

FCC,

You can not proceed with the dismantling of Net Neutrality. The internet is what future, and current for that matter, industries will be built on. The internet is being intertwined into every aspect of our lives and to hand power of controlling what we see, do and say on the net over to corporations is step away from the rights of the American people. This proposal cannot proceed and I urge the FCC to reconsider their proposal to dismantle Net Neutrality.

Sincerely,

Sergio Luna
