

From: Keyvan Shahrदार <keyvan@shahrdar.com>
Sent: Thursday, June 22, 2017 6:38 AM
To: Jerusha Burnett
Cc: John B. Adams
Subject: RE: B2B Cell Phone calls

Dear Jerusha,

This rule, if no distinction is made for auto calling/texting business phone numbers is harmful to companies who communicate to other companies(B2B). Aggressive Lawyers will exploit this lack of distinction. Businesses may also be victims of predatory of disgruntled clients. This rule also increases the cost of business by having each telephone number scrubbed.

Who can I contact in order to object to this rule? Are there any active groups opposing this rule?

Sincerely,

Keyvan