Mr. John Lodenkamper
3040 Wright Ct
Wheat Ridge, CO 80215-6536

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. John Lodenkamper

Ms. Corrine Cole
86 Pleasant Valley Road
Markleeville, CA 96120

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Don't let an all-powerful monopoly dictate our net future - reclassify broadband as a utility!

Sincerely,
Ms. Corrine Cole

Ms. Norma Madison
8017 S Harvard Ave
Chicago, IL 60620-1706

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

KEEP IT OPEN, KEEP IT FREE, KEEP IT SOVERIEGN FOR YOU AND ME!! WE DON'T NEED THE 1% CONTROLLING EVERY NANO SECOND OF OUR LIVES! STOP SELLING US OUT GOVERNMENT!! REMEMBER, YOU ARE A PUBLIC SERVENT, OF, BY, AND FOR THE PEOPLE!

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Norma Madison

Mr. Carl Smeltzer
455 Monte Vista Dr
Harrisonburg, VA 22802-8011

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Carl Smeltzer

Mrs. Debra Bruce
1043 Wentworth Dr
Pearland, TX 77584-2244

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Debra Bruce

Mr. Jay Mittenthal
605 W Oregon St
Urbana, IL 61801-4045

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Jay Mittenthal

Mr. Chris Blattel
814 County Road 271
Chaffee, MO 63740-8127

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Chris Blattel

Mrs. Mari Sears
1437 Fairfield Loop Rd
Crownsville, MD 21032-2005

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Mari Sears

Mrs. Darlene Wolf
1705 Gordon Dr
Naples, FL 34102-7553

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Darlene Wolf

Ms. Ginger Carter
1615 4th Ave SW
Decatur, AL 35601-4811

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Ginger Carter

Miss Myrna Zach
456 Delair Road
Monroe Twp, NJ 08831

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Miss Myrna Zach

Ms. Elizabeth Creighton
117 Lincoln Rd
Lincoln, MA 01773-3812

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

With the decline of newspapers, the internet is the best way to stay informed. As soon as paid fast lanes are established on the internet, de facto censorship is put in play. We will no longer be a democracy -- government of the people, by the people and for the people. Democracy needs an informed public. It is where ideas and growth are generated. Keep the pathways open. The internet is a new utility that needs to be available to ALL.

Sincerely,
Ms. Elizabeth Creighton

N Edward Boyce
275 Los Ranchitos Rd Apt 127
San Rafael, CA 94903-3677

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
N Edward Boyce

Mr. Gene Ulmer
1408 E 5935 S
Salt Lake Cty, UT 84121-1871

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Gene Ulmer

Dr. Diane Kupelian
4631 Chestnut St
Bethesda, MD 20814-3723

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Dr. Diane Kupelian

Dr. Nicholas Farmer
1405 47th Ave NE
St Petersburg, FL 33703-4113

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Dr. Nicholas Farmer

Mr. Richard Coe
2189 Pawnee Dr SE
Marietta, GA 30067-7311

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Richard Coe

Miss Robin Phillips
10408 W Coldspring Rd
Greenfield, WI 53228-2608

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Miss Robin Phillips

Ms. Louise Hillman
PO Box 8
Gt Barrington, MA 01230-0008

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Louise Hillman

Mr. Dan Mortenson
1180 Park Ave # 2
Ketchikan, AK 99901-6622

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Dan Mortenson

Patricia Aldrich
PO Box 445
13430 County Highway M
Cable, WI 54821-0445

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Patricia Aldrich

Mr. Ed Maguire
2
Woodland Hills, CA 91364

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Ed Maguire

Mrs. Elizabeth Libasci
206 Remington Rd
East Stroudsburg, PA 18301-7771

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Elizabeth Libasci

Ms. Joan Anderson
1137 NW 107th Ter
Gainesville, FL 32606-5446

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

I want to add my voice of concern and urge you to protect net neutrality.

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Thank you for your consideration in this important matter.

Sincerely,
Ms. Joan Anderson

Mrs. Ashley Fallis
7740 McCallum Blvd
Dallas, TX 75252-8143

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Ashley Fallis

Mrs. Linda Messner
4156 Higuera St
Culver City, CA 90232-2527

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Linda Messner

Mrs. Nancy Kosnar Hartman
2514 Evans Ave
Louisville, CO 80027-1215

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Nancy Kosnar Hartman

Mr. JOHN YBARRA
20531 Loyalton Dr
Walnut, CA 91789-1215

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. JOHN YBARRA

Mr. Thad Pendleton
11550 S Justine St
Chicago, IL 60643-5003

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Thad Pendleton

Mr. G. Kirkpatrick
807 Amherst Dr
Burbank, CA 91504-3002

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. G. Kirkpatrick

Mr. William Salvato
6741 N Sauganash Ave
Lincolnwood, IL 60712-3048

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. William Salvato

Dr. George Thompson, Sr.
PO Box 31711
Phoenix, AZ 85046-1711

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

09-11-2014:

Good morning, Chairman Wheeler:
Current corporate initiatives to transform internet access will undermine the open culture upon which the internet has thrived. Those who now pursue ending said openness intend to undermine it; choking off viable access for the sole purpose of undue profits to major telecommunication companies. They intend to commoditize business, political and personal discourse or relationships thru a broad-band medium of access (created and paid for by the American Public) so as to impose "highest bidder" license access for unconstrained corporate exploitation of that same American public, whose tax dollars paid to invent, build and develop the internet.

Already, vast numbers of Americans who are, e.g., on fixed retirement income or who are constrained to subsistence survival thru poverty-level employment do not have sufficient income to afford internet access; whilst corporate services seeking to foist their overhead expenses for computer software, labor and accountability for clerical accuracy in their interactions with the public (e.g., financial institutions, medical insurance processing companies, apartment rental syndicates, and public utilities companies) are increasing exponentially.

