RE: Ex Parte Notice. In the Matter of Accelerating Wireline Broadband Deployment by Removing Barriers to Infrastructure Investment, WC Docket No 17-84.

Dear Ms. Dortch:

Attached are 6,877 signatures on a petition circulated among Communications Workers of America (CWA) members employed by AT&T Southeast. The petition circulated among members of CWA's District 3 – an area comprised of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee, and Kentucky – who would be impacted by proposals in the above-referenced proceeding.

The petition urges the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) not to adopt a radical one touch, make ready (OTMR) proposal that would risk public safety and threaten good jobs. As the petition says, CWA members are employees who build and maintain telecommunications infrastructure across country. These skilled, trained workers are concerned that the current OTMR proposal would lead to dangerous work conditions, such as ungrounded wires and heavy terminals hanging without adequate support, and risk public safety. In addition, the current OTMR proposal would turn good, family-sustaining jobs into low-wage contractor work.

CWA has indicated its support for proposals that streamline pole attachment rules.¹ But any changes must ensure that public and worker safety, continuity of quality service to existing attachers' customers, respect for legally binding union contracts, and protection and promotion of good, middle-class jobs in communities across the United States remain paramount.

Sincerely,

¹ See CWA Reply Comments, Accelerating Wireline Broadband Deployment, pp. 3-4; CWA/AT&T Letter, Accelerating Wireline Broadband Deployment, Jan. 16, 2018.

Tell Washington: Don't Take Away Our Work

Employees like us work hard to build and maintain telecommunications infrastructure across the south, but the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) wants to give some of our work to contractors, risking public safety and threatening good jobs.

The FCC is considering adopting extreme "One Touch, Make Ready" proposals that would allow contractors, rather than trained, skilled career employees to move equipment on utility poles with no accountability. That's our work - and has been for 70 years.

"One Touch, Make Ready" could lead to dangerous conditions, such as ungrounded wires and heavy terminals hanging without adequate support. It also threatens good jobs for thousands of workers like us across the country and violates the agreements we have bargained.

Urge the FCC to reject "One Touch, Make Ready" proposals that would put public safety at risk while threatening thousands of good jobs.
