As an initial point, the Company had no service outages during 2017 which met the FCC's threshold for reporting into the Network Outage Reporting System ("NORS").

The Company engages in preventative maintenance programs which help ensure network reliability in all conditions. This includes regular checks on generators, battery back-up, HVAC infrastructure at central office switches, and tree trimming/removal when trees have the potential to take down telephone lines during events of high wind or heavy snow. Access to critical infrastructure (like central office switches) is limited to essential personnel. Spare equipment is maintained in inventory.

Like most local exchange carriers, the Company's network consists of electronic switching equipment and a network of fiber optics and copper facilities. From a switching standpoint, the Company has one primary switch and smaller switches which are fed by the primary switch. These smaller switches are often referred to as intraexchange remote switches or concentrators. The largest threat to switches is the loss of power. To address this, the Company ensures adequate battery back-up is maintained. For emergency situations which extend beyond the useful life of the battery back-up, the Company uses generators to power the switches. These generators are portable which ensures they can be relocated to any switching center based on the specific needs of each switch. In addition, the Company's office will serve as a Command and Control center. This center is included as a primary location to which continuous power is required.

In cases of emergency, the Company's management has contact information for all employees. Depending upon the scope of the emergency, the Company may call-in as many employees as necessary to provide continual telecommunications service. The Company has access to local and regional construction companies which can be called in to supplement the work force if necessary. When poles are down from emergencies, the Company works with other utilities attached to the same poles to expedite the repair or replacement of the infrastructure.

In summation, the Company takes preventative measures to plan for emergency situations and also takes steps to mitigate the risk or duration of such events.

2017 RONAN TELEPHONE COMPANY TRIBAL ENGAGEMENT MEETING REPORT, FOR 2018 FCC FORM 481

MEETING HELD DECEMBER 14, 2017 WITH CONFEDERATED SALISH AND KOOTENAI TRIBAL COUNCIL

Representatives of Ronan Telephone Company (RTC) went to the Confederated Salish and Kootenai Tribes (CS&KT) Tribal Council meeting on December 14, 2017, to meet with CS&KT Tribal Council members and to fulfill FCC Tribal Engagement requirements. Present were Council Members, Troy Felsman, Secretary, Leonard Gray, Ron Trahan, Patty Stevens, Dennis Clairmont, Carol Lankford, and Shelly Fyant. Company representatives: Jay Wilson Preston, Brandy Chisholm, and Laurence Walchuk. Greetings; then handed out survey to Council members present and requested their input and that they would send surveys out to other department heads. An explanation and discussion was held on new A-CAM Model USF funding from the FCC, which RTC will be receiving to improve Broadband speeds and availability and build out on the Reservation.

Council member Troy Felsman voiced concern about net neutrality.

Laurence Walchuk explained to Council that ILEC's are required by the FCC to have discussions with Tribal governments on five key areas, and to request comments and input.

1. A needs assessment and deployment planning with focus on anchor institutions. We informed Council of A-CAM funding and build-out of infrastructure, and told the Council that we have buried 40,960 feet of cable this summer and fall to shorten loops to customers and tribal members. We discussed future deployment plans for extending services to Tribal members on the Reservation.

2. Feasibility and sustainability planning. With A-CAM support and programs like Lifeline, Tribal members on the Reservation will continue to receive better service, and lower cost services in the future.

3. Marketing in a culturally and sensitive manner. We stated the customer service Representatives in our office are the best and they always listen to everyone, no matter who they are. We always make sure our Tribal subscribers are treated with respect and friendship. Laurence Walchuk stated that in this past year he knew of no time when cultural sensitivity was an issue.

4. Rights-of-way processes, land use permitting, facilities siting, environmental and cultural preservation review processes. To the extent needed for past construction RTC has collaborated with rights-of-ways, land use permitting, and environmental and cultural departments of the Tribe. But with the new A-CAM funding and other positive outlooks in the communications business, RTC will be doing more new construction, and will be sure to stay in very close contact with rights-of-ways and other permitting departments on Tribal lands.

5. Compliance with Tribal business and licensing. RTC has not had a need or requirement to acquire or file for any new Tribal business licenses with the Tribe. We realize that we are guests doing business on the Reservation and would acquire any Tribal licenses if required to do so.

We thanked the Council for its time and the opportunity to meet with them. We also advised the Council to please let us know of any telecommunication issues or any other problems they may become aware of in the future.

A survey was also conducted in conjunction with this meeting, which was circulated to the Tribal Council and the Tribal departments. Feedback was requested on the five Tribal engagement subjects in the FCC rules. Very few negative comments were received in response to the survey, except there was a lot of interest expressed in service possibilities outside of the incumbent service territory (which is now predominately served by the RLEC Blackfoot Telephone Cooperative).
