Alaska Telephone Company (Filer ID 804807) Statement Explaining CPNI Procedures

The company takes its CPNI obligations seriously, and believes that its CPNI policy and operating procedures adequately ensure compliance with the Commission's CPNI rules.

The company requires secure passwords for customers to gain access to their CPNI data over the telephone or through the Internet. The company has alternative procedures in place to authenticate the identity of a customer when a password is forgotten. When a customer requests his or her information in person, a photo ID is required. The company trusts that these safeguards ensure that CPNI data is not given to unauthorized individuals.

Company policy prohibits employees from using customer CPNI data for marketing purposes, and employees are expressly prohibited from selling or distributing CPNI data. Employees are subject to strict disciplinary action for any violation of the company's CPNI policy. The company believes restricting employee use of customer information is solid safeguard that prevents the unauthorized use of CPNI data.

Upon hire, employees with access to CPNI data are required to acknowledge that they have read, understand, and agree to the company's CPNI policy. The company relies on intensive annual CPNI training to make certain all employees with access to CPNI data are well-versed with the Commission's rules and the company's policy on CPNI. The company believes this continual training adequately ensures compliance with the Commission's CPNI rules.

Sincerely,
