Dear Federal Communications Commission:

I am writing in regards to the regulation being drafted which restricts person-to-person solicitations to residential homes.

This letter is a plea not to draft this regulation. I am a realtor, and one of the MOST IMPORTANT aspects of generating business for myself is "cold" calling. I am sure you are aware of the impact real estate sales has on our economy, and cold calling home owners is one of the ways in which we are able to reach MANY potential clients. Already in many areas we are regulated by some form of government not to do door-to-door solicitations, to regulate our ability to reach clients via telephone calling further hampers our ability to make a living!

Please remember that there are virtually thousands of realtors out here trying to make a living in a competitive market. PLEASE DO NOT HARM OUR INDUSTRY BY DRAFTING SUCH A PROPOSAL.

Sincerely,

Larry Ramsey

Re: Telephone Consumer Protection Act of 1991

Dear Sirs:

It has come to my attention that the Federal Communications Commission is drafting a regulation to restrict person-to-person solicitations to residential homes. I am writing to let you know how important "cold calling" is to my business.

"Cold calling" is my way to reach the general public and let them know, adverse to what they are reading and hearing from the news media, that Real Estate is still one of the best investments they can make today. It is also a means to let the people know the market activity in their neighborhood, thereby continuing to keep real estate active, which definitely stimulates the economy.

We, in the Real Estate field, are very courteous in our calling. "Cold calling" is one of the most important aspects of our business. It would be devastating if this regulation were to pass.

Please give this careful consideration.

RE:CC Do docket 9290

Dear Sir:

We feel unsolicited advertisements for fax only machines should be given the same consideration that TeleMarketing has. If we had to keep a NO FAX list we would have no problem at all.

The language as it stands now is not fair to our needs to communicate nor our constitutional rights to free speech. What is next, no advertisement by mail? Perhaps you should stop advertisement on Television, that surely is not solicited.

This law seems to to be counter productive for business in a time when any opportunity for more sales should be the priority for new legislation.

Thank you for taking the time to read my opinion.

To Whom it May Concern,

Restricting person-to-person solicitations to residential homes could have a devastating effect on our business of Real Estate!! Many of us rely on our real estate business to feed our families, pay our mortgage and survive in general. "Cold calling" is an important source of business for us, in which we simply are offering a service to buyers and sellers of real estate. Please consider this when dealing with Docket No. 92-90, Telephone Consumer Protection Act. Thank you for your consideration.

To Whom It Should Concern:

In reference to Docket No. 92-90 Telephone Consumer Protection Act of 1991.

It is imperative that "cold" calling not be restricted! In the real estate business this is an important tool we use to generate new business. Should our income be reduced because of a restriction placed on cold calling, this could directly affect the amount of taxes we pay and thus increase the federal deficit even more!

Also the Federal Communications Commission would be directly restricting our freedom of speech in the real estate industry.

We beleive any legislation restricting cold calling should not be drafted because the legislation would severly restrict business in the real estate industry plus limit our freedom of speech!

I'm a Real Estate Salesperson. "Cold Calling" or telemarketing is responsible for 25% of my business.

You may be considering outlawing it. This is unacceptable. Should we outlaw banks because they are robbed? Should we outlaw driving a car because people are killed?

The answer to these two questions is no, we should not. Also, we should not outlaw or restrict telemarketing.

Dear Federal Communications Commission:

It has come to my attention that your commission is drafting a regulation to restrict person-to-person solicitations to residential homes. This legislation should not be passed.

"Cold" calling, in the real estate profession is very important, if not vital, to our business and the real estate industry. Not only does "cold" calling benefit real estate agents and brokers, but it also benefits buyers, sellers and the real estate economy as a whole. When people do not want to talk to you, they can simply hang up; but that happens very, very seldom.

I strongly urge you not to pass Docket No. 92-90, Telephone Consumer Protection Act of 1991.

Dear Sirs:

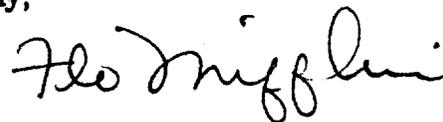

It has come to my attention that the Federal Communications Commission is drafting a regulation to restrict person-to-person solicitations to residential homes. I am writing to let you know how important "cold calling" is to my business.

"Cold calling" is my way to reach the general public and let them know, adverse to what they are reading and hearing from the news media, that Real Estate is still one of the best investments they can make today. It is also a means to let the people know the market activity in their neighborhood, thereby continuing to keep real estate active, which definitely stimulates the economy.

We, in the Real Estate field, are very courteous in our calling. "Cold calling" is one of the most important aspects of our business. It would be devastating if this regulation were to pass.

Please give this careful consideration.

Sincerely,

JOE STEWART
