I, Robert Patrick, certify that I am Director of Public Service of the municipal corporation named above and, acting as an agent of the city, that I have personal knowledge that the city has established operating procedures that are adequate to ensure compliance with the Commission's CPNI rules. The City's operating procedures ensure that it is in compliance with the FCC's CPNI Rules because disclosure of, or permitting access to, our customers' CPNI is not allowed without obtaining the requisite customer approval, except as required by law, or the exceptions set forth in 47 U.S.C. §222, and Subpart U of Title 47 of the Code of Federal Regulations; 47 C.F.R §64.2001 through §64.2011.

B. The City of Wadsworth Data Security and Privacy Policy

I. Tools to Reduce the Compromising of Customer Privacy

The City of Wadsworth has developed the following tools to deter potential privacy issues involving proprietary customer data.

Customer Rights

To ensure customers have full control over their own private information, the City of Wadsworth proposes the following elements as part of its data security program:

- i. Network Security – The City of Wadsworth will implement a complete network design to ensure data security to the maximum extent possible. The City of Wadsworth will conduct annual testing of network security.
- ii. Customer Access – Customers have access to meter and other data that pertains to their account. This information enables them to gain advantages from the collection of data from the system and correct data errors when they occur.
- iii. Customer Education – The City of Wadsworth will implement a customer education program that enables customers to get the most out of any programs put into effect using the smart meter system. Customers will be made aware of all utility and customer responsibilities.
- iv. Energy Use Profile – Customers have the right to opt in or out of profile development programs.
- v. Commercial Data Use – Customers have the right to decide whether proprietary information may be given to commercial interests, such as third parties, and can opt out of any such programs at any time.

The City of Wadsworth will keep the following customer data completely private to third-party entities, as well as unauthorized users, unless specified by the customer:

- i. Personally Identifiable Information – Information that can be used to identify a person (i.e., social security number, billing account number, address, etc.).
- ii. Physical Information – Information such as physical requirements, health problems, and required medical devices. Smart grids can detect medical devices used in the home, such as oxygen concentration or home dialysis machines. This information will always be protected, as specified under the U.S. Department of Health & Human Services' Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA).
- iii. Personal Behavior – Information such as the activities customers perform inside their homes, such as washing dishes or watching TV.
- iv. Customer Proprietary Network Information (CPNI)– information as defined in CFR 59212, September 20, 2002, as amended at 72 FR 31962, June 8, 2007

Categorization of Usage Data

A potential breach in customer privacy stemming from inappropriate use of data collected by the smart meter or communications system would result only if third parties were given access to user data and then used that data for motives that conflict with the customers' needs or wishes. To avoid this, the City of Wadsworth has categorized user data to determine who should have access to energy usage or communications data, in what form, for what purpose, and subject to what constraints or procedures. The categories for user data are as follows:

- i. Customer-Controlled Authorization Only
  - a. Customer-specific account data (name, address, banking information)
  - b. Monthly and historical usage data that pertains to a specific customer
  - c. Appliance “event” data
- ii. Utility-Controlled Data
  - a. System-wide monthly and historical usage data
  - b. Overarching aggregated system data (i.e., citywide data)
- iii. Utility-Controlled Data with Customer Opt-Out Rights
  - a. Participation in energy management programs enabled by smart meters
  - b. Participation in subscriber lists made available to third parties
  - c. CPNI Data

II. Flow of Information Protocols

Information Systems Framework

The City of Wadsworth will never share or sell a customer’s personal information, including account data (name, address, banking information, etc.) or household or business historical or monthly usage data, including appliance “event” data or CPNI data, to third parties as required by recently passed Ohio law that exempts all household and business utility usage data from the public record.**

The City of Wadsworth can use individual consumption data only for public interest purposes, such as identifying peak hours in utility usage citywide. With customer consent, the utility service may use individual consumption data for entrepreneurial purposes, such as to provide new products and services, but before doing so must demonstrate to the community that such programs warrant the effort involved. Once a customer has agreed to the sharing of data with others, it must be provided equally to competing companies in the City of Wadsworth. The City will inform customers of the intended uses for the data they collect in each case. Public interest purposes for customer data include initiating and billing for service, collecting outage data, dispatching repair personnel, automating processes that require customer data but are traditionally handled manually, and other grid operations. Competitive purposes include developing products to manage usage and promoting the sale of more efficient appliances.

Only the customer can decide whether and when to allow the use of his or her personal usage data for commercial purposes. Should a customer want a third party to have access to their information for any commercial purpose, it is up to the customer and the entity to negotiate the terms of that use.

\*An exception to this exemption applies when a journalist requests customer information maintained by a public utility. The journalist will not be given access to social security numbers and any private financial information including credit reports, payment methods, credit card numbers or bank account information.*
