Dear Ms. Dortch,

On June 25, 2018, Scott Bergmann, Kara Graves, and Jen Oberhausen of CTIA, and Christine Crowe of Wilkinson Barker Knauer for CTIA, met with representatives of the Commission's Wireless Telecommunications Bureau and Wireline Competition Bureau to discuss the above-captioned proceedings.

During the meeting, CTIA highlighted the importance of modernized siting policies at the federal, state, and local levels and their key role in helping to ensure the U.S. is 5G-ready. CTIA stressed that timely Commission action is essential to creating capacity for today's 4G LTE networks and supporting the nation's next-generation technologies and services. Consistent with our comments in these proceedings,¹ CTIA urged the Commission to ensure the wireless industry has reasonable access to public rights-of-way and publicly owned assets. Specifically, CTIA urged the Commission to establish clear timelines for the entire local review process, with enforceable remedies,² and ensure that fees charged by state and local governments are cost-based, non-discriminatory, and transparent. CTIA also discussed several types of regulations or requirements that have been identified by industry as substantially delaying or deterring service, including moratoria (whether express or de facto), denials of access to municipal-owned utility poles and other structures, requirements that all facilities along rights-of-way be underground, requirements to prove a service coverage gap or other business need, and subjective, unreasonable, or unpublished aesthetic restrictions or those that discriminate against wireless deployment.³

Pursuant to Section 1.1206 of the Commission's rules, a copy of this letter is being filed in ECFS and provided to the Commission participants. Please do not hesitate to contact the undersigned with any questions.

Sincerely,

/s/ Scott K. Bergmann
