Re: In the Matter of Petition of USTelecom for Forbearance Pursuant to 47 U.S.C. Section 160(c); WC Docket No. 18-141; Category 1

Dear FCC,

I chose Sonic because of all the available internet providers, they were offering services that challenged an increasingly monopolistic market. In this current age, especially in a tech-fueled region like the Bay Area, competitive costs, options, and services in internet providers contributes to progress and innovation in the industry. Limiting the ability of these companies to compete for customers would bring short term gains like being able to charge more per customer, but longterm, it will stifle how far the industry could have gotten absent freedom to improve the current services. I'm a consumer who supports broadband competition. It can be messy and confusing in some systems, but I don't doubt that it will move the ball forward in terms of technological savvy and access.
