

Robocalls to both landline and cellphones are out of control. The Do Not Call List is about useless because there are ways around that list. "Spoofing" numbers is another issue. Nomorobo has done a fair job of, at least, reducing the number of calls but it is not available to everyone or there is a cost to using it. I will not answer any call from a number I don't recognize. I feel if it is really important they will leave a voicemail and if they don't it can't be that important.

There was one company that was penalized heavily but there are so many more that need to pay the same debt in order to reduce these annoying calls. I feel the FCC needs to do more to stop these illegal calls.
