WHO WE ARE:

The Fiber Network Alliance (FNA) is a strategic alliance of public and private organizations focused on aligning their fiber network resources for the purpose of providing broadband to the local areas they collectively serve.

FNA's Members are like-minded with similar goals, needs, and challenges, and we believe we are stronger together than apart. We believe the size and character of our organizations provides essential value to people in the areas we serve by providing broadband, local jobs, and economic benefit that would not otherwise exist.

We provide the type of creative entrepreneurial spirit that formed our country and that is necessary for reaching the goal of affordable, reliable broadband access for everyone in America.

We have formed a legal not-for-profit corporation, “an alliance,” of self-supporting entities. The partnerships made through the FNA allow our Members to help one another during times of disaster that impact the communications needs of the communities they serve. We work together to exchange technical knowledge, best practices, and connections to our physical networks.

Our alliance creates business and operational advantages for each Member that allow them to provide sustainable broadband services to more Americans than they ever could alone.
