45429	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

M	Tracey	32nd Ave.	Cincinnati	45209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Brooks	NULL	Lennon	48449	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
susan	Brinkley	416 N Adams Ave	ELK CITY	73644	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martyn	Hiscox	2101 SHANKIN DR	Walled Lake	48390	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Baird	1550 Beacon St Apt6L	BROOKLINE	2446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Watkins	371 rock hill church rd	Inman	29349	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stuart	Russell	82 Auburn st	Concord	3301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Brister	113 Private Drive 220	Proctorville	45669	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Herda	2160 Steelhead Ct	Lebanon	97355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pat	Bunte	2341 Union Rd.	Buffalo	14224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Ng	3332 155th street	Flushing	11354	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Blomeling	3134 Jefferson SE	Grand Rapids	49548	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicole	Eveland	2309 Blackthorn Dr	Champaign	61821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Owens	1126 Nash Loop	The Villages	32162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexis	Fry	5105 W Dartmoor Dr	MCHENRY	60050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Smith	16551 patton	Detroit	48219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Hitz	37 Easy St	Sudbury	1776	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Marcus	8900 Southshore Drive	Hackett	72937	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Wright	1 RiverPointe Plaza #1106	Jeffersonville	47130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. I urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gsimmons	Simmons	161 Baldwin st	Meriden	6451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robin	Martin	3005 Rain Valley Cir	Tallahassee	32308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Raisor	240 E 1900 S	CLEARFIELD	84015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Barth	400 Bird ave	Peoria	61607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	U	n/a	Mililani	96789	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Ellenberger	504 w 110st	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anna	K	1112 Vista	Los Angeles	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anna	Kolovou	4114 58th str	Woodside	11377	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Any	ODonnell	48 Catherine Ave	Franklin SQ	11010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Ellenberger	504 w 110st	New York	10025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Reimer	Camp Hill	Camp Hill	17011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Howard	Leach	0056 Lone Pine Lane	Myrtle Point	97458	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tommy	Buckert	Hamilton	Hamilton	62341	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Kamarainen	7417 S Lake Bluff 0.5 Dr	Gladstone	49837	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julian	Hall	16 Gardenia Drive	Hanover	17331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Vanderwoude	2781 Pratt St	PHILADELPHIA	19137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eileen	Rodriguez	521 Curvebrook St SE	Grand Rapids	49548	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Codie	Wheeler	21 Pine Trail	Danbury	6811	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Himmelspach	26255 W 14 Mile Rd. Franklin, MI	Franklin	48025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adrian	S	3839 S 15th Street	Milwaukee	53221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mike	Crossett	6818 autumn view drive	Sykesville	21784	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Crossett	6818 autumn view drive	Sykesville	21784	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Kelch	2601 SW 97th Place	Ocala	34476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Chadwick	1246 Harrison Avenue	La Grange Park	60526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Gadziala	216 Clover Hills Dr	ROCHESTER	14618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Cordaro	1450 Green Trails Dr.	Naperville	60540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lew & Lois	Bishop	6908 Echo Valley Rd.	WEST UNION	52175	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Petra	Stang	Moorreye 25	Hamburg	22415	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	VanEtten	3 Thresher Place	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Grazyna	Sadowska	Blackstone	Blackstone	1504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Oaks	86313 Franklin Blvd	EUGENE	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
paul	bobak	2059 fairlane road	Summerhill	15958	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martin	Brengelmann	9 Russo Drive	Hopewell Junction	12533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Palac	1006 Goose Pond Rd, Canaan, NH	Canaan	3741	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Watkins	12212 Valerie Lane	Laurel	20708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

R	Rinehart	14914 Congress Sterling hts, MI	Sterling Heights	48313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	King	8404 Desert Quail Dr	Las Vegas	89128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Milburn	4540 N. Artesian Avenue	CHICAGO	60625	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J.	Stemmler	Davis Ave S	Renton	98055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edgar	Del Valle	987 SW 37th Ave	Miami	33135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Clave	po box 350995	Brighton	2135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Denise	Webb	1975 Michigan Ave	Saint Cloud	34769	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barry	Gerson	4706 Potter Hollow Rd.	Preston Hollow	12469	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	White	221 Ulysses St	Pittsburgh	15211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nick	Taylor	2927 33rd Lane NW	OLYMPIA	98502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Betty	Defer	58005 Mel Frakes Rd	Salesville	43778	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Sleeper	108 Fort SumterDrive	Holden	1520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Edward	Desmarais	236 Country Lame	South Glastonbury	6073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kate	Ravenstein	52 Congressional Ct.	MAGNOLIA	19962	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karralena	Castaway	6 Vernon Ave	LIMESTONE	4750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

edward	goryl	935 n 9th st fl1	Reading	19604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Forrest	Padgett	65 Rangeley Rd	West Newton	2465	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
dave	alexander	10459 artesia blvd #92c	Bellflower	90706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia and Donald	Denny	7465 Mountain Quail Pl	PAINESVILLE	44077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	Salazar	349 Wheatberry Drive	Erie	80516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Gibson	5428 E El Sendero Dr	Cave Creek	85331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Greg	Sletten	17 Wigwam Path	New Richmond	45157	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Stevena	Norco ca	Norco	92860	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	Beebe	110 Mark Twain Dr. #8	New Orleans	70123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Philip	Scoles	1221 Aurora St	Houston	77009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leah	Froemsdorf	1217 Boone St SE	LACEY	98503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Hickam	1039 Bontrager Ave Apt C	Elkhart	46517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	balocca	55 Dodge Rd	SUTTON	1590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Daum	17762 Oak Way	Grass Valley	95945	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
steve	brown	10 washington st	Manchester	1944	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Dyer	11354 berkshire	CLIO	48420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Hendricks	59 Whipple Rd.	Wilton	6897	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Leinonen	29852 Cleveland Av	Elkhart	46516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Abraham	Oboruemuh	Not Available	Riverside	92515	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Nix	321 overlook circle	Dawsonville	30534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Antal	100 Candlelight Dr. Apt. # 321 - Ebensburg, Pa.	Ebensburg	15931	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Palac	1006 Goose Pond Rd, Canaan, NH	Canaan	3741	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Silvey	9263 78th Place North, Seminole, FL	Seminole	33777	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Turner	722 N. Jefferson St.	Lancaster	53813	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Petrie	160 Spencer Road	Rochester	14609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alejandro	Uribe	11505 NW 71st St Doral, Fl	Miami	33178	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Deffke	760 Mountain View Avenue	Longmont	80501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carlos	Avila	5971 Tivoli Gardens Blvd	Orlando	32829	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evan	W.	184 Van Horne Ave	Brownville	4414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Clapp	17 7th St	Harwich	2645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gabriela	Hogue	P.O.Box 249	Koppel	16136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D Hugh	Smith	2 Tulip Ct.	Marlton	8053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Delarosa	3934 Fuqua lot b houston,tx	Houston	77047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wendy	Hamilton	1924 Sheridan Ave	ESCONDIDO	92027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eugenia	Ahern	7044 Horrocks Street	PHILADELPHIA	19149	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Jureller	1900 Euclid Ave.	Syracuse	13224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terry	Milan	11 Wild Rose Unit 2	Brewer	4412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Additionally, the FCC should sponsor an open standard web service API to run in cable boxes which will enable cable boxes to work with any internet provider.
Candice	Eye	2383 N Sunshine Path	Crystal River	34428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Hause	2650 Gracie Dr	Harrisburg	17112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Pryor	107 Jade Creek Drive	HILTON	14468	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lesley	Forrester	404 Middle Ave	Wilmerding	15148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Evans	7326 4th Ave N	St Petersburg	33710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeff	Flick	205 W. Payran St. #7	Petaluma	94952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Ronchrlli	410 Melvin St. Petaluma, CA	PETALUMA	94952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sterling	Hamm	3919 sharon copley road	Medina	44256	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	S	10726 Stone Ave N	Seattle	98133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	LaBelle	2421 Winter Walk Circle, Morrisville NC	Morrisville	27560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	DeVetter	1422 Willow St	La Crescent	55947	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher	Kromberg	10622 LAKE DR APT. B	Seminole	33772	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diana	Fraley	2759 Riverside Dr.	Beloit	53511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Yakovakis	53 Madison Ave	CAMBRIDGE	2140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	Kjono	9200 Mulholland Dr.	GRAND FORKS	58201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Bissontz	106 Anderson Pl	Buffalo	14222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margaret	Bonnema	358 COllege St.	Collierville	38017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Stout	13 Karaka Place	3420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sean	Tujaka	1016 Garden Court	N8S2R9	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Iuliana	Silard	Mahonia 18, Valkenswaard NL	5552MA	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gladys	Peterson	11712 SW 52nd ter	Micanopy	32667	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
don	bartlett	510 ridgefield terrace	Ridgefield	7657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juanita	Westberg	17035 Deodar St.	Hesperia	92345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Boutet	9610 S Winchester Ave	Chicago	60643	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rhonda	Cobb	38170 camarada Lane	Murrieta	92563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Saltzman	1420 Locust Street #23M	PHILADELPHIA	19102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Autumn	Stanley	241 Bonita Rd	Portola Valley	94028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glen	Ivey	38286 Sandy Cove Road	Ocean View	19970	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Hughes	1206 11th St	Anacortes	98221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lorraine	Nauman	645 East Broad Street, Nevada City, CA.	Nevada City	95959	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mark	lotito	3 raymond court	Garden City	11530	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	Mainiero	12 Lucille Rd.	Carmel	10512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Chatterton	633 S 22nd street	Omaha	68102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	O'Donnell	455 S 48TH ST	Philadelphia	19143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomast	Tassinari	54 Fitzpatrick Rd.	GRAFTON	1519	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rev Linda	Andrews	665 SW Viewmont Dr	Portland	97225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Sabin	905 Pearson Dr	Roswell	88201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Zielinski	385 McCormick Lane	Crossville	38571	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dirk	VANDENHEUVEL	40 Flintlock Vlg	Wells	4090	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nick	Metallo	1230 Brandywine Dr	Toms River	8753	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	S	4th	Venice	90291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leslie	Sheridan	4246 MULLEN AVE	Clearlake	95422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Herrod	P O Box 140371	Toledo	43614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
d	henry	2galway cir	Hummelstown	17036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tynesha	Jackson	22680 Civic Center Dr.	Southfield	48033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Renee	Gauthier	2270 Deerwood Acres Dr	Saint Augustine	32084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Baker	16056 34th ave ne	Seattle	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Craig	Figtree	1906 n bissell st. chicago 60614	Chicago	60614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Jaspan	2447 NW 63rd Street	Seattle	98107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Ragione	23592 Henry Rd.	Ridgely	21660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rose Ann	Kaiser	1900 W.Park Dr.	Huntington	46750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nahiris	Bahamon	1401 S State Street	Chicago	60605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	S.	Alexandria, LA	Alexandria	71302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Betty_Ann	Duggan	3 Gordon Way	Princeton Twp	8540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elmer	Purnell	3326 Robinson Road	Gainesville	30506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nick	Williams	16 Hickory Ln	Plainville	6062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jason	F	321 East 89th St	New York	10128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Mason	ABINGTON, MA	Abington	2351	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Ruane	2106 Jefferson Avenue	Scranton	18509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rosie	Hill	Arlington Crescent	BIRMINGHAM	35205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessica	Merrill	313 Moreton Bay Lane #5	Goleta	93117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C.	Reilly	B.S.	Ballston Spa	12020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dale	Edwards	124 SE Sandstone Dr	Blue Springs	64014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Haak	1074 N. Rockridge	Asheboro	27205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Sarkisian	2679 Bay Vista	Highland	48357	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sarah	Vinson	238 paramount	BUFFALO	14223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kate	McGee	10227 Big Rock Road	Silver Spring	20901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Mayer	5443 S Ridgewood Ct	Chicago	60615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bud	Geddes	759 Southwood Ct. Rochester Hills, MI	Rochester	48307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	MacKelvie	1954 Palisades Dr	Appleton	54915	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicole	McMichael	406 Judson St S	Tacoma	98444	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Connie	Gardiner	513 S Lincoln Lane	ARLINGTON HEIGHTS	60005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Gennarelli	2201 Covinton Ln., Plano, Texas	Plano	75023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bill	Barnes	1310 Jamaica Ct.	AUGUSTA	30909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randolph	Scott	6225 York Rd	Baltimore	21212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Silverthorne	408 e 20th	Spokane	99203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Shadbera	673 springtown rd	Tillson	12486	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Shadbera	201 crescent pl	Yonkers	10704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Shadbera	673 springtown rd	Tillson	12486	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Hannon	248 Apache Dr	Paint Lick	40461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Fagan	605 S Linden Ave	Alliance	44601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Reeves	721 Elaine Dr	Stockton	95207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Price	2501 E. Leroy Rd., Cleveland, OK	Cleveland	74020	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Harry	Leffman	6323 n charles	BALTIMORE	21212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Suzanne	everette	3315 Winston drive	Burlington	27215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Bennett	204 West 27th Street	Vancouver	98660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ogden & Elisabeth	Brandt	15 Goodrich St.	Canton	13617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Rose	2252 Union SE Grand Rapids	GRAND RAPIDS	49507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Buzyniski	555 Worcester ST.	Southbridge	1550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roc	Rinaldi	7 Kilkea Court	Nottingham	21236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Edwards	5800 East Lake Drive	LISLE	60532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emma	Tufano	286 Southern Blvd	Nesconset	11767	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anne	Mottola	14503 Menifee St.	Austin	78725	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Henna	Kevin	Reinolankatu 3-5 A2		48600	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	K	111 State St	Concord	94518	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Conner	PO Box 8	GAUSE	77857	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ben	Grego	330 BROADMEADOWS	Columbus	43214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Browning	111 Rivers Edge Dr.	Chapmanville	25508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Rutherford	2429 MAPLE DR	Knoxville	37918	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	S	344 Dandelion Cres.	Virginia Beach	23453	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rick	Hollings	829 Myrtle Grove Lane.	Apex	27502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	Counselman	605 Sayre Drive	PRINCETON	8540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julio	Sanz	2060 NE Miami Gardens Dr	Miami	33179	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rae	Griffin	Griffin	Berea	44017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Concepcion	Elvira	320 S Country Club Road	TUCSON	85716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosemary	Maynes	201 Mokema Avenue	Waltham	2451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Nock	3365 W 114th Pl	Westminster	80031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eilleen	Ehret-Reimer	1171 SW Levens St	Dallas	97338	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brett	Cease	4583 La Croix Rd	Denton	76208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Blanca	Kopacz	7735	Keyport	7735	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Burger	265 E. Main St.	Jonesborough	37659	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Kellen	70 Sawyer Ave Apt 202	MALONE	12953	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ann	McGarry	75 Hillcrest Avenue	Port Chester	10573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carl	Johnson	6215 Holliard Rd.	Lansing	48911	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zach	Kadar	43 Drexmore Rd	Rochester	14610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Howard	Markert	1650 Fifth Ave.	Youngstown	44504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Leon	501 Beaumonde Ave	Shelby	28150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ellie	Loon	2878 Mary Nell Dr.S.W.	Byron Center	49315	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Liam	Leary	Winter Hill	Tuckahoe	10707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donald	Seeger	204 Southwood Terrace	Louisville	40214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Stanley	282A Mt. View Road	Wallingford	5773	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Spears	735 Stonecress Drive	Tipp City	45371	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Russ	Brady	40 Bridge ST	Milford	3055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Holly	Dorsett	3602 Campfield Ct	Katy	77449	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Patsel	84 Lakeside Ave.	STOCKHOLM	7460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra	Moore	10370 Evelyn Drive, Clio, MI	Clio	48420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cassandra	Johnson	1526 Spring Place N W	Washington	20010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tiffany	Haverfield	21 Beacon St. Apt 3Q	Boston	2108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maia	Donohue	6504 cannonleague dr	Austin	78745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kaye	Mouldin	6026 LAKE Ruth DR W	Dundee	33838	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sarah	Sard	434 W 120th Street	New York	10027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	McDonald	629 South 68th Street		63214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Neeman	511 Bramblewood Court	Dayton	45424	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heidi	Simones	1556 Georgetown Rd	Loveland	45140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	K.	65 Hillcrest	Westport	2790	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michele	Lagorio	1693 B Stevens Pl	Los Altos	94024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Watson	4011 Firethorn Ct	Las Cruces	88011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephanie	de Rios	750 Kalamath Drive	Del Mar	92014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Bouchard	king	WARWICK	2886	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Dowdle	3755 1/2 4th Ave	SAN DIEGO	92103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bob	Rayburn	10706 S Avenue J	Chicago	60617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	McNair	1015 W. Arlington Rd.	Erie	16509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Zeman	4011 Ingalls St. #5 San Diego, CA	San Diego	92103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregg	Arrington	165 Clinton Ave	Brooklyn	11205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
RICHARD	LEE	704 SOUTH STONEMAN AVE APARTMENT D	Alhambra	91801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Brown	295 Oak Ridge Dr.	Madison Heights	24572	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Delores	Niesolowski	6 Los Lagos Ln	Port Saint Lucie	34952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aida	Lopez	1220 E Avenue R3	Palmdale	93550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Henry	5637 Orion Court	Golden	80403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Brant	310 willow st.	PORT TOWNSEND	98368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Finazzo	77 Rose Brier Drive	Rochester	48309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Hazelton	3990 Humbert Road	Alton	62002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dick	Dierks	218 E. Harris St.	APPLETON	54911	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carl	Green	3625 Pompano Court	Gotha	34734	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Check	19 Teresa Pl.	Bridgeport	6606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Essex	9722 State Route 95	Cuba	61427	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachna	Mathur	1416 calle Clemente	La Verne	91750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Samantha	Kushner	1720 north fuller ave	LOS ANGELES	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

gary	griffin	577 Riverside Ave	Elmira	14904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MIchael	Hogan	514 e brewster	Appleton	54911	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	wasserman	167 east Marion st	Mount Gilead	43338	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jackie	Griffeth	4445 Fountain Springs Grove	COLORADO SPRINGS	80916	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carla	Metzner	13709 Winterwood Way SE, ABQ, NM	Albuquerque	87123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shefena	Kong	1620 S Michigan Ave	Chicago	60616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elizabeth	LaBue	65 St. Paul's Ave.	Staten Island	10301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heiner	chinchilla	467 me 129 st . North Miami, Florida	Miami	33161	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Margarita	Wilde	7300 Reames Rd	Charlotte	28216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heiner	chinchilla	467 me 129 st . North Miami, Florida	Miami	33161	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Marshall	204 Molina St.	Sunnyvale	75182	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Kornbluh	300 East Overlook Apt.343 Port Washington,NY	Port Washington	11050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ali	Awada	Manhattan	New York	10001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ndersenKarla	A	501 E Hattie Ave	Coeur D Alene	83814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aviva	Myers-Taylor	4380 W Point Loma Blvd	SAN DIEGO	92107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aviva	Myers-Taylor	4380 W Point Loma Blvd	SAN DIEGO	92107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Mihok	5075 Vista Chico Loop	Las Cruces	88012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katherine	Doyle	2232 Vermilion Rd	DULUTH	55803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

COurtney	Williams	92 McGuire Ave	Peekskill	10566	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Tolpin	256 Glen Avenue	Millburn	7041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Seidman	215 Hidden Valley Road	Kingston	12401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Przybylski	0s550 Cornell Ave.	Villa Park	60181	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Taylor	338 W. Quail Drive	Marmora	8223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Przybylski	0s550 Cornell Ave.	Villa Park	60181	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tony	Tomei	4664 Ridgeway Dr.	Los Alamos	87544	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Chambless	4205 SW Spokane St	Seattle	98116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michele	Schwartz	Ovelook Rd	Morgantown	19543	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kimberly	Petty	2145 n 1050 w	Layton	84041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dean	Brown	1908 SW 12 Ave, Ft. Lauderdale, FL	Fort Lauderdale	33315	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	B	477 FDR Drive	New York	10002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

DENNIS	BARBATO SR	3111 ocean	Hollywood	33019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Glatt	333 West Long Ave Apt 6	Du Bois	15801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Eby	16916 NE 35th Circle	VANCOUVER	98682	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terry	Quinn	4138 Vrain st	Denver	80212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Holman	Robert	2912 E 14th Ave	SPOKANE	99202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Price	129 Allendale Dr. Pittsboro, NC	Pittsboro	27312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christy	Heiden	13025 SE OrientDr. Unit # 8	Boring	97009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eileen	Collard	54 Middlesex St.	North Chelmsford	1863	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kevin	Curtis	339 N Jefferson Ave, Fullerton	Fullerton	92832	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

B	Maddigan	8 Thatcher Row	Middleboro	2346	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Cornell	8132 Island View Dr NE	Olympia	98506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Lohn	412 SW 4th Pl	Renton	98057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	foster	4 Henley avenue		hu9 1ju	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	ford	11225 Melba ave	Cleveland	44104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	Santiago	Tampa, Florida	Tampa	33634	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Stein	151 SW 95th Terrace, Unit 102	Hollywood	33025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Walsh	18 Colony Cir	Glastonbury	6033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Lish	1004 Los Gamos Rd. Apt. D	San Rafael	94903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

A	Maddigan	8 Thatcher Row	MIDDLEBORO	2346	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Sigler	1144 sw 28 ave	boynton beach	33426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eddie	Bumguardner	621 N Elm #31	Cortez	81321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J	S	does not share	Aurora	60505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Pates	2624 E. Shady Glen Ct	Springfield	65804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Rodgers	936 Lewisberry Road	Lewisberry	17339	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

SUZANNE	LEFAUCHEUX	4898 NW 29TH CT. LAUDERDALE LAKES,FL 33313	Fort Lauderdale	33313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
NK	Acevedo	48 Granger St #2	Dorchester	2122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ben	Johnson	3910 Gann Rd SE	SMYRNA	30082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Downey	111 Central Ave	Chelsea	2150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Fink	380 13th St., #2	Brooklyn	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Corinne	Italiano	15 Cherry Ln	Lynbrook	11563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	McDill	215 Trafalgar	SAN ANTONIO	78216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mara	Obelcz	3283 roxbury rd hatfield, pa	Hatfield	19440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Regina	Woiler	99 Hillside ave	New York	10040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Arthur	Dristiliaris	156 Sharon St Providence, RI	Providence	2908	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Johnson	15215 Bancroft Road	Auburn	95602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Danis	2476 Whetstone Lane	Myrtle Beach	29579	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

melody	miller	2708 summit st.	Bethel Park	15102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carla	H	104 N 178 St	Seattle	98133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edwin	Homeier	109 Sun St	Cabery	60919	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randolph	Reynolds	1540 York ave	New York	10028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aaron	Pyle	23 James St.	Bangor	4401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Costello	8010 Macomb	GROSSE ILE	48138	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aaron	Pyle	23 James St.	Bangor	4401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	Vesely	438 Charles Bancroft Hwy.	Litchfield	3052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Popiel	Littleton, CO	Littleton	80127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

laurie	strubbe	116 mill creek dr	Ashby	1431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Rivera	822 GIVERNY COURT GREENVILLE SC	Greenville	29607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Burnett	3308 Colony Ct	Mishawaka	46545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Belinda	Gallant	1952 2nd Ave	New York	10029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Stoddard	238 River Rd	Richmond	4357	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Barnes	401 Sioux Tr	Chattanooga	37411	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Clare	Deucher	133 Rindge Tpke, Ashburnham MA	Ashburnham	1430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Widman	15 Myrtlewood Dr.	Milford	6461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Prieto	4375 VAN DYKE AVE #5	SAN DIEGO	92105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Esteban	E	2280 SW 32nd Ave	Miami	33145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emmet	CICCONE	312 EAST 2ND STREET	Media	19063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Hobbensiefken	Avohill Dr.	Vista	92084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Sherrell	7620 Ash St	Grand Ronde	97347	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
darlene	ducott	55 broad st	Westfield	1085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dawn	MacNab	3265 Woodcrest Court, Columbus, IN	Columbus	47203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Piatt	U dont need address	San Diego	92128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
judy& David	Sillen	41 Eastport Ct.	Red Bank	7701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Day	5012 NE 1st Court Renton, WA	Renton	98059	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Philip	Ventura	11600 NW 56th Drive APT101	Pompano Beach	33076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rhonda	Bast	1000 S. 108th St., C22	Milwaukee	53214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
RedElisa	Mendoza	798 NE 123 St.	Miami	33161	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eileen	Hiatt	113 Prospect street	Newburyport	1950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Lass	107 E 2nd St #119	DE WITT	52742	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Alden	63 Hollybrook Dr	Asheville	28803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rebecca	Soule	340 Folly Farms Cir	Mount Airy	27030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Boyce	7061 Grantham Way	CINCINNATI	45230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ramsay	Macinnes	40 South Street	Cherry Valley	1611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Flier	107 Rosaria	Peoria	61607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Immaculate	Wesley	3227 Lane 1 N	Alamosa	81101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yvonne	Rowe	15901 Munn Rd.,(UP), Cleveland, Ohio	Cleveland	44111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tina	DellaGiustina	9 broderick st	Easthampton	1027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	DeSalvo	3315 Old Orchard Lane	Youngstown	44511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Kilts	23321 - 62nd Avenue South, #E104, Kent	Kent	98032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Philip	Nemiec	455 Horseshoe Dr.	BASALT	81621	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	carpenter	17 Camino de las	Placitas	87043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherman	Handberg	1123 N Basswood Ave	Duluth	55811	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stewart	Smythe	590 KANE CREEK BLVD APT 9	Moab	84532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arnold	MAROTTA	237 Morri	Woodlyn	19094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Dubaniewicz	142 23rd Ave	Kenosha	53140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Turner	230 Peepeye Cove Rd	Leicester	28748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judy	Springsteen	1436 257th St	HARBOR CITY	90710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin and Connie	Plattner	19731 Shorecliff Lane	HUNTINGTON BEACH	92648	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gina	Marafiote	456 fifth avenue	Hubbard	44425	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Gestri	172 Somerset Dr.	Patterson	12563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Love	16 Dorchester Court	Saint Peters	63376	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Patocka	5580 Avenida Florencia	YORBA LINDA	92887	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Max	K.B.	3478 Bethune Ave		20000	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Karney	424 Lynetree Drive	West Chester	19380	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alan	Reynolds	5 Beecher Street	Pawtucket	2860	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
philip	katzman	11638 ellison wilson road	North Palm Beach	33408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emmylou	Reynolds	5 Beecher Street	Pawtucket	2860	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

B Lou	deBonis	30 Hunter Street	Croton on Hudson	10520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Koplin	111 Bayfield Ct	Lake Mills	53551	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Tracy	723 River Rd	BUCKSPORT	4416	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Barnes	16410 Knottingham Drive	Pflugerville	78660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Butler	11225 Commanders Ln	White Plains	20695	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katie	Ussery	1511 n elm st. #10	Denton	76201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charlene	Hinckley	312 W McKinley Ave	Hinckley	60520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rob	Vernon	5735 Thompson Hill Rd	Placerville	95667	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Bennett	12513 NE 130th Way	Kirkland	98034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marilyn	Geary	719 South Wayne Street	Arlington	22204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Torretta	200 Centner Court	Canon City	81212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosemary	Price	15 Red Coon run	Pittsboro	27312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Polly	Avendano	213-06 75 Ave 4L	Oakland Gardens	11364	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evie	Hoffman	18 America Way	SALEM	1970	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Parker	2115 Parkway Drive	Charleston	29412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anne	Curry	64 Fairmount St	New Bedford	2740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pete	Compton	Stanwood, WA	Stanwood	98292	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Shore	1302 Dartmouth Dr NE	Albuquerque	87106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathrina	Spyridakis	1698 Henrietta St	Birmingham	48009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
bruce	center	1623 dupont ave N	Minneapolis	55411	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Begin	34540 Jerome, chesterfield	New Baltimore	48047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rose	Dial	Palm Coast	Palm Coast	32164	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Branam	627 miner st.	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evan	Owski	1385A Hampshire St., San Francisco, CA	San Francisco	94110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Newman	4625	Des Moines	50313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Simpson	slc	Salt Lake City	84106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Hough	3808 Manor Dr	Greensboro	27403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeanette	Copeland	1832 Montana St	Missoula	59801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Quentin	Stafford	619 american way	LAKELAND	33815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
TJ	Cawley	Morrisville, NC	Morrisville	27560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Tillman	720 N. Highland	Dearborn	48128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Tarpley	P.O. Box 818, McDonough, Georgia	McDonough	30253	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Merle	Moden	1111 Thompson Ranch Road	Wimberley	78676	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Stapleton	11003 Kentucky	Independence	64054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Drew	Goin	3480 1/2 Beverly Place	Shreveport	71105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susanne	Lachapelle	475 E. 115th Street	New York	10029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Georgia	Salmon	717 Trinity St	Eureka	95501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Qua	717 Atlantic Ave	Boston	2111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Lowe	612 Sycamore Mill Drive	COLUMBUS	43230	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anita	Runyan	2685 Cresta de Ruta	Eugene	97403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
WF	Clement	152 Kent Oaks Way	GAITHERSBURG	20878	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Juan	Villegas	5349 S. Gila Ave.	TUCSON	85746	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Terry	Powell	5211 E. Pembrook Cir	Wichita	67220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Balaka	1130 Falcon St	Dearborn	48128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherlene	Evans	1945 Olive St	READING	19604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Becky	Scott	2707 S. Rutherford Blvd. Apt. 121	Murfreesboro	37130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Mitchell	716 harrisburg dr	Davidsonville	21035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jo	Green	4251 W. 109th Circle	Westminster	80031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bronwyn	Dawson	3782 Briarcliff dr Pittsburg ca	Pittsburg	94565	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terrence	Pitts	119 S Redfield St	Philadelphia	19139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryszard	Grodzicki	48615 Stonebriar Dr.	Canton	48188	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Signed by Ryszard Grodzicki