Physicians' offices, e.g., as a consequence of the Affordable Care Act, have tremendously increased constraints on time available for direct patient-to-patient interaction; notwithstanding systemic government/insurance corporate decreases of payments for physicians' expenses, resources, quality, services or time (as contrarily compared vis. `a vis. with other professions, e.g.: attorneys', accountants', financial advisors', politicians', or even entertainers', computer software or hardware experts') whilst every professional aspect of physicians' lives is computer-dependent.

Thus, every open computer "window," program or driver slows its performance in function or time--directly compromising (and therefore increasing) expense of every medically oriented interaction; irrespective of whether it is e.g., thru physician(s) and staff(s), or patient(s)--person-to-person, by telephone, or even for medical research.
Imposing such premium or "diamond-lane tolls" therefore for timely internet access directly and exponentially confers increasingly systemic and pernicious (whilst entirely undue) burdens on Americas' healthcare delivery system.

Such policy, therefore not only undermines the public trust; it also will render the internet prohibitively expensive and unduly obtrusive.

There is no public advantage to transforming America's Internet Neutrality (conferring boundlessly increasing profits to an already Übermensch telecommunication syndicate) whereas such changes would introduce undue risk and multifaceted increased harm to an already financially hobbled American public.

Respectfully,
George Thompson, Sr.

Sincerely,
Dr. George Thompson, Sr.

Mr. James & Marilyn Keegan
8895 SW 91st Pl Unit D
Ocala, FL 34481-7409

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

LEAVE OUR INTERNET ALONE! IT TRULY IS VITAL TO OUR DEMOCRACY AS IS. KEEP SPECIAL INTERESTS AWAY FROM IT! THE FCC CAN NOT ALLOW CORPORATE ENTITIES TO CONTROL OUR WEB!!!! RECLASSIFY BROADBAND AS A UTILITY!

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. James & Marilyn Keegan

Mrs. Terrie Williams
850 Laura Ln
Vidor, TX 77662-6311

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Terrie Williams

Mrs. Terrie Williams
850 Laura Ln
Vidor, TX 77662-6311

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Terrie Williams

Ms. Saundra Ackler
38 Fisher St
Dover, NH 03820-3943

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Saundra Ackler

david nutting

29566

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
david nutting

Mr. Jesse Galvan
1906 Texas Ave
San Antonio, TX 78228-5340

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Jesse Galvan

Mr. Ronald Potts
4869 Antelope Cv
Atlanta, GA 30349-3965

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

Please do not let the rich take over here also. Please prevent the loss of more equality.

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Ronald Potts

Mrs. Marilyn Espaillat
3250 N Palm Aire Dr
Pompano Beach, FL 33069-3887

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Marilyn Espaillat

Mr. Allen Strous
11339 Spangler Rd
Circleville, OH 43113-9439

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Allen Strous

E. Helton
2565 SW 4th Ave Unit 10
Ontario, OR 97914-1884

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

It is a unique entity.. and certainly not a utility. it's about time that big business is told no when they want to step in and profit on everything they can.

Sincerely,
E. Helton

Mrs. Leslie Hudson-Tolles
310 Bridle Path Farm Rd
Cleveland, NC 27013-8155

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Leslie Hudson-Tolles

Ms. Helen Stachouse
12099 Fort Craig Dr
Woodbridge, VA 22192-1007

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Helen Stachouse

Mrs. Tiffany Rios
1741 E 46th St
Brooklyn, NY 11234-3606

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Tiffany Rios

Mr. Alexander Gutierrez
6109 Hutton Ct
San Jose, CA 95123-5013

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Alexander Gutierrez

Mr. Stephen Burns
70 Summerdale Rd
Angola, NY 14006-9027

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer.

The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Stephen Burns

Mr. Kevin Beel
1500 Ralston Ave # 49
Belmont, CA 94002-1908

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Please protect net neutrality!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent, non-profit, and other voices with less financial strength suffer.

The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Kevin Beel

Mr. Tom Bryson
10951 NW 29th Ct
Sunrise, FL 33322-1826

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Tom Bryson

Mrs. Dolly Sutherland
1924
Tacoma, WA 98466-2927

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Dolly Sutherland

Mrs. Ruth Vandersall
3393b Maize Rd
Columbus, OH 43224-3262

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Ruth Vandersall

Mrs. Judith Pearson
PO Box 647
Estancia, NM 87016-0647

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Judith Pearson

Mr. Mark Petty
951 17th Ave SE Apt 2
Minneapolis, MN 55414-2483

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Mark Petty

Ms. Nancy Hoffman

NV 89434

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Nancy Hoffman

Ms. Miriam Keller
255 Segovia Pl
Fremont, CA 94539-3046

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Miriam Keller

Mrs. Linda Bailey
2800 Tramanto Dr
San Carlos, CA 94070-3524

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Linda Bailey

Ms. Jill Nida
733 Tamarack Ave
San Carlos, CA 94070-2917

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Jill Nida

Mr. James Mccall
4835 W Lawther Dr
Apt 301
Dallas, TX 75214-1840

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

It's a matter of simple fairness, and more: True net neutrality means that a great common resource remains equally available to all---Individuals, churches, non-profits---a matter of the public good.

I support a free and open Internet!

