

Please preserve net neutrality under Title II to protect my livelihood and personal freedoms. Net neutrality is vital to the survival of internet-based business. Roadblocks for internet-based innovators mean less progress and less economic activity for America in the long run. I also keep in touch with long-distance family members through the internet. An end to net neutrality would isolate me from my family. For these reasons, I support Title II oversight of internet service providers and the upholding of the existing net neutrality framework.
