Re: GEN Docket No. 90-314

Dear Mr. Caton:

Petitions for reconsideration filed in the above captioned proceeding have raised legal and policy questions concerning the use of Rand McNally Major Trading Areas and Basic Trading Areas. In light of these issues, Rand McNally & Company and the Personal Communications Industry Association (formerly Telocator) have entered into negotiations concerning issuance of a blanket license for public use of Major Trading Areas and Basic Trading Areas. Rand McNally and Personal Communications Industry Association herewith seek to update the Commission on the status of those negotiations.

Today, Rand McNally and the Personal Communications Industry Association have reached an agreement in principle for issuance of a blanket license for use of Major Trading Areas and Basic Trading Areas in connection with Personal Communications Services, 900 MHz Specialized Mobile Radio Services and Local Multipoint Distribution Services. The agreement in principle is contingent upon sufficient industry funding of royalties to Rand McNally. Rand McNally and the Personal Communications Industry Association expect to resolve funding and other matters by February 10, 1994.

In the interim, Rand McNally consents to Federal Communications Commission use of Major Trading Areas and Basic Trading Areas