Sincerely,
Mr. James Mccall

Ms. Lori Babbey

Newton Falls, OH 44444

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Lori Babbey

Ms. Denise Burnham
1300 Academy Rd
Culver, IN 46511-1234

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Denise Burnham

Mrs. Dianne Wilson
893 Turner Rd
Lynchburg, OH 45142-9636

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Dianne Wilson

Ms. Kathleen kline
84 Ferry Ln
Phoenixville, PA 19460-2602

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Kathleen kline

Ms. Cathy-Lynn Mcginley
2427 W Music Mountains Dr
Green Valley, AZ 85622-8123

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Cathy-Lynn Mcginley

Mr. William Hibbs
54 Old Oak Ave
Westminster, MA 01473-1706

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Please protect Internet freedom

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

Please reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. William Hibbs

Mrs. Nancy Seay
10307 W Spencer Pl
Milwaukee, WI 53224-4421

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Nancy Seay

Mrs. Marilyn Hansen
6 Chelsea Dr
Santa Rosa, CA 95403-5712

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Marilyn Hansen

Ms. Rachel Kelley
2916 10th St
Santa Monica, CA 90405-5704

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Rachel Kelley

Mr. Harrison Nida

10028

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Harrison Nida

Dr. William Brooks
9204 NW 80th Ter
Kansas City, MO 64152-1616

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Dr. William Brooks

Mr. David Gerber
1025 S Cloverdale Ave
Los Angeles, CA 90019-6733

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. David Gerber

Ms. Laurie Black
3333 Wallingford Ave N
Seattle, WA 98103-9001

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Laurie Black

Ms. Tenaya Egbert
18701 Stratford Rd Apt 337
Minnetonka, MN 55345-4064

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Tenaya Egbert

Mark Sherburne
44 Sycamore Ave
Mill Valley, CA 94941-2720

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mark Sherburne

Mr. Tom Schuster
4602 Windigo Trl
Madison, WI 53711-2731

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Tom Schuster

Mark Sherburne
44 Sycamore Ave
Mill Valley, CA 94941-2720

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mark Sherburne

Mr. Tom Schuster
4602 Windigo Trl
Madison, WI 53711-2731

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Tom Schuster

Mark Sherburne
44 Sycamore Ave
Mill Valley, CA 94941-2720

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mark Sherburne

Ms. Mary Ann Beck
2426 Richmond Greens Ct
Sun City Ctr, FL 33573-7181

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

I am writing to urge the FCC to protect vitally important net neutrality The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Mary Ann Beck

Mr. james schroeder

60608

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. james schroeder

Mr. H.K. Peters Jr
430 Bayberry Ln
West Grove, PA 19390-9491

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. H.K. Peters Jr

Ms. Pam Reagor
5405 Alton Pkwy
283
Irvine, CA 92604-3717

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

Our democracy is in peril, as corporate and otherwise monied interests (who do NOT currently need our help!) exert enormous influence over government and electoral processes. A free internet, truly open equally to all, is essential, if there is any hope of our exercising our free speech as a healthy counter. For the FCC to promise remedies only after Big Money has taken unfair advantage (while making us pay for their greed and it's defense) would be laughably insufficient. Listen to us (case in point, duh!)! Stand up! Make your daughters and sons proud!

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Pam Reagor

Mr. Thomas Brazee
211 E Bridge St
Berea, OH 44017-2176

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Thomas Brazee

Stephen Warner
2224 Browning St
Berkeley, CA 94702-1824

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Stephen Warner

Ms. Jyrica Gough
230b Hilltop Ln Apt 207
Annapolis, MD 21403-1214

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Jyrica Gough

Mr. William Smith
1903 Potomac Dr
Toledo, OH 43607-1564

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. William Smith

Ms. Dorothy Dobbyn
28417 Cherokee Ave
Millsboro, DE 19966-2521

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Dorothy Dobbyn

Mr. Ben Goldberg
327 Millers Corners Rd
E Greenbush, NY 12061-3716

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Ben Goldberg

J Paczynski

95983

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
J Paczynski

Ms. Kelly Goodrich

CA 92617

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Kelly Goodrich

Mr. White Feather Beckett
890 38th Ave Spc 48
Santa Cruz, CA 95062-4401

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. White Feather Beckett

Richard Fisher

Santa Fe, NM 87504

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

The media has already been consolidated to the point of harming our democracy, let's not make that mistake with the world wide web.

Sincerely,
Richard Fisher

Mr. Tom Schroeder
1536 Henry St
Port Huron, MI 48060-2523

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Tom Schroeder

Mr. Kirk Thompson
150 Columbine Dr Unit A
South Fork, CO 81154-9466

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.
Ignorance is not bliss, but rather is slavery, and limiting the internet guarantees ignorance. What a waste that would be.

Sincerely,
Mr. Kirk Thompson

Mr. Darryl D. Boyd
632 Spring Ave
Morgan Hill, CA 95037-4809

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The United States has the slowest and most expensive internet service in the world! What happened to the "public" part of public utilities? Why do the providers get to make huge profits at the public's expense when most of them have local monopolies?

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internets role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy and commerce.

Letting well-financed interests build expensive fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate and 1% voices will always be able to afford special access while individual and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic. The FCC must recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Darryl D. Boyd

Nicholas Diamond
2020 Cypress Dr
White Oak, PA 15131-1808

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Nicholas Diamond

Mr. Patick O'Meara
1573 Carroll St
Clearwater, FL 33755-3508

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

Without Net Neutrality we might as well live in China!

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Patick O'Meara

Mrs. Steve Mcgettigan
323 S 15th St
Philomath, OR 97370-9285

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Steve Mcgettigan

Bruce Ackerman

Fairfax, CA 94930

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Bruce Ackerman

Mr. Douglas Estes
629 Arguello Blvd
Apt 303
San Francisco, CA 94118-4063

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Douglas Estes

Ms. Ronda O'Bryant
2533 Grassy Point Dr
Unit 303
Lake Mary, FL 32746-6612

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

The Cable companies are gouging their customers already! Please don't let them destroy the internet and fair competition.

