

Net Neutrality

As a small business owner who depends on the internet for my livelihood, I implore the FCC to maintain the internet as a free and open network. Just like a company can't impact the ability for a customer to call me, no one should have the ability to affect the access of one company's website over another.

Saunatina Sanchez