Re: In the Matter of Petition of USTelecom for Forbearance Pursuant to 47 U.S.C. Section 160(c); WC Docket No. 18-141; Category 1

Dear FCC,

After many years of DSL service from AT&T which was substandard to say the least and as well as overpriced with no competition in the market, I was finally given a different option.

When Sonic entered this market, first with resold AT&T FTTN service until they built out their own network, then FTTH, it gave me the opportunity to have state of the art, current technology with remarkable customer service at an extremely reasonable cost.

WHile AT&T does have a place in the market, they continue as they always have trying to bully their way around, force out the competition, then treat their customers like dirt and provide over priced, substandard service backed by the "good old boy" system of service with a when we get around to it attitude.

Elimination of competition in this or any market is unfair to the consumer and perpetuates the ability of AT&T to maintain their status as a corporate bully.
