Detective Cloud duscusses alternatives to putting juveniles in custody for committing crimes. He says broken homes often produce youth who are prone to get involved in crime. Douglas and Cloud say some contributing factors to a criminal mentality include lack of communication in the family, the legal system, and school pressures. Douglas adds there are no strict "types" for kids who throw rocks into the windshields of by-passing cars on the Inter-state, but that many seek attention through crime.

	Attorney, Harold Ray, introduced John Thompson, Attorney at Law and J.T. Johnson of the Christian Coalition. They presented an expose on a school program called "The Link Line". The Link Line consists of 71 tapes produced by the University of Wisconsin and deals with homosexuality under the disguise of an anti-drug program. Homosexuality is presented as something with which to experiment one's sexuality and that it is normal from birth for some people. Encouraged teenagers to try homosexuality to find out if is normal for them, the tapes validity pre-martial sexual exploration. Because public tax monies were used to produce and promote the course of "study" as a anti-drug program, the audience was urged to voice their views to school systems across the nation. The tapes also encourages teens to think of their parents as enemies trying to suppress their sexual maturation. A warning letter was sent to the state of Florida by Parents Opposing Propaganda in Schools, giving 20 days to prove the tapes are an anti-drug presentation. Attorney, Jay Seklow, informed viewers that there is a new curriculum being presented in the school systems that is dangerous. The series is called "Impressions" and is occultic, goulish and frightening, containing stories that are being presented as classics but in actuality are re-written to contain occultic themes. Also discussed was a quote from "Psychology Today" that said Jesus and Old Testament Bible stories should be presented to young children as myths, a news report of methods bow being used to introduce gay and lesbian techniques into the school system and reports that sex education to young students is back-firing causing greater sex experimentation in grade school youngsters. Viewers were challenged to keep informed, know what their children's school curriculum contains and be prepared to fight for their standards to be upheld.

Dr. Kennedy devotes the entire program to the problems in public education in America. Kennedy relates facts such as 4 out of 1,000 were illiterate 150 years ago when education was left in the hands of the church and now illiteracy has increased 32 times. America now has 27 million illiterate and 30 million functional illiterates. America now approaches Zambia in the percentage of illiteracy. The history of modern education is discussed with examples of Horace Mann and Thomas Dewey education methods. Kennedy offers proof of the decline of good education in America and the resulting poor job-ready population. His solution is based upon the reversal of education by state and in place, the education of the masses by the church. Kennedy says that the crime and problems in our present day school system is directly related to a God-less education.

Sandy Gogel, a home-schooling expert and founder of Sycamore Tree School, spoke about the advantages of home schooling. Along with an array of resource materials and educational aids displayed, Sandy also explained to host, Jay Jones, why home schooled children are testing higher on aptitude tests than public school students. The problems with public schools and private schools were listed as educational, motivational and a conflict with home-parental values. Benefits of hom schooling were listed as a perfect teacher/student ratio, no peer pressure and parental values can be taught without conflict. Home schooling has been proven to develop better leadership skills than public schools which tend to develop problem children and/or build upon problems already inherent within the child.