Shawn	Tovey	3001 North Texas Street	Fairfield	94533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Caso	306 w elm	Enid	73701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Connie	House	1217 Wilder Ave	Helena	59601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laura	Casey	1388 S Hobart Rd.	Hobart	46342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lauri	Rudolph	230 Nettles Lane	Ponte Vedra	32081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
charles	Miller	190 Clinton Ave	Tiffin	44883	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Burchfiel	6004 Bunchberry Ct., Raleigh, Nc	Raleigh	27616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Boynton	1024 Forest Hills Ave	Annapolis	21403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Lundholm	2014 N. Old Hicks Road, Palatine, IL	Palatine	60074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lolli	Rioux	899 Arnold Ct.	FORT WAINWRIGHT	99703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Mc Cane	9143 Erie Circle	West Chester	45069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alan	Martin	2364 Joncie Court	NORCROSS	30071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anne	Dumas	470 Avenue C SE	Winter Haven	33880	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jody	Walters	368 Burwood Avenue	Camden	8105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Cloud	298D Cape Labelle Rd	TONASKET	98855	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J	Frieswyk	409 East Lincoln Street, Ithaca, N.Y.	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brittany	Griebling	129 CARPENTER LN	PHILADELPHIA	19119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Ball	6298 Macs Road	Manito	61546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Bucknam	PO Box 231	Oceanside	97134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Waite	16407 NE 170th PL	Woodinville	98072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Hug	209 wind Rdge ne Jacksonville, AL	Jacksonville	36265	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Gebauer	5001 Laurelgrove Avenue	Valley Village	91607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jacque	Thiele	12 Woods Road	Marlow	3456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. This is America - it only makes sense that we, the people, should have the ability to choose for ourselves the cable box which works most efficiently and best for ourselves.
Beth Ann	Thompson	1545 San Francisco St	Redding	96001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paulette	Barbick	10607 s Av J	Chicago	60617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicole	Waldron	PO Box 356	Hamden	45634	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve and Teresa	Gillum	9351 E. Nees Avenue	Effingham	62401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robin	Elliott	691 Randy Dr	Newbury Park	91320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Block	435 East Chartres St.	Anaheim	92805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	Autry	821 Eastland Drive	FT MITCHELL	41017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jerry	fannin	greendale rd	Hortonville	54944	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angelo	Romanelli	1440 Paterson Ave. Whitung, NJ	Manchester Township	8759	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Hunt	23321 62nd ave s. , e104	Kent	98032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bonnie	Gerson	11008 Canon Yeomans CT.	Austin	78748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Michalkiewicz	609 Hewitt St.	Neenah	54956	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	Donato	26437 Petaluma Ave	Moreno Valley	92555	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paulette	Barbick	10607 s Av J	Chicago	60617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
carolyn	wright	52 Crescent Road	Greenbelt	20770	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Wilson	6090 E. Castle Hot Spgs. Rd.	MORRISTOWN	85342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Steed	348 Dawson Street	Philadelphia	19128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kim	Thomas	1212 N. 17th St.	Superior	54880	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joy	Roth	4625 W 8th St	Winona	55987	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Elkins	26826 County Rd 4, Nisswa, MN	Nisswa	56468	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Ferris	2004 Wildwood Drive	Wilmington	19805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Constance	Arnold	1921 Parkhill Drive	Billings	59102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Greg	Roll	10092 Forest Hwy 13	Rapid River	49878	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Don and Joyce	Faulk	6103 Abilene Trl	AUSTIN	78749	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Kavelman	133 McClellan Dr.	Pleasant Hills	15236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bradley	Freeman	3200 Davis Mill Rd	Goochland	23063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Riley	1314 northpoint Dr n	san marcos	78666	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Carpenter	3917 Madrone Ave.	OAKLAND	94619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Arnold	2002 Harlan Dr Apt 1	Bellevue	68005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robin	Skeie	182 Kent St. #6, St. Paul, MN	Saint Paul	55102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Audette	33100 Freds Row Ln.	SAINT HELENS	97051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Dorn	1481 Grattan Rd	Columbus	43227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Debus	2038 Wyndham Hollow Court	Jacksonville	32246	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clay	Hansen	930 Merlin Drive	LAFAYETTE	80026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Gresko	87 Long Hill Road	Highland Mills	10930	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karl	Jones	1000 Woodward rd	Clinton	20735	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kirk	Robinson	Po Box 183	Welches	97067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	O'Dell	7672 Foxboro Lane	Columbus	43235	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Enrica	Carabelli	Via Castelli 30 C	Verbania	28922	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
marlene	powers	1820 E Wood Lane	Mount Prospect	60056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandra	Oresman	445 Hathaway Circle	Los Lunas	87031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Hoffmann	3908 La Mesa Dr	Fort Collins	80524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Waibel	41805 n signal hill ct, anthem,az	Phoenix	85086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gregory	Park	107 Jubilee Place	New Bern	28560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DeeVon	Quirolo	222 E. Liberty St.	Brooksville	34601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Carter	5529 S. Village Dr.	ROANOKE	24018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chaz	Plant	343 Gold St	Brooklyn	11201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Myrna	Trautvetter	422 Elaine Drive	Pittsburgh	15236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jenny	Jones	662 Commercial Street	NORTH BEND	97459	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eusebio	Vestias	Antonio Joaquim Da Guerra		71501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Barker	6214 NE Alameda St.	Portland	97213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Trycenia	Upshaw	Upshaw	Highland	46322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Gaulke	W287 N8950 Center Oak	Hartland	53029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Wells	400 Broken Arrow Road	Roswell	88201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Miyares	8066 Samuel Wallis Street	Lorton	22079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jessie	Hernandez	425 75th ST #1	North Bergen	7047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amanda	Martinez	22409 Charlene Way, Castro Valley, CA	Castro Valley	94546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Bates	1735 Brantley Road Apt 413	Fort Myers	33907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Mitchel	719 N Avalon St	Memphis	38107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Smith	Maresfield	Marlton	8053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deanne	O'Donnell	137 Ron Drive	Derry	15627	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Agriesti	11750 CAPRI CIR S APT 9	Treasure Island	33706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gladys	Antonino	10012 Babbitt Ave.	Northridge	91325	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alex	King	7211 Easy Wind Dr	AUSTIN	78752	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin J.	Gosztonyi	11 W. Fourth St. Apt.3	Bethlehem	18015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. This is just one more glaring example that we don't have free markets but fixed markets.
gene	polis	1000 main st	MESA	85204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emily	Ricks	131 Boerum St Apt 1C	BROOKLYN	11206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roger	Williams	7259 eagle	Indianapolis	46278	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aldo	Barbieri	Pomabamba239-303	Fort Pierce	34946	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randy	Kornak	23105 E13 Mile St clair Shores Mi	Saint Clair Shores	48082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Leaver	95 Spring Meadow Drive	Buffalo	14221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Dewey	11107louise costin lane#1207	Murrells Inlet	29576	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rosemary	Lantagne	9472 Whippoorwill Rd.	Diamond	44412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Senta	Tsantilis	2865 Lincoln Way	San Francisco	94122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Miller	PO BOX 5052	Santa Barbara	93150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carole	Plourde	70 Cedar St	Amesbury	1913	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gina	Bonelli	1102 tunis st	PENSACOLA	32503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deneena	Fulco	3018 West Cavett	Shreveport	71104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Gammell	4428 Wyandot St	Denver	80211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Cleary	422 Colon Ave	Staten Island	10308	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Van Zandt	1704 Haynes Ln.	Redondo Beach	90278	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Hull	10000 Avonlea Pkwy apt 404	Woodstock	30189	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Neeley	22658 W Washington Street	Antioch	60002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chase	Hyson	77 lakeside drive	Morgantown	26508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomasine	Baker	Springfield, Va	Springfield	22153	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	MacLuskie	12703 Kramer Lane	BOWIE	20715	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
madeleine	Wennerstrom	24 cram hill rd	Randolph	5060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
gia	battista	40 laura ln	Copiague	11726	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matt	Geer	8155 rosemere	WILLOW SPRINGS	60480	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Latham	51 Village Court	Berlin	1503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	Walser	Walser	Madison	53713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rebekah	Dickson	357 Lesa Ln	Stonewall	71078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peggy	Baughns	3792 Austin Park Ln	Decatur	30032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Wagner	320 Annapolis St. E.	Saint Paul	55118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Markowitz	3775 Street Rd PO Box 656, Lahaska, PA	Lahaska	18931	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jesse	McGee	3320 Plyers Mill Road	Kensington	20895	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Breneman	3729 E. Prospect, Seattle, WA	Seattle	98112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martha	Dzioba	2124 Royal Pines Drive	New Bern	28560	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Davey	1 Campbell Road	New Freedom	17349	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Plancich	14529 32nd Ave NE	Shoreline	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Harrington,LCSW	4373 Centennial Ct #1 Gurnee Illinois	Gurnee	60031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Frankel	4039 Liberty Canyon Rd.	Agoura Hills	91301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Graham	9833 Maplewood St	Bellflower	90706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	McDonald	5513 Pennsylvania Blvd, Concord, CA	Concord	94521	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Dollarton	13 Kaylin Corner	CHALFONT	18914	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Blume	198 Keith Rd.	Clermont	30527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Finocchiaro	124 Harmony Pl Melbourne Beach	Melbourne Beach	32951	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Waldron	2723 6th Ave	Pueblo	81003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Constance	Lord	1925 Campbellton Road SW	Atlanta	30311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicole	Bourassa	7847 Lakeside Blvd.	Boca Raton	33434	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arthur	Potvin	219 mountain st.	Willimantic	6226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Sikorski	820 Virginia Drive	Orlando	32803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	White	99 Squire Ln	Clifton Park	12065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marlin	Tusha	305 Calumet Circle	YANKTON	57078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Bravo	108 Belle Plaine Ave.	Park Ridge	60068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karrin	Herring	205 Wykes St	ALIQUIPPA	15001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Annette	Carr	71 Locust Lan	Northport	11768	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gay	Trachsel	420 W Faribault st	Duluth	55803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Harrington,LCSW	4373 Centennial Ct #1 Gurnee Illinois	Gurnee	60031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Whitmarsh	Bisbee	Bisbee	85603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mohammad	siddiqi	3382 burbank drive	ANN ARBOR	48105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hawley	Miller	4805 Manor Ave	PORTSMOUTH	23703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Yarberry	18641 Boynton Street	Oregon City	97045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	McRae	4467 Dawes St.	San Diego	92109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

S.	Barnhart	43 Eucalyptus Path	Berkeley	94705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Stafford	7307 Encampment Road	Lansdale	19446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Holm	5240 KIMBERLY RD	Minnetonka	55345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shevette	Greenhow	8033 Waterview Court	Frederick	21701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vicki	Matheny	Ocala, FL	Ocala	34473	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janelle	Chase	1888 San Jose Ave.	San Francisco	94112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Sullivan	412 Marsh Pt.	Hilton Head Island	29926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Dudley	No spam mail	Tulsa	74114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Carcovich	18353 Van Ness Ave	Torrance	90504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elena	C	26 Ave.	BAYSIDE	11360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	McIlhenny	1424 NE 16th	Portland	97232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claire	Lofton	1859 Wynnewood Rd	Philadelphia	19151	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dan	Wicht	941 Overton Drive Northeast	Minneapolis	55432	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Rigrod	5301 Balboa Blvd. #F2 Encino, CA	Encino	91316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Angela	Ward	833 Osprey Point Trl	Virginia Beach	23451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hollie	Hallman	184 Brandtson Ave	ELYRIA	44035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
G Douglas	Ray	26-34 18th Street, #1R	Astoria	11102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Colin	Kay	7637 161st Pl	TINLEY PARK	60477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynn	Spencer	1515 Venice	Dearborn	48124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Underberg	1357 Meadow Ln	Fort Dodge	50501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Richards	5501 E Harmon Ave	Las Vegas	89122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JacqueLyn	Lobelle	5418 NE 89th Ave	Vancouver	98662	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nadine	Robinson	269 Slater St	Attleboro	2703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dale	Biersteker	15 Sea Spray Ave	Mashpee	2649	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Gallaway	1901 Southwood Rd.	Birmingham	35216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teri	Lamour	11355 N Gray Boulder Ct	Tucson	85737	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Butler	133 E Chapman	Grand Marais	55604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Weber	21 Gorham Avenue	BROOKLINE	2445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Pribula	8935 N 17th Ave	Phoenix	85021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lous	Doric	1125 Union	Clearwater	33755	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pat	Corell	Dunedin, FL	Dunedin	34698	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
leonard	bildstein	766 Centennial St	Geneva	44041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
richard	Benevent	71 Langdon Place	Lynbrook	11563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Doupe	243 Mt. Pleasant Road	Bainbridge	13733	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Patterson	15058 Fern Loop	Harrison	83833	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julie	Weinstein	23459 Welby way	West Hills	91307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emily	Braunig	5114 Lindsey Road	Champaign	61822	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeffrey	Coleman	1612 3rd Street Cir E	Palmetto	34221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wanda	Halpin	219 N Main Street	Milbridge	4658	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Yuri	Aldanov	16031 Pioneer blvd	Norwalk	90650	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Arthur	Gilroy	18 West Sterling st	Wharton	7885	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Lally	260 Rolling Hill Road	Portsmouth	2871	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carla	Tuke	824 Wilmington Ave	Salt Lake City	84106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yuri	Aldanov	16031 Pioneer blvd	Norwalk	90650	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Fernandez	8236 Fendale Dr.	Saint Louis	63123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adam	Wright	96 S 28th St.	Battle Creek	49015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Wright	96 S 28th St.	Battle Creek	49015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Rosta	382 3rd. St., Brooklyn, NY	Brooklyn	11215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chauncey	Wood	16444 E. Monaco Dr., Unit B	FOUNTAIN HILLS	85268	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
maureen	perron	200 turnberry Road	Half Moon Bay	94019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Conti	P. O. Box 59	Sheffield	1257	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacqui	Foster	731 state	Belleville	62220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Hunter	7115 Painter Paradise	Las Vegas	89131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Calabrese	7524 West Dead Creek Rd, Baldwinsville, New York	Baldwinsville	13027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Johnson	824Parkwood Lane	OMAHA	68132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joann	Eckstut	26 Marston Place	RENSSELAERVILLE	7028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Erica	Wright	2509 Phillips Dr	Alexandria	22306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Moquete	4410 East West Highway	HYATTSVILLE	20782	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary M	Young	257 GARFIELD AVE	ANGOLA	14006	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deb	Keegan	2433 13th St. Eau Claire WI	Eau Claire	54703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lawrence	Stepp	1216 Greenfield PLACE	O Fallon	62269	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
armold	martelli	1121 Infinity Ave	Burlingame	94010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Yvonne	Dawson	4129 Cambridge	DES MOINES	50313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Haley	9308 Elberon Way	ELK GROVE	95758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Greer	537 Clinton Ave 3C	Brooklyn	11238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
rafael	de leon jr.	366 river isle way	SACRAMENTO	95831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gayle	davidson	not on Main	MOBILE	36609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Galen	691 Southtowne Drive	BELVIDERE	61008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Terry	Price	322 E independence	Jacksonville	62650	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Bernal	197 South Emerald Oak Dr.	Galt	95632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R.	D	8430 Hilltop Drive	Indianapolis	46234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Curtis	520 Scraggy Neck Rd.	Cataumet	2534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

k	g	4 wy	Orting	98360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brandon	Williams	1922 McDuffie #204A	Houston	77019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Murphy	410 N Sheridan St	Bay City	48708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janette	Rose	5701 E. Eldorado Place	Denver	80222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Jacobs	66 Redwood Drive, Halifax	Halifax	2338	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Zalewski	920 N Congress St apt 1	Ypsilanti	48197	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	De La Rosa		3 ANAHEIM	92804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nigel	Lea	317 bread & cheese hollow road	Northport	11768	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leuise	Crumble	252 N Hamlin Blvd	Chicago	60624	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marilyn	Walsh	18 Colony Cir	Glastonbury	6033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Antony	Chapman	176 Camino Ruiz	CAMARILLO	93012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francis	ArgomÌÁniz	Linden Avenue	Middletown	10940	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nigel	Lea	317 bread & cheese hollow road	Northport	11768	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Sonesen	SW 90th	Ocala	34481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stefanie	Ford	1909 Crown Lodge Ln	North Las Vegas	89084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Zigler	6696 Darby Blvd.	Grove City	43123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Young	Rhee	2925 Wigwam Pkwy #1123	Henderson	89074	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cierna	Ritts	11301 Euclid Street Spc. 129	Garden Grove	92840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra	Mills	Hilltop	Golden	80403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rueenfang	Wang	4183 Borders Dr.	El Dorado Hills	95762	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
S	Fischer	3129 Aldrich Ave	Minneapolis	55408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Beers	10858 W Dumbarton Dr	Littleton	80127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Meyer	107B Hampden Ave.	Narberth	19072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Couch	2238 23rd street	San Francisco	94107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Claire	Sherman	4516 Q Lane, N.W.	WASHINGTON	20007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Claire	Sherman	4516 Q Lane, N.W.	WASHINGTON	20007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	henlin	36 echo ave	New Rochelle	10801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Seiler	27 E Reliance Rd	Souderton	18964	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Livingston	2378 Waldon Street	REDDING	96001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stuart	Mork	7710 31st Ave NW	Seattle	98117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laronda	Foster	4850 Lindsey LN Cleveland, Ohio	Cleveland	44143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Toth	202 Guthrie Ave., Alexandria, VA	Alexandria	22305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ANTHONY	SWANSON	656 Sugartree Church Rd	Danville	24540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stephen	Rosen	hrosen80@hotmail.com	Warminster	18974	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Sheets	1117 E Fairfield Dr	Pensacola	32503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Hull	5533 S 1200 W	OGDEN	84405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Sarnacki	2 Robin Lane, Troy, NY	Troy	12180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gary	Donato	2407 Summit Lake Shore Rd NW	Olympia	98502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nate	Hershey	42 Galapago St	Denver	80223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dennis	Bolin	269 Carter St	JESUP	31545	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gail	Evans	2056 Muller Road	SUN PRAIRIE	53590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
paul	Greenwood	524 San Anselmo Ave #125	San Anselmo	94960	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Coppola	288 E. Main St. Branford Ct.	Branford	6405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
sheri	kapust	2019 Perry Ave	REDONDO BEACH	90278	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Oder	1865 1/2 NE Seavy Ave	Corvallis	97330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Molinski	68 Ackley Rd.	Cutler	4626	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jarrod	Johnson	920 Woodmont Blvd	Nashville	37204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Norton	1750 Garden Dr S.B.,Ca	San Bernardino	92404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Julia	Vetrie	26513 Cardinal Dr.	Canyon Country	91387	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rhonda	Edwards	3470 Harbison Street	Pittsburgh	15212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathryn	Norton	1750 Garden Dr S.B.,Ca	San Bernardino	92404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JB	Monk	302 East Second Street	Alden	67512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Ollom	2284 Elliott Hwy	Fairbanks	99712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amelia	DePrimo	3617 33rd Ave S	Minneapolis	55406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melony	Paulson	21919 Santaquin Dr, Diamond Bar	Diamond Bar	91765	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Herb	Hastings	3015 44th Ave So	Minneapolis	55406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Woltering	12114 glenpark dr	Maryland Heights	63043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Maxwell	615 S. Clinton Ave.	Trenton	8611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Estrem	987 18th Ave SE	MINNEAPOLIS	55414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chessa	Johnson	913 Independence St	New Orleans	70117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Cole	7 tulip drive	Fords	8863	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathe	Walton	7060 N Ridge Blvd	Chicago	60645	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
T J	Thompson	PO Box 1178	Gig Harbor	98335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

CJ	Phu	17 Slayton Rd	Melrose	2176	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyle	Guthreau	3811 PERSHING AVE	San Diego	92104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Marshall	9626 343rd Ct.	Twin Lakes	53181	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Obelcz	3283 Roxbury Rd.	Hatfield	19440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nina	Buchanan	50 Ironwood Ct Apt.D	Lafayette	47905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Minthorn	105 West Pine St.	Smithville	64089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roger	Givens	3547 Bowling Green Rd. Morgantown, KY	Morgantown	42261	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
amy	Pick	1 hawk drive	New Paltz	12561	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sue	Lyon	8964B SW 95th St	Ocala	34481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rose	Gansle	5201 Lipes Blvd	CORPUS CHRISTI	78413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Wilkenfeld	1410 Whitney Ave., F-1	HAMDEN	6517	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Cudney	314 W Haya St.	TAMPA	33603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wayne	Ellis	110 E Chestnut St #407	Bellingham	98225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Javene	Hall	10621 SW Tigard St	PORTLAND	97223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tina	Martin	108 Congress Ave.	ROCHESTER	14611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

michelle	Sterritt	3200 N LAKE PLEASANT RD	Attica	48412	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Corr	338129 Poplar drive	Willoughby	44094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Crowell	2102 Lynwood Dr	Champaign	61821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Virginia	Morgan	602 Stockton Court	Madison	53711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lillian	Hom	404 yorkshire rd.	Alameda	94501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Krauss	50 Union St.	NORTHAMPTON	1060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

H	Snell	po box	Great Falls	59401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fred	Reim	1323 SE 21ST TER	Cape Coral	33990	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MaryAnn	Tittle	11670 Buckwheat	Phelan	92371	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn	Lilly	6119 Caminito Sacate	San Diego	92120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Mueller	234 Laurelton Road	Rochester	14609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Card	po box 1212	Newburyport	1950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hilary	Newman	29235 Pointe OWoods Place	Southfield	48034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Dixon	5959 E Northwest Hwy	Dallas	75231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thad	Hitchcock	2149 N 89th St	Seattle	98103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Bailey	1292 Oxford Rd NE	Atlanta	30306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debbie	Foy	551 Meadowbrook Rd	Leicester	28748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norma	Salinas	1516 Misty Glen Lane	Dallas	75232	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Penelope	Sallberg	353 E, Jackson	PASADENA	91104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Foster	2426 Shadyridge Ave	Escondido	92029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tina	Mendousa	20 Cross Rd	Orleans	2653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Bendler	18530 W Ridgewood Lane	New Berlin	53146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	Murphy	P.O. Box 65	Pacific Grove	93950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
debbie	thorn	710 18th Avenue West	Kirkland	98033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

mike	delaney	196 sherwod drive	Wood Dale	60191	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Len	Carella	3874 Sacramento Street	SAN FRANCISCO	94118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lyric	McKnight	2971 S Utica St	DENVER	80236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Kaye	456 Windswept Dr	Asheville	28801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Rinaldi	4154 Seven Lakes W.	West End	27376	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Allen	843 E. River Rd.	Shreveport	71105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

james	Kuhn	1237 Underwood ave.	Norfolk	23513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	LaMarche	820 w pleasant st.	Portage	53901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Mezieres	1333 W. Mulberry Dr	Phoenix	85013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dale	Goodin	10893 W Dartmouth Ave	Denver	80227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Darling	2955 Dyer Ave.	Sebastopol	95472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Myers	204 Cobblestone Dr	San Rafael	94903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lindsey	Loperena	521 Meder St.	SANTA CRUZ	95060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Graber	850 Tavalon Ave.	Saint Louis	63119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Geraldine	Hoag	122 west park lane		29486	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rev	Long	First Presbyterian Church, Buffalo	Buffalo	14201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alyce	Fritch	2160 NE 100th Street	SEATTLE	98125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Candace	Pullano	2015 Swainwood Dr	Glenview	60025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Anderson	210 Cedar St 10	Newport Beach	92663	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jason	phillips	223 fairway	Nashville	37214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	burch	461 Aspen Ln.	Covington	70433	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Claudette	Ashley	5187 Shoreline Blvd	Waterford	48329	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Floyd	Massey	815 N. Greenwood St. Apt. 111	Lagrange	30240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Fowler	7756 - 4th Ave NE	SEATTLE	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Therese	Ryan	37310 36th. st. east	Palmdale	93550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	MacArthur	3611 Bessant Street	INDIAN TRAIL	28079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nick	Barulich	111 E Street	REDWOOD CITY	94063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jan	Nelson	20035 24th Ave. NE	Seattle	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Larrimore	569 Delzan Pl	Lexington	40503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Seiler	145 Glendale	Rochester	48307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Eschenfelder	2401 W 7th Street	Greeley	80634	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Nelson	pob 1075	Bethel Island	94511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Todd	Ihrig	4501 S. 6th St., Apt. 10	Louisville	40214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Stull	6941 Raleigh Lagrange Rd	CORDOVA	38018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Harris	6348 Emerald Ct Willowbrook, IL	Willowbrook	60527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kate	Kerpez	150 Old Farmers Rd	Long Valley	7853	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sam	Simon	2325 Catharine St. , Apt 1	Philadelphia	19146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cory	Miedema	6333 Rocky Pines Way	Nine Mile Falls	99026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jo	Davis	3809 Timber Ridge Rd.	Midlothian	23112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paula	Allen	85 WATERFORD RD	Harrison	4040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Perlson	725 Gaslight Drive	Algonquin	60102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Nusbaum	2916 Gettysburg Avenue South, Minneapolis, MN	Minneapolis	55426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Burton R	Bell	3 Adams St	Barre	5641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Coull	211 Ammunition Avenue	Odenton	21113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Damien	Corr	56 West 12st	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Timothy	Nobles	546 N Laurel St	ASHLAND	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Al	Jones	Unlisted	San Jose	95125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Beggs	1073 Schumacher Ave	Akron	44307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barbara	McEntee	10009 Perry Drive	OVERLAND PARK	66212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Hughey	P.O. box 770683	Steamboat Springs	80477	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Faiella	92 Haverhill St	North Reading	1864	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lou	Marinucci	2104 Ambassador Court	Somerset	8873	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joy	Zadaca	203 W Stewart Way	LONG BEACH	90807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Treece	1212 8th Avenue, San Francisco	San Francisco	94122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Gantt	60 Highlands Ridge Lane	OXFORD	30054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	McDonald	11246 parkhaven way	RIVERSIDE	92505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Waasdorp	Chautauqua, NY	Chautauqua	14722	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Benita	Crow	2854 Lambert Trail	Chesapeake	23323	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Harper	16616 Pasquale Rd	Nevada City	95959	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amie	Corrado-Babe	1103 Montgomery Rd	WILMINGTON	19805	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynda	Ferguson	BISHOP HOLLOW	Newtown Square	19073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patti	Owski	1704 Angela Rd	Walled Lake	48390	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Injeyan	17950 Gallineta street	Rowland Heights	91748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jason	Dean	619 S 6th	West Terre Haute	47885	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Christoffersen	1042 W Barry Ave	CHICAGO	60657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Vergos	4924 Kaye Rd	Memphis	38117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Latham	3 Lauren Lane, New Egypt, NJ	New Egypt	8533	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chandra	Perry-Swick	1978 Baculite Mesa Rd	Pueblo	81001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marianne	Cooper	632 N. Jovita Rd.	Lake Charles	70611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dan	Jensen	27997 NW Dorland Rd.	NORTH PLAINS	97133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachel	Bednarczuk	401 Kedzie St. Apt. A	Madison	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Morrow	75 Bonnet St, Manchester Ctr., VT	Manchester Center	5255	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joe	Connolly	michael la.	Newington	6111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
TD	Johnston	605 Ridge Top Rd	Henrico	23229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
alexa	morgan	6627 W. Louise Dr	Glendale	85310	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marc	Rodriguez	405 Wilford Ln	Cotati	94931	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Janasik	734 3rd Ave. N.	Park Falls	54552	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Snyder	4965 Southard Street	Lake Worth	33463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Malcolm	Hamilton Jr	1732 Rosewood Dr.N.E.	Lancaster	43130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
guy	cardarelli	2428 n. 75th court	Elmwood Park	60707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Levenstien	491 Anlee Rd.	Bridgewater	8807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn	Lowe	30830 Hunters Drive	Farmington	48334	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Sabatino	46 Jackson Ave	Eastchester	10709	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Steck	13 Overvale Rd.	Wolcott	6716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christina	Dickson	109 Tabernacle Rd	BLACK MOUNTAIN	28711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Martin	1946 Pentagon St	Gulf Breeze	32563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerry	Fuerle	PO Box 8608	Cherry Hill	8002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jenne	Orr	4610 Steinhauer Trl	Madison	53716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Antonio	Busalacchi	2904 mcdonald st	Midland	79707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
steve	lyons	lyons	ROCKFORD	61107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Melzer	3615 N Tripp Ave	Chicago	60641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Reuben	Jones	3220 Casteel Road NE	Marietta	30062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Antonio	Busalacchi	2904 mcdonald st	Midland	79707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shirley	Weaver	602. Barton ave	Panama City	32404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Inez	Swinehart	1922 Upper Rd	Shamokin	17872	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Kich	2531 Debbie Drive	Lima	45807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Salkin	68433 San Jacinto Road	CATHEDRAL CITY	92234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Gardner	12225 NW Coleman Dr	Portland	97229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fredricka	Hill	11011 harts rd #1502	Jacksonville	32218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Shokenu	42 Bakare street Idi-araba, Mushin off Ishaga road, Lagos State, Nigeria.	KELLER	23401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Meade	27 Hopedale Street, Hopedale, MA	Hopedale	1747	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
April	Ewaskey	PO BOX 92674	LONG BEACH	90809	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Melendrez	3781 Granada Dr. #32	Palisade	81526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Stieber	16270 12th Ave NE	Seattle	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathleen	Morris	181 E. Beechwold Blvd.	Columbus	43214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sue	Holtz	3355 Heidelberg Dr	Boulder	80305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark M	Giese	1520 Bryn Mawr Ave, Racine, WI	Racine	53403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Myron	Grant	211 Pineridge Street, Ann Arbor, MI	Ann Arbor	48103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Malkin	47 Sierra Ct.	Hillsdale	7642	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Rody	1555 Fernwood Dr	Knox	46534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louise	Quigley	41 Bower Rd., Braintree, MA	Braintree	2184	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kate	Carter	105 Edgar Trail	Reidsville	27320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Scherzinger	3461 Orange Avenue	LONG BEACH	90807	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Brassasrd	1200 S Adams St	Fort Worth	76104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Trish	Pool	1741 Laurel, St Paul	Saint Paul	55104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Remember monopoly is monopoly and it always costs more.
Chris	Kaihatsu	4130 N. Campbell Ave.	Chicago	60618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barney	Fortier	305 Clinton St	LAFAYETTE	70501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nick	Barulich	111 E Street	REDWOOD CITY	94063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maryann	Cuddeback	4934 E. Timrod	Tucson	85711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
cheryl	erb	1068 park ave NE	Salem	97301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carey	Weeks	9369 Bocina Ln Apt F	Atascadero	93422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marsha	Jarvis	512 Kenmare Ct	Pinole	94564	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Brinkley	7024 Emerson Ave., N.	Minneapolis	55430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laurel	Hughes	8814 236th St SW	Edmonds	98026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
michael	brown	1133 Ash St	Burlington	52601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sylvia	Brown	1115 Grosvenor Road	Grass Lake	49240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Treulich	89898 Blackberry	Ashland	97520	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Guion	604 Redcoat Circle	Canton	30114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sherry	Bickford	67428 Spinreel Road	North Bend	97459	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Olson	4230 E. Towne Bl #184	Madison	53704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Rohr	3848 50th ave s	st petersburg	33711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicole	Enslow	P. O. Box 39618	Lakewood	98496	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Willard	Messer	702 Timberlake Road	Franklinton	27525	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Herbert	Lord	408 Ravenel Street, Columbia, SC	Columbia	29205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dianne	Yee	394 12th Street 3F	Oakland	94607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rosemarie	Shishkin	411 44th Ave	San Francisco	94121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marc	LeMaire	430 E Court St	Viroqua	54665	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Latorre	32707 Stricker.	Warren	48088	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vianey	Vargas	8040 Reseda Blvd 245	Reseda	91335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stan	Lee	2417	Elmwood Park	60707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dither	Vega	224 S Roosevelt Ave	Oxnard	93030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Liz	Brueck	Englewood, NJ	Englewood	7631	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Gary	80 Van Cortlandt Pk. S	Bronx	10463	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Ayler	6350 oak st.	Arvada	80004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Casey	56 Alpine Street	MANCHESTER	3102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eddie	Matchett	PO Box 97	PINOLE	94564	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joshua	Burton	1546 S 25th Ave	Omaha	68105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Zac	Williamsen	1444 Georgia Ave	Severn	21144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Miller	PO BOX 5052	Santa Barbara	93150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Warrick	Costa Mesa	Costa Mesa	92627	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Houser	7175 sw ivy lane	Portland	97225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Park	697 Augusta National Drive	Magnolia	19962	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Snow	14705 Old Gunpowder Road, Laurel, MD	Laurel	20707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sam	Karim	300 Euclid Ave	OAK PARK	60302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Nelson	155 Wallace Ln, Grants Pass, OR	GRANTS PASS	97527	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Leonard	5840 SW 86th Place	Ocala	34476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JERRY	BURT	96 Tallow Hill Rd	Plainfield	3781	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JERRY	BURT	96 Tallow Hill Rd	Plainfield	3781	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerhard	Wieland	1033 State Route 94	Blairstown	7825	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rev. Erwin J	Crawford	429 Winding Oak Lane	Longwood	32750	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Petralia	319 9th ave Haddon heights nj	Haddon Heights	8035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Gallegos	3642 Hargrove Street	MADISON	53714	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Whittle	24620 Russell Road Apt H-102	Kent	98032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Steadmon	677 Avenue M	BOULDER CITY	89005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amie	Smith	1321 Parkway Ct	Arlington	76010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Spencer	12 Newport Drive	BILLERICA	1821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brett	Jensen	700 Picaacho Drive	La Habra	90631	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachael	Pappano	330 River Rd.	MATTAWAMKEAG	4459	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laurel	Hughes	8814 236th St SW	EDMONDS	98026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jerilyn	Kuhre	4239 S 3100 E	Salt Lake City	84124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Armbruster	525 W. El Norte Pkwy #162	Escondido	92026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanne	Tollison	255 W. Madison	PETERSBURG	49270	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Spencer	Berglund	9131 W. Dixon St.	Milwaukee	53214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Cobb-Brown	3400 S Sare Rd Apt 217	Bloomington	47401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Keith	Havens	605 Butler Ave	Point Pleasant Beach	8742	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Annable	37 Red House Rd	Newbury	3255	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Penelope	Wells	1236 W 5th Ave	Anchorage	99501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

