

The internet is the very definition of the first amendment. The internet is a platform for voices, opinions, and videos presenting ideas varying in degree of depth of knowledge on topics and exchanging of ideas. Putting restrictions and harboring that information in the very basic form is a form of piracy. You are not saving people by limiting access and information. In fact, you are imposing a totalitarian, big brother type state upon our very freedoms. Keep our net neutral!