

The Internet is, in lack of better terms, a sort of final frontier and a solace for those seeking enjoyment or an escape from their everyday issues. I plead with the FCC to keep the Internet free, the way it is; let us hold on to this thing that we hold so dear. Thank you.