Dear Mr. Wheeler,

Please keep the internet neutral and open to all Americans. Each day it becomes more apparent that there is less and less equality among us. Those with the enormous wealth get to decide almost everything.

The internet has been open to all people. It is the great equalizer. It should be a public utility. It should be listed as a common carrier.

I own a very small business. I have a simple website where my Clients have been able to find me. I would not be able to be found at all if the prices are tier for big business that can afford the fast lane.

Please don't hand this wonderful piece of technology over to the telecoms.

Thank you for your consideration

Sincerely,

E Gundlach
