

Please consider the long-term effects of reversing net neutrality. Our country is founded on the idea that in order to effectively participate as citizens, we need to have a voice and access to information to make informed decisions and voice our opinions regarding the direction of our nation. Reversing net neutrality does nothing more than remove the voice of the people, which negates the democratic nature of our country. Consider the long-term and far-reaching effects of reversing net neutrality, please, before destroying our democracy.
