Dearest Kevin Martin,

I'm writing again to you in the continuing effort to end merger talks. In the '70's, the F.C.C. was very aggressive and had the foresight to break up the monopoly of the phone company. The F.C.C. can revelle in your success in the many formations of compitition in the phone industry. We have many choices of cell phone carrierers at competitive rates. Please don't throw all that hard work and risk of dividing a major phone company away. That monopoly brought about your laws (in place) not to allow monopolies to exist. Some mergers can happen to make things better for everyone. But when you have only two satellite companies, we have three choices. 1. XM 2. Sirius 3. Neither. Please leave us a choice of three — kill the merger. Say No. You went to great strides to prevent this kind of situation from happening. I subscribe to XM satellite radio and I have no ties to any satellite company. But I have a great fondness to XM that I chose. XM had made great strides too. I'd hate to see it destroyed by a second rate company who hasn't done well and needs XM's resources to survive. It will be like G.M. merging with YUGO or Daewoo. (Those are failed car companies) Please don't let this happen. Your admirer, David Rick
