Dear FCC,

This is regarding the 63.71 Application of Open Range Communications Inc.

Losing the phone service would be a hardship on our family. Our home is no longer wired for telephone land line service & it would cost us hundreds of dollars to re-wire. We would also be profoundly impacted by losing our phone number. We have had this # since 1989 & everything is tied to this phone number.

Some things even require we call from our "home phone" to activate or change things on certain accounts particularly credit card accounts.

They still plan on offering us Internet so I don't understand why we can't get phone also. This is economical way for us to have phone w/o solely relaying on cell service. Cell service is expensive & batteries are always dying.

Thank you for your consideration,

Kevin & Cheryl Harmsen
