To whom it may concern:

As an Indiana resident, I resent that your commission wants to get rid of the "no-call list".

I am a senior citizen, with arthritis throughout my body. Do you realize how it pains me to answer solicitors calls as many times as ten (10) a day? I cannot hear my answering machine in the TV room so I have to hurry to get to the phone, but they always hang up when they hear a message. You would be doing a disservice to all Indiana residents, including my ninety-two (92) year old mother.

02-278

Sincerely,

Lucille Mendlikowski

Sirs —

I am writing [illegible] to the possibility of any proposed changes in our Indiana No-Call list. I have finally had relief from all the telemarketing calls and having my phone tied up by their multiple dialing systems. My phone is for my own use & being bombarded by unwanted phone calls that go on all day & every day is an intrusion on my time. I find our No-Call list working very well & do not want it changed in any manner.

Sincerely yours
Thelma Holley

Gentlemen:

Our Indiana no-call list has been so very successful and works so well. Please do not "gut" it. Please do not "fix" it when it is not "broken".

I do not know of anyone who ever purchased anything from a Tele marketer before no-call, but I do know of many complaints about calls bothering persons.

Thank you for listening.

Dear Folks:

I'm concerned that the federal government will pass a telephone privacy law (02-278) that will replace Indiana's telephone privacy law, and also weaken the provisions of the Indiana law.

The Indiana law is up and working, it seems quite effective, and I would not want to see it weakened.

I see a real difference as a senior citizen who walks slowly with a cane and doesn't always remember to have along a cordless phone to answer calls around the house. It can be a burden to try to answer calls and then not reach the phone in time. Yet

I think a national do-not-call list would be huge and incredibly. I strongly urge you to leave Indiana's law in place and not replaced by a weaker federal law.

Your consideration will be appreciated

Yours truly,

John Ehmann

Please do not allow anyone to change the law prohibiting those monsters from calling our homes. There is nothing more disgusting than unwanted phone calls in the privacy of my home. It is robbery. The peace and quiet we had since the calls were banned is wonderful.

Thank you
