

Hello,

Net Neutrality MUST be preserved. Repealing it would allow Internet Service Provider's (ISP's) like Comcast, AT&T, and others to dictate what the entire country can see or do online. This hurts our entire populace – particularly business owners. Doing away with Net Neutrality will effectively make it legal for ISP's to hold businesses at ransom, in throttling their customer's web traffic to their sites unless they pay a premium. The only winners here are large corporations that can afford it. This would be detrimental to small businesses who make up the backbone of the economy.

This is MUCH more than just concern about watching YouTube videos or Netflix online. I urge the FCC chair to reconsider the consequences of this proceeding.

Thank you,

Blake Edward Bachellor