Alleged Violations of Equal Employment Opportunity Statutes

Marlo Pedersen v. FairPoint Communications, Inc. and FairPoint Logistics, Inc. Civil Action No. 2:17-cv-00389 pending in the United States District Court, District of Maine.

Ms. Pedersen alleges the company discriminated against her and terminated her on the basis of her sex, for taking FMLA leave and in violation of the Maine Family Medical Leave Act. The Company denies Ms. Pedersen's allegations. Ms. Pedersen went out on short term disability due to the birth of her child in May 2015. The company, in addition to FMLA and Maine leave law, had a policy that allowed an employee to take unpaid leave for up to six months from the date of the birth of a child with job protection and then for up to an additional six months without job protection. Ms. Pedersen took leave for the period of approximately one year from the date of the birth of her child. After being out almost one year, Ms. Pedersen finally informed the company that she planned to return to work. Ms. Pedersen's job was no longer available to her as it had been absorbed by others in her department. Ms. Pedersen did not apply for other open positions in the company, but instead applied for unemployment.
