

could even restrict sending press releases to media which promote a product service, political view or even a political candidate - since all such faxes are, in fact, selling something or somebody.

It is very reasonable to provide the mechanism which enables the government to prevent the ongoing harassment of individuals and companies from unsolicited faxes. Such a mechanism could be a list of banned or restricted fax numbers which a company could consult prior to sending out any faxes. The reputable fax distribution companies are in a position to actively safeguard the distribution of faxes due to the high level of computerization in the industry. And we would be happy to work with the FCC to insure SR 1462 is implemented.

I understand that the Federal Communications Commission is planning to release regulations on or about April 9, 1992 and that the public comment period will be through mid May, 1992. If you will not seek industry input prior to this time, I would very much like to receive a copy of the proposed regulations so that I may comment during the public comment period.

I've enclosed some literature on our service to show you the markets we are pursuing. I hope this is helpful and thank you, in advance, for your assistance.

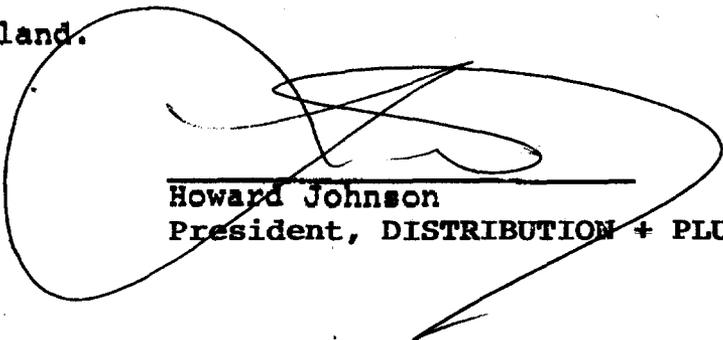

Sincerely.

Roy B. Andersen
President

CERTIFICATION

I, Howard Johnson, am coordinator of the Fair Fax Coalition, the members of which are businesses that use, provide, or supply products or services used in facsimile advertising. I hereby certify, under penalty of perjury, that I have reviewed the foregoing "Petition for Reconsideration of the Fair Fax Coalition" and the attachments thereto, and that the facts and representations contained therein are true and correct, to the best of my knowledge, information, and belief.

Executed this 20th day of November, 1992,
at Frederick, Maryland.

Howard Johnson
President, DISTRIBUTION + PLUS