

I, Alexander V Owens, strongly support Net Neutrality and urge those in power to listen to their constituents and vote no to the repeal of Title 2 classifications in ISPs. If you truly think that repealing protections against the average consumer is in your best interest as public servants, then the United States is truly doomed. Just incase you somehow don't already know this, I already have only one option in my area for high speed internet; Spectrum. I do not like Spectrum. I really wish I could go to someone else for my internet service. If this repeal passes, I will be forced, once again, to support a company that I do not want to represent me. How un-American is that? I implore you, do not censor the internet.