Sincerely,
Ms. Ronda O'Bryant

Mr. James Hicks
434 Liberty St
San Francisco, CA 94114-2949

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. James Hicks

Mr. Laurent Comes
7 Dogwood Trl
Kinnelon, NJ 07405-2881

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Laurent Comes

Mr. John Burley

AL 36067

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. John Burley

Mr. Bob Yarger
9 Middleborough Ct
Gansevoort, NY 12831-1386

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Bob Yarger

Ms. Ursula George
737 Pin Oak Cir
Van Vleck, TX 77482-6356

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Ursula George

Ms. Jean Tradup
7706 Painted Ridge Dr
San Antonio, TX 78239-4074

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Jean Tradup

Robin Metcalf

40218

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Robin Metcalf

Mrs. Pauline Thomas-Brown
58 Royal Ln
Bloomingdale, IL 60108-2907

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Pauline Thomas-Brown

Ms. Bonita Staas
11294 N Henderson Rd
Orangeville, IL 61060-9676

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Bonita Staas

Ms. Jan Lewis
PO Box 587
Cayucos, CA 93430-0587

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Jan Lewis

Mrs. Bruce Willock
43 Saint Stephens Dr
Orinda, CA 94563-1951

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Open Internet

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic.

Please recommit to an Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Bruce Willock, Orinda, CA 94563

Sincerely,
Mrs. Bruce Willock

Mr. Michael Butler
333 Highland Ave
Wellsville, OH 43968-1805

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Michael Butler

Mr. Billy Marchese

90291

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Billy Marchese

William Edwards
2706 Pinewood Ter
Austin, TX 78757-2139

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
William Edwards

Mr. Eric Wickiser
5630 Mahoney Ave
Minnetonka, MN 55345-5119

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Eric Wickiser

Ms. judith hazelton
Pheralicious@Yahoo.Com
Bennington, VT 05201-9384

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. judith hazelton

Ms. Christina Burton
12624 Remington Rd
Apple Valley, CA 92308-5033

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Christina Burton

Mrs. Janet Anderson
1911 McDonald Dr
Champaign, IL 61821-6078

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Democracy depends on everyone having access to the internet for discourse, not having corporations taking over all of the access because they can put large sums into doing so.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Janet Anderson

Mr. shawn eager
3206 Cristo Ln
Jacksonville, FL 32277-3536

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

PLEASE hear us..... the internet has, like it or not, become a very important of our lives. From information to school work, from our jobs to banking, from social media to digital commerce, all of this now relies on a "free" system devoid of corporate controls to "guide" us as to what we can read, or where we can go, or what research we will be allowed to pursue and the speeds with which we can do these things. At the same time I ask you to champion the protection of free television, as millions of us have only that with which to keep in daily touch with our national news, local news, weather and public broadcasting for information and education.

Sincerely,
Mr. shawn eager

Mrs. Marina Best

OH 44410

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

It's about time our Government starts working for us Americans again...

Sincerely,
Mrs. Marina Best

Dr. Mike Broadway
4329 Denfield St
Durham, NC 27704-1835

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Dr. Mike Broadway

Mrs. Barbara Sue Scholl
727 E 5th Ave
Lancaster, OH 43130-3221

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Barbara Sue Scholl

Mr. Wayne Steffes
2187 Wisconsin Ave
Redding, CA 96001-2906

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Wayne Steffes

Dr. Eric Unzicker
1949 Hopi Rd
Santa Fe, NM 87505-3310

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

It's a mystery to me why more people aren't questioning the ethics of a nominally impartial government organization choosing an individual who made his mark promoting the interests of the cable industry for head of the FCC.

Sincerely,
Dr. Eric Unzicker

Mr. Richard Tait
3312 81st Pl SE
Mercer Island, WA 98040-3034

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Richard Tait

Mr. Jason Palmer
41 Shore Dr
Huntington, NY 11743-1322

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Jason Palmer

Ms. Cathie Frederick

MI 48507

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and n on-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Cathie Frederick

Mrs. Mino Akhtar
86 Munsey Rd
Emerson, NJ 07630-1514

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Mino Akhtar

Mr. Patrick Parks

80906

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Patrick Parks

Ms. Jennifer Hisrich
2816 128th Ave SE
Bellevue, WA 98005-4327

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

As a public librarian with a background in history I know democracy can only succeed where there is access to information.

As a resident of a high tech region I know it is vital to our country's economy as well.

Sincerely,
Ms. Jennifer Hisrich

Ms. Christine Pikala
4825 34th Ave S
Minneapolis, MN 55417-1501

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Christine Pikala

Ms. Christine Pikala
4825 34th Ave S
Minneapolis, MN 55417-1501

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Christine Pikala

Shannon Bradley

85224

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy. We cannot afford to interfere with this public forum.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will ALWAYS be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Shannon Bradley

Mrs. Dave Elliott
100 Bay Pl Apt 710
Oakland, CA 94610-4410

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Dave Elliott

Mrs. Anne Swanson
1458 Ridgeley Dr
Campbell, CA 95008-0706

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Anne Swanson

Jane Sherrill

02145

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Allowing large corporations to purchase fast lanes on the internet is another stake into the heart of our democracy. This keeps small businesses from getting ahead and keeps down the creative spirit--another way that large corporations are purchasing our government. For heaven sakes, please don't fall for this!

