Re: Electronic Delivery of MVPD Communications; Modernization of Media Regulation Initiative; MB Docket Nos. 17-317 & 17-105

Dear Ms. Dortch:

On November 1, 2018, Jordan Goldstein of Comcast Corp., Maureen O’Connell of Charter Communications, and I met with Kate Black, Commissioner Rosenworcel’s Policy Advisor for Media.

Consistent with NCTA’s written comments in the above-captioned proceeding, we explained that modernizing delivery of all subscriber notices would benefit consumers, have positive environmental effects, and reduce unnecessary costs.

We discussed additional ways to reduce the amount of paper that must be sent to customers where email notification is not feasible. For example, the Commission should clarify that operators may provide customers with a written notice that directs customers to web addresses for certain required information (e.g., rate cards and channel line-ups) that is available on their company websites. We also discussed the unique notice issues that arise when renewal negotiations for certain program channels are ongoing.

We also asked the Commission to provide operators the flexibility to use electronic means to provide mandatory notifications. We noted that customers that wish to receive paper copies would have the option of continuing to do so.

Respectfully Submitted,

/s/ Diane Burstein
