

I strongly support net neutrality. As a teacher, I know that affordable access to the internet is hugely important to student success and education affordability. No company should decide who should have access and at what quality. We pay for a service, and have paid for the infrastructure. This is NOT any corporation's decision to make.