Re: In the Matter of Petition of USTelecom for Forbearance Pursuant to 47 U.S.C. Section 160(c); WC Docket No. 18-141; Category 1

Dear FCC,

My ISP, a local provider in San Francisco called Sonic, uses unbundled copper and inter-city fiber transport elements (UNEs) to compete in the residential marketplace and provide me with internet access. Before I switched to Sonic, I was forced to pay nearly twice the amount of fees to Comcast for worse service.

By using UNEs to provide me with internet service, Sonic has increased competition, improved the level of service, and provided me with tremendous value as a consumer.

Please reject USTelecom's petition. If granted, it will reduce competition, and that would be terrible for consumers like me.

Respectfully,

Brent Robinson
