Re: Petition of duTrel, Lundin & Rackley, Inc.; Hatfield & Dawson Consulting Engineers, Inc.; Lahm, Suffa & Cavell, Inc.; Moffet, Larsen & Johnson, Inc.; and Silliman & Silliman for Inquiry (RM-7594)

Dear Ms. Searcy:

February 13, 1990

CBS Inc. ("CBS"), the licensee of seven (7) AM broadcast stations, files this statement in support of the above Petition for Inquiry, in which the petitioners seek commencement of an inquiry concerning the Commission's policies and rules governing performance verification of AM directional antenna systems.

As noted by the petitioners, the world has changed markedly since the Commission adopted many of the policies and rules in question. There are now many more AM broadcast stations, including more in urban environments and more using directional arrays. Engineers have increased their understanding of the interrelationship between electrical and magnetic fields. And, broadcast technology has significantly improved. Indeed, much
