47 U.S.C. Section 160(c); WC Docket No. 18-141; Category 1

Dear FCC,

Business competition is the essential ingredient to innovation. I urge you to preserve competition among broadband providers.

My family abandoned Comcast bundled service last year in favor of Sonic fiber service. Speeds went up (a lot!), the service reliability went up, and cost went down. Importantly, cost went down because we want network access only, without the many services that Comcast bundles with its broadband service.

Innovative companies welcome competition. Conversely, companies with inferior products request anti-competitive favoritism. Which will you support?