Sincerely,
Jane Sherrill

Ms. Janell Richard
38148 Grant Dr
Palmdale, CA 93552-3325

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Janell Richard

Ms. Cory Miedema
PO Box 248
Nine Mile Falls, WA 99026-0248

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Cory Miedema

Mrs. Carmelia Martino
1911 Alamo Dr
Arlington, TX 76012-1717

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Carmelia Martino

Ms. Emily Metz
137 Crescent Hill Rd
Pittsford, NY 14534-2406

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Emily Metz

Mr. Gerald Mckelvey
1830 E Yosemite Ave
Spc 196
Manteca, CA 95336-5051

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Gerald Mckelvey

Ms. Catherine Kirwan-Avila

19095

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,

Catherine Kirwan-Avila

Sincerely,
Ms. Catherine Kirwan-Avila

Ms. Marian Shaaban
1588 S Andrew Cir
Bloomington, IN 47401-7146

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Marian Shaaban

Ms. Jacqueline Williams
1580 Hicks Ave
San Jose, CA 95125-3824

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

If internet providers are able to have a luxury service, We the People will pay the ultimate price. We will be unable to have access to a fast internet!

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Jacqueline Williams

Ms. Kathleen Wroblewski
3404 Tuttle Ave
Erie, PA 16504-1946

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Kathleen Wroblewski

Mr. David Broden
144 Maynard Rd
Apt 403d
Framingham, MA 01701-2515

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. David Broden

Ms. Frances Redick
17185 Ward St
Detroit, MI 48235-4126

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Frances Redick

Louise Jeffrey
1607 S 79th Ave
Omaha, NE 68124-1418

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Louise Jeffrey

Mr. Ronald Rice
1734 Hearst Ave
Berkeley, CA 94703-1386

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Ronald Rice

Ms. Melissa Bishop
24 Church St
Deposit, NY 13754-1140

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Melissa Bishop

Ms. Margaret Western

NY 11701

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Margaret Western

Mr. Richard Kuntze
7 Via Joaquin Unit 11
Monterey, CA 93940-4535

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Richard Kuntze

Ms. Michele Hutchins
3010 Covewood St
High Point, NC 27265-2207

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Michele Hutchins

Michael Stewart

WA 98116

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Preserve net neutrality

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

Please help our Democracy by maintaining equal access for all to the internet and by dissuading any multi-tiered service.

Sincerely,
Michael Stewart

Ms. Andrea Jones
2265 Coach and Surrey Ln
Aurora, IL 60506-4409

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Andrea Jones

Mr. Ian Thomas
35 Union St Apt 509
New London, CT 06320-6140

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Ian Thomas

Rick Nida

94070

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Rick Nida

Mrs. Patti Worley
18662 Florida St
Huntingtn Bch, CA 92648-1917

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Patti Worley

Ms. Elissa Lozier
109 Baruna Ct
Novato, CA 94945-1515

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

This action is crucial for fair access to all, independent of wealth and power.

Sincerely,
Ms. Elissa Lozier

Mrs. James Shifflett
552 Cleveland Ave
Charlottesvle, VA 22903-6406

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. James Shifflett

Ms. Liliana Pierce
11300 W Parmer Ln
2126
Cedar Park, TX 78613-4802

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Liliana Pierce

Ms. Carol Wuchter
22309 Brignac Rd
Robert, LA 70455-1727

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Carol Wuchter

Ms. Jayne Martin
69100 McCallum Way Apt F201
Cathedral Cty, CA 92234-5863

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Jayne Martin

Ms. J Angell
Ponderosa Road
Rescue, CA 95672-9648

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. J Angell

Ms. Rev.Antoinette Pezet
PO Box 1671
Portland, ME 04104-1671

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

For years I avoided computers and other modern communications wounders. Today I have joined and continue to join the world wide Net world of electronic users and say we need to keep hope alive - keep the Net neutral and for all!

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Rev.Antoinette Pezet

Mr. Morris Williams
3526 NE 92nd St
Seattle, WA 98115-3662

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Morris Williams

Ms. Jenn Gilpin
2731 Tisinger Ave
Dallas, TX 75228-2146

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility. Protect this vital common communication and information exchange for the public Ans economic well-being of the masses!!

Sincerely,
Ms. Jenn Gilpin

Ms. Rudi Simko
295 Gap Creek Rd
Fletcher, NC 28732-8492

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Rudi Simko

Mr. Joseph Konig

11205

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Joseph Konig

Mrs. Donna Widmer
5024 Halsey St
Shawnee, KS 66216-1330

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Donna Widmer

Mr. Phillip Leija
13923 E Main Ave
Spokane Valley, WA 99216-2046

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Phillip Leija

Mrs. Beverley Worster
1034 E 450th Rd
Lawrence, KS 66047-9503

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Beverley Worster

Mr. Jeffrey Carvish
821 S Citrus Ave
Escondido, CA 92027-4207

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Jeffrey Carvish

Mr. Edward Conklin
3815 W 7th St
Greeley, CO 80634-1537

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

I am contacting you to speak out for net neutrality. Please accept these as my official comments on the issue of internet freedom and neutrality.

It appears to me that the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) is waving a white flag in the long-running struggle over who controls, and who profits from, the movement of information online.

The FCC's so-called net neutrality proposal is anything but neutral. It would allow Internet service providers to create fast lanes for the privileged few and leave everyone else with extremely slow Internet access. And a fast lane for the deep-pocketed means a slow lane for everyone else, including alternative and independent sources of news.

FCC must protect net neutrality. It MUST support a free and open Internet by using its power and responsibility to benefit all people who depend on it to do its job, not just the wealthy corporations which have become accustomed to buying the laws and regulations and purchasing the enforcement (or lack thereof) of anything that benefits their obscene profits.