D'Arcy	Goodrich	13454 Fowler Ave	OMAHA	68164	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
L	Schneider	Minneapolis	Minneapolis	55427	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Lee	3350 saint louis	Las Vegas	89104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

ROBWRT PAULO	PRALL	300 W 23 ST NEW YORK, NY	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timur	McPherson	525 South Cleveland Ave	Arlington Heights	60005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Desoto Vega	63 Highland St.	Worcester	1609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eliot	Moss	7 Kestrel Ln, Amherst MA	Amherst	1002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roni	Dye	4480 deerwood lk pkwy	Jacksonville	32216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Ward	2121 Scudder St.	SAINT PAUL	55108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shaul	LEVI	1136 NW Johnson St.	Portland	97209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Alpern	4318 Eldorado Springs Drive	Boulder	80303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dario	Morell	13405 SW 1 Terr	Miami	33184	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jamie	Dampier	2147 N Callow, Bremerton WA	Bremerton	98312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Vore	111 S. Tracie Lane	Marquette	49855	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lester	Sheran	552 Crestworth St	Powder Springs	30127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicole	Amato	5033 Midway Road	VACAVILLE	95688	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Iain Alistair	Cooke	38 Torquay Drive, Luton,, Bedfordsire		1244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Irene	Robinson	3929 Green Hills Dr	Pinckney	48169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vonnette	Hancock	16847 Isosceles Ave	Lakeville	55044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Dickerson	421 Melinda Circle	White Lake	48386	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vickie	Beach	932 plum creekk	Roaring Spring	16673	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ashley	Goodson	6601 Phillip St	Metairie	70003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denise	Scholz	229 Prospect Avenue	BAYONNE	7002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
June	Maselli	74 Huntington Ave	East Haven	6512	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

john	mulhern	1555 merrill st. #117	SANTA CRUZ	95062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Resa	Rosenstein	31375 Bradley Road	MENIFEE	92584	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Audrey	Williams	58th Avenue	Corona	11368	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vickie	Beach	932 plum creekk	Roaring Spring	16673	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Lefson	2126 W. Lark	Visalia	93291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelli	Gilbert	10855 Kitty Dr	Conifer	80433	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janelle	Kane	1409 Chapin Avenue	Burlingame	94010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Madison	7 Marcellina Lane	LAMY	87540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Jones	2841 Windsor Dr	FALLS CHURCH	22042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Parker	2035 N. Talkington Dr.	Flagstaff, AZ	86001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Belcher	7840 Harps Mill Woods Run, Raleigh, NC	Raleigh	27615	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frances	Kimmelman-Finn	1321 Beuna Vista ave.	Pacific Grove	93950	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Khan	husain	351 vuemont pl ne,renton, wa	Renton	98056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Star	Seastone	974 E. Eisenhower Blvd.	Loveland	80537	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Felicia	Dale	1920 66th Pl NE	MARYSVILLE	98271	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Katherine	Patterson	145 Calvert Ct.	UKIAH	95482	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heather	Miller	16422 162nd ST SE	Monroe	98272	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Madeleine	Phillips	3130 Queen's Grant Drive	Midlothian	23113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Carling	617 Tamiami Trail, North lot148	Venice	34285	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
deborah	doolittle	435 Allen Avenue	Wakefield	2879	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Britton	1008 Williams Rd.	EMMETT	83617	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Turney	25 Southwaite Court	ORINDA	94563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christina	Wertz	39 Chatanika Ave	Worcester	1602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	Oliver	9355 Konocti Bay Road	KELSEYVILLE	95451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia	Dixson	21917 Cook Road	SEDRO WOOLLEY	98284	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christina	Brown	102 Quarry Road	Whitinsville	1588	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Tyler	16 Seaside Circle	NEWPORT BEACH	92663	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martha	Cano	8712 darlina	el paso	79925	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Hatfield	23565 Devonshire Road	Millsboro	19966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Laws should be made in the best interests of consumers and constituents, not in the interests of for-profit companies. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brad	Walker	2149 Llewellyn Rd	Belleville	62223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Hammond	61 Fifth Ave., San Francosco, CA	San Francisco	94118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracey	Ahring	512 Tracewood Drive	DENNARD	72629	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	Brock	Oregon	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lora	Steiner	7100 nw chapel woods ln	KANSAS CITY	64152	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leif	Young	7 kents court	West Newbury	1985	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Batz	2507 Lincoln Way W.	South Bend	46628	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gail	Sedel	1009 Coquina Chase	Virginia Beach	23451	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Skylar	Loeper	13 Greenway Acres, Thomasville PA	Thomasville	17364	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Holmgren	225 Coolidge Ave. E.	Battle Creek	49017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kirsten	Neus	4041 Royal Lytham Drive	Fairfax	22033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Kelly	1010 Anza Street Apt 301	SAN FRANCISCO	94118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Mower	PO Box 2004	MAPLE FALLS	98266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kwankisha	Crawford	4100 East 144th Street	CLEVELAND	44128	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	Spatarella	39 Railroad Ave	Center Moriches	11934	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leo	Buckley	78 Sycamore	San Francisco	94110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Samuel	Nagelberg	20 Devonshire Ct.	Sicklerville	8081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peggy	Taranenko	242 Sells Ct.	MARINA	93933	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martha	Yoshida	570 Amsterdam Ave	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

sandra	midash	15010 oyster shell drive	Milton	19968	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Evans	301a dover st.	Saint Louis	63111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jarlath	Crowe	251 South St	Foxboro	2035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Darlene	Grant	340 County Rd 6 SW	Conde	57434	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Groneman	1814 N. 78th Terr	KANSAS CITY	66112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	Gannaway	3002 Oak Park Dr.	AUSTIN	78704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jen	Manders	1990 Ellis	DUBUQUE	52001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
linda	hollar	3608 High Bluff Dr., Dallas, TX 75234	Dallas	75234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	DiSanto	2134 se N blackwell Dr	PORT SAINT LUCIE	34952	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cecil	Jeffries	811E Janet ave	Clearwater	67026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kurt	Huber	101 EAST 105TH STREET CIR.	Minneapolis	55420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stewart	Wiggers	419-A Atkinson Dr. #708	Honolulu	96814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pam	Voegele	1032 Enchantment Rd	Rapid City	57701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Stone	235 Quince St. Apt. 403, San Diego, CA	San Diego	92103	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Bushnell	502 Ord Drive Boulder CO	Boulder	80303	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Candela	5001 Michael Drive	Godfrey	62035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	ODette	464 Commonwealth Av Apt 65	Boston	2215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
H. Michael	Newman	907 Cayuga Heights Road	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Liana	Heath	65978 Victoria Lane	Cassopolis	49031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Stevenson	1403 E. Evelyn	Hazel Park	48030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Landra	White	325 Shannon Pl. NW	Albuquerque	87107	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Adams	2389 Bell Court #9	Medford	97504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tammy	Weaver	130 E Alcott Road	Columbus	43207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alicia	Hall	1401 PA St. NE Apt 2102	Albuquerque	87110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christopher	Zeh	8366 Forrester Blvd	Springfield	22152	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Di	Naya	1902 43rd st	TAMPA	33605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
charles	mcsweeney	pobox2018	Cave Junction	97523	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Scott	Hart	1812 Wilcox Ave	Los Angeles	90028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Bates	108 Crestridge Drive	LEXINGTON	29073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
meta	brown	Hurley Mt. Rd.	Hurley	12443	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Stefany	Burrowes	1031 Calle de Suenos	SANTA FE	87507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paula	Stevens	13401 Marigold trail Belton,Tx	Belton	76513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Powell	601 Morris Ln	Wallingford	19086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

rhonda	boothe	3214 Preble Street	Bremerton	98312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Oladipo	Olaogun	45 Gregory Dr	Attleboro	2703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gitanjali	Hursh	SE Flavel St	Portland	97206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Helen	Clark	16807 Canterbury Drive	MINNETONKA	55345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Merle	Vineland, NJ	Vineland	8360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Albert	6932 W Beatrice St	PHOENIX	85043	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gina	Pantier	37632 26th Dr S	FEDERAL WAY	98003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ralph	Grimes	72 Maple St	Stockton Springs	4981	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Warren	Cushway	412 germania`	Bay City	48706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pat	Hutson	1198 Romaine Circle East	Jacksonville	32225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
judy	dinan	6005 suzanne rd	Waldorf	20601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Schmidt	6342 Fenestra Ct.	Burke	22015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	"Maggie"	15007 24th Ave SW, Burien, WA	Seattle	98166	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tammy	Tarman	3851 W 3240 s	Salt Lake City	84120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eduardo	Abarca	778 Brunswick Street	San Francisco	94112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Mettam	4381 Cedar St.	Eureka	95503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Piasek	15 Wyman St UNIT 46	CONORD	3301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anniw	Bowie	6007 S 117th PL	Seattle	98178	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Suz	Rob	3835 Edwards Rd	Cincinnati	45209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
cem	ozkok	930 waterview dr	Crownsville	21032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Betty	& Amado	5448 W. Shadt Grove Dr	Tucson	85742	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Holmes	Mesa, AZ	MESA	85213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
S.	j>	50 run st.	Salt Lake City	84109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Warren	Beacher	1212 Malatesta Ave	Marcus Hook	19061	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ina	Sexton	4999 Lambeth Drive	Acworth	30101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	McAuliffe	6051 Selma Ave	Los Angeles	90028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J	Jenkins	49th street	Milwaukee	53210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Emmett	Culley	Paradise	PARADISE	95969	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Renea	Roster	1885 Pinehurst Ct	Waterloo	50701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
joanie	b	Beacon	Brookline	2445	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joan	Graves	P.O. Box 486	Tucumcari	88401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jason	hugehs	789 commercial street	Provincetown	2657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Cannon	8 Nunyabiznes Ln	Salt Lake City	84120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Willing	5 Francis Circle	NEWARK	19711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Hallow	134 Riverview Ave	Annapolis	21401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evan	Rudge	Hatfield,Pa.	Hatfield	19440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ginger	Almy	2601 Pleasant Green Rd., Nashville, TN	Nashville	37214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Demand	702 Farnsworth	Bordentown	8505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Curtis	Swan	555 Maine Ave.	LONG BEACH	90802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Laurelei	Bailey	1495 NW Jenne Avenue	Portland	97229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
F	Cronshaw	PO Box 1895	Tijeras	87059	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
bryce	smith	3 hurd pt rd	HOLDEN	4429	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wynne	Alexander	One Boxer Way	MERION STATION	19066	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marlene	Olveda	3713 N Michigan	Portland	97227	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Holleman	P.O. Box 812	Oracle	85623	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Flavio	Cardoso	916 NW 23rd Ct	Miami	33125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Hernandez	1235 E Broadway	LONG BEACH	90802	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zach	Pringnitz	1903 Two Rivers Ct	Katy	77450	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Zach	Pringnitz	1903 Two Rivers Ct	Katy	77450	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Wiesner	P.O. Box 20159	Castro Valley	94546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Bonyeau	50 Beckwith Ave	WESTFIELD	1085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Buck	4901 Pole Rd	Alexandria	22309	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Milton	Davis	305 S Ash St	Springfield	31329	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Seth	Read	197 Cedar St	SOMERVILLE	2145	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elliott	Brecht	1000 W Horatio St. #217	TAMPA	33606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendi	Helmick	12812 NE Newman Lake Dr	Newman Lake	99025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Rosenberger	Saarnerstr, 290		45478	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diana	Dee	12814 Victory Bl	North Hollywood	91606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edith	Borie	Friedrich Naumann Str 109, Karlsruhe, Germany	New Paltz	12561	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dania	Smith	Cincinnati, OH	Cincinnati	45203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Shapiro	343 Beach Street	West Haven	6516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Irene	Brown	144 Taylor Rd	Newland	28657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Green	7906 N. Bead Point	Hernando	34442	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Seth	Bowen	6830 Ditch Rd.	CHESANING	48616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kyle	Wilson	11006 NE 149th ST	Bothell	98011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Renee	Ockerman	721 N. 900 E.	Shelley	83274	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lesa	Coleman	PO Box 416	Bayside	95524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrea	Sher	4019 Goodland Ave, Studio City	Studio City	91604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Culp	721 5th Ave	Williamsport	17701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Lea	P.O. Box 118	Elephant Butte	87935	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	McLaughlin	7708 Thomas ave so, Richfield Mn	Minneapolis	55423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kirk	Bails	35221 Brittany Pk. Dr. #305	HARRISON TOWNSHIP	48045	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

beatrice	Chipouras	8 loris rd	DANVERS	1923	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Teninty	999 Brookside Drive, Eugene, Oregon	Eugene	97405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shawn	Wass	4674 Mount Alifan Drive	San Diego	92111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Glen	Heggstad	PO Box 1791	PALM SPRINGS	92263	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teddy	Jordan	30 Normandy Rd	Asheville	28803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Eisenberg	9 Linder Drive	New Paltz	12561	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Johnson	861 Sheline Drive	Havana	32333	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Brennan	5418 S 145th St	Omaha	68137	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Caroline	Duley	900 Waldkirch Ave.	Nashville	37204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	DeRosa	3610B Friday Ave., Everett, WA	EVERETT	98201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Hervey	2701 e 6th st	Belvidere	61008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Hervey	2701 e 6th st	Belvidere	61008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Georgie	Peterson	38239 French Pond	Farmington	48331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Udall	4133 NE 21st Terrace	Pompano Beach	33064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Szyska	6514 W CLARENCE AVE	Chicago	60631	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mateo	Ozelotzin	1163 Huntington drive	South Pasadena	91030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dave	Hovey	8548 stonyhill dr.	Rancho Cucamonga	91730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alta	Rehkugler	2822 Edson St.	BOISE	83705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marianna	Martindale	5005 Seminole St	College Park	20740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Peluso	9906 NE 124th Street	Kirkland	98034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
l	d	921 Jackson	Albany	94706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ray	Lovato	P. O. Box 11	Westminster	80036	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Becker	36 Elm St	ossipee	3864	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Burt	152 Pinewood Dr-PC	Trinity	75862	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Moller	po box 443	BEN LOMOND	95005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tera	Bates	3120 41st Street	San Diego	92105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Harris	Santa Barbara CA	Santa Barbara	93101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Miller	P.O. Box 893	Elkview	25071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	D	No	Amesbury	1913	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
SAWATDEE	SANLAVUN	4504 GRIDLEY RD	Silver Spring	20906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Halderson	3301 Monroe St, NE	Albuquerque	87110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Hasselriis	3817 Bray Court	Columbia	65203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nick	Hood	5036 Peppertree Rd.	CLEMMONS	27012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary R	McKeown	POBOX182	Highland Mills	10930	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Winston	Stone	171 Thompson St	Middleboro	2346	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Regina	Kropp	3015 Chestnut St	Lafayette Hill	19444	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Teresa	Fine	224 Humphries Drive	WEST PLAINS	65775	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bryan	Mahoney	21063 Glenwood Dr	Castro Valley	94552	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Reuter	231 DAKOTA AVENUE	Bay Shore	11706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

W.	R.	xxxx	Boca Raton	33486	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Varun	Singh	707 st johns	Brooklyn	11216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sara	Bates	401 Chippewa St		49108	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. We were charged $10 per month for a Comcast internet box for years, my daughter told me to get my own which only cost $66. I DID NOT know I could buy my own. Ripped me off. The profits Comcast is making off the backs of the poorer people is disgusting!

Kathi	Wermter	4249 south wermter road	South Range	54874	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Camille	James	504 monoca drive	Erie	16505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alicia	Salazar	4869 Axtell Street	Los Angeles	90032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Vogas	614 W. Castle Harbour Dr.	FRIENDSWOOD	77546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Van	Ashland	PO#37-7401	Ocean View	96737	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Hayes	317 Park St., Socorro, NM	Socorro	87801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

michael	thomas	post office box 5	Rosendale	12472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	Curtis	PO Box 421	Buffalo	55313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenyon	ForoughiGross	9222 Garrison Dr Apt 206A. Indianapolis, In	Indianapolis	46240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anita	Moos	706 Swarthmore Drive	Newark	19711	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Hoecker	136 Kelvington	MONROEVILLE	15146	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tal	Allweil	943 Poppy St.	LOS ANGELES	90042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

michael	thomas	post office box 5	Rosendale	12472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Arnold	11802 s 44TH ST	PHX	85044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stanford	Neering	2690 S Dearborn St	Salt Lake City	84106	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rachel	Berger	7925 Cross Plains Drive	Plano	75025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jrry	Bierens	475 E Summit St	Milford	48381	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Arnold	11802 s 44TH ST	PHX	85044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Cronin	P.O. Box 9544	Spokane	99209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Johnson	2296 Monte Vista Ave Oroville,Ca	Oroville	95966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ryan	Suleiman	1019 Dornajo Way	Sacramento	95825	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bob	Johns	1672 W French Rd	Saint Johns	48879	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peggy	Schultz	10451 Day Rd	Pittsford	49271	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jack	Spallino	526 N Hampton Street	Anaheim	92801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

robert	lobdell	839 royal ave	Franklinville	8322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jay	Esposito	3316 S Durango Ave #2, Los Angeles, CA, 90034	LOS ANGELES	90034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Yates	1716 Scott Street	Lafayette	47904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Liz	m	563 frost rd	Waterbury	6705	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. You do not NEED all of our money just to watch cable TV.
Peter	Doane	915 pleasant st	Rochdale	1542	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Beggs	1073 Schumacher Ave	Akron	44307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nicole	Amato	5033 Midway Road	VACAVILLE	95688	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James B	Bonner	43 Rathbun Dr	Lakeside Marblehead	43440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maria	Rimbau	12710 CORONA LN	Houston	77072	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chenelle	Anson	11925 E. Harvard Ave.	Aurora	80014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Aune	7513 Shadyview Lane N.	Osseo	55311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Puckett	2212 Glen Vista Dr.	SPARKS	89434	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James B	Bonner	43 Rathbun Dr	Lakeside Marblehead	43440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Fulton-Sears	3608 Wilson Cambria Rd	WILSON	14172	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Graham	Douglas	161 Humboldt Rd	Brisbane	94005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Neil	Puckett	2212 Glen Vista Dr.	SPARKS	89434	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jason	Woofenden	39 Bates St. #2, Northampton, MA	Northampton	1060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	Christie	POB 353	CRAGSMOOR	12420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Catherine	Barry	4 Glen Road apt 106	Hudson	1749	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Richmond	5510 Wile Ave	Intercession City	33848	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tavia	Marinovich	683 Waters View Drive	Biloxi	39532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leroy	Casterline	3520 Gila Bend	Casper	82604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Tuohey	461 E. High St, Manchester, NH	Manchester	3104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Fausey	224 East Hillsdale St., Lansing, Michigan	Lansing	48933	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phylis	Andrews	2411 Mary St	Omaha	68112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Vandiver	530 Princeton Dr	Bolingbrook	60440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	Hoekzema	217 5th Ave Venice, CA	Venice	90291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patrick	Santucci	37 Margaret St	Dayton	45410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anita	Coolidge	1327 Caminito Septimo	CARDIFF BY THE SEA	92007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emma	Williams	626 Douglas ave	Calumet City	60409	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jessica	Denis	2061 park ave	East Meadow	11554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Fairchild	9437 - 58th Ave So.	Seattle	98118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Calvin	Lacedra	230 Theresa Drive	Cloverdale	95425	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Seth	Ehrenreich	114 Grove Street	Buffalo	14207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kate	k	kent ave	Brooklyn	11211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chrissie	Johnson	PO Bx 129	ELGIN	73538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Roberta	Brezinski	52 Quaker Ridge Rd.	Durham	4222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Kile	759 El Granada Blvd.	Half Moon Bay	94019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vic	Mandarich	W1099 Spleas Skoney Rd	East Troy	53120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charis	Rosales	Teal	BEAVERTON	97008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	gMcGinnis	4040 N Oakley	Chicago	60618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Bilda	10666B Mill Pond Rd	WOODRUFF	54568	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Martin	McShea	1126 Interlaken Avenue	Asbury Park	7712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Pinter	1170 giese rd	BATAVIA	60510	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
william	limoges	67 pitcher st.	WESTFIELD	1085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sylvia	Lieshoff	250 Crescent Hill Place, Apt 102	LOUISVILLE	40206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sean	Colburn	84 Water Street	Marlborough	3455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marsha	Elston	1695 Autumnwood St	TARPON SPRINGS	34689	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Monte	Magid	27010G.C.P.	FLORAL PARK	11005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bert	Leysath	15 Butman Ave	GLOUCESTER	1930	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Wathen-Dunn	251 South Street	Foxboro	2035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bet	Bateman	2226 Cedar St. Creston B.C.		V0B 1G5	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kate	Jamal	200 W 14th St	Wilmington	19801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Rowley	2130 Victor Street	Saint Louis	63104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

C	Bradley	1383 Tucker Rd	Hood River	97031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis & Kathleen	Lees	1075 Urania Ave.	Encinitas	92024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Kitchen	P. O. B. 1234	Portage	49081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Brown	90-02 63rd Dr	New York	11374	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wanda	Ballentine	1181 Edgcumbe Rd.	Saint Paul	55105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cliff	Drake	74 Bedford St	Waltham	2453	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jennifer	Sinek	403 N. West St.	FALLS CHURCH	22046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Parks	1633 Lima St	Bailey	80421	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Johnson	4620 N Park Ave	Chevy Chase	20815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Brennan	1200 Rachel Terrace	Pine Brook	7058	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frederick	Masone	8069 SW 78 Terrace rd	Ocala	34476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stacey	Gardner	1030 dortmunder dr	Sparks	89441	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sara	Williams	3956 Percheron Dr	Awendaw	29429	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brenda	Goralski	8133 Sawyer Road	Darien	60561	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Bush	301 Bernstein street	Fort Bragg	28307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Picon	1400 Solano Ave. #9	Albany	94706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Annie	Baldwin	5628 xerxes avenue south	MINNEAPOLIS	55410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francine	Brown	630 Malcolm X Blvd.	New York	10037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paula	John	2123 E. Beverly Rd	Milwaukee	53211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheryl	Massaro	228 Edwards Avenue	Canfield	44406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R. Jay	Allain	134 Old Main Street	South Yarmouth	2664	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Maxwell	9583 Davis Rd	Loveland	45140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Max	Hyre	685 Forest Road	West Haven	6516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Walker	2605 Mission Cir.	Madison	53713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	Smith	2094 Abbott Rd.	BUFFALO	14218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Monte	PO Box 689	San Anselmo	94979	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Pope	3252 verdant drive sw#901 Atlanta GA	Atlanta	30331	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

JamesW	Gilliam	PO Box 1295 Glendora, CA	Glendora	91740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Wilson	425 Hwy 1 W, #3	Iowa City	52246	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cletus	Fandel	PO Box 985	Pioneer	95666	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Randy	Corbin	2020 Barcelona Ter	POMPANO BEACH	33063	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Therrien	61 Lippold St	Methuen	1844	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Will	Smith	41 Hawkins Road	North Attleboro	2760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Virginia	Simpson	34 Tracy Drive	Vacaville	95688	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edmund	Venella	high bridge, n.j.	High Bridge	8829	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shela	Van Ness	2540 Robin Glen Drive	Chattanooga	37421	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Kramarck	Laidback Manor	Townsend	19734	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bibi	Powell	3036 34th Ave W	Seattle	98199	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bruce	Powell	317 Smithfield Blvd	Smithfield	23430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doris	Strakosch	165 Robinson Avenue	NEWBURGH	12550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Cook	N4565 French Rd	Seymour	54165	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steffen	Kory	15340 SW Village LN	Beaverton	97007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lenore	Fenn	19 Sylvia St.	Lexington	2421	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynnecheryl	Dotson	4350 Berkshire Dr SE	Warren	44484	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hal	Pillinger	25 tower hill drive	PORT CHESTER	10573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ray	Rose	6911 State Highway 161	Irving	75039	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Darrell	Perry	8761 Westcott	Saint Louis	63136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregg	Rubin	131 Dudley St #106	Jersey City	7302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Darrell	Perry	8761 Westcott	Saint Louis	63136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Thorkelson	303 Dalwood Dr	Cleveland	44110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Ephland	1413 Silo Road #1006	Bonham	75418	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Thomas	Tucson, AZ	Tucson	85741	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Racher	430 Johnson Ave	Cuyahoga Falls	44221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Irene	Tovar	14801 Wolfskill St Mission Hills	Mission Hills	91345	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ardrin	Lawton	11406 Minock	Detroit	48228	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynnecheryl	Dotson	4350 Berkshire Dr SE	Warren	44484	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ed	Baird	576 Vista Ave.	Palo Alto	94306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Zimmerman	1169 Twin Lakes Drive	Harrisburg	17111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John and Rosalie	Stefanich	313 2nd. Ave. S.	Long Prairie	56347	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ilene	Robinson	grand junction	Grand Junction	81504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Tomasek	249 Oquinn Ct	Powell	43065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Taylor	P. O. Box 3300	CLEARLAKE	95422	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
valerie	snyder	3311 Valley Crest Way	Forest Grove	97116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Megan	Nelson	4949 Manor Dr	New Port Richey	34652	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
PATRICIA	MCHUGH	7008 Amherst Ave	Saint Louis	63130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Ullian	1201 SE 2nd CT	Fort Lauderdale	33301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rebecca	Clark	5035 N Depauw St	Portland	97203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louise	Knapp	750 13th St	Boulder	80302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeremy	Brock	2742 Mildred Pl SE	Smyrna	30080	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lucy	Trevino	1916 S 48th Ct	CICERO	60804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Mattox	2345 Rolling Hill Rd	Fayetteville	28304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Desmond	706 Waddell	Modesto	95357	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

A	Ross	4728 27th Street	Kenosha	53144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nathan	Treme	743 Kirby	Shreveport	71104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelly	OBrien	2618 E Vista Dr	Phoenix	85032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Wilson	6513 river rd	Rochester	55901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
john p	kelley	115 S Hunting Horn Dr	Roscommon	48653	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Z	K	1633 w speedway	Tucson	85745	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jane	Sell	11813 N 52nd Ave	Glendale	85304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
john	iavarone	379 East st 9	Pittsfield	1201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Arndt	140 West Main Street, Apt. A	Norwalk	44857	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Art	Miess	1319 Emerson St. NW	Washington	20011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jamie	Jones	4681 Holm Rd	PLACERVILLE	95667	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Katy	Whitehouse	2809 NE 2nd PL	CAPE CORAL	33909	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ann	Davidson	4217 N. Ashland Ave Unit 2S	CHICAGO	60613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlotte	Mullen	50 Arlyn Dr	Howell	7731	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Craig	Charleston	15920 DEBBIE LANE	South Holland	60473	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Rubel	40 Forbus St	POUGHKEEPSIE	12601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Chester	570 Franklin Blvd	Freedom	15042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michele	Scher	236 Carol Lane	Fishkill	12524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. They system now is essentially serial monopoly, and needs to be broken up.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Polly	O'Malley	1311 Federal Ave	LOS ANGELES	90025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brenda	Owens	420 Cimarron Parkway	ATLANTA	30350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tera	Blackman	235 Buckingham Way	San Francisco	94132	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anna	Freeman	Columbus, Ohio	Columbus	43204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Pecsenye	415 Grand St	Winona	55987	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Clotilda	Devlin	220 Hardscrabble Rd. Bernardsville NJ 07924	BERNARDSVILLE	7924	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mitchell	Legault	46 Elm St.	Hudson Falls	12839	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Blithe	Hogan	29 Drummer Road	Acton	1720	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Pauley	548 26th Ave	Seattle	98122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tami	Savage	20200 Cantara St	Winnetka	91306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
lorenzo	fuentes	607 west taft street	Santa Maria	93458	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Tagg	1573 Memorial Dr	Springfield	45505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Perrine	4310 Crestview Drive	Chattanooga	37415	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Mathews	8 Wintergreen Way	ROCHESTER	14618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tara	Singletary	116 Liberty Street; Newburgh, NY	Newburgh	12550	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Lawrence	12280 se plandome dr	Hobe Sound	33455	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Karan	4150 Webster St.	OAKLAND	94609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Bacher	9220 W. 104th Pl.	Broomfield	80021	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lynn and Kim	Allen	330 Chidester Apt.112	YPSILANTI	48197	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leslie	Smith	530 w hopkins st apt b	SAN MARCOS	78666	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Irene	Potashner	1930 Norcrest Drive	Houston	77055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alicia	Rues	1226 SW Oakley Topeka, KS	TOPEKA	66604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Zack	Ridgedale dr. N.	COLUMBUS	43085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Stephens	515 King Dr Unit 5	Daly City	94015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Renee	Cramer	nN6907 Old 26 Rd	Watertown	53094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Lilly	6114 Caminito Sacate	San Diego	92120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Warren	Grundfest	10134 Baywood Court	Los Angeles	90077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

