Attention: Docket No. 92-90

To Whom It May Concern:

After 20 years in the Real Estate business, our firm knows the importance of Real Estate agents being able to use the telephone with reference to inquiring whether properties are available for sale.

At any given time, there are hundreds of homes with listings that have expired, but still require the assistance of a real estate organization to be sold. Not only would any restrictions in this form of communication be extremely disruptive to the real estate industry, it would also present a hardship to the families trying to sell their homes.

In your attempt to reduce some of the unpleasant solicitation we all get at dinner time, we sincerely request that the decisions not be so sweeping as to hurt the real estate industry or the consumers it serves.

Your assistance is critical in this matter. I know many constituents that feel the same as I do.

Sincerely,

BRAUN & MAY REALTY, INC.

Dear Sir or Madam:

I understand the Federal Communications Commission is drafting a regulation (Docket No. 92-90 Telephone Consumer Protection Act of 1991) to restrict person to person solicitations to residential homes.

Being able to contact prospective sellers by "cold calling" is an essential part of our business. The majority of us handle this in a responsible way. I strongly hope that you will not penalize a majority of us from earning a living because of a few. The freedom to "cold call" is an essential part of our business.
