13-301

DOCKET FILE COPY ORIGINAL

Mr. Henry P. Bankhead
8 Catherine Pl
Latham, NY 12110

Received & Inspected
JAN 13 2014
FCC Mail Room

January 2, 2014

Chairman
Federal Communications Comm.
Washington D.C.

Of all the ideas worthy of rejection, your consideration of lifting the ban on making cellphone calls on airplains tops the list.

It is bad to awful this idea. Flying is annoying enough with crowded planes packed with larger & larger people in smaller and smaller spaces. Sardines have it better. Now we might be forced to listen to the inane conversation of the technology obsessed babbling on and on about nothing.

At least give us a little peace and quiet as we are crammed together munching on our peanuts for lunch.

And we can just project the airlines offering another costly fee to set up a "no cellphone zone." Or must we hide out in the cramped bathrooms to preserve our sanity? Some refuge!

Kill this idea please.

Sincerely,

[illegible]