B. C.	Dashiell	00000 0 0000 00	Sun City West	85375	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christine	Amisano	7 Short St Pl, Boston, MA	Charlestown	2129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brad	Wakeman	39194 State Route 303	Grafton	44044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	Gibb	PO Box 11616	Zephyr Cove	89448	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Graney	14 Elmcrest Drive	Danbury	6811	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Barrett	6149 Barrie	DEARBORN	48126	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Camp	436 E Magnolia Blvd	Apt 209	Burbank	91501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
T	Hamboyan Harrison	125 Gravel Run Road		GRASONVILLE	21638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cynthia	Petrich	5501 Campbell Lake Rd.		Anacortes	98221	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Suzanne	Cerniglia	917 n l st	Lake Worth	33460	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
E	Ryan	8858 Woodbridge	Greendale	53129	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leah	Helmer	446 Birchwood Rd	Medford	11763	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonathon	Ray	420 W. Lexington Dr. #226	Glendale	91203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tia	Ja	14938 Camden	San Jose	95124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joy	Martin	4143 Federer St Louis MO	Saint Louis	63116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ann	Nowicki	1453 N Dailey Dr	Arcadia	91007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wesley	Smart	15713 Blaine Ave.	Bellflower	90706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
HENRY	BANKS JR	1417-29th st. north ,BIRMINGHAM ALABAMA	Birmingham	35234	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heather	Seese	13116 SE Powell Blvd Apt 16	Portland	97236	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Austin	M	753 canterbury drive	Charleston	25314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanne	Thelwell	94 Rockaway Parkway Apt. 6A	Brooklyn	11212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	B.	La Grande, OR	La Grande	97850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Nichols	P.O. Box 96, East Orleans, MA	East Orleans	2643	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tom	Snyder	62 Delphia dr	Brevard	28712	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra	Powell	5680 Woodcrest Drive	Fort Worth	76140	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Trinque	236 W Simpson St	Ventura	93001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gilmer	Borbo	95-1042 Kuauli St	Mililani	96789	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Gorman	1106 Neil St Ne apt # 3	OLYMPIA	98516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Verbos	1637 S. 60th St. West Allis WI	Milwaukee	53214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melvin	Taylor	6585 Calvine Rd.	Sacramento	95823	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

elizabeth	pirsch	1307 Duke Street	Alexandria	22314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Irma	Buenrostro	1837 S White Ave	Pomona	91766	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlotte	Sibley	115 Hunt Valley Circle	Berwyn	19312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melissa	Feltner	35748 Rolf St.	Westland	48186	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tamara	Paul	3773 Pacific Avenue	Riverside	92509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marina	Adams	1205 Manhattan Ave. #1-5-2	Brooklyn	11222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kyile	Marshall	12737 Lecoma Trace. Milton, GA	Alpharetta	30004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tamara	Paul	3773 Pacific Avenue	Riverside	92509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pietra	McNamara	256 ross hill road		6352	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Sussmann	191 Delayne Dr.		L4G 5B8	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elliot	Shamis	825 N 3rd Ave	Deltona	32725	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Barber	5435 Old Marksville Hwy	Pineville	71360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Please help and stop big cable companies from monopolizing.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jessica	McGratty	3700 Commonwealth Ave	CHARLOTTE	28205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diann	Metzkow	130 Shore Drive	New Windsor	12553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachel	Pickering	5227 W 139th St	Savage	55378	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles R.	Fulco, Jr.	2831 Alvin Lane	Shreveport	71104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
KARA	HAFKEY		Kirkland	98034	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Jonsson		Howard Beach	11414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Jolley	54 Redwood Lane	East Berlin	6023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C+L	Brear	4140 Nadorff Rd NE Greenville IN	Greenville	47124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
john	guros	2644 s. 226 st.	Seattle	98198	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bonnie	Tanner	1065 E. Riversong Dr.	Eagle	83616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Lento	17 Northfield Avenue	Dobbs Ferry	10522	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cherilyn	Smith	1427 N Gardner St	Los Angeles	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrew	Flook	446 merrick		71194	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charlie	Tesch	35 Spencer Ave	Somerville	2144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peggy	Arquette	3035 Concord St.	SARASOTA	34231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Starr	8315 C J Land	Pinckney	48169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Zeiger	6120 East Caley Drive	Englewood	80111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
diane	janovyak	739 Pleasant Dr	Shorewood	60404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Stone	200 Ellen Dr. Cheektowaga NY	Buffalo	14225	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M	Walther	Stone Mountain	Stone Mountain	30087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Wilson	112 Puma Dr.	West Monroe	71291	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Haide	l	L	Fort Collins	80526	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Greenidge	2114 Hillcrest ave	Olean	14760	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leah	Yamaguchi	2238 SE 186th Ave	Portland	97233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lewis	Sotnick	5 Eastview Drive	North Granby	6060	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Walter	Pinkus	1097 Leisure World	Mesa	85206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Wilbur	1961 gaiole court	Brentwood	94513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Victor	Goldin	440 WEST END AVE	New York	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dora	Sampson	7823 Shimmer River Lane	Citrus Heights	95610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Beaton	California, MD	California	20619	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Kuni	7515 Shoup Ave	West Hills	91307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Strickland	159 Ronald Tharrington Rd.	Louisburg	27549	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen	Bush	8650 Southwestern Blvd. 2918	Dallas	75206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kimberly	Sanner	274 Hilbish Ave Akron Oh	Akron	44312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eunice	Stearns	8913 Farne Island Blvd	Knoxville	37923	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Loren	Zeilnhofer	311 Keyes Ave Watertown NY	Watertown	13601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

mary	de la cruz	1054 Beaver Ave	Midland	15059	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Manuel	dichner	2100 fowler avenue apt 106	Clovis	93611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	DeFino	9611 Duffer Way	Montgomery Village	20886	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Christensen	PO Box 500663	San Diego	92150	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Consumers should be able to have A LA CARTE choices. No need to spend over $150 for channels that people don't watch.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allison	Bening	3638 Greenlawn Ct	Toledo	43614	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Enright	6222 E. Avalon Dr.	SCOTTSDALE	85251	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Davis	P.On Box 3216	CENTER LINE	48015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurence	Comden	2730 Tarbell St	Pittsburgh	15226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Mckendry	148 Baldwin St.	Lyons	48851	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Karen	Boehler	33 Mark Road	ROSWELL	88201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sigridur	Robinson	948 Virginia st, #L202	Dunedin	34698	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christopher	Warren	14194 SW Barrows RD #1, Tigard, OR	Portland	97223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ralph	Joyce	3730 Fieldstone Blvd	Naples	34109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Buoniconti	54 Mckinley Street	Feeding Hills	1030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Eden	494 Vincente Ave.	Berkeley	94707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Hockman	14722 Estonian Lane, Riverwoods, IL	Deerfield	60015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Hallman	334 Madison Rd	Springfield	19064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ali	Minor	258 Waterford Dr	Lake Zurich	60047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pamela	Buoniconti	54 Mckinley Street	Feeding Hills	1030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gayle	Westbrook	2175 NE 185 St	MIAMI	33179	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anne	Settanni	1314 South Linden Street	Normal	61761	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sally	Nelson	31130 S General Kearny Rd Spc 85	Temecula	92591	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jonathan	Wilsnack	1355 High Site Drive, Apt. 305	Saint Paul	55121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Richard	Crabill	538 Brossard Dr.	Thousand Oaks	91360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I HAVE ALREADY "CUT THE CABLE" BECAUSE IT WAS A MASSIVE RIPOFF. We were paying over $200 A MONTH for cable! Now remember cable charges us this price while still forcing us to wacth commercials! I instead found a 300Mbps internet provider for $50 a month and bought a ROKU3 with NETFLIX and AMAZON PRIME. Now I'm only paying around $70 a month for all the entertainment I could ever want AND NO COMMERCIALS OR ADS OF ANY SORT!!!! If cable companies want to survive in the internet generation, they have to compete with all the things on offer, that i
Jose	Ortega	4013 Mapleton Ave, Louisville, KY	Louisville	40215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wayne	Soben	Soben	WADDELL	85355	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Liuba	Llufrio	4013 Mapleton Ave, Louisville, KY	Louisville	40215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Martin	Robbins	P.O. Box 1093	YACHATS	97498	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrea	Lister	1221 Harbor AVE SW #104	Seattle	98116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	herdeck	22 Wabash Ave	Worcester	1604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Yerry	294 Wilbur Rd	Schuylerville	12871	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joyce	Pusel	102 Emerald Cir	Durham	27713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christoph	Ruegg	3809 Blue Canyon Dr. Studio City, CA	Studio City	91604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sally	Beard	96. Humphrey street	Seymour	6483	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sue	Khoury	206 heritage	Mount Pleasant	48858	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Villano	16 Bay St	BELLMORE	11710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
julie	Parcells	4706 Woodland Rd	Ellicott City	21042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Cinelli	27 Ridge Drive	West Hurley	12491	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Doug	Coffin	404 W. Bloomfield St.	Rome	13440	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Kintzley	5 jackson court	Novato	94947	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Viola	Granse	1309 Stanley Dollar Dr. #3	Walnut Creek	94595	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Saint-Lorraine	113 McIntire Lane	Cary	27513	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chuck	Chan	2153 Batchelder St.	Brooklyn	11229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Bures	224 Lake Park Dr.	Winona	55987	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Kuykendall	81 Groveland Avenue	Trenton	8638	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evan	Behringer	418 Norwood Court	Oviedo	32765	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Muse	1376 Marshall Mill Rd	Franklinville	8322	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Cate	2499 N 50th St	Philadelphia	19131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Frank	Santangelo	17 Struyk Ave	Haledon	7508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chere	Fuesse;	2585 Hurricane Loop	Tennessee Ridge	37178	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Harris	2607 B Narcissa Road	Plymouth Meeting	19462	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Burgess	PO BOX 1292	DERRY	3038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diesel	Pfingsten	738 Mercer Ave.	Ventura	93004	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glen	Graffice	4514 tiffin ave	Sandusky	44870	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ernest	Gerke	415 E LaVerne wY	Palm Springs	92264	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Josh	Jaeger	9001 tumblewood	Las Vegas	89143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
angelina	saucedo		Alhambra	91801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Art	Smith	2272 Batson Drive	Newport News	23602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kevin	McGrath	1800 W Gramercy Ave #45	Anaheim	92801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Grinthal	1 De Anza Court	SAN MATEO	94402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Turco	45 Cross St.	WESTERLY	2891	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Larry	Lawver	6145 miller woods lane	Indianapolis	46237	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Campi	15 kennedy st	Iselin	8830	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
candee	oleary	636 whitorth ln.,Renton Wa.	RENTON	98057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mariah	Gansel	2205 Finland Road	Green Lane	18054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Hulse	16206 Creekwood Circle	Prior Lake	55372	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shel	Grove	6613 31st Street	Washington	20015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Wesley	Tyler	52 W High ST.	PAINESVILLE	44077	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kurt	France	5335 SE Washington St	Portland	97215	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Russotti	204 Canterbury Tpk	Norwich	6360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dr Kenneth	Lim	2755 E. 139th Ave	BRIGHTON	80602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shel	Grove	6613 31st Street	Washington	20015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
marjorie	curci	box 502	Beaver	98305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cheryl	Owen	7980 St. Rd. 100	KEYSTONE HEIGHTS	32656	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wanda	Gower	12250 Hernando	North Port	34287	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Cardwell	402 NW Sheridan Road, Apt.305	LAWTON	73505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jeanette	Nadeau	11620 E SPANISH RIDGE PL	Tucson	85730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Stokke	E762 Muandsack Rd	Genoa	54632	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lyle Ann	Finocchiaro	15 Fox Rd	Woodstown	8098	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adam	Stolarz	23300 Balmoral Ln	West Hills	91307	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eugene	Moore	4704 Cedarfield Drive	Raleigh	27606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerry	Cummings	851 Groton Ct.	Sunnyvale	94087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Anthony	Wilks	824 Northwood Drive	Charlotte	28216	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michelle	Marks	1848 Sapphire Point	Saint Paul	55122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MAGGIE	ALSTON CLAUD	70 WETHERSFIELD AVE #4	Hartford	6114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jaime	Saranczak	115 Wagner St	Edison	8837	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melanie	Shaffer	1231 Guy Rd	Orlando	32828	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Weltz	26 laurel avenue	Summit	7901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Kruger	Bothell WA	Bothell	98012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patrick	Taylor	4881 n 27st	Milwaukee	53209	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Ragsdale Sr.	115 Pascal Dr.	Mount Juliet	37122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Blackburn	2563 Kensington Way	Elizabethtown	42701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leon	atkins	711 south street	Houma	70360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
tony	desantis	1 waynewood ct.	Dearborn	48124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ken	Weed	700 E. Lake Dr. #113	Orange	92866	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sara	colton	59 w 10th st.	New York	10011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ingo	Rucker	2613 Cullum Rd	Bel Air	21015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Crown	P.O. Box 191 Sharon VT	Sharon	5065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nick	Papworth	1500 Narrow Ln Apt. 15	Johnson City	37604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Diane	Mehling	2442 Hardin ridge drive	Organ	88052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Melanie	Garcia	4832 mission street	San Francisco	94112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Al	Mozena	928 Loch Lomond Drive	Fort Wayne	46808	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Dantonio	711 Forest Club Dr apt 602	Wellington	33414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Victoria	Dreifuss	4664 timber lane	Occidental	95465	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carl	Casella	201 Canterbury	Wallingford	19086	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Goebel	7777 Stalmer St., #70,0 San Diego, CA 92111	San Diego	92111	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Crossetti	333 Roberta Ave.	Darby	19023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glenn	Davis	Apollo, PA	Apollo	15613	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen P.	Williams	10516 Tolland Dr.	Aurora	44202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tara	Carreon	2165 S. Avenida Planeta	TUCSON	85710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lawrence	Barrett	47 Skyline Drive	Glen Mills	19342	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maxine	Kaufman	40 Blanche Avenue	Harrington Park	7640	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bob	Prata	1401 Pinewood Dr. Smithfield, RI	Smithfield	2917	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Woodworth	703 Berkshire Rd	Ann Arbor	48104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Yarber	5959 E Northwest Hwy	Dallas	75231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jay	Satterwhite	3896 Stonebridge Dr N	Eagan	55123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
michael	edrington	10 Waterloo Ct.	Rancho Mirage	92270	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Colby	Buswell	10201 Kress Rd	Pinckney	48169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rob	Englund	2063 W. Midland Rd.	Auburn	48611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ewen	Kloas	41 Leonard ave		0	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Root	4545 SENECA RD	Trumansburg	14886	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sandy	McNeal	507 Monticello Ave	Aston	19014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julian	Peters	3211 6th St SE	WASHINGTON	20032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Burns	551 South Edgewood Avenue	Lombard	60148	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rayna	Eyster	2120 Foxwood Dr	Eureka	95503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Walters	215 40th St. Dr. SE #103	Cedar Rapids	52403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Virginia	Walters	215 40th St. Dr. SE #103	Cedar Rapids	52403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dave	Nicholson	2211 n. eden rd.	Greenacres	99016	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dameta	Robinson	1910 Oak St.	Wisconsin Rapids	54494	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	D'Amato	22 Laskay Dr	Easton	6612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

TRACY	CARTER	11 Nicole Drive	Albany	12205	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
BJ	Hollifield	1412 1/2 Calumet Ave.	Los Angeles	90026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fay	Rulison	445 North Main St. Gloversville NY	Gloversville	12078	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marie-Claude	Perigon	2819 N Park av	Tucson	85719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paulette	Bernard	1309 Carrollton, # 232	METAIRIE	70005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I dropped Cox and ATT Uverse. Cox cheats and lies. AT&T does whatever it wants -and that isn't to provide a service. Disgusting!
Shannon	Herber	2315 28th St	Santa Monica	90405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Tonhazy	215 W 78th St #1B	NEW YORK	10024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beau	Bennett	91766 OVERSEAS HWY	Tavernier	33070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Audrey	Mercaldo	235 Marengo	Forest Park	60130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Devin	Abraham	5344 Abbott Ave S	Minneapolis	55410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	hartwig	1700 medfield road	raleigh	27607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ted	Pirro	13232 Whitehaven Lane, Apt# 1103	Fort Myers	33966	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diana	Lett	1309 N. 1st Ave.	TUCSON	85719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deirdre	Downey	330 3rd Ave 116	Fairbanks	99701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Brace	329 Groover Creek Crossing	ORMOND BEACH	32174	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Netusil	Lachmund Court	Westwood	7675	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Winired	Marchetti	140 shady lane	Antioch	94509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Dolby	1269 boiling springs rd	Boiling Springs	17007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dr. Lucille	Becker	82 Harding Drive South Orange NJ	South Orange	7079	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Winired	Marchetti	140 shady lane	Antioch	94509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Sebastian	4110 Edison	Sacramento	95821	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Charles	Christopher	2023 S. El Dorado Dr.	Columbia	65201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carlos	Martinez	16550 nw 9 street	Pembroke pines	33028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Dennington	9755 Eckford Avenue apt.2	Ozone Park	11417	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carlos	Martinez	16550 nw 9 street	Pembroke pines	33028	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dana	Craig	67 Hill St	NORWOOD	2062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sam	Haleem	16213 Debra dr.	Oak Forest	60452	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leslie	Butterworth	125 Odell Street	San Antonio	78212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Gaton	308 Clarendon Street	Secaucus	7094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tegan	McQuaid	29W236 Renouf Dr	Warrenville	60555	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kristen	Lightbody	8672 Church Rd	Germansville	18053	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mekala	Ravishankar	75 Morris Ave	Edison	8837	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chad	Worden	2070 East Reid Road	Grand Blanc	48439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

joyce	appel	800 east park ave	Vineland	8360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dean	Swanson	800 Riedy rd.	Lisle	60532	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vance	Miller	907 w Dean ave	Madison	53716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

E	Lang	Park Point Ave	Seattle	98115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marjorie	Laboy-Vagell	744 Shenipsit Lake Road	Tolland	6084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	DeHaven	13 Iron Bound Place NW	ATLANTA	30318	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Francy	Elkins	309 First Avenue North		55555	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Hoye	1306 North 57th Street	Milwaukee	53208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maria	Magana	1290 Hillcrest Drive	BURLINGTON	98233	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mimi	Burstein	27 East Central	Paoli	19301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Suzanne	Challinor	8561 E. 29th avenue	Denver	80238	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Debra	COHO	2340 Warwick Rd, York, PA	York	17408	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Earl	Petitdemange	710 tyler av	Omro	54963	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Hannan	8492 Rte 54	Hammondsport	14840	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gayle	Encomenderos	4341 NW 63 Ave	Pompano Beach	33067	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dixie	Springer	P.O. BOX 87	Chandler	47610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Gioia	6F Millholland dr	Fishkill	12524	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	Heitz	9706 e. sinnett chapel rd.	CUBA	61427	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nathan	Wolf	2040 E.Florida	Long Beach	90814	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Heidi	Handsaker	918 Avenue C	BILLINGS	59102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	Nowak	Racine	Mt. Pleasant	53406	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Olga	Sanchez	29920 SW 151 Avenue	Homestead	33033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cf	Fox	1605 Allen's Lane	Wilmington	28403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dr. Lynn	Fischer	1885 Park Avenue	Washington	15301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ak	Jhangiani	2071 golf course dr.	Reston	20191	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Fendler	500 McMahon Road	Hollister	95023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dan	Abeln	18034 8th Ave nw	Seattle	98155	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Clifford	26 North Street Apt.133 Douglas,MA.	Douglas	1516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brendan	Lim	2232 California St., Berkeley	Berkeley	94703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rose	Hawkes	77 Wilson Rd	Bedford	1730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

james	goodfield	9 hawthorne place	Boston	2114	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janice	Lawrence	2121 Highway 12 South #146	Ashland City	37015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathleen	Kelly	37 Baiting Hollow Ln	CALVERTON	11933	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Gardner	2525 Beverley Ave #8	Santa Monica	90405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
T.	Brown	Liberty Ave.	Spokane	99207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Brubaker	6317 Chatham Way	Eden Prairie	55346	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Vicki	fox	67 wodenethe Dr,	Beacon	12508	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jake	Gutman	1100 Via De La Paz	Pacific Palisades	90272	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Cowgill	2231 20th St #1	Santa Monica	90405	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Merry	Porter	PO Box 696	Alief	77411	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Huhn	3649 Evergreen pkwy #1481	Evergreen	80439	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Guinnup	228 Channing Drive, Bear, DE	Bear	19701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jeff	mac donald	55 page street	Brownville	4414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel A.	Arias	850 West Grand Street, Apt# K4	Elizabeth	7202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Hammond	735 Broadway street	Lowell	1854	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Nino	6553 Picante Dr	Corpus Christi	78414	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Reid	612 Tangier Ave.	Placentia	92870	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sunny	thomas	P O Box 345	BOYES HOT SPRINGS	95416	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jean	dahlheimer	20702 co rd 50 Hamel Mn	Hamel	55340	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Suzie	Awad	419 N. Royer	Colorado Springs	80907	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Hammond	751 Brookwood Way	Chico	95926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Lazarus	1 Shasta Circle Apt L	Owings Mills	21117	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louis	Stuhl	7 Orchard Road	Bedford	1730	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dawn	Happel	9863 Haydite Rd	Fairview Heights	62208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rhonda	Carter	406 Potomac Street	Hollidaysburg	16648	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Sharrer	810 Huntsville Rd	GOTHA	34734	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shirley	Smith	25115 E. Broadway Ave., Apt. 3	Veneta	97487	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Thank you.

Avi	Klammer & Reese	540 23rd St	Oakland	94612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rebecca	Chang	105 North Branch River Road	Somerville	8876	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Hughes	48 Carmelita Ave	MILL VALLEY	94941	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tricia	Rizzi	108 Cleveland Avenue	Massapequa	11758	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lou	Matlack	35 Mendham Road	Bernardsville	7924	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Bigelow	8 Cranbrook Lane	Dover	3820	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Thompson	W Ashlan	Clovis	93612	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennie	Sabato	206 Philadelphia Ave	Somers Point	8244	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melissa	Gaskins	5785 St. Joe Road	TALLAHASSEE	32311	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jacinda	Moore	36 Eastern Ave.	Ossining	10562	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Phillips	408 Tapawingo RD SW	Vienna	22180	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karla	Everett	514 Issac ct	San Jose	95136	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jamie	Clemons	8 south randall road	Aurora	60506	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Norman	Dickinson	24 Tramway Lane	Westbrook	4092	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles	Northrip	XXXX YYY Street, Nowhere, AL	Seattle	98198	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Suzanne	Carney	4428 Blue Rock Road	Cincinnati	45247	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ian	Small	282 summer st.	Buffalo	14222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	McCroskey	3300 Cummins Street	Houston	77027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

A. S.	Evans	4 W. S. V.	New York	10012	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy	Crooks	6820 Wornall Road	Kansas City	64113	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Megan	Kardos	5766 Green Rd.	Fenton	48430	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Starr	427 Clark Dr	Johnstown	43031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Starr	427 Clark Dr	Johnstown	43031	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	De Los Santos Jr	13123 Mills Bend St	HOUSTON	77070	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Bible	asheville	ASHEVILLE	28804	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Remund	16 6st	Aurora	80015	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
sofia	karou	athnes		14122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Lombard	5654 Aldea Avenue	Encino	91316	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joanne	Zipay	37 Creamery Drive	New Windsor	12553	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allie	Stokes	17135 Heart of Palms Drive	TAMPA	33647	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Caryn	D.	877 Forest Glen Dr #E	Bozeman	59718	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	Vieth	821 Willow Vly Lks Dr, Willow St. PA	Willow Street	17584	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rhonda	Martini	2531 NW Upshur St.	Portland	97210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Rappolt	134 Marked Tree Rd	Needham	2492	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Willard	Jones Jr	631 American Way	Lakeland	33815	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ericka	Bjorngaard	414 Nicollet Ave	Mankato	56003	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alice	Berliner	172 Church St	NORWICH	5055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
claudia	landon	722 ravencrest	Westland	48185	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
blanca	hawthorne	4911 droddy	Houston	77091	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fabian	Duarte	7237 jackson st	Paramount	90723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Scroggie	4838 35th St.	San Diego	92116	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chad	Rosenberg	3839 South 4220 West	SALT LAKE CITY	84120	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sheryl	Samuel	Waipio Rd	Honokaa	96727	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carol	Breed	269 Cambridge Road	Woburn	1801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Chiarilli	P.O. Box 2153	Buffalo	14219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rita	Cammarano	3729 Regency Circle	Roanoke	24018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Sharpe	1261 Marin Avenue	San Pablo	94806	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Hopkins	907 Old Annapolis Neck Rd	ANNAPOLIS	21403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adele	bon-Shannon	701 W Broad St, Suite 201	Bethlehem	18018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Cole	1863 Powell St	San Francisco	94133	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Kitchen	P. O. B. 1234	Portage	49081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tina	Beedle	6324 Blueberry Street	Milton	32570	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dawn	Albanese	156 Basswood Dr.	ELK GROVE VILLAGE	60007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Silbert	188 Woodbrook Road	White Plains	10605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kay	Marshall	3621 S.E. Center Street	PORTLAND	97202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sandra	Brown	104 Tracey Creek Ct	Apex	27502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laura	Hupert	1920 E. Huron Rd.	Au Gres	48703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Omega	Zachman	1685 lakeside ter	NORTH FORT MYERS	33903	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Hanson	5 Crescent Drive	Woodacre	94973	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Shabtaie	Madison	Madison	53717	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Howie	1609 Linwood Ave., Flint, MI	Flint	48503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	J.	28-05 33rd Street #6B	ASTORIA	11102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carl	Vogel	918 Aurora Ave	Lexington	40502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Diane	Damian	235 Silver Oak Dr.	Pittsburgh	15220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Raul	Ferreira	708 Morada Lane	Stockton	95210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Scotto	Prescott Valley, AZ	Prescott Valley	86314	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	vezina	3640 idlewood loop	The Villages	32162	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Stewart	721 Walker Springs Rd	KNOXVILLE	37923	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
dedra	page	875 Glenway Dr. Apt # 19	Inglewood	90302	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shane	Pyles	171 Penn Blvd.	Lansdowne	19050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kara	Poon	41 Kingsford Court, Napa, Ca	Napa	94558	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donald	Sanborn	617 Illinois St.	Geneva	60134	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Kolesar	2735 Skyline Drive	Westminster	80030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D B	HOLLIDAY	49 BLOOMER RD	Brewster	10509	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
w	l	forest	Forest Park	60130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jason	Thomas	3710 Laurel St	SHASTA LAKE	96019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
N	Kanhai	1110 Lebanon St.	Aurora	60505	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Harry	Truss sr	832 9th ave	Middletown	45044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

c	g	3901 governor	San Diego	92122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dianne	Gaudin	10210 Burnside Street	Convent	70723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rachel	Simpson-Loizou	216 Ben Venue Rd.	FOMBELL	16123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Kolesar	2735 Skyline Drive	Westminster	80030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
sonia	aguirre	po box 771002	Miami	33177	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Theresa	Bakko	4434 Kathy Dr	MOSES LAKE	98837	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leora	Bishop	2846 Calle de Oriente	Santa Fe	87507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kim	Godwin	PO Box 23426	Jacksonville	32241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Troy	Grant	101 E Atlantic Blvd, Pompano Beach	Homestead	33030	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marc	Silverman	6030 Graciosa Dr	Los Angeles	90068	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roger	Surprenant	12 cozy bluff road	SAVANNAH	31410	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Moreno	321 N Fruit Ave	Fresno	93706	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Alan	Yager	3210 Norbeck Rd.	SILVER SPRING	20906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	M	104 G Ave	Silver Spring	20902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marianne	Sippel	13549 Borrelli Rd.	Nevada City	95959	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Genaze	334 Harvard Street	Cambridge	2139	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeanne	Evans	1068 Ledgestone Dr.	Wadsworth	44281	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Phillip	Carson	759 N Pendleton Ave	Pendleton	46064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cris	Good	6245 Stanley Ave	San Diego	92115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anatoliy	Shanin	1768 E Plata way	Sandy	84093	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gilda	Nifong	2119 Cunningham Road	Thomasville	27360	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lorraine	Krajewski	10616 Gold Coast Court	Shreveport	71115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
kathleen	savard	6510 n 3rd st	Wells	49894	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Robertson	4645 Pleasant Valley Road	Harrisonburg	22801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanne	McKay-Hudak	8132 Fairmount	Downers Grove	60516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicola	Owski	340 Funston Ave	San Francisco	94118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emil	Lawton	13025Hesby st.	Sherman Oaks	91423	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joshua	Spain	16 Lark St	Cohoes	12047	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Blaine	Bauer	15618 NW Ryegrass Street	Portland	97229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephanie	Crisp	6651 grand river rd	Laingsburg	48848	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Devin	Griffiths	3 Oakwood Drive	Belchertown	1007	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Delores	Eddins	13441 Warwick Blvd. Apt. D	Newport News	23602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	Robinson	1604 26th Street	Rock Island	61201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Fallon	24 Reed Road	Wappingers Falls	12590	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DON	HOOGSTRA	6769 Angels Lane	Tucker	30084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Zach	Zki	PO BOX 14281	Albany	12212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. GIVE US A CHOICE!

