Net neutrality needs to remain in place. The internet has become a basic utility, and should be treated as such. Allowing ISP's to manipulate speeds to the highest bidder is a threat to our economy.