To Whom it May Concern:

As a reseller of cellular boosters and involved in the significant need for these boosters in many public safety deployments, the owners of Discountcell are very concerned about the exception Pivotal is requesting in its filing. This exception would affect the booster market and put pivotal in a position to corner the market in a way that adversely affects consumer users including public safety.

It is our opinion Pivotal should go through the same certification process already in place for all booster manufacturers.

Thank you,
