Federal Communications Commission

Regarding 17-108, Net Neutrality

Dear Sirs,

I am strongly opposed to weakening Net neutrality regulations and feel that the FCC should preserve and strengthen Net Neutrality rules and regulations.

Net Neutrality is necessary to preserve First Amendment right of Freedom of Speech.

Net Neutrality is necessary to uphold the mission of the Constitution's Preamble which states that our government is established to promote the General Welfare.

Sincerely,

William W. Fleming, PhD
