

Please reserve the rules for net neutrality. They are integral to America's financial, educational, and social freedom and success. Internet service needs to be considered a utility and not a commodity. I urge the FCC not to sell the freedom of the internet to the greed of service providers.