

Title II oversight of ISPs is essential to keeping the internet healthy and nurturing competition in the new economy. What could be more obvious. ISPs will not voluntarily provide equal access.

The FCC needs to protect the interests of the people —not that of Verizon.