

By allowing ISP's to sell off places to the highest bidder, it is an oligarchy of information. Not only will information that people view be obstructed, but information is essentially censored. Almost all everyday activities have censorship, let the internet be free. We are capitalists, let the people pick what they want.