Wilfrid	Csaplar	100 Logan Ct	Bethany	26032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Bott	2321 Q St #5	Sacramento	95816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Baker	1534 Jenifer Ave	Madison Heights	48071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amber	Fandel	1156 North Hudson Avenue	Los Angeles	90038	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Al	Moyer	1110 25th Place	Wisconsin Rapids	54494	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randy	OGorman	p.o. bOX 395	Guerneville	95446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cheryl	Liniman	10041 W. Ridgewood Dr.	CLEVELAND	44130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. I'm a widow on a fixed income. My REALLY, REALLY BASIC cable is almost $54.00 a month .... that includes 2 boxes. That's INSANE. There are only a few stations to watch. I don't care for Fox, the sports programs, the religious stations, reality shows or any of the advertising channels. We are sick and tired of having advertising shoved down our throats while paying high prices.
Andrew	Lazin	4 Sycamore Ct.	WINTER SPRINGS	32708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sean	Dugan	121 w glen rd	Denville	7834	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Krieg	Ithaca, NY	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
A	V.	843 W. Adams St.	Chicago	60607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Valorie	Littin	14 W Saint Elmo AVE	Colorado Springs	80905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kermit	Cuff	338 Mariposa Ave. #2	Mountain View	94041	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Bertholl	17363 Hwy 105	Melville	71353	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dave	Smith	74 Forest hills	boston	3121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emerson	Burkett	PO Box 403	Guerneville	95446	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dorothy	Hammer	410 Orchard St. N.	Northfield	55057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ilona	Steur-Smith	756 West Birch Court	Louisville	80027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pamela	Kilgore	3424 Sweetbriar Drive	Akron	44321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maisa	Sammour	8008 Woodfern dr.	Pelham	35124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matias	Godinez	27 Hollywood Court	San Francisco	94112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brett	Light	6955 Northshore Way	Sacramento	95831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Reggie	Ross	3807 S W 93rd Terrace	Gainesville	32608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jayne	Finley	6230 Old Ranch Road	Colorado Springs	80908	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D	cole	1200 breakaway	Oceanside	92057	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Cataldo	796 Blueridge Dr.	Medford	11763	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Arnold	60 Tularosa Ct. Lafayette IN	Lafayette	47905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Denee	Scribner	1113 E 2nd Ave	Ellensburg	98926	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Skip	Ragland	111 Glen Cove Lane	West End	27376	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Heather	Ervin	1322 W Elmdale	Chicago	60660	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
sherry	calvetti	5 hawkins CT	Bear	19701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Nienstedt	1218 S Starr Ln	Liberty Lake	99019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kenneth	Chin-Onn	8986 Palos Verde Dr	Orlando	32825	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lin	DeMartini	50350 Cowen Rd., Slip 15	Scappoose	97056	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JAMES	WALKER	34 Dawson Road	KENDALL PARK	8824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharyn	Hanson	54 Prince Charles Dr.	Billings	59105	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rufus	Davis	24 E. Village Rd	Newark	19713	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Beard	2495 Smoketown Rd	Lewisburg	17837	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Marjean	Doden	4100 N. Neenah Ave #101	CHICAGO	60634	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
lisa	turner	N4622 Timbercrest DR E	Onalaska	54650	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
CLAUDIA	MENENDEZ	1876 canvas edge dr	Henderson	89044	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Koch	1000 Maxwell Ave #8	Boulder	80304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan T.	Kotowicz	2215 Maxwell Ave	CHEYENNE	82001	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gloria	Gonder	20235 Grouse Way	Sonora	95370	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet	Glover	9000 E. Speedway Blvd.	TUCSON	85710	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roberta	Froome	5531 La Cuenta Drive	SAN DIEGO	92124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dianne	Neil	15510 Cabildo Dr. Houston Tx	Houston	77083	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Stachelski	213 Challedon Drive	SUMMERVILLE	29485	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eileen	Miller	540 Ft. Wash. Ave.	NEW YORK	10033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mikail	Barron	110 Arrow Lane Felton CA	Felton	95018	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lisa	Littell	506 Copperstone	HUGOTON	67951	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Earl	Sprague	8506 - - Lakeside Drive	FORT WAYNE	46816	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tamara	Saarinen	4418 Rosedale St NW	GIG HARBOR	98335	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

mark	kapec	29106 Edgewood Dr.	Eastlake	44095	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Ulrey	4741 SE 34th Ave	Portland	97202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Naira	Hueper	11527 Hadley Street	Overland Park	66210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	McDermott	61 Lawrence Park Crescent	Bronxville	10708	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
EDWARD	STANCIL	2455 shore bird ave.	North Las Vegas	89084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Craker	222 Lake St	KENT	44240	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Neal	Devine	717 NE 4th Avenue	Gainesville	32601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
susan	walters	8899fair oaks blvd #c	Carmichael	95608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Melody	Jones	890 Miller Road	Reading	19608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lee Ann	Greaves	13810 E 41st Ave	Spokane	99206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Julia	McGovern	4631 Maile Road	WAIMEA	96796	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Wallner	1836 E. Linden Street Tucson AZ	Tucson	85719	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

William	Hill	23778 W. WARREN, Dearborn Heights, MI	Dearborn Heights	48127	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MaryBee and Bob	Longabaugh	157 Alton Mtn Rd., Alton Bay, NH	Alton Bay	3810	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Mosher	4549 McIntosh Ct	Grand Rapids	49534	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Myrick	476 Bouldercrest Dr.	Marietta	30064	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Abby	Dahlquist	545 Lynn Road SW	HUTCHINSON	55350	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Devon	Gill	1604 Hartsdale Riad	Baltimore	21239	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Shannon	Minor	567 52 Avenue North	Saint Petersburg	33703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marcia	gelfond	355 shoreline circle	Port Saint Lucie	34986	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tiana	kovacevic	16530 STONE PRAIRIE DR	Houston	77095	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Kessler	782 Calmar Avenue	Oakland	94610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Russell	Lawson	1284 Schex Dr	Bossier City	71112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beverly	Robinson	260 Mandalay Road	Lexington	40504	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jean	Driscoll	1300 Army Navy Drive	ARLINGTON	22202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joel	Kaplan	2301 Dotsero Ave	Loveland	80538	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kimberly	Phillips	16 Atlantic Ave	Bar Harbor	4609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lennie	Leonard	14501 Sareen Way	ACCOKEEK	20607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Albert and Marcia	Hertz	659 W. Aldine Ave.	CHICAGO	60657	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leland	Brun	316 Cheese Factory Rd	Honeoye Falls	14472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carmela	Sudano	1269 Vinegate Dr 8	Salt Lake City	84121	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Teresa	Wall	30 E Brown Rd Unit 2041	Mesa	85201	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
H Judith	Volk	5 Mendecino Dr. Pueblo,CO	Pueblo	81005	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Barry	1738 Northampton rd apt611	Akron	44313	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Rogers	3100 Patriot Lane	Sacramento	95827	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joe	Seamons	3332 SE Cesar Chavez Blvd	Portland	97202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Connors	(not given)	San Francisco	94123	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wendy	Rangel	820 Terry Ln	Key West	33040	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Pat	Makowski	Neal	STILLWATER	55082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Aileen	Eleey	105 presidents ln	Quincy	2169	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kristina	Fiorini	5638 Marchese Ct	FAIR OAKS	95628	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
V	Martin	1009 Kinnway Court	Lewisville	27023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

J	W	295 Redemption Rock Trail, S.	Princeton	1541	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron and Phyllis	Caruso	7340 Exner	Darien	60561	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	Becker	1300 Payne Ave.	Saint Paul	55130	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

George	Cleveland	713 Valley Way	Santa Clara	95051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Beauvais	1385 28th Ave #5, San Francisco CA	San Francisco	94122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Jones	1046 N. Laurel Avenue Apt 8	Los Angeles	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

jane	wheeler	663 fremont st #2	santa clara	95050	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
k	hk	fulton street	Brooklyn	11213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
carolyn	tague	7314 linden drive	Anchorage	99502	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Hansberry	461 Piedmont circle York PA	York	17404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
V	Martin	1009 Kinnway Court	Lewisville	27023	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Kloby	26375,Waterford Cir	Lake Forest	92630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	McCord	628 sandside court	Carlsbad	92011	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
cyndi	nolan	10027 sw 50th ave	Portland	97219	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Adam	Driscoll	53 LIBERTY ST	DANSVILLE	14437	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Thomas	Blom	45 Ora WY	San Francisco	94131	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Lipsitz	8531 S Chicago Rd	Oak Creek	53154	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joy	Wall	PO Box391182	Keauhou	96739	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Miroslav	Klivansky	2506 Cordova St.	Oakland	94602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nicholas	Frangakis	620 Westbourne drive	West Hollywood	90069	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marta	Martinsen	306	SITKA	99835	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rita	Henderson	8355 Winnetka Ave	Winnetka	91306	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Statland	15850 N Thompson Peak Pkway #1124	Scottsdale	85260	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Sverdlove	52 Hartley Avenue	Princeton	8540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carolyn	Pendle	5406 46th Ct. NE	Olympia	98516	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tannya	Davis	705 South Anderson Ave	Glendive	59330	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Jessel	6157 Simpson Ave	North Hollywood	91606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Audrey	Brownell	2311 E.Electra	Phoenix	85024	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Gonzales	45556 60th St West	Lancaster	93536	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Lloyd	Sun City Center,Fl	Sun City Center	33573	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

S	B	Greensboro Ln	Ladson	29456	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Cooke	325 E. Oak View Avenue	OAK VIEW	93022	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Fetter	PO Box 521	Puyallup	98371	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tami	Linder	3750 Desert Pinon Dr NE	Rio Rancho	87144	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Francisco J	Salazar	214 N Walnut St	El Paso	79901	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mital	Patel	9550 Mansfield rd	Shreveport	71118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michelle	Rossee	PO Box 6521	OLYMPIA	98507	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
liza	mai	Harbigstr.14	East Concord	14055	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. be vegan make peace make peace be vegan
Jane	Yater	2654 Barton Hills Drive	Austin	78704	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cathleen	Lindsay	2025 NE 100th St	Seattle	98125	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
mb	garrett	16239 W. Port Au Prince Lan	Surprise	85379	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Gorham	110 Brown Road	Scarsdale	10583	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathy	Nordeen	309 Seabright Avenue	Santa Cruz	95062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Willis	Ritter	1513 Kennewick Dr.	Sunnyvale	94087	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Nordeen	309 Seabright Avenue	Santa Cruz	95062	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

chris	Watson	7965 Kendall Rd PO Box 1893	Maple Falls	98266	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carolyn	Galluzzo	3734 Via Pacifica Walk	Oxnard	93035	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elena	Vezzetti	2 Skiff St.	Hamden	6514	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Pederson	Sutro Avenue	Novato	94947	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
K	Heim	22 Broadway E	Seattle	98102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Turner	80 Lynwood Dr Se	Rio Rancho	87124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Pearson	5 Teakwood Ct.	Washington	61571	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brian	Becker	1725 29th Street	San Diego	92102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Micah	McIntyre	1116 Calle Oro Verde	Valley Center	92082	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dan	Helmick	1220 Kenilworth Ave.	Coshocton	43812	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Rae	75-628 N Mea Lanakila Place	Kailua Kona	96740	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lois	Frankel	59 main blvd	Trenton	8618	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

augusta	tourlakes	p.o. box 321	lake geneva	53147	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Terrill	30 So. Ridgewooe Rd. Kentfield	Greenbrae	94904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evan	Ingle	2140 Lincoln Ave	San Diego	92104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Douglas	Tripp	813 Mentor Wichita Kansas	Wichita	67213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marilyn	Rowland	206 Eastern Heights Drive	Ithaca	14850	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Evan	Skallerud	121 Old Dixie HWY SW	VERO BEACH	32962	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rebecca	Ojeda	2120 West St.	Houston	77026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
L	Parker	11527 Hwy 99	Everett	98204	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	reppert	3823 yerkes road	COLLEGEVILLE	19426	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Liz	Zundel	17 Academy St.	Barre	5641	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rodrick	James	6143 Fabian Rd. North Port, FL	North Port	34287	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Glen	Anderson	5015 15th Ave SE	LACEY	98503	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Yvonne	Hardgrave	39 Webster St.	NEW HAVEN	6511	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Martens	3800 S. Cantabria Cir #1119	Chandler	85248	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Tomaselli	1556 Cambridge Ct	Salinas	93906	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jonathan	Peter	6 Brevity Court	BINGHAMTON	13905	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nancy	Pratt	9965 SW Kent CT	Portland	97224	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronny	Bolsega	2651 E. Mallory St.	Mesa	85213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

D.	Chalfin	Address	Framingham	1702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronny	Bolsega	2651 E. Mallory St.	Mesa	85213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tamara	Voyles	2049 Blucher Valley Rd	SEBASTOPOL	95472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Salvador	Medina	13612 Jackson street	Whittier	90602	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Eric	Rodriguez	5722 Meridian St	Los Angeles	90042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Jerger	229 Frederick Street	Martinsburg	25404	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Barry	Brenner	1636 North Stanley Avenue	LOS ANGELES	90046	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Victoria	Bailey	2307 Edmondson Ave.	Baltimore	21223	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Derek	Duszynski	426 S Sepulveda Blvd	Los Angeles	90049	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

WilliamRoderick	Roderick	1100 Ocean Avenue #406	San Francisco	94112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Holland	20 Morse Street	Freeport	4032	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Foster	POBOX 240195	Douglas	99824	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sharon	Levy	2213 Meadow Lane	Fullerton	92831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tracy	Reeve	4458 Perkins Circle, Belcamp, MD	Belcamp	21017	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Toni	Harrington	Harrington	Pleasant Prairie	53158	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Debra	McGivney	3013 Robinwood Dr SW	Warren	44481	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patty	twiss	140 Boston rd	Middletown	6457	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DJ	Small	132-08 140 St.	Jamaica	11436	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Iain	Gould	2205 Ridgefield Road	Columbia	65203	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mercedes	Vega	harvard st	San Juan	936	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
MaryAnn	LeDonne	220 N. Dithridge St.	Pittsburgh	15213	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Kotchmar	10 woodlake dr	thiells	10984	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brenda	Russell	530 Main St	LODI	7644	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Why enable monopolistic business practices when there are alternatives already on the market? Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thi	Ton-Olshaskie	674 Woodland Court	Arroyo Grande	93420	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

R	mill	Maple	Toledo	43608	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gordon	Seyfarth	62982 birch rd	VANDALIA	49095	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emmy	Chadbourne	707 longview st	Greensboro	27403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Daly	9 Dollard Farm Way	ELLSWORTH	4605	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Anthony	Cardaropoli	39435 Daylily Pl.	Palmdale	93551	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Helen	Hileman	169 Goldenrod Dr.	Eaton	45320	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Cully	4 Patriot Ln	Westford	1886	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Gillespie	11321 Hickory Creek Road	Luther	73054	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rhonda	Lawford	50 lake st po box 220	SOUTH WILMINGTON	60474	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Hansen	4917 SpaanemAve	Madison	53716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Luis	rosado	430 mill hill	bridgeport	6610	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stephen	Bellomo	22 Deerfield Dr.	ROCHESTER	14609	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Betty	Lawler	2743 Mauricia Ave A	Santa Clara	95051	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Judith	Snider	7967 W Blue Heron Way	TUCSON	85743	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Yukl	363 21st St. SE	CEDAR RAPIDS	52403	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rebecca	Felton	230 N. Caswell Avenue	Southport	28461	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DENNIS	BARBATO SR	3111 ocean	Hollywood	33019	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Travis	Gruver	1114 Top O Hollow Rd	Ames	50010	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy	Heicher	498 Clermont Ave S.	Orange Park	32073	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynn	Gaudette	650 Bayou Drive	CASSELBERRY	32707	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
R	Karpinski	1000 Remington Rd.	WYNNEWOOD	19096	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cara	Kulwicki	202 E SQUIRE DR APT 6	Rochester	14623	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DeUnna	Taylor	665 N. Cypress St.	JESUP	31546	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Wilson	918 E. Moneta Ave.	PEORIA HEIGHTS	61616	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Allen	Brown	1320 east 10th ave	Hutchinson	67501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alton	Tyre	217 Sawmill Road	CEDAR GROVE	27231	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paulette	Tanem	3902 67th St E	Inver Grove Heights	55076	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Schneider	213 Crystal Lake Road	Tolland	6084	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tiffany	Witmer	156 Thunder Hill Drive	STAMFORD	6902	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joan	Koch	2224 Hwy 87E Lot #133	Billings	59101	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

christian	smith	5425 bluesky Dr unit 14	CINCINNATI	45247	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steven	Johnson	1359 Fox Run #107, Willoughby, OH	Willoughby	44094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Justin	Very	Any street	Dayville	6241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lee	Michalsky	153 Pine View Avenue	NANUET	10954	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sarah	Therrien	Hartford pike	Dayville	6241	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donne	McKissic	6935 Frankstown Avenue	Pittsburgh	15208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bryan	Erhard	3460 NW 110th Ter	POMPANO BEACH	33065	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elena	Cotto	17 Houghton Street	SOMERVILLE	2143	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
William	Hawkins	1408 North Main Street	Edwardsville	62025	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Voisin	2405 Pixton Dr	Killeen	76543	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lisa	Pearson	1305 Old Pageland Monroe Rd	Monroe	28112	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dean	Bulford	26 Kemp CT	Smyrna	19977	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nancy	Kocik	35 Stone Valley Rd	Orange	1364	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sharon	Cappuccio	220 marlyn avenue	Hammonton	8037	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stan	Carloss	1498 Dudley walk #c	Cincinnati	45214	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Phoebe	Wooding	32 McKelvey Avenue	Pittsburgh	15218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Rahul	Gupta	8516 Water Cay	WEST PALM BEACH	33411	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Connie	Burdick	138 N 20th St.	Philomath	97370	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Rekasi	7984 Sand Rd.	Brutus	49716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Rekasi	7984 Sand Rd.	Brutus	49716	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sean	Ronchetti	1224 45 1/2 ave ne Columbia Heights MN	Minneapolis	55421	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Leah	Simmons	85 Walnut St.	Watertown	2472	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Herd	10392 Oak Shore Drive	South Lyon	48178	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Enrique	Prangner	1624 Joe Porter Dr	El Paso	79936	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judi	Wilbur	24 Bradner Drive	Warwick	10990	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ronald	Walters	16 Mackworth Ln.	Cumberland Foreside	4110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Joyner	Tujunga Ave	North Hollywood	91601	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Pete	Thompson	1313 Mockingbird Ln	Huntsville	35801	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Howell	Sherrod	723 west locust	Johnson City	37604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Charles and June	Dunn	407 South Miller St.	Reading	19607	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ronald	Walters	16 Mackworth Ln.	Cumberland Foreside	4110	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randal	James	769 Twp. Rd. 217, Bloomingdale, Ohio	Bloomingdale	43910	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	cunniff	345 Englewood ave	Bellwood	60104	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Krystal	Weilage	835 15th St	Butte	59701	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Daniel	Ritzenthaler	28 Pinecrest Village	Hopkinton	1748	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	DeCerchio	doral drive	Grand Island	32735	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Francis	Belmares	6118 Roslyn Street	MCKEESPORT	15135	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth M	Ferranti	PO Box 724, Marstons Mills MA	Marstons Mills	2648	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jennifer	Dreyer	9 Creekmere Cove	Newport News	23603	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tony	Giardina	Box 158	Mount Kisco	10549	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Larry	Lockhart	527 main	RICHARDSON	75081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Peter	Foltz	45 LaurelRidge Road	Hershey	17033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Madeleine	Keast	10 STATE ST	Westerly	2891	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Madeleine	Keast	10 STATE ST	Westerly	2891	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Schlottag	171 S. Kershaw St., York PA	York	17402	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

lee	lock	527 e main	Richardson	75081	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robin	Lim	46 Allen Street. 2b	New York	10002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kelsey	Sampson	40 Village Way	Jefferson	1522	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Henry	Bahnsen	715 Avenida Castellano	Santa Fe	87501	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Scott	VanSalisbury	224 Waterside Close Peekskill,NY	Peekskill	10566	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Thomas	Ozzello	14055 Granite Ave - Suite 102	Saint Paul	55124	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bernadette	Krol	814 Chumleigh Rd.	Baltimore	21212	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Bash	12700 Ridgehaven	Little Rock	72211	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gregory	Rosmaita	6-8 Walnut Place	Montclair	7042	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jimmie	Whitecotton	1646 Lakeview Ln	Wylie	75098	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Leonard	Heether	11643 W Dickerson Lake Road	Trufant	49347	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Roderick	Tanner	7411 Autumn Ledge	Converse	78109	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cameron	Coder	1030 N. Sheffield Ave	Indianapolis	46222	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Satter	3705 Armer Ave.	Boulder	80305	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Louis	Tebou	11200 SW 8TH Street	Miami	33199	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frances	Rove	8615 Reinhardt Lane, Leawood	Leawood	66206	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Folkerts	211 Hinton Rd	Columbia	65202	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Neill	Clayton-Smith	700 Harvey rd	Claymont	19703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	LaValle	10151 Carriage Drive	Plymouth	46563	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Brath	39 South Street	Hartford	53027	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Boland	2375 South Lumpkin Street	Athens	30606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Please help end the institutionalized monopolies that the cable companies have. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Sloan	120 Stetson Rd	TUPPER LAKE	12986	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Beth	Baker	Woodacre	Woodacre	94973	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Lakardis	953 wildwood Rd	Oradell	7649	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	MacDevitt	2045 Anza St. Apt.1	San Francisco	94118	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
M	breitu	3497 Johnson Ferry Rd NE	Roswell	30075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wayne	Vesely	438 Charles Bancroft Hwy.	Litchfield	3052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

CHARLOTTE	GRIECO	1402 S. Route#9	Cape May Court House	8210	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Drew	Hagen	705 Jefferson Ave	Saint Paul	55102	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Like my Apple TV! Would be sweet to everything on one box. You know its true! Plus, the competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. LETS PROPEL TO THE FUTURE!
Jan	Kennedy	25815 Cactus Park Road	Cedaredge	81413	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. My mom is 93 and can ill afford this service charge. It is unbelievable that old people on very fixed income are never offered a "deal" by big cable companies. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Bening	1109 Highedge Dr.	Plano	75075	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Tell us who the Competition is and we can choose. Competition may lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. I remember de-regulation of retail electricity, phones.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carrie	Luikens	4133 W Lupine Ave Phoenix AZ	Phoenix	85029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. But that is the least of my concerns about unnecessary cable fees. it would be nice to also not have to pay for channels we don't want or need! We keep getting forced into paying extra for these additional channels because the cable companies are not flexible enough in regards to the types of plans they offer. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Duncan	Duchov	32 Mechanic Street	Winchester	3470	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.Thank you very much for your attention and your consideration.
Maura	Buckley	5633 N College Ave	Indianapolis	46220	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies should not be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock the Box.
Lawrence	Blacik	124 N. Park Avenue	Waukegan	60085	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own devices. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Andrea	Wilson	1063 Morse Ave. #1-104	Sunnyvale	94089	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
C A	Myers	1424 Avenida Antigua	Fullerton	92833	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the right to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. I urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Randall	G.	3000 Harper St. Berkeley	Berkeley	94703	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the right to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We demand that the FCC and Congress Unlock The Box.

Meaghan	Simpson	2401 Newburg road	Fortuna	95540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. DAMM!!! I BOYCOTT CABLE BECAUSE THE PRICES KEEP RISING HIGHER AND THE QUALITY OF SERVICES AND DEVICES KEEP GETTING LOWER AND LOWER!!! SICK MONOPOLY MONSTER MADNESS MERGERS MESSING UP EVERYTHING!!! WHO WANTS CABLE NOT GOOD SELECTION AND JUST IRRELEVANT LAMESTREAM TV NEWS PUNDITS PROPAGANDA ESTABLISHMENT BY, FOR AND OF THE CRIMINAL 1%!!! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ray	Scott	2700 ne 121st street		9696	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Help stop the rip off. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Moline	5129 W. Carmen Ave B	Chicago	60630	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. I am already disadvantaged, I. This regard, as my specific address is not open to cable competition, and I have no options but to fork over close to $200 monthly, if I'd like cable television service. The removal of cable box rental fees would help my wife and I immensely. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Arth	55 Gardenia Rd	Ruckersville	22968	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. I am so tired of the cable TV rip offs! Please put an end to it now before I move abroad and miss the revolution! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michele	Streitman-Wood	1949 SE Joy Haven Street	Port Saint Lucie	34983	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. I fully support that consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Please address this issue in favor of the consumers, not the cable companies. Thank you.
Bernardine	Greene	70 Parkview Drive	Succasunna	7876	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. I have been waiting for the FCC to address this problem for over 20 years. The cost of renting the box and control units is terribly costly and reminds me of the many years I had to pay to rent a phone from Ma Bell. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gwyn	Williams	19489 Laurelbrook	Sonoma	95476	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. I pay a great deal more. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. We citizens want to be informed. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Timothy	Dodd	5299 Monarch Pine Ln	NORCROSS	30071	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. I pay Comcast $120 a year to rent a modem that costs a little over $100. But if I purchase a modem own, Comcast threatens to withdraw customer support. This is a giant rip-off. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Tochterman	74 Nims Road	Keene	3431	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. I should have the option to buy my own device. Competition could lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices at a faster speed.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Catherine	Bell	156 Columbia Drive	Amherst	1002	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. I'm already in the position of forced by town contract to use exorbitantly expensive and notoriously nasty Comcast as my cable and broadband provider, so the least FCC could do is force all cable companies to offer or allow cheaper, better choices by which to watch television. You should also forbid cable companies from locking us out of viewing what we want to see on our TV sets. What's the point of having them or buying cable if we can't see content that interests us?Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Jones	12614 Eldrid Court	Silver Spring	20904	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. I've paid almost $1,400 over the past 4 years for an out-dated DVR and a single cable box, for which Verizon probably paid no more than $140. I am sick of being ripped so that Verizon execs can have 8-figure compensation packages! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Bamber	1725 17th St NW	Washington	20009	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. In addition, they try to rent higher-priced boxes claiming you'll get a better picture only with them! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Piazza	615 Barker Street #305	Hawley	18428	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. In my town specifically (Hawley, PA), there is only one cable TV provider. They've had a monopoly over television here for many years, and continue to have control over everything TV and Internet-related. We only have two internet providers as well, which are the only cable company (Blue Ridge Cable - collaborated through an ISP called PTD.net) and through Verizon, the only phone company who offers DSL, which is ridiculously expensive, and the speeds are extremely limited - as they are with cable as well. There are no options for any speed of cable internet below (all together with fees and taxes and other charges) approximately $65-75 a month (you either pay a larger amount for internet without having basic cable TV, or pay for basic cable TV and get a lower internet cost. It works out to be a few dollars difference.) Consumers

David	Woods	544 Colby St, San Lorenzo, CA	San Lorenzo	94580	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. In the cable box monopoly, prices have risen 185 percent ‰ÛÒ while prices in competitive markets like phones, TVs, and computers have dropped 90 percent. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vasu	Murti	30 Villanova Lane	OAKLAND	94611	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. In this case, consumer choice does not infringe upon someone else's rights. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Elliot	Jenner	Jackson Heights	Jackson Heights	11372	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. It also gives cable companies and cable box manufacturers no reason to innovate or provide features. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. There is no reason why cable streams cannot be shown using a multitude of methods and let competition and consumer choice drive how and with what features we watch television.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Amy	Zink	400 Wayne Ave	Oakland	94606	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. It also is crazy that customers have to pay a fee every month for this device for as long as they have cable. Customers would be better off buying the device and just paying for cable. Removing this fee would not only benefit customers but also cable providers because these kinds of fees motivate customers to cancel their cable and opt for things like Netflix, Hulu, and Amazon prime instead. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Liz	Cullington	390 Rocky Hills Road	Pittsboro	27312	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. It also makes cable unaffordable for many people. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elizabeth	Baze	15822 SE 5th Pl., Bellevue	Bellevue	98008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. It is not capitalism that benefits the consumer. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joanne	Boyd	139 Central Point Lane	JOHNSON CITY	37604	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. It is ridiculous how much one has to pay to have access to news and a few decent programs. We are all held hostage by one cable company who jacks up prices indiscriminately. Everyone knows that they are a hostage and everyone hates that no one listens to the consumer. People are getting tired of this type of behavior and then you have people like Trump being considered for President. This is on you guys. Stop allowing big business to gouge us. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Mauzerall	36 Belden Ave	Dobbs Ferry	10522	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. It is wrong that cable companies determine not only the price (at exorbitant PRICES) for the equipment to receive their but also determine the choice of the equipment (theirs). Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	St. Sauveur	43 Prado Road	SAN LUIS OBISPO	93401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. It was OK back when cable was new to pay for the development, but now it's just ridiculous. Let companies sell boxes now. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sheila	Ary	526 Russell Road	DeKalb	60115	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. None of these consequences is good for consumers. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. This interference with consumers' choices is intolerable. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Hugh	McFadden	1418 Cherry Dr	Bozeman	59715	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Not only that, but the stupid thing is on all of the time and cannot be shut off--a parasitic use of a lot of kilowatts--it's always uncomfortably warm to the touch. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kathy	Krassa	2355 Panorama Ave	Boulder	80304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. NYC consumers are forced to travel into da gerous neighborhoods, on workdays, to retur. the things. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

L.	Adams	28421 Cerveza Ct	ESCONDIDO	92026	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Per year? You've got to be kidding me. I'm a senior on social security & in order to stay in my house I have to rent out the master bedroom It also means I have to provide either cable or wi-fi for TV & computer use. I'm having to pay $200 PER MONTH! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Meaghan	simpson	2401 Newburg road	Fortuna	95540	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. PISS ON MONOPOLY MONSTER MADNESS MERGERS WORST OF THE WORST - CABLE IN USA SUCKS WITH CORRUPT FCC WHEELER CRIMINALS WE DEMAND NOW BREAK UP THE MONOPOLIES NOW!!! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cynthia	Justice	21 Park Rd	Asheville	28803	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. SO undemocratic, free market!! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Linda	Elkind	620 Sand Hill Rd Apt 620F	Palo Alto	94304	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. The cost and selection options do not satisfy our needs. To view one or two choice channels we have to pay for more than 50 channels that we will never watch because of excessive advertising or programs that do not interest us. We feel blocked and as if we are deprived of choice. The tyranny of monopoly discourages us from watching TV except for one night a week of PBS.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Deborah	Miller	5306 Abingdon Pl	Austin	78723	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. The market system (with protections) is the best way to maximize economic happiness for all. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mary	Cook	3755 Blake Ct N	Rapid City	57702	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. THIS IS EXORBITANT FROM THE START, AND IT NEVER STOPS BEING RAISED YEAR AFTER YEAR! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

elen	gchesa	Monticello Rd	NAPA	94558	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Time for OUR government to STOP playing corrupt lapdog to greedy, morally bankrupt corporations that rip off consumers and start acting in OUR, the citizen's best interests! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
elen	gchesa	Monticello Rd	NAPA	94558	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Time for OUR government to STOP playing corrupt lapdog to greedy, morally bankrupt corporations that rip off consumers and start acting in the interests of its CITIZENS! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Brian	Kabcenell	4 Bailiwick Woods Cir	Greenwich	6831	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. We should have the power to choose their own devices. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV or charge exorbitant prices for outdated technologies . We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lauren	Ulatoski-Root	912 165th Ave S.E.	Bellevue	98008	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. We've had enough. I pulled my cable. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Price	20435 White Bark Drive	Strongsville	44149	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. What hurts the consumer, hurts the economy, and threatens our free enterprise government. This is a country founded by the people for the people , not for big business.

