

I am strong opposed to ending the protections of net neutrality.

The internet was founded with US government money to fund research. It should be a public trust and not controlled by private companies who did not contribute to its development.