

I support preservation of the existing net neutrality rules. Net neutrality allows small internet-based businesses to thrive—a repeal of these crucial rules would cripple internet-based entrepreneurs and innovators, and likely have severe long-term economic ramifications. Net neutrality has allowed me to use the internet to complete schoolwork and keep in touch with friends living abroad.