Pam	Raby	32718 Peoria Road SW	Albany	97321	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. When Comcast eliminated their analog service, I was forced to pay an additional $5 each month. Did I get anything in return? No! I want to choose my own set top box or equivalent device. I'm sick to death of greedy Comcast with their slow service. Are there any other providers in my area? No! Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what I see on my TV. I urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dennis	D'Asaro	482 Anderson Rd.	Middleburgh	12122	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Why on earth should consumers not be allowed to take advantage of technical progress? WHAT is sacred about a gigantic company's massive profits? Please allow innovation, competition, and lower prices to consumers. Comcast will not go broke, but I might.

Robert	Flavell	462 Summer Street	Duxbury	2332	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Would you require drivers to rent cars instead of buying them? Would you force homeowners to sell their property and rent apartments instead? It's simply un-American -- and excessively greedy -- for cable companies to force customers to rent their equipment. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dawn	Vincent	123 14th St	Westwego	70094	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't have the power to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Colgan-Davis	101 W. Mt. Airy Ave	Philadelphia	19119	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.We shoudl encourage competition when it undeniably helps consumers. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Chris	Lee	General Delivery	Portland	97218	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Pri
Linda	Mezieres	1333 W. Mulberry Dr	Phoenix	85013	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts8 up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lois	Strand	Spokane, WA	Spokane	99208	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and only increases cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to dictate what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Fred	Nothnagel	92 Surrey Drive	North Andover	1845	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and only lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Laurie	Norton	157 E 6th Ave	DURANGO	81301	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, lifts up cable profits, and I have always felt it was unjust. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jane	Beattie	PO Box 5591	KETCHUM	83340	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, while only infllating monopoly profits. Competition lowers prices and access to streaming content and diverse voices. Please allow choice.

Victor	Perez	2171 cloynes street, Oxnard CA	Oxnard	93033	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, restricts consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to one time purchase their own device. Similar to allowing consumers to buy their own DOCSIS Cable Modems for internet access. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bryan	Miller	39 edison	Ypsilanti	48197	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This is a monopoly on top of a monopoly! This hurts competition and lifts up cable profits, at the expense of the trapped consumer. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Benjamin	Croxton	12459 Sugarberry Way	JACKSONVILLE	32226	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This is one of the many ways that big cable companies hurt competition, limit consumer choice, and lift up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Linda	Billings	3654 Vacation Lane, Arlington, VA	Arlington	22207	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This requirement limits consumer choice and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the right to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and a greater diversity of perspectives. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Abigail	Welborn	1 Microsoft Way	Redmond	98052	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. When my family switched to a cable card (which costs us a fee to use!) and our own cable modem (bought for good for less than $60), we saved a ton of money. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Maris	Keller	1767 Balsamridge Road Columbus, OH	Columbus	43229	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. Wow, is that stupid. The creation of a society that is living for any technology that does NOT enhance the quality of life, but instead just keeps the corporate profit wheel turning ever faster, is not living at all. Better yet, get rid of cable and get rid of digital ... we do not like digital for tv ... we do not like cell phones ... we do not want "smart appliances" because they are not "smart" nor even functional. Cable is a scam like much of the technology that is based upon quickie profiteering motivation. Analog worked. Landline phones, especially with one provider worked, because regulation and monitoring by a FUNCTIONAL government worked. Too many changes are too fast to the market and so very under examined BEFORE being blasted onto the so called public like a fire hose. These motivations are immature. Reexamine the premise.
Maggie	Collins	2344 Canyon Song Ave.	Laughlin	89029	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable oligopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and allows cable companies to charge oligopoly rents. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Especially since cable companies run a sub-racket of providing poor quality and non-functioning units which they then charge to have replaced or repaired. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV! We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Timothy	Spong	75 Sunset Ave.	HOUSTON	19954	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set-top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own devices. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TVs. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cheri	Gaspero	89 Partridge Lane	Beecher	60401	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set-top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.Consumers should have the power to choose their own device and competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV which can be construed as an attempt to limit out First Amendment rights, It's long past time to stop cable companies from implementing usury fees because they require their consumers to rent their equipment at high, monthly fees. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Christy	Hastings	34 Pemaquid Tr, New Harbor	New Harbor	4554	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to" rent" a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, but it lifts up cable's short-term profits. These boxes are often poorly made. If you decide to change companies, you are required to return these boxes (costly) or pay for the old box at a "new box" price, despite the fact that the old box is 4 yrs old & obsolete (& will be trashed by that company). Consumers can buy their own houses, cars, TVs, radios & phones. Why shouldn't they have the power to choose their own cable device? Competition will lower prices and increase access. Surely this is in the best interest of American consumers - whom you are supposed to be representing & protecting? Studies repeatedly show that American consumers dislike, distrust & are increasingly frustrated with Cable companies (their ever-rising costs, the poor service, etc). Americans are allowed to drive where they want, call whom they want, listen to any radio stati
M	Clay	NY NY	New York	10014	American consumers pay an average of $231 per year! to rent a set-top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Stever	55 Griggs St.	Saint Paul	55104	American consumers pay an average of over $225 a year to rent a set top box from the cable companies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own set top device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Wakely	131 S 22 STREET - # 9	Philadelphia	19103	American consumers pay, on average, $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable company monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and always lifts up cable profits. Consumers need to have the power of -choice- of their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies should NOT be able to block what consumers see on their TV. I very strongly urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. After all, it's only television, isn't it? With my thanks, in advance.
Rick	Berger	21 Cherry St	North Adams	1247	American consumers support a parallel monopoly and pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Denise	Schroeder	Steamboat springs drive	Mokena	60448	American consumers, including myself, pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Miller	1983 Moltke Ct	Cleveland	44113	An obvious choice for the good of the consumer. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Curotto	621 Quinebaug Road	Quinebaug	6262	And here's another unaddressed issue.....It is pathetic how the cable/satellite companies are allowed to take the HD signal from broadcasters, degrade the signal to "standard definition" and then charge the consumers an additional fee to receive the high definition signal, which the cable company pays nothing extra for!!! The consumers are getting fleeced by the telecomms, thanks to you at the FCC. No big surprise given most of you there at the FCC worked for, or expect to be working for the same companies you are supposed to be protecting the citizen/consumer from being unfairly taken advantage of! When will the FCC EVER understand that the public OWNS the land and sky that these companies are allowed to use for their businesses?!!? Without the use of the public lands and public airways they'd be OUT OF BUSINESS!!! And yet our own agency, charged with making the rules and administering the telecommunications entities use of OUR resources, acts as if THEY[telecomms] are the ones who own the resource.
Jeff	Gemutliche	4470 Swallowtail Ct. Redding, CA	Redding	96003	Another Great American Scheme, So many other countries are far ahead of us in many areas---just another example of how big $$$$ rips the U.S. Citizen off. Hopefully things will change without blood----American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Ketcham	47 e shore rd	Huntington	11743	Anything that helps introduce more competition into Americas cable industry has my full support. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Melvin	104 Connie Drive	Gulfport	39503	As a cable one customer I pay over $250 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. I have no option to own a set top box. The only choice is to rent from Cable One. They are the only cable supplier in Gulfport, MS. The ONLY competion is satellite, either Dish or DirectTV. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kay	Lockridge	2742 La Silla Dorada	Santa Fe	87505	As a concerned American who relies on cable, I ask the FCC and Congress to Unlock the Box. For-profit cable companies should NOT be able to determine what Americans watch, based on ability to pay. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

Richard	Saretsky	20720 E. Walnut Canyon Road, Walnut, CA	Walnut	91789	As a customer, I believe that I should not be held captive by the cable company‰Ûªs monopoly on set top boxes which are required for television reception. For the amount that I involuntarily pay each year to rent a box, I could easily purchase one. This windfall by the cable companies and their lack of consideration for customers must stop! Just like the break- up of the telephone company phone monopoly of 30 years ago, I strongly urge the FCC to give cable customers the option to either rent OR purchase their own cable boxes and save money at the same time. The greed, intransigence and lack of concern for their customers must cease as soon as possible! Please ignore the whining and doomsday predictions of the cable companies. They are just interested in profits not the best interests of their subscribers!
Richard	Saretsky	20720 E. Walnut Canyon Road, Walnut, CA	Walnut	91789	As a customer, I believe that I should not be held captive by the cable company‰Ûªs monopoly on set top boxes which are required for television reception. For the amount that I involuntarily pay each year to rent a box, I could easily purchase one. This windfall by the cable companies and their lack of consideration for customers must stop! Just like the break- up of the telephone company phone monopoly of 30 years ago, I strongly urge the FCC to give cable customers the option to either rent OR purchase their own cable boxes and save money at the same time. The greed, intransigence and lack of concern for their customers must cease as soon as possible! Please ignore the whining and doomsday predictions of the cable companies. They are just interested in profits not the best interests of their subscribers!

Art	Rothman	985 CR 102	Glenwood Springs	81601	AS A HOTEL OWNER i PAY AN EXORBITANT AMOUNT TO COMCAST FOR TERRIBLE SERVICE. HAVING A CHOICE OF BOXES WOULD BE BETTER FORM ME AND MY CUSTOMERSAmerican consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Dailey	7039 San Pedro Ave #710	SAN ANTONIO	78216	As a long time cable TV subscriber, I have watched the price of cable boxes go up, and up , and up. If the cable companies are worried about a reduction in subscribers, they should look at the prices they charge for equipment, as those prices are what's making them lose customers. I've been spending more and more time figuring out what I want to do to get away from being a subscriber so I can save money. I use a DVR box and every month I have to pay for both, the box and the DVR service. I am also charged a monthly fee for a modem, which I could buy myself, but worry that if I have any problems, even if they may be the cable company's, they will tell me I will have to contact the modem maker. I have had this type of experience in the past. They will just say it's not their problem. We just do not have enough competition in our area, or the entire United States for that matter, so these cable companies can just keep charging us more and more, but never improve our service. I currently pay for 50 mbps

Anne	Bower	40 Treadwell Road	Binghamton	13905	As a senior citizen with a home business, I am frustrated that so many corporations have a monopoly resulting in unfair prices of items--especially critical ones. In my community, if I want cable internet service, which is necessary now for just about everyone, I have no choice of providers--so no choice of which set top box to use. Please give us consumers a little more chance to save some money--or get a better product. Thank you for your consideration,Anne Bower
Carole	Boka	8321 W. Sahara	LAS VEGAS	89117	As a senior I can't afford the cable TV increases every year, inluding for the cable box. No COLA from SSA/I need some $ relief! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Benjamin	Harper	3410 S Halifax Way	Aurora	80013	As a tech geek, it has always been absurd that I'm forced to rent an old, clunky piece of hardware to get my cable not my TV. As with cable modems, if consumers were able to acquire their own hardware, they would find that the market supports them with better prices and better performance. Current practices can only serve to hold technological innovation in check and put more money in the pockets of the corrupt, greedy big cable companies. Additional message (which I agree with);American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
JIM	ROLKA	2104 FELIZ DR	Novato	94945	As an Electrical Engineer, I know there are many better options!American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Tate	705 Chestnut Street	Mamou	70554	As it is, the cable companiesAmerican consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
caroll	chickowsky	612 north bailey ave	FORT WORTH	76107	As our own M ark Twain said. . ."You are never wonr doing the right thing. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box."
LFJ	Gill	15 Townhouse Rd, Hopkinton, RI	Hopkinton	2833	Break up the Rip-off monopolies. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Blanchard	15 admiral ave	Manahawkin	8050	Cable boxes are a total rip off, even cable cards. I bought my own cable box, got it approved and spent hours getting it to work right, lost on demand services and all, for a 2.50$ savings.. Comcast STILL charges 10$ a month but gives 2.50 for "bringing my own equipment." where's the economy in this where's the incentive.. The incentive is to keep paying them 10$ it's absolutely insane and archaic, there's a reason people are latching to services like Netflix, they're superior to what cable TV has become.
Nick	Sexton	3134 W Lewis Ave #41	PHOENIX	85009	Cable boxes should be like modems, able to be purchased for around $100 or rented out.
Jon	Svoboda	3839 Prospect Rd	Ann Arbor	48105	Cable companies are able to provide products of questionable quality and reliability, As a consumer, the only choice available to us is the one offered by the cable company and to be charged whatever they want for their equipment. People should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will ensure fair, market competitive pricing with a quality product. Please eliminate this "monopoly practice" and allow for competition. Thank you.
William	Tucker	915 W.THURBER ST.TUCSON AZ.	Tucson	85705	Cable Companies are allowed to monopolize cable boxes and fees they charge. There are other more affordable and better alternatives. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Frank	Paiano	2320 Soto Street	San Diego	92107	Cable companies are icchy!American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
S	Perry	111 lady allison le.	Richmond	23235	Cable companies have consistently mislead and overcharged us. You the FCC really should try Comcast "customer service" sometime to see what the average consumer has to deal with.I
Jeffrey	Wagy	503 Avenue N Se	Winter Haven	33880	Cable companies have been gouging their customers for years on cable TV rates and more recently on internet and phone services. They offer slow internet speeds at high rates and charge equally high rates for phone service. In my area there is absolutely no competition and no choice for consumers. There are only two companies to choose from; one is expensive offering slow service and the other is more expensive offering faster service. Virtually all other developed nations in the world have far faster service at a fraction of the price. The American consumers deserve better.

Zachary	Morgan	Tracy	Tracy	95376	Cable companies have the right to require soecific hardware if they like. However they shouldn't require proprietary hardware and charge for it. You can't use their service without the hardware so it should be included in your plans cost instead of as a 'hidden fee' as I've heard it described. The cable companies will tell you that they already provide that option. They provide a free 20 year old cable box incapable of HDMI hook up or programming. These units are large, loud (in comparison) and run extremely hot (due to age I expect). I speak from experience as you can tell. I myself was unable to hook up the box and my kids videogamr system as my 12 year old tv has 1 TCA port and multiple hdmi ports. The RCA port was installed in it so that a camcorder could easily be hooked up, it's actually in the front to make that easier. Which means it was a hold over, an obsolete hook up 12 years ago. I believe it's time they stop charging for the cable boxes roll it together with the plan. Because that's what
Lou	Guidera	5221 Jones Street	Omaha	68106	Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. I urge the FCC and Congress to end the "set top box" especially when there are cheaper alternatives available to bring in the signal. The cable companies' profits are unconscionable and I for one am fed up with all their shenanigans..
Kate	Green	4801 NE Wistaria Drive	Portland	97213	Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

craig	clinton	309-55thst	Vienna	26105	Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Let me choose ala'carte services because I don't want the rest of them .Craig Clinton
Donald	Meyerson	2477 Front Street	Easton	18042	Cable itself is too much of a ripoff. Paying to see commercials is outrageous. Yet American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dion	Blundell	69255 Tamala Ave.	Cathedral City	92234	Cable monopolies are outrageous and fees are rapacious! Like any utility, it must be regulated. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Nima	Rosepiper	284 Main Street, apt 20	Great Barrington	1230	Cable monopolies hurt competition, limits consumer choice, and inflate cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

dagmar	mclaughlin	862 martin drive	Palatine	60067	cable subscriber for over 30 years.....every year we pay higher prices and loose programming access.....for years you could access all seasons of a series.....now they charge you for past seasons, even current seasons if you don't access the latest episodes within a certain time frame.....They label it purchasing a movie to their DVR but if you cancel service, you lose the movie access.....it's really a rip off!!!! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Hill	24986 Rice Tract Rd	SAN BENITO	78586	Cable TV users pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. Which helps the cable companies fund their efforts to limit customer options (including viewing choices, equipment options, and the option to buy versus renting). Unchain cable customers by Unlocking The Box.

Lloyd	Rezler	Carmel, CA	Carmel	93923	Comcast (and likely all the other cable companies) introduce spurious communications protocol changes that make owning your own cable box a difficult proposition. The rental fees are so high that each year we pay for a new box. Please put an end to this! Also, please see below:American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Elaine	Baldwin	7395 Sedgefield Avenue	San Ramon	94583	Comcast and AT&T have locked up the market where I live, and I feel trapped into a package that costs more almost every time I open my bill. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bob	Soper	4922 NE 7th Av	Portland	97211	Comcast is our city's only real option for broadband internet, and in order to not pay even higher monthly rates, we are forced to purchase cable service we don't want, and this includes the usurious rental fees for the cable box that we don't ever even use. Please change the rules to allow customers to purchase and use our own set top boxes. Thank you.

Robert	Kolkebeck	131 Hay St., Park Forest, IL	Park Forest	60466	Comcast‰Ûªs public relations department may believe that they are presenting themselves as an ideal corporate citizen by offering internet service at $10 per month to Cook County families (Illinois) with children who qualify for free lunch, but don‰Ûªt be fooled. It‰Ûªs the ridiculously compensated key personnel at Comcast who are getting so much more than a free a lunch with bundling schemes that require your constituents in the rest of the households to buy pay tv and phone services to get the supposedly lower internet service rates advertised daily. In 2012 the top five over at Comcast took in collectively over $112 million. See what they paid themselves in 2015. Know where the campaign contributions come from when Comcast lobbyists show up in DC and every state capital in the nation to lobby against, prevent, or sabotage attempts by citizens to get hi-speed internet and/or municipal wi-fi service offered directly by local governments. Give your Americans more for their property taxes. Suppor Competition is always better for both the consumer (since they get choices) and the industry (since they become more likely to innovate). Allowing monopolies is counterproductive.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kae	Bender	42955 Cherbourg Lane	Lancaster	93536

Johnes	Ruta	22 Willard Street	New Haven	6515	CONGRESS MUST GUARANTEE NET NEURALITY -- PERMENENTLY!American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Wallace	Elton	36 Curt Blvd	SARATOGA SPRINGS	12866	Consumers in our country pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This boosts cable profits, of course, but undercuts competition and limits consumer choice. I believe consumers should have the right to choose their own devices. The resulting competition will lower prices and expand access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies should not be able to block what consumers see on their TVs. I urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Andrew	Costigan	200 Engamore Lane Apt 102	NORWOOD	2062	Consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies should not be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matthew	Hively	3842 Annapolis ct	South San Francisco	94080	Consumers should have more choices in how Cable set boxes are obtained and paid for. In my personal view if a customer agrees to a rental box it should be their choice to do so. And the fees should have a sunset clause in the contract so that once the price of the cable box has been paid for the fee is terminated. (payment by installments basically). There should be NO provision allowing cable companies to lock a customer into their specific set top cable box. Let the competitive market drive innovation in the cable box space. Allow the same freedom in the cable set top box market as there is in the cable internet modem market.
Rebecca Smith	Randolph	3212 Bernardo Lane	Escondido	92029	Consumers should have the power to choose their own "set-top cable boxes." Currently American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent boxes from the cable monopolies. Competition will lower prices, improve technology, and increase access to new streaming content from diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. The status quo also hurts competition and creates excessive cable profits.We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Ostrouchov	106 Orchard Cir	Oak Ridge	37830	Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Erin	Robinson	53 Oxford Ave.	Belmont	2478	Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies should never be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock the Box.
Bruce	Hestley	618 Parkside Ave.	Buffalo	14216	Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Catherine	Fowler	18928 Rd. 400. Madera. ca.	Madera	93636	Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Howard	Shubs	5602 Owens Drive	Pleasanton	94588	Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. The cable box should not be an item bundled with cable service. Let the open market compete.
John	Gerth	2094 Touraine Lane	Half Moon Bay	94019	Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. There are no longer any credible technical reasons not to allow the consumer to choose their set top boxes and DVRs. This same battle over consumer controlled devices was fought for phones decades ago. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block how consumers manage their television content. We urge the FCC and Congress to outlaw this monopolistic practice.

Edward	Lyon	Trenton Maine	Ellsworth	4605	Consumers should have the power to choose their own set top box from the cable monopolies. They shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. Please take action on these issues.
Donald	Burney	183 County Road 640 Lexington, AL	Lexington	35648	Consumers should have the power to choose their own set top box. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. I urge the FCC and Congress to "Unlock The Box." D. E. Burney
Bruce	Hestley	618 Parkside Ave.	Buffalo	14216	Consumers should have the power to purchase their own STB's and DVR's in a non monopolized market unlike the present situation. TiVo has the only DVR that allows a Cable Card mostly due to the stranglehold on this market. Competition will lower prices and offer choices which there aren't any. Also, this recent FCC decision to allow these MSO's to encrypt broadcast stations is just wrong. OTA (Over The Air) stations should NOT be encrypted. Their poor argument of cable threat is not just lame it's wrong. How can one 'steal' something that is free? Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Soares	PO BOX 559	EVERSON	98247	Continuing to use this technology when it is so clearly antiquidated clearly demonstrates the length Comcast will go to to bleed their consumers while offering inferior sevices. Very sad, and likely self-limiting. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Al	Beltram	6195 Rosemarie ST NE Albany, OR	Albany	97321 7	Could we just stop the bizillion ways the communications cpompanies are ripping off consumers, for example the set top boxes. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

DJ	Perkins	PO Box 31123	Mesa	85275	Cox.com IS ripping us off! I was told I would not have to rent a modem for internet service from Cox. Surprise! $6.99 a month plus taxes and fees for forever Now I am told that I must rent a mini box to receive digital TV for $2,99 a month. Those are the rates today. Can you project what they will rise to in the next year, two tears, etc? Broadcast TV, internet and phone service need regulation but the FCC dose NOT need to help COX, etc. make record prog=fits! Government agencies are there to serve the public,not BIG busieness!!!
Paul	Callaghan	610 foresthill ave.	AUBURN	95603	Current situation is a rip-off!
Mike	Laird	xxx		14523	Currently, American consumers rent a set top box from cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and cuts off innovation opportunities. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices, increase access to new streaming content and open opportunity for diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to completely control the content that consumers view on their TV screen. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
D.	Tisdale	29046 Madrid Pl	Castaic	91384	CUT GREEDY CORPORATE PAY!!!American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	gersten	107 chaparrel, tehachapi, ca	Tehachapi	93561	Dear FCC: Here's the bottom line: with telephones, you buy any telephone and plug it into a standard outlet. What we want with set-top boxes is simple: get any standard set-top box, and plug it into a standard cable outlet. That doesn't seem difficult to understand. Imagine, if there was no standard television set; if everyone who wanted to get a television couldn't just buy one that was compatible with their cable provider, but had to rent a provider specific one every month. Do you think that the provider supplied television sets would come in as much variety, and with as many features as the current sets do? Just look at the features and variety of telephones now, vs. when you could get it in any color you wanted as long as it was black. The only benefit of back then? The equipment would last 40 years. Today, you're often lucky to get 40 months.
Doug	James	1214 las posas	San Clemente	92673	Do not let these cable companies merge. They're already inattentive to customers add it is. Big conglomerates will be even less attentive to customers. They're greedy and invent new fees frequently. You can spend hours getting bumped from dept. To dept. and then they drop your call! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

G. S.	Zimmer	1719 W Hudson Dr	Tucson	85704	Effective 01/01/16, Comcast required me to replace my existing box. Unlike the old box, the new one did not have a provision for displaying the current channel number on the box and on the tv screen. In addition, there were only two box models available in my area and ALL were reconditioned units. I went through three boxes before I got one to work. Comcast is forcing me to pay more for less, as usual.
Talmadge	Burnette		Taylors	29687	End the monopoly. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Derek	Chretien	906 Middle Road, Skowhegan, Maine	Skowhegan	4976	Enough is ENOUGH!American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joyce	Spector	15261 State Hwy 30	Downsville	13755	ENOUGH! I am being scammed to death with the insane costs.\American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Janet	Pearson	819 E. Goodwin Street	Prescott	86303	European customers pay much less than American customers do. Cable access is important to rural educators as a teaching resource and to rural business-owners to help keep them competitive.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jack	Harlan	4127 Carriage Ct	Lafayette	80026	Even though I have a Ph.D. in engineering, I did not know that I was paying to rent a box every month until recently. These charges get tucked into one's statement and are glossed over, or not given to the consumer. At the least, the charges should be explained in detail once per year. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Bogart	15 Center St.	Litchfield	3052	Every time manufacturers perfect a tuner that eliminates cable boxes, Big Cable finds a way to screw it up with their crappy scramblers and boxes. It's pure greed, no matter what their excuses.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Sherry	Tow	25 Kinglet Circle	Greensboro	27455	Every year the "pay" TV goes up in price while incomes remain stagnant. It is one of our most expensive monthly bills with no end in site. To make matters worse, there's little competition allowing for monopolies. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
TOM	BIRMINGHAM	116 N. INDIAN TANK LANE	Sahuarita	85629	FCCl YOU JOB IS TO PROTECT AND ENSURE FREE TO LOW COST ACCESS FOR ALL AMERICANS!! SO FAR, YOU HAVE FAILED WE-THE-PEOPLE!!!! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Patricia	Patton	20710 Park Hall Road	Boonsboro	21713	Folks, I am so tired of a regulatory environment that thrives on financial incest between legislators and major corporations. Please grow a pair, and for once do the fair, right, thing for the people you're supposed to represent, not the people making you rich. To be ripped off at work all day, then come home be ripped off by even the boob tube is disgraceful. You're doing nothing about the first, but you can do something about the second. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Patricia A. Patton, JD. MA
Eric	Gebauer	5001 Laurelgrove Avenue	Valley Village	91607	For better service in France, I pay $45 per month. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Kremer	5 Eastlake Ave.	Pacifica	94044	For several years we have been disappointed that the "standby power" requirement for our Comcast Cable box is more than trivial. But we have no options except to turn it off completely and lose programing updates. Clearly Comcast is not competent to help us reduce our energy footprint! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.

EL	Eversman	846 N Cleve Mass Rd	Akron	44333	Frankly, most of what I pay for on cable television is infomercial junk. I remember the original incentive to get people to PAY for television via cable was that THERE WOULD NEVER BE ANY ADVERTISING. That didn't last long. Now, we not only have ads on almost every station (TCM still a notable exception), but we have hundreds of "channels" that are NOTHING BUT paid advertising. In addition to all of this advertising I am forced to deal with -- that already earns cable companies huge profits -- they are in complete control of how I get the information via their cable boxes, and what I am permitted to see via their contracts with content providers. This is nonsense. I demand choices. The technology for more choice and price competition exists. Big cable is keeping us from it.. FCC, please do your job and protect us from price-gouging cable monopolies.
Sean	Carrillo	312 COLUMBIA ST	Hudson	12534	From the mandate of the FCC on the FCC website bullet point number one states: Promoting competition, innovation and investment in broadband services and facilities. I live in Hudson, NY and I have seen nothing of this kind. PLEASE stop defending the monopolistic practices of the Cable and Broadband industries. We need fair and open competition and the ability to CHOOSE among various providers and equipment. Protect the interests of the consumers. It is your duty and we need you.

