

I am contacting you today to oppose the repeal of Net Neutrality as it goes against our basic first amendment rights. Doing away with Net Neutrality is a violation of free speech, allowing unfair censorship of written and video content and even entire websites on the internet by the government and/or multi-million dollar corporations. It also violates the freedom of the press, as getting rid of Net Neutrality would allow the government to interfere with and control with extreme prejudice information and opinions published on the internet by news sources which, according to the first amendment, they shouldn't be allowed to do. If the Trump administration really intends to “make America great again”, then it should stop going against the basic principals of freedom our founding fathers put into place. Net Neutrality should stay.
