

To Whom it may concern:

Please keep our current net neutrality and make it even stronger.

Do not trust the internet service companies to treat customers equally. They are in business to maximize profits, not serve the general public.

The service providers are essentially monopolies in each region, with limited consumer and business choice to one or two carriers.

To maximize profits they will create tiered services and limit access to startups and small companies.

We already pay for Internet service at every connection point, private, business, and public.

Of course the BIGGEST reason for Net Neutrality is FREEDOM. If communications are muzzled, using cash incentives or censorship, the results are the same.

Thank you for listening.

Daniel Lerner

2017-12-08