Sara	West	3126 College Ave., Apt. M	Berkeley	94705	Give us a choice! Competition is in the best interest of the public. Please enact rules to end antiquated cable company policies that prevent customers from choosing their own devices. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Thank you!
Kenneth	Pruett	510 Hill Rd.	Aberdeen	98520	Greetings. I am certain you will be receiving quite a number of letters regarding set-top boxes controlled by the cable companies. This is another one, and some of the wording involved will probably be similar; but PLEASE NOTE that I have an additional request, one which I hope you will consider very seriously. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set-top box from the cable monopolies - not to mention an OUTRAGEOUS burgeoning "discount" price for use of their cable lines - cash cows to support their expansion into more and more profit centers, an expansion designed to assure that their ever-broader effective monopoly will be unstoppable, eventually even through government intervention. This set-top box tactic, like the exclusive control of cable lines, undercuts the competition that characterizes a genuine Free Market, limiting consumer choice and America's progress into the 21st century while bolstering the already-onerous profits the cable behemoths are able to extract from virtua

Brian	Wilkerson	3215 Harbor Lane North	Minneapolis	55447	Hello and Hashtag,American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Paul	Callaghan	610 foresthill ave.	AUBURN	95603	Help!
Andrew	McClellan	427 Frankfort Sq	Columbus	43206	Here is just one story. I paid $132 for cable in the living room of my house. My sister moved and gave me an extra TV. I added it to the bedroom just to watch the news at night. I plug the cable into the TV and I get one channel with some smirking white guy in a polo telling me I have to get a cable box because it improves my service. I drive a half hour to wait another 40 minutes, where I finally get a cable box I don't really like. Comcast is my only option, I hate them, and now I am paying them $1920 a year. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

kent	mollohan	524 south roberts	HELENA	59601	Hey, gangstas, quit givin' away the farm, eh?American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Steve	Ditore	11319 8th Ave. NE #202	Seattle	98125	Hey, we're a "market" system, right? Hooray for competition! Unless the dominant oligarchs have already set up the "gentlemen's agreements" that fix their prices, in which case BOOO! to competition from smaller companies outside of those special networks that makes them have to go back toworking for a living. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Fritz	D	11 Crane Street	Needham Heights	2494	How much is ENOUGH?!!!!!American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
W Kent	Wilson	1711-F Wildberry Dr	Glenview	60025	Hypocrites favor free markets only so long as their own interests are favored. Please support free markets for set top boxes. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessica	Schneck	1235 Von Steuben Drive	Wayne	19087	I absolutely would like to purchase my own box. I hate renting it. I'd also like to be able to use my own wireless router and Verizon makes that pretty difficult. Ridiculous they still have the power to do this.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lauren	Ayers	P.O. Box 3838	Chico	95927	I already got caught up in a conflict with Comcast about their stupid cable box and don't think it's fair to have to pay so much per month for cable and internet, plus more for the box. It's like Pharma - it costs more here than anywhere. We are no longer a first world nation. Working people haven't seen a rise in income for decades. It's not fair. It's not fair. It's not fair.
Gary	Andrew	319 N Downing St	Davidson	28036	I am a cable subscriber and would like to be able to access cheaper and more innovative options besides the cable company required set top box. On top of receiving cable channels, I should be able to stream online directly to my TV. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jenny	Kastner	150 Erie St.	Cambridge	2139	I am a senior citizen and widow, living on social security. I am denied access to the cable news channel I wish to watch because it is part of a high-tier "package" which I cannot afford. Box rental is part of this rip-off, but so are the virtual monopolies enjoyed by cable companies across the country. Please take action now.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Cheryl	Mitchell	24 W. Augusta Ave.	Spokane	99205	I am an attorney in Washington State. It appears to me that the protection of American consumers is no longer a priority for the government or its agencies. Americans pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This benefits big business and inhibits competition. It also limits consumer choice, and is a gift to cable companies. When did the government begin advocating for private companies? When I was in law school I was taught that the role of governmental regulations was to protect consumers from monopolies and from big business. This is no longer true, now that "corporations are people too". And these corporations have lots of money to hire lots of lobbyists. Consumers should have the power to choose their own devices. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Whatever happened to anti-trust rules and free markets? Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. Since America is n

Daphne	Sicking	670 Commerce Ave. NW. Warren Ohio	Warren	44485	I am appalled that the cable companies are permitted to charge American consumers double to use their services. We as cable consumers are already subjected to the cable companies over charging us huge amounts to receive cable t.v. and internet services. We are then expected to pay additional fees for the equipment that is required, not optional but required, to access those said services. This needs to be stopped.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joyce	Spector	15261 State Hwy 30	Downsville	13755	I am being charged up the BUTT!!! The rates are outrageous. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Joseph	Grasso	26 Hibiscus Lane	Warwick	2886	I am fairly well off. I have the top tier cable package from verizon. last year, FINALLY they upgraded so I could record more than 2 shows at once. it was all new and shiny sounding "quantum" series cable box. since then, I have paid verizon about 350 dollars in rental fees. This fios quantum box is about as fast and responsive as my magnavox 286 from 1991. there is a delay every time you hit a button. it has to be reset at least once a week from freezing. it has no low power standby!!!! in 2016!! so it costs me extra electricity bill a month on top of the outrageous rental fee for the worst piece of electronics in my house. And I have no choice thanks to you, US Government. thanks. It is SO laughable this is even a debate. competition is good for consumers. period. doesn't matter how much lobby money the big conglomerates pay to our greedy congress people. The FCC has made some great strides under Tom Wheeler, and this is another big stride that would positively impact hundreds of millio lisa	muryn	po box 115	Monroe	10949	I AM NO LONGER A CABLE SUBSCRIBER. MOST OF THE CHANNELS I DID NOT WANT.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gale	Bromelmeier	2250 Par Lane PH-7	Willoughby	44094	I am now paying over $181/month for cable service. It just keeps going up! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ken	Riemer	410 Woodland Ln	Webster	14580	I am the consumer and I should get to choose what I want. The current system is rigged against me. I should have the power to choose my own device. Cable companies don't want competition that will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Too bad for them.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Douglas	Karo	Durham, NH	Durham	3824	I believe that it makes good sense to allow cable subscribers to choose the set top box they want from the source they want in the manner they want. This should lead to prices that better reflect the casts rather than reflect some cable company's decision about how to allocate costs while sticking it to the consumer. I would expect that there will be more innovation when there is the chance of competition.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eric	Outten	1508 E 67th Place	Chicago	60637	I can use whatever stove or furnace I want to book to that utility. I can use whatever phone I want to hook to that utility. I can user whatever sink I want to hook to that utility. I can use whatever lamp I want to hook to that utility. WHY IS CABLE TV DIFFERENT??American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jon	Kitner	5340 S W 117 Terrace	Fort Lauderdale	33330	I cut out Comcast's cable tv service when they raised my rates three times in three months, after I was promised the first rate for one year. Unfortunately, I had no other choice for broadband internet. So, they charge me $78.00 per month just for their basic service! Help! Where is the sheriff when I am being robbed!
Jill	Woodford	542 Benvenue Ave	Los Altos	94024	I do not even have a television or cable TV, but this is simple. Americans should have a choice and healthy competition.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Kunig	5762 Dupont PKY	Smyrna	19977	I don't even have cable, but BIG telephone company and BIG cable company do the same things. You know internet in this country is almost third world, right? Assuming Government is doing a good job and not scamming in any way, what POSSIBLE REASON could there be for a lot of consumers only being able to choose between two gigantic companies for broadband, etc??? It reflects very badly on "BIG" Government. Specifically, all other things aside, American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
greg	schenkel	87 lawton road	Hilton Head Island	29928	I don't feel my big annual price jumps by big cable companies (who bought-out our smaller local company) are justified.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Ruth	Moorhead	1425 E Hayden St	Pocatello	83201	I don't have a TV, so I don't have the same problem as the others here. But I might want cable phone, which I can't have currently because I was unable to purchase the 'box' for that. As a consequence, I am paying my phone company $38 each month and receiving multiple ads from the cable company saying I can have cable phone for $25/mo for life. I'm sure what they're NOT saying is that I would also have to rent their box.
Lari	Howell	5555 Notavailable Ave	Albuquerque	87122	I don't like that American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Beard	PO BOX 1302	Lafayette	94549	I feel that having to rent only one type of TV box from the cable company is limiting my choice, which is anti-competitive and stifles competition and innovation. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Susan	Soroka	2300 S. La Corta Drive	Tempe	85282	I feel trapped by Cox Cable. Having been a Cox customer for 11+ years I see my Internet, landline and TV bundle cost increasing year to year. Yes, I call Cox yearly to negotiate another loyalty discount, but I think it outrageous to monthly pay $190 for these services when new subscribers are lured into the company for a $139 monthly fee for the same exact services.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lindy	Studt	3648 Sterling Road	Downers Grove	60515	I had a summons from the cable company (Comcast) come up on my TV. They would not come out and install the box. They mailed it to me. Then I had to call again when I had a Quadrupple bypass on my heart for them to install it. Now I have no choice. Please help seniors.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Heit	4271 Greenhaven Court, MN	Saint Paul	55127	I have 3 personal comments to add to this form letter: 1) I am knowledgeable on this topic. I have a Microsoft Windows Media Center PC (HTPC) with a Cable Card. The Cable Card was part of a past failed attempt to stop the cable company stranglehold on hardware. The cable companies will do anything to maintain their complete captivity of their users. 2) There should be no restriction on devices the user can use--as long as they have a subscription. I can get more TV support on my cell phone than I can on my PC. For some reason they discriminate against this form factor. Is it an unfounded fear of piracy? 3) Charging $10 a month for HD service is unconscionable. Maybe an argument could be made 10 years ago--but not now. Paying for HD is a strong indicator of a non-competitive market. This would have been provided as a base service in a competitive market. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer ch
Cat	Jefferson	4910 1/2 Old Cliffs Rd.	San Diego	92120	I have been overcharged by the cable company I subscribe to JUST for internet service alone! I can't afford TV at the outrageous prices they charge. I'm sure you know by now that American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a stupid set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, lifts up cable profits and keeps me from watching any TV at all. Consumers like me should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Nathan	Brittingham	5213 ballycastle cir	Alexandria	22315	I have had service with Comcast or Verizon Fios over the last 5 years. When I inquired about the use of a compatible set top box should I purchase one, both responded with one of, a). There will still be a fee if you use your own box, or b). No, we do not permit the use of your own box. As a result, I pay $384 per year to rent set top boxes from the cable monopolies. I can purchase at least one box for that amount if not two. Cable companies essentially have a monopoly when it comes to these set top boxes. Even if I move from one company to the other, they all require I renting set top boxes from them and their rental prices per box are essentially the same. This monopoly hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Cong

Jean	McGee	498 Huntington Ridge Drive	Nashville	37211	i have long said that it is ridiculous that so much technology is available to the world, yet we have massive cables, wires, lines, and unwiedly boxes on all of our television sets throughout our home. It is difficult to even manage all of the junk, which takes up more space than does the TV, necessitating power cords visible around everyhwere. Now, I hear they are not even necessaray? Wow! I am not complaining about my service, it is usually pretty good, but would I ever love to be rid of all of that "stuff" and how nice to not have to pay for it! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock T
Doug	Walter	1606 L St	Davis	95616	I have not yet been a cable subscriber anywhere I have lived. In part, that's because American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices in the long run. It should also increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Caryl	BERNER	3130 CAMBRIDGE F	Deerfield Beach	33442	I have spoken to the cable division of the FCC about Canada not paying to transmit Canadian TV into the US and nothing has been done. While Canada has a contract to use our satellite to transmit into Canada, the contract does not allow transmission into the US. I resent Canadians sponging off America and the FCC refusing to take action. Caryl Berner
Anne	Kreis	312 N. Pine St.	New Smyrna Beach	32169	I have to pay my cable company for the honor of renting one of their worthless cable boxes that doesn't do anything except tune in a channel. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
DONALD	ROBERTS	999 COUNTY ROAD 480	Marquette	49855	I hope this doesn't follow the pattern of the cable modem for internet access. Charter was charging $5.00 a month for modem rental. I purchased a cable modem for $60.00; shortly after, Charter raised their rates by $10.00 a month to cover the cost of the "free" modem that they decided to provide. Hard to win when there is no competition in our area...American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Judith	Wilson-Pates	21 Medau Pl	San Francisco	94133	I just switched from Comcast to AT&T because my husband and I were tired of paying almost $110 a month for high-speed Internet service that was bundled with cable TV we don't use. I have no illusions about the consumer-friendliness of AT&T, but their current (DSL, landline phone and Direct TV) deal is saving us about $100 a month and will continue saving us money when the current discounts expire. That's because, in order to lower our TV costs and improve our channel selection, I'd subscribed to DISHnetwork satellite TV a couple of years ago when we stopped using Comcast cable TV. At that time, Comcast told me the only way to get a good price on their high speed Internet was to keep their basic cable service. Therefore, this month's Comcast and Dish bills came to a combined total of $246! We're retirees who own our small condo and live on a combined income (from pensions, disability, Social Security and investments) of about $80k in one of the nation's most expensive cities (San Francisco). It outrages me whe

bob	zabiegalski	1619 school rd	HATFIELD	19440	I once invested in a company called Worldgate. Their plan was to eliminate the digital divide by offering internet over tv for $9.99 a month. It also offered its patened Hyperlinking technology where you could click on a item you saw on your tv screen and the hyperlinking would take you to the company website for the product you were interested in. Worldgate was touted by some members of Congress and introduced in a city in Georgia for a beta run which was very successful. We were on our way! What happened? Comcast, Time Warner and other cable companies refused to deploy it on their boxes even thou they said they would. Result...Worldgate was driven out of business by the cable companies. When Worldgates technology was sold guess who bought it? Comcast! For pennies on the dollar! Apparently, the cable companies had plans to deploy their own internet service for around $50 a month but it doesnt go thru the box to your tv. I lost my $15000.00 investment! My retirement money! My friends and
Bernd	Bauer	514 Oroville Rd	Milpitas	95035	I pay $270 a year for a Direct TV and American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the satellite and cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Direct TV, Dish Network and Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jason	Dragvold	314 W. 9th St.	Mankato	56001	I pay $84 per year (on top of my cable access fees) to rent 1 set top box from my cable provider. I have no choice but to rent the box they specify if I want to receive a television signal, and I would have to pay this for every additional TV I choose to put in my house. I find it ridiculous! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Deborah	Craig	1280 Taft St	Eugene	97402	I pay an average of $231 per Month to Comcast. This limits consumer choice, and Comcast profits enormously. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Stacey	ABRAMS-Sherick	2216 Pier Avenue	Santa Monica	90405	I pay an average of $240 per year just on the rental of a set top box PER TELEVISION in my household - outrageous!! Consumers should have the power to choose their own device - isn't this what helps the economy and markets thrive? Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Chris	Lozier	10534 Walker Vista Dr.	Riverview	33578	I pay over $500 per year to rent 3 set top box from Verizon, well now it's Frontier in Florida. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Even if each set box was $3-400, I would make back the money in 2 years, and a set top can easily last 10 and with a typical 3 year warranty, it would be very unlikely that I would ever lose money if this option was available to me. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. The only reason we need them now is for features, as most modern day TV's can handle the crazy amount of channels cable provides
Ron	Barnette	2709 NW 66 ST.	Oklahoma City	73116	I recently had to quit cable TV (I still have internet) because of crappy box and poor reception. I didn't even get the new remote. I got a used box and a used remote. With Dish being so anal, you guys could take back the market if you'd be user friendly. Oh, if you keep raising internet prices every three months, I will eventually not be able to afford it. You need to LOWER prices on those of us that have low speed options!American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Matt	Young	3145 Fremont St	Boulder	80304	I request the right to buy my own set-top box and digital video recorder.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Brett	Forray	P O Box 2124	Turlock	95381	I strongly support this message. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Styra	Eisinger	953 Ironbridge Road	Asbury	8802	I thought American business is based on competition? That means that consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Hall	15531 42nd Rd N	Loxahatchee	33470	I thought this country was about competition. If someone can build the better mousetrap, they should get the appropriate amount of the available business.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ted	Spickler	32363Cea Dag Circle Unit 601 Dagsboro DE	Dagsboro	19939	I WANT TO BE ABLE TO BUY MY TV SET TOP BOX AND WHY NOT? THIS SHOULD NOT BE A MATTER OF REGULATION, IT SHOULD BE A FREE MARKET DECISION.
Steve	Zeder	9019 Isla Bella Cir	Bonita Springs	34135	I was able to purchase my own modem for $75 instead of paying $10/mp saving me $165 over the 2 year contract. Why can't I do the same with the set top boxes or DVRs? This is just what the phone company used to force us to do until you fixed that and we could buy our own phones.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Steve	Zeder	9019 Isla Bella Cir	Bonita Springs	34135	I was able to purchase my own modem for $75 instead of paying $10/mp saving me $165 over the 2 year contract. Why can't I do the same with the set top boxes or DVRs? This is just what the phone company used to force us to do until you fixed that and we could buy our own phones.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Maureen	Allen	327 10th St SE #2	Washington	20003	I Will Never Sign Up for Cable Until this ENDS.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Mott	11630 Southard Road	Cato	13033	I wish we were able to pick what channels we want and eliminate what channels we don't want from our bills. In other words, if I want to pay for a few channels I would like to select what ones they are and not be "held hostage" into some sort of bundle package and pay a lot of money to get One favorite channel and a bunch of ones I'm not interested in. Couldn't we come up with a way to select what we want and pay per channel? I also wonder why ME-TV is available on Verizon and Time Warner but not Dish tv? it's a digital channel that our local neighbors can get but not me because I'm a Dish customer. It seems big business is too controlling what we can see and what we can't.
Jason	Teichman	15052 Avenida Montuosa Apt. B	San Diego	92129	I worked for Time Warner Cable for more than 13 years and saw firsthand how hard the cable companies fight at all levels of government to rip off consumers. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

leranzo	Campbell	11002 Canyon Creek Dr	Sun City	85351	I would like the FCC to do some soul searching when it comes to CABLE TV. I have rejected up until now what the cable company has done to America. The cable companies have cheated us and our government has gone along. When coverversion to digital was accomplished. Cable did not do that. They have this HD TV that costs extra and that is a ball-faced lie. Years and years. Sucking the life's blood out ot the little guy. This past week Cox cable told us if we do not install these $30.00 digital (hd) mini-boxes we will be disconnected come June 2016. So we install them. Two mini-boxes to be exact. $2.99 each after 12 months. My wifes is mini-box is continuing to cause her problems. This is sick. We have and most Americans have the Cable ready digital TV's. We cannot set the channels that we do-not watch to a off position and the integrity of the mini-box is poor that I get confused when switching to another channel. 80 + channels and I only want 10 or 12 at the most. BUT DAM THESE CABLE BASTARDS I CANNOT STOP G

Caitlin	Iver	256 Bears Den Rd	Wells	4090	I would like to have cable television, but I had to give it up after retiring and having Social Security as my core income. The costs of various elements are prohibitive to anyone on a fixed income and costs keep spiraling relentlessly. Ordinary citizens (the 98% of US citizens) need more ethical business practices. I hope you'll do something to support ethics along with capitalist practices.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tricia	Gerrodette	3327 Eagle Ridge Dr	Sierra Vista	85650	I would like to have more options than I currently seem to be able to arrange with my cable company. I have a very basic, very limited package to minimize my expenses. But I would love to be able to have more choice. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. And I do "rent" my set box from my cable company. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Donna	Schartung	250 Pinnacle CT	Frankfort	40601	I would love to have the option to buy my own DVR box, especially so I can have multiple boxes and not raise my bill by over $30 for a 2nd box. As it is, I can't get past 70 channels on my other TV's without paying for extra boxes, this is wrong. Once I pay for 500 channels, I should be able to get all channels on ALL TV's regardless of having a DVR box. I only want 1 DVR box to record shows, but instead I'm stuck with one TV to watch my higher HD channels. Please make a change! Thank you! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mike	Rudnick	20 Cambric Cir	Pittsford	14534	I'm a citizen living with my family of four in the Bushnell's Basin area of Rochester NY. Please represent the interests of ordinary people rather than corporations and oligarchs. Below is a message from Demand Progress that details some specific issues that I agree with. Please you do so too. --Mike Rudnick, PhD- - - - - -American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Helen	Claunch	64 Mount Vernon Dr Apt D, Vernon, CT	Vernon Rockville	6066	I'm a cord-cutter. I use a Mohu Leaf antenna for over-the-air live TV and broadband with a streaming subscription for all my TV viewing. When Comcast required use of their box for TV service the quality of the picture cratered because they use the box to compress signal. I own a TV with gorgeous picture and they gave me a box that turned it to dreck. They said no problem, I can "upgrade" to a digital subscription, i.e., pay them even more to clean up the signal they ruined. The box made my trusty old VCR unusable for recording programs. They said, no problem, just get a DVR from them, i.e., pay even more to rent equipment to do what my own already did. The cable companies behave like monopolies because they ARE monopolies. And don't tell me I can choose between Comcast and satellite---I live in an apartment complex along with hundreds of other people, so satellite is NOT an option for us. I got so frustrated with Comcast TV that I QUIT. Unfortunately, they are still the only choice in my area for br
Joseph	Rowe	1217 Elm Forest	Cedar Park	78613	I'm just one of millions of retired Americans who is hurt by paying almost $250 per year to rent my box from the cable monopolies. Cheaper solutions are available, and would make a difference to me., on my tight budget. But I'm not allowed to use them, because of a system which forces me to rent the model the cable company dictates. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Doug	Gallardo Jr	1406 Corral Dr	Houston	77090	I'm sick of being forced to use ATT's set top box. It's ugly, it's slow, and it has crazy intermittent issues. I want to be able to use a TIVO or some other similar device, without having to continue payment of rental fees for equipment I don't want to use. It's my money, and I want to determine how I spend it. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Benjamin	Files	9207 summertime Ln	Culver City	90230	I'm tired of paying unreasonable prices for a terrible product!American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jim	Marsee	P.O. Box 836538	Miami	33283	I've had it with being ripped off by the cable monopolies:- They "sell" me a DVR, then they restrict my access by claiming it is a service. So as an example of the consequence, we can't access the very rare movies in which my wife was a child actress in her native country, because we got sick of the bad service and switched providers;- I pay 2-3 times what I would otherwise because I can't pick which stations I watch, but instead have to pay the exorbitant fees to subsidize overpaid athletes on sports channels NOBODY IN MY HOUSEHOLD EVER watches;- If there is an interruption of service, instead of compensating me for the inconvenience, I have to pay for the technician who comes to fix things. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new str
George	DeFilippis	24 Carolin Rd	Montclair	7043	I've learned that American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. I pay $215.76 before taxes and fees. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. How many more years can this be allowed?? Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Monroe	15 Weybridge Rd	Brookline	2445	If one can purchase one's own television, why shouldn't one be able to purchase one's own cable box? It seems pretty simple. Why artificially raise the price of cable television?

Michael	Tiller	49374 Manhattan Circle	Canton	48188	Imagine if everybody had to use a browser supplied by your cable company to access services online? We had that! AOL, Compuserve, etc. Those companies died because it was a stupid business model. What works is open standards to promote innovation and competition and EVERYBODY benefits from that. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits.Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cathy	Buckley	9 orchard avenue	Waltham	2452	Imagine if the US Postal Service charged me rental for my mailbox? Or if the phone companies of yore required us to rent phones? Pretty unfair? So why let cable companies rent old cable boxes to us at exorbitant rates? Over $200 a year to rent a machine that would cost $80 to buy? Please protect us consumers. Let us buy the devices, and increase access to new streaming content. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block my TV. Please, FCC and Congress, don't Block The Box.

Jane	Kohler-Lutz	9766 columbia rd	Olmsted Falls	44138	In my book, cable companies are a service I choose to utilize. they are not electronics sellers, but they have set themselves up as one. They force us to rent boxes we may not want or options we would choose based on performance, cost etc. Offer the service and let us choose our own hardware and price range. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	Lampert	9120 Mallard Ave	Fountain Valley	92708	In the 1970s, as cable companies began using set-top boxes in order to make more channels available: UHF did not propagate well over long cable runs, and since television sets were designed around broadcast channels, they could not receive "mid-band" and "superband" VHF signals, since those bands were allocated to other services on the air. Eventually, the use of encryption on premium channels provided other uses for set-top boxes. Then came the advent of "cable-ready" television sets, that could tune all the commonly-used cable-only channels, and soon, the only valid reason for a set-top box was for encrypted premium channels, and pay-per-view. And the cable companies, having discovered that box rental was not only a way to license content by screen, rather than by household, but a profit center in itself, responded by either redefining "premium" to include everything that could not be received locally with an antenna, or by encrypting everything. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to r

Michael	Hetzel	961 laird	Lake Orion	48362	In the era of throttling, we called comcast to complain about our slow internet. They explained that the box we rented from them couldn't handle the internet speed we paid for for 3 years! They profited thrice off their shady practice alone!
Tim	Sunlake	Muncie IN	Muncie	47304	In the USA, consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and unethically increases cable profits. Consumers need to have the power to choose their own device. Competition lowers prices and increases access to new streaming content and diverse voices - all positive things. Cable companies should NOT be allowed to block what consumers see on their televisions. We strongly urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Thank you.
Carol	Gray	6940 E SR 45	Bloomington	47408	In the USA, pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and unethically increases cable profits. Consumers must have the power to choose their own devices. Competition lowers prices and increases access to new streaming content and diverse voices - all of which are very good things. Cable companies should NOT be able to block what consumers see on their TVs. We strongly urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Thank you.

David	Rosenstein	302 Amalfi Drive	SANTA MONICA	90402	Innovation and progress should take place. End the box monopoloy!American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
ATIF	OZCELIK	11040 Hickman Rd	Clive	50325	Is there anyone in the government who puts its citizens before anything else? American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Greg	Cahill	4234 La Salle Ave, Culver City CA	Culver City	90232	Is this what Republicans mean by "the magic of the marketplace?"

Stephen	McConnell	96 Chestnut Street	Mars Hill	28754	It cost my wife and I $340 to get rid of Direct Tv after realizing all the "EXTRA" we were billed for!!! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
James	pritschet	537 granada	Saint Paul	55128	It doesn't surprise me that Cable companies are leveraging everything they can to squeeze as much as they can squeeze out of consumers. What would surprize me is if YOU continue to let them at the consumers expense!American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Michael	Beeman	6542 Historyland Hwy.	Farnham	22460	It is definitely out of control the way cable and satellite companies rip us off monthly buy forcing us to pay for these boxes and not allowing us to purchase them outright. Please stop this practice. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Biswajit	Khandai	20 San Angelo	Foothill Ranch	92610	It is disturbing to know that a customer on an average pays $231 on cable boxes a year ! I am an electrical engineer, and I should know - these boxes won't be cost any more than $100 to purchase at retail if there was a free market, and if the cable companies didn't force the consumer to rent their own boxes. Over the lifetime of the box, the cable company likely makes about $800 from just the rentals, while the consumer could buy it for just $100, and could possibly use it for longer if they wanted.
Patricia	Denney	1006 Morrison Blvd	Havre de Grace	21078	It is getting increasingly difficult to afford the cost of TV entertainment! I am a widow in my 76th year who is on a fixed income. These costs are becoming prohibitive, with no reduction for seniors, whatsoever. Monopolies are so unfair. Having competition would not only make prices lower, it would also give the consumer an ability to compare and make an informed decision on plans which would be more cost effective. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

lenore	arnow	26 bradley st	Asheville	28806	It is not fair or right for cable companies to have a monopoly. without fair competition we, the American consumers are forced to pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
George	Six	358-A Lake Club Circle	HENDERSONVILLE	28792	It is simply outrageous. The extortion by ESPN and the networks of the already greedy monopolistic cable companies must stop. At least one of the candidates gets it -- a revolution is called for.
Keith	Miller	1983 Moltke Ct	Cleveland	44113	It just ain't right. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

H.T.	Shoup	11927 Atwell	Houston	77035	It's a mark of shame on the US that we have higher prices for worse service regarding the net... and the cable companies even charge us for channels we never watch - that's why they all have a "favorites" list, because that way, at least we can ignore the ones we don't care about - even though we have to pay for them. These fees are absurd, only to boost their profits, not help customer service. All companies should make a profit, but how much is enough? Defend us, the consumers! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sanford	Brown	165 Spring Valley Trace	COVINGTON	30016	It's been FORTY-EIGHT years since your Carterphone decision!!! Why hasn't that logic already been applied to "cable" boxes?American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Paul	Chambers	4307 Montmorency Court	San Jose	95118	It's clear to me that cable companies have been operating as effective monopolies for decades. They have a very strong financial incentive to maintain the status quo. Many fees on the laundry list are based on antiquated notions - like the 'electronic program guide' fee I'm forced to pay every month. Many users finally have the option of 'cutting the cord' - getting their TV content over the internet. It's no accident that the same cable companies see the threat to their business and are actively trying to dominate residential internet access, too.The ridiculous technical barriers CableLabs and the cable industry constantly throw up present a brick wall, preventing innovation in the delivery of television content. So internet-based content services are doing an end-run around the whole ridiculous mess. Services like Netflix, Hulu, SlingTV and Amazon Instant Video show the real cost of acquiring and distributing content. The sum of my subscriptions to these four services total less than ONE FIFTH of my
Colin	Talcroft	973 Stone Castle Lane	Santa Rosa	95405	It's just common sense. And, lack of competition is fundamentally un-American. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Bruce	Torrence	Ashland, VA	Ashland	23005	It's my understanding that American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and is quite simply a rip off. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. And standardization across devices may open the market not only to new set-top manufacturers, but also to content streamers. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Gerald	Mandersche id	6102 E. Miramar	Tucson	85715	It's not just the boxes. We are suddenly inundated with ads and every month there is a new charge for some mysterious reason. You can't even go on line and read a article without a commercial beginning to play at some hidden place that you can't find to turn it off, and the ads have gone from five second to 25 seconds while you sit helplessly to wait for the thing you wanted to see. I cannot believe the FCC has allowed Comcast to control 51% of our cable news programs -- if one can call it news, and God help anyone with a liberal slant because they are out on their ear the minute they stop allowing Trump to dominate their programming. Senator McCain told us they were not going to regulate cable because there were 84 different owners and they would regulate themselves. Now we're down to six and still shrinking because you've never seen a merger or buyout you didn't like. Break them up. You had no problem breaking up AT&T or Microsoft. You have no problem giving Donald Trump almost $3 billion in fre

Nat	Towsen	1014 40 Street	Brooklyn	11219	It's not the 90s anymore. Cable boxes are like cell phones with pull-out antennae and chunky casette players with belt clips. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
LARRY	TREFFRY	4905 W. NAVAHO	Spokane	99208	It's time to allow consumers the option of paying for the channels they want rather than having to purchase unwanted channels contained in packages!!!
Norma	Schatz	700 John Ringling Blvd, Sarasota, FL	Sarasota	34236	it's time to consider consumers in the matter of cable companies' charge for the cable box. Allow for innovation and savings to cable viewers by ending the required fees for set top boxes. Norma Schatz, Sarasota FL
Mark	Ashley	10435 Duncan Lane NE	BAINBRIDGE ISLAND	98110	It's time to encourage more innovation and competition in the pay TV realm. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and increases cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. It's time to Unlock The Box.

Jobi	Kennedy	3574 Holmgren St.	Mount Pleasant	29466	It's time to end the cable companies' monopolies and allow consumers the power to choose their own cable devices and services. American consumers pay too much because of exorbitant fees and limited choices, which hurts competition, but raises cable profits. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies should not be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.... NOW!
Larry	Risser	4904 Thomas Ave. S	MINNEAPOLIS	55410	It's time to stop industry greed from stifling innovation and access.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Schurkey	Swanke	1596 S. 15th St	Grand Forks	58201	It's way past time to break-up over-merged cable TV companies. Look at the innovation generated by breaking-up the Bell system. Cable companies screw their customers, then merge so they can screw more of them harder and deeper. Cable box fees are only the tip of the iceberg. The rot and Corporate Corrosion goes far deeper than just cable boxes. BREAK THEM UP.

Blanche	Edelman	150 west end Ave	New York	10023	LAmerican consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Venus	French	926 Kingston Ave	Piedmont	94611	Last I checked monopolies were illegal in this country-but somehow exceptions have been made for water, gas, electricity and telephone/cable service in so many ways! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Jordan	545 Planters Manor Way	Bradenton	34212	Laws written in the 1930's mandated that public airwaves be operated in the public interest. The current situation with cable and broadcast companies does not approach that mandate, and, in my opinion, constitutes illegal activity, all for the sake of profit. The public needs at least a fair shake from the telecommunications industry.
Ruth	Donnelly	2940 Kletha Trail		86005	Let consumers choose!

Levi	Smith	9350 Jackman Rd	Temperance	48182	Let us by our own boxes at a bare minimum of you insist on allowing the area monopolies.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mark	Bartleman	1984 Del Mar Ave	Laguna Beach	92651	Many American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	King	905 S 5th Ave	Kelso	98626	Mayan (at sunrise): 6 Chuen (Monkey) Gregorian (Midnight EDT, GMT -5): Friday, April 15, 2016American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mary	Van Holt	1102 Curtis Avenue	Belmar	7719	Money is tight enough without allowing corporations rip consumers off.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Gunn	550 Orange Ave. Apt. 305	Coronado	92118	Monopolies are inevitable when a capitalist economy is allowed run its course without regulation to protect the country as a whole. It is the nature of its dog-eat-dog mind set. The best course of action would be to replace it with a better, more compassionate, system. But, in the meantime, strict regulation is mandatory. Breaking them up would be much more difficult but will eventually be seen as the single most wholesome solution. When some hungry competitor offers a better, cheaper box the rest will very quickly fall into line without need for any regulation being imposed from above. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge th
Claire	Fitiausi	221 KEITH ST APT B	HANFORD	93230	Monopolies only benefit corporations. Allow individuals to choose innovative alternatives outside the cable box monopoly.

