

7/12/17

To Whom It May Concern,

I am deeply concerned about proposed changes in net neutrality rules. The Internet is currently an open forum for commerce and expression. Allowing for providers to place limits on how content is delivered will only have a negative effect. Please reconsider this change. I strongly support the current rules.

Regards,
Robert J. Lewis