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy. Much like freedom of the press, our society must have freedom of the internet; without it we will have no democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

This important issue is one of the FCC's weightier challenges at present. Please do not be bribed, bullied and/or coerced by wealthy corporate interests into making the wrong decision, and please DO decide in favor of an open, neutral, free internet. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Mr. Edward Conklin

Miss Laurien Enos

02360

Sep 11, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Miss Laurien Enos

Ms. Jen Hadraba

Westmont, IL 60559

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Jen Hadraba

Ms. Jen Hadraba

Westmont, IL 60559

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Jen Hadraba

Ms. Barbara Silverman
2148 Old Glenview Rd
Wilmette, IL 60091-3111

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Barbara Silverman

Mr. Norman Ewers
19191 Harvard Ave Apt 130a
Irvine, CA 92612-8606

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Norman Ewers

DiAnne Billins
14319 Embry Path
Apple Valley, MN 55124-6672

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
DiAnne Billins

Mr. Mike Eddy
2125 Waverly Pl N
Seattle, WA 98109-2420

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Mike Eddy

Ms. Carolyn Mone
538 Eleanor Dr
Woodside, CA 94062-1122

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Carolyn Mone

Kimberly Kerlin
3439 St Marys Rd
Lafayette, CA 94549-5032

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Kimberly Kerlin

Ms. Jessie Casteel
10811 Greenwillow St Apt 20
Houston, TX 77035-5043

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Jessie Casteel

Mrs. Kathy Crawford
3 Kelsey Dr
Mattoon, IL 61938-8451

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Kathy Crawford

Ms. Ellie Kirchner
13521 95th Ave E
Puyallup, WA 98373-5654

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Ellie Kirchner

Mrs. Sylvia Casillas
583 River Hills Dr
Springfield, OR 97477-3639

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

And last but not least, our country is becoming known for values relating only to Money. Isn't it time we stand up for American Values and Ideals, namely those of our Constitution and our Forefathers in the name of Freedom?

Sincerely, Sylvia Casillas

Sincerely,
Mrs. Sylvia Casillas

Ms. Marilyn Moore
1531 Josie Ave
Long Beach, CA 90815-4655

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Marilyn Moore

Mr. Larry Meyer
30340 E Thome Rd
Rock Falls, IL 61071-9467

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Larry Meyer

Ms. Linda Christy
1217 NW 42nd St
Oklahoma City, OK 73118-5403

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Linda Christy

Mr. Jason Fish
1128 Marguerite Ave
Manteca, CA 95336-2959

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Jason Fish

Mrs. Regina L. Rader

Merrillville, IN 46411

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Regina L. Rader

Ms. Janice Morrell
1860 Del Mar Ave
Redding, CA 96003-3556

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Janice Morrell

Mr. Thomas Bondurant
519 Forest Acres Dr
Tarboro, NC 27886-2629

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

It is time for the FCC to act in the interest of the majority of Americans instead of a small minority of wealthy elites. The Internet was developed with taxpayer money for all of us. The ISPs have been poor stewards of this resource and have only sought to increase their profits through legislation and manipulation of access. The FCC should refuse to participate in this corruption of our political and economic system.

Sincerely,
Mr. Thomas Bondurant

Steve Hubbard

01902

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Steve Hubbard

Ms. Tracey Ahring
512 Tracewood Dr
Dennard, AR 72629-7353

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Tracey Ahring

Mrs. Dee Hellings
6955 Bristol Ln
Bozeman, MT 59715-9506

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Dee Hellings

Mr. Jeff Charity
PO Box 252
South Paris, ME 04281-0252

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Jeff Charity

Mrs. Gay Arnold
8340 N Links Way
Fox Point, WI 53217-2820

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Gay Arnold

Ms. Eric Fosburgh
1415 E Republican St Apt 203
Seattle, WA 98112-4551

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Eric Fosburgh

Mr. Steve Vicuna

CA 91754-6011

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Steve Vicuna

Mr. Richard Miller
612 Plover Rd
El Dorado, KS 67042-4016

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The internet has changed lives and equalized opportunity. Don't let it be just another outlet for the rich and inaccessible to most.

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Richard Miller

Mr. Chuck Hamblen
3217 Corvette Pl
Jacksonville, FL 32216-6315

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Chuck Hamblen

Paul Caubo

AL 36279

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Paul Caubo

Mr. Richard Mordecai
1144 Reilly St
Bay Shore, NY 11706-2637

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Richard Mordecai

Ms. Wendy Yost
822 Glenwood Ave
Syracuse, NY 13207-1540

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Wendy Yost

Mr. Richard Firestine
702 N Goodwill St
Myerstown, PA 17067-2315

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Richard Firestine

Ms. Chris Smenos
1704 Pelican Cove Rd
Sarasota, FL 34231-6780

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Chris Smenos

Mrs. Karen Rose
PO Box 47088
Tampa, FL 33646-0110

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Karen Rose

Ms. Emily Novotny
6301 Sheridan St
Riverdale, MD 20737-1430

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Emily Novotny

Mrs. Sandra Wechsler
1122 Harrison St
North Bellmore, NY 11710-2059

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

It's time the FCC looked out for the 'little people', those of us who can't afford or don't wish to spend large amounts of money for fast internet service. Big money already controls who we elect; don't let it control our access to the internet. You are supposed to represent ALL the citizens or the United States. Please do what you're supposed to do and reject this plan to permit two different internet accesses--one for the rich and one for the 'other'.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Sandra Wechsler

