

I urge the FCC to keep net neutrality intact. The internet is one of the most powerful agents of innovation and change in our lifetime, eliminating net neutrality would severely limit the innovations of future generations.