RE: WT04-435

PLEASE! Isn't it enough that we have to listen to these egomaniacs incessant jabber in the grocery store aisles, at restaurant tables, on the public sidewalks, etc., etc.!! Now you are considering allowing these oral idiots to distort one of the last remaining areas of quiet – the airplane cabins of America!!

There are actually people who still use silence in which to study, to read, to work – oh! perhaps even to THINK! (Now there's a new idea!)

What we do NOT need is yet another place ~~to~~ in which to be annoyed by those who believe that their connection to the world should override the comfort and peace of the rest of humanity.

I do not know if this letter is being sent within the correct "time span" for these comments. I do not have Internet, but I firmly believe that my opinion should be acceptable without such restrictions.

Just as an aside – Britain now has cars on their trains which are designated "cell-phone free" because this use has become such a nuisance to other passengers!

Please do not permit the use of cell-phones on our airlines!

Sincerely
Patricia Durst