Mr. Ray Pidgeon
25 Crystal Brook Dr
Springfield, MA 01118-1909

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Ray Pidgeon

Ms. Katharine B Wolpe
107 E 10th St Apt 1c
New York, NY 10003-7537

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Katharine B Wolpe

Mr. Mike Sopko
3303 Redwood
Avon Lake, OH 44012

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Mike Sopko

Mrs. Judith Leake
24906 S 4200 Rd
Inola, OK 74036-5104

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Judith Leake

Mr. Leslie Fox
3883 Turtle Creek Blvd
Dallas, TX 75219-4437

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Leslie Fox

Ms. Marla Fields
8352 Talbot St Apt 2e
Kew Gardens, NY 11415-3531

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Marla Fields

Ms. Kim King
19019 Sages Rd
Nevada City, CA 95959-9374

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Kim King

Mrs. Nicole Ray
2524 Baxter Dr
Austin, TX 78745-4345

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Nicole Ray

Ms. Margaret Dillon
PO Box 1043
46 East Street
Litchfield, CT 06759-1043

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Margaret Dillon

Joe Luca
57 Babcock St
Brookline, MA 02446-5901

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Joe Luca

Ms. Delores Phillips
47897 335th St
Jefferson, SD 57038-6871

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Delores Phillips

Ms. Pat Brooks
7235 Sharpview Dr
Houston, TX 77074-3323

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Pat Brooks

Ms. Trice Roberts
2161 Cypress Ave
San Pablo, CA 94806-1010

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Trice Roberts

Mr. Shawn Sargent
26 Rosemary Ln
West Yarmouth, MA 02673-3325

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

The FCC; Serves the Will of the People, not the telecomm companies.
In the nineteen eighties the electric companies got to big and were restructured as public utilities, now it is the telecomm's turn.
Net Neutrality will ensure equal access, and freedom of speech on the internet for all americans and the global internet community.
The FCC; also must Ban indefinitely, the creation of any " internetnt fast-lanes" or a so called two-tiered internet.

Sincerely,
Mr. Shawn Sargent

Mr. Charles Arkle Jr
174 Homestead Ave
Holyoke, MA 01040-1036

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Please ceased bending over for these lobbyist who send you on trips and take you to lunch and who knows what else and look out for who you should be looking out for. The people you serve. The citizens of this United States.
The internet's First Amendment rights should no be stifled by the FCC or the Lobbyist.
It is open network and it is your job to see that it remains this way.
If you are unable to do this then I would suggest that you resign your position as a PUBLIC Servant and let someone into the FCC who can.
Sincerely
Charles H. Arkle Jr.
174 Homestead Ave.
Holyoke Ma. 01040

Sincerely,
Mr. Charles Arkle Jr

Mrs. Rosemary Whitmore
1280 Wittmann Park Ln
Apt 2
Menasha, WI 54952-3630

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Rosemary Whitmore

Mr. Stephen Arnold

NY 11101

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Stephen Arnold

Ms. Kim Sanders
2996 Bremen St
Columbus, OH 43224-4309

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Kim Sanders

Ms. Jin Parker
1924 Old Kanuga Rd
Hendersonvlle, NC 28739-6765

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Jin Parker

Mr. Robert Schuessler
Grayton Rd
Tonawanda, NY 14150

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Another "perk" for rich corporations. Whatever happened to "we are all created equal"?

Sincerely,
Mr. Robert Schuessler

Ms. Ivy Buchanan
7131 Wood Hollow Dr
Austin, TX 78731-2431

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Ivy Buchanan

Mr. Norris / Al Carlson
PO Box 16
Story, WY 82842-0016

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Norris / Al Carlson

Mr. Howard Masin
813 Bordeaux Ct
Manchester, MO 63011-4106

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Howard Masin

Mr. Bruce Heflinger
2481 Richard Ct
Mountain View, CA 94043-2734

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Bruce Heflinger

Mrs. Judy Patrello
2311 Landover Blvd
Spring Hill, FL 34608-2745

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Judy Patrello

Mr. Michael Willett
65 Miranda Knl
Leicester, NC 28748-7796

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

A generation ago the FCC wisely separated content from cables by ruling that the telephone companies could not provide the new information services over the systems they controlled. We need the same rule now with respect to the Internet.

Sincerely,
Mr. Michael Willett

Ms. Louise Kittredge
5 Harrington St
Newtonville, MA 02460-1525

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square for public discourse that is vital to our democracy. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control or influence web traffic. The FCC should support -- not merely allow --- Americans' First Amendment rights by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Louise Kittredge

Ms. Jean Cavanaugh
47906 Willis Rd
Belleville, MI 48111-9234

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Jean Cavanaugh

Mrs. Donna Andes
4229 Danor Dr
Reading, PA 19605-1057

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Donna Andes

Mr. Emmett Culley
207 Redbud Dr
Paradise, CA 95969-3743

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Emmett Culley

Rose Mary Mitchell
4034 Cesar Chavez St
San Francisco, CA 94131-1959

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Rose Mary Mitchell

Mr. William Fisk
1363 Wrotham Ln
Channelview, TX 77530-4814

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility. Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us.