Neal	Williams	1775 E Palm Canyon Drive, Ste 110-233, Palm Springs, CA	Palm Springs	92264	Monopolistic rental fees are not the only hit on the household budget. I was shocked to find out how much electricity our cable box used--even when it was in standby! Next to our refrigerator, our cable box is the biggest energy pig in the house. Why can't we using something more energy efficient, like a Roku, Fire, or Apple TV?
Gary	Harter	PO Box 15	Corning	50841	Monopoly is a huge problem. If I want cable my choice is Mediacomm. They slow down my signal and then want another $10 a month to speed it back up. I get to pay for their HUGE amount of advertising and their introductory pricing for new customers. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Joseph	Holmes	14 Highland Blvd.	Kensington	94707	More corruption, everywhere you look!American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Westley	Dent	833 Spring Ct	Liberty	64068	Most American consumers who enjoy cable tv are required to pay to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. There are already existing standards, such as cable card, for authorizing third-party equipment with specified subscriber accounts. But cable companies either don't allow these devices, refuse to provide cards separate from rented equipment, or establish their own proprietary authorization standards in tandem with equipment manufacturers so that rental of equipment is required in order to use the subscription services. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Competition can also simplify access to new internet-based services for consumers who might be overwhelmed by connecting numerous devices to their TV set, each with their own unique features and different interfaces (and additional remotes) that prevent

Paul	Ostroot	7508 N Court Oreilles Lk Dr	Hayward	54843	My 94 year old mother can hardly make hers work. She has to page through hundreds of channels she doesn't get to try to figure out which ones she can watch. WHY can't she have a box that can be programmed to show only the channels she GETS? THIS IS RIDICULOUS AND ANTI CONSUMER American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Susan	Bailey-Pruc	1436 Reserve Drive	Akron	44333	MY CABLE BILL JUST WENT UP AGAIN! We need more competition. My cable company is killing me!American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Hugh David	Allen	4227 Iberville Street	New Orleans	70119	My cable box rental keeps going up and I'm on a fixed income. We need to buy our own boxes the same way we buy our own phones. What's the difference? Cable companies are basically drug dealers--charging to much to feed people's addiction to entertainment.

Keith	Bostick	310 Karen Dr	Lufkin	75901	My cable company has converted to a cable box requirements, even if you are not using a dvr. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dick	Taylor	2600 Chandler Drive	Bowling Green	42104	My fees for my cable box, remote just went UP again! Same gear, just went up $10/month. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janet	Pearson	819 E. Goodwin Street	Prescott	86303	My friends stationed in the EU tell me that Europeans pay less and get faster internet speeds than we do in the USA. They also have more if smaller cable providers and the competition between those companies keeps prices low and service quality high.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Barbara	Davis	1830 32nd Street	San Diego	92102	MY LETTER: Our cable company has a monopoly. We have no other choice for TV reception. Other nations have better, faster internet and more reasonable prices. It feels like gouging, money-grubbing to us! They force "packages" on us that include things we don't support or want and the programming is unnecessarily repetitive. Programs we pay to see are 'sold' to other companies like Netflix & Amazon where we have to pay again to watch. Digital technology allows much broader freedom, not much of which filters down to the customers who have little choice but to support their business. I'd like to see a better model. I'd like to pick my own programming and not have them choose for me. They could do it if they wanted to OR are pressured. Please pressure. My bill is $130.-140.00 a month and I can afford no other entertainment, NO going out to movies, plays or concerts. I am disabled and they don't offer a discount for that. Thank you, B. Davis* * * * * American consumers pay an avera

Sally	Edmonds	3016 Dwight Way	Stockton	95204	My mother is 91, blind and living on social security. She depends upon tv for her information and entertainment. Her bills currently run almost $200. per month which is a huge chunk of her income. We need to have more competition to lower prices and to give consumers more choices. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Suzanne	Block	3807 Vincent Avenue North	Minneapolis	55412	My name is Suzanne Block. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
r	c	1234 buttaco	Ypsilanti	48197	obama is a war criminal

Jerry	Amos	65A Laurel Hill Road	HOLLIS	3049	On our cable internet, we bought a 2nd party router once, Best price. We don't have to keep buying the router every month.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jeff	Becker	5 Cedar Hill Road	Easton	6612	Once upon a time we broke up AT&T's phone monopoly, and we got loads of new opportunities, services, etc. We should do the same for the cable/internet/phone monopolies that have sprung up and consolidated, limiting our choices. We should be able to buy the gear that we want and the services that we use, and not be forced to pay the outrageous sums for packages that don't serve us, but only enrich these giant corporations. We want choice, and REAL competition that will lower our costs. We want an end to being forced to rent expensive gear that we should be able to own, just as we own our phones now, whereas we used to have to rent them from the phone company.

Paul	Schlichting	PO Box 3432	Redondo Beach	90277	Our cable box 'rental' fee just went up this last February - as did other fees from Time-Warner with no (none at all) added value/features for them - - this while wages and the U.S. dollar buying power has not kept pace.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Blanchard3	1901 Brinton Manor Drive #201; Pgh.;PA	Pittsburgh	15221	Overcharged and underserviced. What ever happened to the Universal Connectivity Fee WE pay as customers?American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emmet	CICCONE	312 EAST 2ND STREET	Media	19063	PAAmerican consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Tom	Sunlake	6940 E SR 45	Bloomington	47408	Per year, American consumers pay an average of $231 to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and unethically increases cable profits. Consumers must have the power to choose their own device. Competition lowers prices and increases access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies should NOT be able to block what consumers see on their televisions. We strongly urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Thank you.
Mabel and Don	McElhaney	1818 Piney Grove Church Rd.	Hillsborough	27278	Perhaps the primary obstacle to our subscribing to standard TV cable is the exorbitant fee to rent the set-top box. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set-top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Our "Smart" TV has built in capacity to receive all cable channels; but, instead of connecting us to them, our ISP holds them for ever-growing ransom. We are not even allowed to choose among them. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Carol	Waterman	18 Warren Street	Albany	12203	Please act in the public interest.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Tim	Kramer	6880 johnson	Arvada	80004	pLEASE ALLOW COMPETITION. Cable boxes should have to come from the cable/satellite companies anymore than tv's shouldAmerican consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Lane	1609 Wendell Ave	Schenectady	12308	Please allow consumers the same freedoms of choice in cable as the bill of rights allows for in freedom of speech, religion, press and assembly. Thank you. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Craig	Oldham	3365 Hill View	BOYNE FALLS	49713	Please consider us consumers and not the cable companies. We give them enough of our money! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Thank You
Robert	W. Brown	1525 Douglas Ave	Racine	53404	Please give American consumers options so they will not be forced topay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Jessica	Clem	4603 Cypresswood Dr, Apt T15	Spring	77379	Please help American consumers. We are at the mercy of cable companies. I pay way too much. People around the world pay far less than we do. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Janis	Martens	1101 Aline St.	New Orleans	70115	Please help consumers to lower their cable bills. Janis MartensAmerican consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Vincent	Rusch	1090 4th st,Schenectady	Schenectady	12303	Please help consumers who have no choice of cable provider. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Sl	Adler	39 Park Avenue	River Forest	60305	Please help! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Adrian	Ferrer	3173 Sweetwater Dprings Bvd	Spring Valley	91978	Please help. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Josh	Pucci	1502 n 22nd st	RICHMOND	23223	Please make good decisions.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Aleksandra	Patrzalek	603 rear Delaware Rd	Buffalo	14223	Please put an end to the big cable monopoly of devices. As a governing body by and for the people, you need to let us have our say and our choice in the matter, especially when it's our money that's being spent.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	McKeon	Central Avenue	Alameda	94501	Please represent "We The People." not, They The corporate Interests. Thank you. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box. Please vote to remove the current limitation on cable boxes. The standard needs to be updated and a new encryption system implemented in order to allow manufacturers to implement the necessary hardware directly into their products and get rid of the archaic cable boxes that cable companies force upon. There is absolutely NO compelling explanation the cable industry can give for maintaining the current system. The only reason is that it's in their own best interest to keep the current system. This is clearly anti-consumer and anti-competitive. If we can't have the choice of more than one cable company in any given market, the least we can have is the user of our own hardware to watch what we want, where we want.----------American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to
Ryan	Kuharske	1223 S 101st St	Milwaukee	53214	choose their own device. Competition will lowers price

Yvonne	Pawtowski	7100 187th Pl SW	LYNNWOOD	98037	Please, American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
David	Fatica	2838 E. Turney Ave	Phoenix	85016	Please, let us chose the brand of box we want instead of having to use the box from the cable company.
Kevin	Rhoads	188 D. C. Hwy Lyme NH	Lyme	3768	Remember the Carterphone decision? We do. Enough aready.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Amy	Christenson	1419 Waring St.	SEASIDE	93955	Remember the days when all you had to do to watch tv was turn it on? Now we have to have cable, or satellite dishes, and we end up paying hundreds or thousands of dollars over the course of a year. Its outrageous, and the prices only keep going up. The service doesn't change; sometimes the equipment doesn't change, but the cost always does. They nickel and dime the consumer every chance they get. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
k	Oscker	27 avenue	Lorain	44055	REMEMBER WHEN TV WAS FREE? I DO! BRING BACK BROADCAST. STOP RIPPING PEOPLE OFF TO GET THEIR DAILY BRAIN WASH.
Deborah	Nicholls	318 Moraine St.	Brockton	2301	Remember when you had to rent a phone from Ma Bell? And then the laws were changed so now you can buy your own phone? This is the same thing. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

David	Garland	3529 17th Ave. S.	Minneapolis	55407	Rental of cable boxes is a profit center for cable companies, at the expense of the consumer. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. $231 is far more than the average cable box is worth. It is beyond time to turn this problem over to the free market, and permit competition.by multiple manufacturers and vendors for this product.
Tim	Brainerd	3 Sylvester Road	NATICK	1760	seems like tech innovation should be celebrated and supported. i believe that anti-competitive behavior needs to be curtailed. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matt	Markezin-Press	27 W. 16th Street	New York	10011	Seriously, I have ZERO CHOICE IN MY CABLE PROVIDER! Verizon claims to be 'on my block' but I am unable to secure a connection due to "a lack of local agreements" whatever that means. That allows Time Warner to charge me over $150 a month for services that in areas that have more than two competitors cost less than $70. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dory & Diana	Hamilton-Smith	1171 O'Malley Drive	South Lake Tahoe	96150	Since DEREGULATION we have been getting ripped off!American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Dr Irene and Jonathan	Harper	3119 Traders Point Road	COUNCIL BLUFFS	51501	Stop allowing cable companies from charging huge monthly cable box rental fees. Their intentional prevention of technology and competition by using antiquated "box technology" generates them millions of gouged customer dollars each year while violating every premise of free market enterprise and open market competition. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Koppel	p o b0x 283	Hakalau	96710	STOP LETTING CORPORATIONS HAVE A MONOPOLY. thank you. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	G	Hugo Road	Grants Pass	97528	STOP LYING GREEDY AXXXOLES!!!! QUIT SELLING US OUT!!! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Dehler	1204 28th Ave West	Palmetto	34221	Stop pandering tot he cable companies as American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Margaret	Lang	Burgundy St	New Orleans	70117	Stop supporting big business monopolies at our expense! Implement your supposed capitalist ideas and let competition give us affordable options! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Howard	Miller	928 Via Arroyo	Ventura	93003	STOP THE BS THAT IS GOING ON, AS MENTIONED BELOW !!!!American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Daniel	Mitchell	3913 Hide-A-Way Lane	Flower Mound	75022	Telecommunications services are vital part of modern life, but the level of support for this infrastructure and other infrastructure in this country is dismal. It's been going down hill since the 70's. The government should do everything possible the increase the level and quality of basic infrastructure. The cable companies justify the increased prices by saying they are offering more for your speed for your money. That discounts that the price of all this technology hardware has been going down. The price for telecommunications services should be decreasing for average service, extremely reliaable service level. We should have universal access to WIFI everywhere. Let the people pay more for non-vital and optional content on these platforms, but not for the platform itself.
Chris	Bradford	911 9th St. #206	Santa Monica	90403	Thank you for listening,American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Eleni	Psyllos	3601 Grim Ave	San Diego	92104	Thank you for reading this message. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Carey	Carlson	1815 Central Ave NE apt 2114 Mpls MN	Minneapolis	55418	The "set top box" (or the rentable modem with CenturyLink, the other half of the duopoly around here) is a typical predatory part of American monopoly life these days, and it helps mainly in gutting the middle class. There's a lot put into frigging "bundling" that only a marrketing predator could love. Do something good about it, huh?
Sandra	Kos	105 E. Greenhill Terrace Pl	Spring	77382	The cable companies have a blog advantage over consumers. In our area they hold a monopoly and their fees are exorbitant. They list prices for various services and then they fail to note how much more will be added on for cable boxes, which are mandatory! Sadly, we have no choice but to pay it.

Gayle	Janzen	11232 Dayton Ave N	Seattle	98133	The cable companies, the very few there are, continue to raise our already exhorbitant rates all the time, so the least the FCC can do is force them to get rid of the old fashioned and costly set top boxes. We want innovation and lower prices and better service, yet because the cable companies are so powerful and with so few to chose from, we have few choices to get a better deal. We are sick and tired of it!!American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Federico	Cervantez	12501 Turkey Ridge Ct.	Austin	78729	The cable industry is deceptively marketing toward consumers - they don't advertise the fee for the cable box rentals. Those cable box rentals cost consumers an average of $231 per year - if the cable providers advertised these fees then consumers may not want to switch providers as frequently since the ads would reflect an accurate price.If consumers were permitted to purchase the set top boxes outright, they could mitigate the rental cost after a year or two of service.Cell phone industry lets us select what cell phone we lease, why doesn't the cable industry allow us to select what set top box we rent? It's because if consumers had a choice, the revenue would dramatically drop because they're using the set top box fee as a vehicle to price gouge customers. Make the cable industry either roll the rental fee into their base price, or force them to allow alternative set top boxes.

Gail	Johnson	4899 SE Salquist Rd	Gresham	97080	The cable TV and satellite TV industry needs a lot of reform. They make us use their boxes and charge us to fix or replace them. They say we have a contract with them, but we never get to see a copy. They charge almost random prices depending on which rep you talk to and the time of day and date. The prices are outrageous and always more than they advertise or even tell you when you sign up. When will you start protecting the consumer? American consumers rent a set top box from the cable monopolies and the price goes up even after the box would be paid for and is obsolete. This is only good for the cable companies.Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
charles	lawrence	2003 bluestem lane	Carrollton	75007	The consumer that is required to use the STB for accessing and using the TV is being taken advantage of by the companies installing and charging for these STB's, forever. This is a very unfair practice. I have 3 STBs. I have been signed up with a carrier for 15 or 20 years. My original price for use of the STB was $2.99 per box. I am currently paying $6.99 per STB. No modifications to these STBs in my home have been made. I am certain that I have paid for these boxes 5 times over..One for each TV in the house and in use. Two suggestions: (1) The price paid at time of signing up with companies should remain the same as long as the customer remains with that company. (2) The customer should have the option to purchase the STB after using it for three years at a discounted price. This would be fair to the company and fair to the customer.

Matt	Beeman	3726 Hartford St	Saint Louis	63116	The current state of affairs as re: cable boxes (DVRs too for that matter) is absurd and could only exist under quasi-monopoly conditions. Fully support this - need to give an element of choice back to consumers to encourage innovation and keep (in at least this one respect) a fair marketplace. Seriously, the cable box I pay for today is essentially the exact same box as one from the 80s, with a couple of modest perks. Don't be a Dingo, Wheeler.----------American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Toni	Garmon	103 Honeysuckle	Dawsonville	30534	THE FCC AND OUR POLITICIANS ARE A DISGRACE TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.... DO YOUR DAMN JOB PROTECTING US OR GET THE HELL OUT OF OFFICE....YOU WORK FOR US....NOT THEM....REMEMBER ???? American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

lon	Ball	149 Little Mtn. Rd.	Trout Lake	98650	The FCCis iin violation of anti-trust law according to the FTC with your policy to thwart free trade. in communications industry and specifically with regard to cable TV regulation.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Karen	Staskiewicz	1735 Clifford Drive	Erie	16505	The fees they charge are simply outrageous. I was very disappointed when DirecTV DOUBLED, yes DOUBLED the price I pay for their service on boxes I've had for nearly 3 YEARS! Now they have raised the equipment charge yet again on OLD boxes! And forget Time Warner / Comcast. I absolutely despise them. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Rodger	Parsons	New York, New York	New York	10028	The free market is absent from cable. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marian	Drake	5800 NE Center Commons way, Apt. 213	Portland	97213	The old way for the phone companies was that we had to lease their equipment, and no other devices could be connected to our phone wire. A few decades ago, all that changed. Not sure why -- was a law passed? Now, we can use any phone, and other devices we choose.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kurt	Mattes	626 Buyers Road	Collegeville	19426	The phone company should not force me to rent a phone. Oh, right, we fixed that problem decades ago. So why would the FCC allow the cable companies to force me into renting their equipment? American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Patricia	Adamek	1113 Braxton court	North Wales	19454	The reason i do not subscrube to cable us the cable box fee. I cannit affird that extra monthly expense. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mark	Bartosik	7 EVANS PL	BAY SHORE	11706	There are DOCSIS standards for cable modems and similarly standards should be set for Cable TV and boxes be available for purchase. Cable companies are bad actors in this. They've claimed it protects their network and allows them to provide new features -- thin cover. Just like with cable modems, and personally purchased phones on cell phone networks consumers should be allow to bring their own device (BYOD). By the way, please look into why Sprint is allowed to enforce a network with only their phones on it.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
J Kristin	Hedges	614 E Capitol St NE, #1	Washington	20003	There is no reason to allow cable companies to have a monopoly on the cable boxes their customers use. I adopt the message below as my own:American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jason	Nelson	46 Pawtucket Dr.	Lowell	1854	There is no reason to prevent me from using my own hardware if it's compatible with cable networks. Plenty of hardware is available, but we are all locked into devices that are both not current and that we are forced to rent from these companies.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Christy	Grabove	608 SW 27 street	Gainesville	32607	There was a good reason America used to not allow monopolies. It kept this kind of thing from happening. But now we have only 2 major cable companies, and they don't have to be competitive. I have had a cable box for something like 15 years. You think I don't know they are making a killing off if these antiquated boxes? We have gone from no cell phones-to flip phones-to I phones. And we still have cable boxes?????? BS!!!!!!!!!American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Lance	Messer	1879 Minnehaha Avenue East	Saint Paul	55119	This a form letter, but I do agree with it. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Alexander	Fanning	5370 Westview Ln.	Lisle	60532	This is a petition against the monopoly currently happening preventing consumers and small business from exploring other options and choices for the hardware they use to view their cable service on. It is like going to the store and on one long shelf is just Comcast. You have no other choice even though you do not like the choice. After many years you may now buy a modem for your Internet service instead of using one of the providers such as a refurbished.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Kenneth	Sarner	20 Second Street	Moscow	18444	This is an absurd scam. You know it, I know it, and everyone else does. There is no plausible explanation for the law as it stands. Let it go.

Marcy	Donaldson	1111 Ash St.	Denver	80220	This is exactly why I stream....sick of being ripped off by greedy corporations. Even if I could afford it, I will never go back to regular cable. I'm proud to say that I've converted all my friends to streaming their TV.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Michael	Beeman	6542 Historyland Hwy.	Farnham	22460	This is getting ridiculous that half of my bill is for recievedr boxes and other made up charges and we deserve better options . American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Emily	Herzstein	6111 Rosalind ave	Richmond	94805	This is reminiscent of the days when it was illegal to own your own telephone or to make any changes to the telephone wiring in your own home. There is no legitimate reason for Cable to require consumers to pay monthly for a box which they could have on their own.

Julie	Adelson	2810 6th St	Santa Monica	90405	This is so important. You believe in capitalism? Then allow competition on this monopoly that the cable and satillite companies have by encoding their boxes so we cannot buy cheaper devices. the $12/month charge per box is outrageous.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Shawn	Lewis	11703 Main Rd	AKRON	14001	This is why I don't have cable.
Victor	Allen	5186 Chalk Point Rd	West River	20778	This no different than the old att owning the telephones and charging monthly for ever Forever ended for att its now time to stop forever again. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

elen	gchesa	Monticello Rd	NAPA	94558	Time for OUR government to stand for US, rather than act as corrupt lapdog to greedy, morally bankrupt corporations that screw us OVER and OVER.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
John	Dinkmeyer	PO Box 1274	Aurora	80040	Time to stop the BIG CABLE RIPOFF! Our position with greedy cable companies is basically the same that we had with the old AT&T. Lots of charges, very little innovation.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Robert	Markle	814 lake shore drive; Wauconda, il	Wauconda	60084	Today's media enslaves the populous. Please stop this! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allen	Muchnick	9625 Park St, Manassas VA	Manassas	20110	U.S. cable TV subscribers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies, constraining competition, limiting consumer choice, and boosting cable company profits at the expense of American consumers. Consumers should have the power to choose their own devices, including cable TV boxes and Internet modems and routers Open competition would lower prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. I urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Jack	Jernigan	6255 Arthur Ct.	Magalia	95954	Until the late 1970s phone company monopolies made certain that only their equipment could be utilized by the consumer. Naturally they charged a monthly rental fee for technology that went back to the early 1900s. Today American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marco	de la Rosa	12700 NE 124th St., Kirkland, WA	KIRKLAND	98034	US consumers pay an average of $231 per year to RENT a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to CHOOSE their own devices. Competition will LOWER prices and INCREASE access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies should NOT be able to BLOCK what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

James	Dunfrund	7672 Desertwood Lane	Pleasanton	94588	We all know the real cost of such simple technology, that cable companies charge a hefty fee for, and it's time for this rip off to come to a halt. Make it a one time charge or let consumers utilize their own equipment for this purpose. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Allan	Fix	1305 Solano Apt G	ALBANY	94706	We are furious at the way cable companies, protected by monopoly power, continually rip us off! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Gary	Blackwelder	61 RCR	Lander	82520	WE ARE BEING RIPED OFF!! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Cecilia	Maida	3840 Market Court, #41	Shingle Springs	95682	We are held hostage by these cable companies. We should be given discounted boxes and also let out monthly rental go towards buying the bix! Not renting for life? As a disabled persin, I rely on my tv for entertainment and to stay connected to outside world. There are NO DISCOUNTS FIR DISABLED OR SENIORS like ELECTRIC AND AT&T land lines offer? WHY is Comcast and other cable companies able to charge poor people 100s dollars to turn on our tv and not offer discounts? I've given doctors letters but they say they offer it but they can't tell you who handles so make it impossible! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. 16-42,19226893,3541438,Cecilia,Maida,3840 Market Court
Frederick	Klein	71A Dover St.	Somerville	2144	We consumers should have the ability to make the decision of continuing to rent our boxes, and not worry about maintenance, or to buy them outright.

Kristen	Parsons	7124 39th Ave SW	Seattle	98136	We do not get to choose units with energy saving features! In some cases, these boxes are pulling more energy than our refrigerators! These cable companies are near monopolies. Americans get very little choice as to what is included in there cable channels (why do I need all these other channels I know I'm not going to watch because I want this one other channel), their terrible customer service and much of their servicing is subcontracted out. Take a look at the number of people killed climbing poles who work for these subcontractors. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Ron	Barnette	2709 NW 66 ST.	Oklahoma City	73116	We need more competition in internet services. My bill increases several times a year, but my 'allowed usage' has gone from 'unlimited' to 'very restricted'.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Peter	Smullen	3518 Sunset Isles Blvd	Kissimmee	34746	We need relief. We, the american consumers, pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, but increases cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Mr&Mrs E J	MADEO	1321 19TH ST	Columbus	31901	We not only need to be able to buy our own cable boxes & digital recorders, we NEED cafeteria style cable subscriptions. We should not have to pay for things we would Never watch. We don;t speak Spanish,, we should not have to pay for Spanish language channels. We don't watch sports (except Olympics) so why should we have to pay for Sports channels we do not want?? !!
Robert	Hubbell	46124 State Highway 30	Margaretville	12455	We should be able to buy the device of our choice. That's how a free competitive market is supposed to work. Curtail the goddamned monopoly powers give to the cable companies. That's your f*ing job you morons. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

W.	R.	xxxx	Boca Raton	33486	We used to not need cable boxes at all. We were connected by cable wire only. That's how it should be. Now, American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
W.	R.	xxxx	Boca Raton	33486	We used to not need cable boxes. We were just connected by cable wire. That's how it should be. Now, American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Edward	Vaughn	10710 Evergreen Way H-106	Everett	98204	We want competition. Let us choose what to watch and not watch. Many/most of the programs offered are junk. Lower your prices to reflect my choices, not yours.
Peter	Hanson	81 Marvin Ridge Road	New Canaan	6840	We want to choose our own cable box. We need competition for this basic utility. Let's do what is right.

Lewis	Umbrellaheam	668 N. Coast Hwy #117	Laguna Beach	92651	We, the PEOPLE, are sick and tired of laws that help companies and harm consumers. Get with the times. Be human! Be Kind! Do the RIGHT THING!!!American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Richard	McGonagle	201 N. Myers St.	BURBANK	91506	We're sick and tired of the cable companies and their outrageous practices.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Not only their device but what we want to watch without having to get a lot of stuff we have no desire for.Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Mickey	Glick	217 N Lime St	Lancaster	17602	We've been gouged long enough! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Keith	Allen	PO Box 11	Cedar Grove	27231	Well, OF COURSE, the FCC is in favor of "capitalism." Why, "competitiion is sacred," ISN'T IT? Or, do the "rules" of capitalism change, when the MAGIC REVOVLING DOOR BETWEEN BIG TELECOMS and those SUPPOSEDLY responsible for "regulating" big telecoms gets greased by corporate bucks, and loyalties of the regulators to those who have bequeathed "GOLDEN PARACHUTES" to them in the past, before the regulators SLID THROUGH THE REVOLVING DOORS!"FOLLOW THE MONEY!"American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Matthew	Vencill	3008 Overland ST	ROUND ROCK	78681	What is just is just. What must be done must be done. What is just must be done. What is just and undone shall take its toll from those responsible, through action, or through inaction. So it is. So it was. So it always will be. May it be that you are wise enough to do what is just.

Pierre	Vuilleumier	3704 Kelton Ave.	Los Angeles	90034	What other business are you made to purchase, that which you have no interest in purchasing? I dare say, none.
Mauricio	Tavares	112 NC 54	Carrboro	27510	When cable was first introduced, cable companies were required to provide a set of channels -- the so called basic cable -- unscrambled. So-called premium channels were scrambled. However, when TV went to digital signal, that no longer is the case: all digital cable stations signals are scrambled. I have a TV that can handle HDTV but it will not work without a setup box because of that. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. Those boxes are treated as blackboxes: customers must use the ones provided -- and owned by -- the cable providers they are using. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. A solution that is more attuned to the Spirit of American Enterprise is to have standards so anyone can build a "box" and then get an identification code/card from cable provider. This way, customers can choose the box of their choice and, if they switch to a different provider, they can still use their box. Compani

Andrew	Odendhal	3116 NE 164th ST	Ridgefield	98642	When I was doing cable installs it was clear to me that the biggest rip off was cable boxes. Just about every TV set made in the last 10 years is capable of receiving digital channels. No cable box should even be necessary. Control of what channels get delivered to the home could easily be controlled from the drop, if not the central office. But, if you want cable, you pretty much need a box. It has to be their box. You can't have it for free. You don't even get one complimentary box with your service. Just about always, you have to rent a box (or card). They won't sell you one. You can't use a compatible box from another source. They will charge you for one if it gets lost or packed up accidentally (or you can't prove it was stolen). But then the box you paid for gets disabled if you ever try to use it again. Leaving you with an expensive brick. Good luck getting your money back if you can ever return a misplaced box. AND, if you want "digital," that's extra. High def? That's more. Record programs? Ev
Josef	Schneider	3826 Pioneer Trails St.	Lakeland	33810	Where was TCC when Verizon sell three state services t Frontier Communication company? Customers are being rip off by cat services for previously negotiating packages with Verizon, and nobody is answering their complains. Verizon sell the VIOS without warning, without notifying customers and in many areas without competition. Did Government keep this transaction secret? I looks almost criminal act by a corporations.

Gay	Lam	2342 Crescent Street #1	Astoria	11105	whoa !! American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
jean	westler	15316 Pine Orchard Dr 3D	Silver Spring	20906	Why are cable companies allowed to force subscribers to use their cable boxes? There are other products on the market. How does the FCC justify letting Big Cable rip us off? Please stop this now.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Robert	Cook	116 Kiwassa RD	Saranac Lake	12983	Why do I HAVE to buy My Set Top Box From A Company That Is Already A Monopoly?American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

John	Vanover	1724 Swaringen Rd.	Traphill	28685	Why is this message even necessary? Why would you not instantly and automatically decide for consumers over industry? The assumption is that the FCC has been bought and paid for as so many other aspects of "our" government. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Lynne	Atherton-Dat	5300 Columbia Pike #804	Arlington	22204	Why is this necessary? It's a legal scam. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Marjorie	Wells	11618 East Briarpatch Drive	Midlothian	23113	Why must we pay for channels we never use?American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

leanne	Grossman	4744 el centro ave	Oakland	94602	Why should I pay exorbitant amounts for a cable box that I could buy for less than $100. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Donna	Squires	7804 Chinoonk Ave	Gig Harbor	98335	Wow! I wish I could control others and limit personal freedom as much as cable companies do. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Dorothy	Reil	509 Buffalo St.	Alexander	58831	YEP, rip off is right. The cost is up to six bucks a month now. i had my home built with cable jacks and they are useless basically. i see no reason to have these other than to put billions in cables pocket.American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.
Bridger	Hamilton	215 10th Ave E	Seattle	98102	Yes, it's a form letter! There are too many ways these giants throw their weight around to write an eloquent complaint for each. American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.

Kathleen	Wilkes	1217 Brookwood Road	Madison	53711	You are probably getting a lot of form letters on this. I chose my own comments, though all comments are worthy of consideration. I support what President Obama has asked the FCC to do, i.e. to end the monopoly of cable company set top boxes and let consumers choose their own options. I have no choices for television reception where I live; antenna and satellite reception here is impossible. Our cable costs go up, and yet the content I prefer gets worse. I am stuck with dozens of channels I don't want. Please act in the consumers interest. Cable monopolies are definitely not that. Thank you.
Greg	Wilson	PO Box 416	Loughman	33858	You know what the right thing to do is, now please do it:American consumers pay an average of $231 per year to rent a set top box from the cable monopolies. This hurts competition, limits consumer choice, and lifts up cable profits. Consumers should have the power to choose their own device. Competition will lowers prices and increase access to new streaming content and diverse voices. Cable companies shouldn't be able to block what consumers see on their TV. We urge the FCC and Congress to Unlock The Box.