

I urge you to stop the FCC's plan to end net neutrality *before* the FCC's December 14th vote.

I don't want ISPs to have the power to block websites, slow them down, give some sites an advantage over others, split the Internet into "fast lanes" for companies that pay and "slow lanes" for the rest, or force me to buy special "tiers" to access the sites and services I choose.

During sworn testimony, the top ISPs stated that they would slow down the internet for customers of competing providers' programming.

I was a small business owner for many years. I cannot make deals about my YouTube channel. I am too small.

If some companies can pay ISPs to have their content load faster, startups and small businesses that can't pay those fees won't be able to compete. This will kill the open marketplace that has enabled millions of small businesses and created America's 5 most valuable companies. Without strong net neutrality protections, Internet providers will effectively be able to impose a tax on every sector of the American economy.

If you pass this current order, every Internet user and business in this country will be unprotected from abuse by Internet providers, and the consequences will be dire. Please listen to the public support in favor of net neutrality protections. This is a government by the people, not corporations. You need to listen to your paycheck gods - the taxpayers of the United States of America.

Sincerely,

Marty Davey, MS, RD, LDN