Sincerely,
Mr. William Fisk

Ms. Leslie Calambro
1903 Barribee Ln
Henrico, VA 23229-3801

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Leslie Calambro

Belle Newheart

VA 22901

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Belle Newheart

Mrs. Linda Gertig
310 Kouba Dr
Bellevue, NE 68005-5429

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Linda Gertig

Mr. Richard Ullom
4538 SE 85th Ave
Portland, OR 97266-3030

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Richard Ullom

Ms. Sheryl Kapelos
22 Greenwood St Apt 1f
Melrose, MA 02176-1145

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Sheryl Kapelos

Mr. R Elosua
PO Box 20577
Albuquerque, NM 87154-0577

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. R Elosua

Mrs. Lynne Duckett
9242 Duckett Ln
Rixeyville, VA 22737-2503

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Lynne Duckett

Ms. Claudia Martinez
51862 E County Road 1610
Stratford, OK 74872-6869

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Claudia Martinez

Mr. Jack Gegner
6482 Summer Cloud Way
Columbia, MD 21045-5612

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Jack Gegner

Mr. Jack Gegner
6482 Summer Cloud Way
Columbia, MD 21045-5612

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Jack Gegner

Fran Parfitt
272 Merriweather Rd
Grosse Pointe Farms, MI 48236-3429

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Fran Parfitt

Mrs. Richard Waldo
4916 S 525 W
Riverdale, UT 84405-6307

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Richard Waldo

Mr. Allen Schell
3258 Corby St
Jacksonville, FL 32205-6006

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Allen Schell

Mrs. Dee Anderson
14327 Diplomat Dr
Tampa, FL 33613-3100

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Dee Anderson

Ms. Chenoa Chalker
15 Sturges St Apt 2
Binghamton, NY 13901-2261

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Chenoa Chalker

Mrs. Corinne Runkle
115 Lake Shore Dr
Madison, AL 35758-7909

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Corinne Runkle

Ms. Martha Carruthers
1511 E Gettysburg Ave Apt C
Fresno, CA 93704-3407

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Martha Carruthers

Ms. Kelly O'Donnell
10526 Troon Ave
Los Angeles, CA 90064-4429

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Kelly O'Donnell

Mr. Patrick Niese

IN 47006

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Patrick Niese

Mrs. Gloria Carrillo
23869 Sycamore Dr
Mission Viejo, CA 92691-3038

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

I consider the internet to be an important source of information. Big Corporations already have the American people mesmerized by their biased misinformation. Big Corporations already control our representatives in Congress with their monetary contributions (bribes). Let us keep the internet accessible to all equally.

Sincerely,
Gloria Carrillo
23869 Sycamore Dr.
Mission Viejo, CA 92691

Sincerely,
Mrs. Gloria Carrillo

Mr. Christopher Callinan
23 Beverly Rd
Cortlandt Manor, NY 10567-1107

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Christopher Callinan

Mr. Andrew Rich
222 Burney Rd
Osprey, FL 34229-9444

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Andrew Rich

Ms. Joan Sage
914 Kimball St
Philadelphia, PA 19147-3819

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Joan Sage

Mrs. Claudia Brown
1240 Inverary Ct
Louisville, KY 40222-5787

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Claudia Brown

Dr. Roger Seapy
11702 Paseo Bonita
Los Alamitos, CA 90720-4153

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Dr. Roger Seapy

Ms. Kay Novak
4941 SW Hollyhock Cir
Corvallis, OR 97333-1773

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Kay Novak

Mrs. Mary Kosnar
2514 Evans Ave
Louisville, CO 80027-1215

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Mary Kosnar

Mr. Bill O'Connell
5220 Valle Vista Dr NW
Albuquerque, NM 87120-2417

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

The internet may well be the last bastion of American free speech. Recent events have shown that demonstrations or gatherings that question unconstitutional action by employees of government are under threat by force that has allowed those employees to make war on the people. That is why the internet needs to be reserved as an open microphone for untrammeled speech, whether one agrees with some of it or not.

Sincerely,
Mr. Bill O'Connell

Mr. Scott Grinthal
1 De Anza Ct
San Mateo, CA 94402-3924

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Scott Grinthal

Ms. Ty Guyon
902 N Willis Ave
Champaign, IL 61821-2527

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Ty Guyon

Ms. Sondra Huber
480 NE 62nd Ave
Hillsboro, OR 97124-7358

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Sondra Huber

Mr. Anthony Strem
705 Hawthorne Dr
Carmel, IN 46033-9624

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Anthony Strem

Mrs. mary DEAN
1850 Alice St
Oakland, CA 94612-4175

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mrs. mary DEAN

Ms. Alice Clay
4739 Westhampton
Williamsburg, VA 23188-7273

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Alice Clay

Dr. Harriet Caplan
PO Box 24604
Oakland, CA 94623-1604

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Dr. Harriet Caplan

Ms. Dianna Bennett
18 Edgewood Dr
Hilton Head Island, SC 29926-6702

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Dianna Bennett

Mr. James Sliney
460 Beverly St
Robins, IA 52328-9735

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. James Sliney

Mr. Cory Kennedy

MA 02191

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Cory Kennedy

Ms. Elsa Rapp
8 Oakmont Pl
Media, PA 19063-2565

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Elsa Rapp

Mr. David Nielsen
6228 Sprinkle Dr N
Jacksonville, FL 32211-4799

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. David Nielsen

Ms. Marcia Kelce
1044 Almy St
New Bedford, MA 02745-4001

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Marcia Kelce

Ms. Lori Rendina
14018 Mercedes
Redford, MI 48239-3050

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Ms. Lori Rendina

Lou Hunter

33767

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Lou Hunter

Mr. Greg Sutherland
3907 Mitchner Rd
Dearing, GA 30808-3516

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

Sincerely,
Mr. Greg Sutherland

Ms. June Morse
2031 Beacon Hill Dr
Lansing, MI 48906-3674

Sep 12, 2014

Federal Communications Commission

Subject: Protect Internet freedom!

Dear Commissioner Wheeler,

The Internet is our 21st century public square. We use it to inform ourselves about candidates, debate the issues, and organize with other advocates. The Internet's role as a vibrant platform for public discourse is vital to our democracy.

Letting well-financed interests build fast lanes for the few will harm all of us. Corporate voices will always be able to afford special access while independent and non-profit voices suffer. The FCC must reject any plan that would allow corporate gatekeepers to control web traffic and recommit to the Open Internet by reclassifying broadband as a utility.

The issue is equality in accessing the internet.

Sincerely,
Ms. June Morse